Legislative Journal.

Session 1941. 135th of the General Assembly.

Vol. 25. HARRISBURG, PA., WEDNESDAY, APRIL 9, 1941. No. 33.

SENATE

WEDNESDAY, April 9, 1941.

The Senate met at 11:00 o'clock, a. m.

The PRESIDENT (Lieutenant-Governor Samuel S. Lewis) in the Chair.

PRAYER

In the absence of the Chaplain, the Senator from Butler, Mr. CARR, offered the following prayer:

We bow to Thy presence, our Heavenly Father, with gratitude in our hearts that Thou hast given us a beautiful world in which to live, Thou hast given us a mind with which to work, Thou hast given material substance in lavish abundance and above all Thou hast given us a knowledge of this and of Thy will for us.

In this week especially, our Heavenly Father, when the ancient church of Israel reverts in thought to the great deliberations of the Passover, when the Christian Church thinks of the great sacrifice of Thy Son, we would have Thee especially move upon our minds in such a way that our wills might be in complete accord with Thine.

Help us as we gather here in the business of the State, our Heavenly Father, that we may be in such a mind that we shall do only those things that are in accordance with Thy will and shall make for the best interest of our State.

Bless our nation, our Heavenly Father, in this great hour of crisis and make us continue to stand for those things that are right and honest in the world. Lead us in all things, direct us and save us, we ask in Thy name. Amen

Mr. CAVALCANTE. That is all, Mr. President.

REPORT OF LOCAL GOVERNMENT COMMISSION

Mr. STEVENSON. Mr. President, I ask permission to make a report from the Local Government Commission.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection? The Chair hears none. The gentleman from Clinton may proceed.

Mr. STEVENSON. Mr. President, according to law it is necessary that the Local Government Commission make a report to the General Assembly. I am not going to give this report in full, for the reason that copies will later be distributed to members not only at their homes but in the Senate also.

Without the blast of trumpets and the solemn heraldry which they so richly merit, there will soon march from the House of Representatives into the warring tribes of the Senate a certain series of bills which have emanated from the Local Government Commission. In order that the membership of the Senate might become acquainted with the background of these bills, I desire to inform you concerning the thoughtful consideration given to their subject matters and the fact as to their careful preparation. I shall briefly advise you as to the why, the who and the wherefore of the commission, covering its objectives, its personnel, its activities, and its accomplishments.

Mr. President, the local government commission was created by an act of Assembly in 1935 and has been active since that year. The commission's duties, as set forth in section 2 of that act, provide that it shall be the duty of the commission to study and investigate the functions of local government, their proper allocation and the possibility of eliminating unnecessary functions, and the duplication and overlapping of functions, the cost of local government, and ways and means of reducing this cost and lessening the burden on local taxpayers, the advisability and feasibility of increasing the area or changing the boundaries of local government; of establishing larger units for administration by consolidation of units by cooperative agreement between them for the performance of certain functions, or by other means; and generally ways and means of organizing a simple system of local government, and to exercise such other functions as may be deemed necessary to follow into effect the intention of this act.

Without resorting to the art of grandiloquence, I might say that in addition to his possessing the well known perspicacity of a keen jurisprudent the President pro-tem of the Senate has displayed evidence of extraordinary discernment in his selection of the Senate appointees to the commission, with the exception of this humble servant. And similar good judgment has been exhibited upon the part of the Speaker of the House in naming the commission's complement from that body.

Mr. President, upon the part of the Senate the following members belong to this Commission.

Charles R. Mallery, Blair;
George B. Stevenson, Clinton;
Edward J. Coleman, Lackawanna;
Henry E. Lanius, York;
Harold H. Thomson, Delaware;
Members on the part of the House are:
Daniel E. Wilkinson, Luzerne;
Franklin H. Lichtenwalter, Lehigh;
Rubin A. Nagel, Beaver;
Paul C. Moomaw, Franklin;
Walter E. Greenwood, Chester.

Since January of 1940 to date, Mr. President, there have been twenty meetings held by this committee. In addition to regular meetings there were two days, December 18 and 19th of 1940, devoted to public hearings on bills proposed to be submitted by the commission at the 1941 session of the General Assembly. At these public hearings taxpayers' associations, civic associations, local officials' organizations, municipal associations and interested attorneys and citizens presented views to the commission for consideration.

During the interim between meetings members of the commission have not been idle. Major problems coming before the commission have been assigned to committees for more intensive study. These committees together with the counsel and research agents of the commission have met frequently and labored long in preparing detailed suggestions for the consideration of the commission.

Both the commission and its committees have had the full cooperation of and have received a great deal of valuable advice and technical assistance from state and local officials and many private citizens.

A notable example of the service gratuitously afforded to the commission was the cooperation of leading municipal bond attorneys, the Department of Internal Affairs and representatives of local government with the committee preparing the proposed "Municipal Borrowing Act." The Department of Internal Affairs lent the services of its bond attorney in addition to providing a place for many of these committee's meetings. Representatives of local government attended all meetings of the committee and provided much information on the practical problems of local government in connection with borrowing. The municipal bond attorneys in addition to coming to Harrisburg at their own expense to meet with the committee on a number of occasions devoted much time to a series of conferences with a representative of the committee and to the preparation of detailed memorandum on the technical, legal and financial problems involved in municipal borrowing. This proposed legislation has required eighteen months for its completion. The commission created a committee to study the proper allocation of motor revenue to political sub-divisions and has secured for this committee the cooperation of the Highway Department, local officials, motor clubs, taxpayers and others interested in the allocation of motor funds.

The Commission has not seen fit to attempt to create a research staff of its own, preferring rather to rely on the voluntary assistance of those interested in improving local government. In this connection the commission wishes to acknowledge the service rendered by the Pennsylvania Economy League, which has made available to the commission its research staff, and to thank all those agencies whose cooperation has made it possible for the commission to produce so much at such little cost.

The limited appropriation available to the commission has necessarily been expended for the expense of members in attending meetings, legal fees, secretarial and office expenses.

In partial discharge of the duties imposed upon it and as a result of the many studies and investigations made by the Commission during the past two years, the Commission has caused to be introduced into the General Assembly a series of bills, a few of which I will mention sketchily.

One is House Bill No. 525 which is a Municipal Borrowing code. If this bill is amended into law it would, in my judgment, repay the Commonwealth by itself alone for the whole cost of the commission. Many of you are familiar with the manner in which municipal bonds have been refunded, the haphazard way in which sinking funds have been maintained in many cases and the lack of good business methods in the borrowing of our municipal divisions.

Mr. President, I might say, to make a personal allusion here, several years ago the citizens of my city exhibited bad taste in electing me to be the mayor of their city. One of the first things we did was to refund the city bonds.

In making this refund and a study of it some very interesting and amazing situations were brought out.

In the first place, Mr. President, it was shown that many bonds existed for improvements that had long since passed out of existence. They had been issued and re-issued and also the amount of interest paid upon bond issues had far exceeded the principal of the bond issues.

I do not think that is a single instance, Mr. President. That is true, I think, were an investigation made of ninety or ninety-five per cent of the municipalities of Pennsylvania.

In order to correct this matter, this municipal borrowing act is an attempt and I believe a successful one, to restate the existing law now found in the Act of 1874 and its numerous supplements and innumerable court decisions, in one place for the convenience of local officials. It does not confer on anyone the right to borrow any money nor does it take away the right to borrow. It rather sets up the procedure for borrowing where the power to borrow is conferred by the various municipal codes or other laws.

As might be expected, however, in a complete review and restatement of the law, the Commission found some provisions which had in the past been abused and others which had been unduly restricted from the municipalities. The commission has, therefore, in its proposed bill made some changes which are listed here.

In the first place, all bonds are required to mature serially in annual installments starting in the second year after the date of issue, except for small issues where the rule is relaxed to make bonds saleable.

I will not attempt any further explanation of that act, Mr. President, but simply will state we believe it to be a very excellent piece of legislation.

Attention is also to be called to the proposed Municipal Employes' Retirement Act (House Bill No. 535) which is in the House Committee on Municipal Corporations. This bill represents months of study, observation of existing systems in and outside of Pennsylvania and mature consideration by the commissioners. The commission was indeed fortunate in having, as the draftsman of this bill, its counsel, John H. Fertig, whose services in connection with the establishment of the State Employes' Retirement Act are well known to members of the legislature. The proposed system is optional with the municipalities (counties, institution districts, cities, boroughs and townships) but once having joined there is no method of withdrawal. The system would be jointly supported by the municipalities and employes—each providing substantially one-half the final retirement pay; the rate to be determined by an actuary.

Basically the proposed system provides that any employe of a member municipality may retire at age 60 or after and receive a retirement allowance computed according to the provisions of the bill. Provision is also made for disability retirement allowances after five years of service equal to 30 per cent of final average pay but the employe if he has ten or more years service may elect to retire voluntarily.

Likewise much thought has been given to two bills relative to election districts. One lays down principles governing the creation or division of election districts which would do away with a large number of unnecessary districts created over the years. The most economical method of conducting elections is also sought. The companion bill provides for state reimbursement to counties for the election expenses in even-numbered years elections which are state wide.

The members of this commission feel that they have been faithful to their trust. They have completely ignored political considerations and, with a singleness of purpose, they have sought constructively to improve the governmental workings of the local political subdivisions in Pennsylvania. They are endeavoring to increase the efficiency and attractiveness of the democratic system of government at the point where the average citizen really experiences the touchs of democracy and where democracy must appear at its best.

We do not even suggest that these proposed bills are the last word in perfection but we do contend that they are fundamentally sound. We submit them for your thoughtful consideration and cordially invite constructive criticism.

The PRESIDENT. The report of the Local Government Commission will be noted in the Journal and copies of the report will be printed and a copy furnished to each Senator.

REPORT FROM COMMITTEE

Mr. TALLMAN, from the Committee on County Government, reported as amended, Senate Bill No. 331, entitled:

An Act to further amend section two of the act, approved the seventeenth day of June, one thousand nine hundred thirteen (P. L. 507), entitled "An act to provide revenue for State and county purposes, and, in cities coextensive with counties, for city and county purposes; imposing taxes upon certain classes of personal property; providing for the assessment and collection of the same; providing for the duties and compensation of prothonotaries and recorders in connection therewith; and modifying existing legislation which provided for raising revenue for State purposes," providing for the return and payment of said county (and in certain cases city and county) tax to the county treasurer on or before February fifteenth of each year.

BILLS INTRODUCED

Mr. FARRELL. Mr. President, I am about to present to the Chair a registration bill dealing with cities of the first class. It has been my aim since I have been a member of the Senate to try to get a workable registration act for the City of Philadelphia and I think I have such a bill. I would now like to point out a few high lights of the bill.

This bill is the result of long and careful study of the entire subject and remedies the existing obvious defects in the Registration Act and the evils resulting therefrom. The bill would make the law capable of proper and efficient administration and its enactment I believe would (1) assure the citizens of honest, complete and accurate registration lists and thereby prevent the possibility of fraud; (2) eliminate the risk of disfranchising any voter because his registration card is not at the polling place through no fault on his part; and (3) afford the voters as much convenience as is possible in registering and otherwise exercising their rights and privileges.

Among the major changes in the law the bill would make are:

1. Fixing the time for registration up to fifty days before any election or primary, except in odd numbered years, when the voters would be permitted to register up to thirty-five days before the municipal election, (to enable voters to register between the fall primary and the municipal election).

2. Requiring the Commission to keep accurate records of the serial numbers of the registration cards as they are used in registering voters.

3. Issuing certificates of registration to citizens as they are registered.

4. Eliminating removal cards and requiring voters to re-register if they move from their divisions to other addresses in the city, except in cases where the change is to another residence in the same division.

5. Canceling the registration of any voter who fails to vote within a period of two years instead of the four year period as the law now provides.

6. Eliminating changes of party enrollment between primaries and general elections.

7. Insuring accuracy of street lists and requiring them to be posted at polling places.

8. Facilitating the method of handling strike-off petitions and keeping the registration lists clear of names that do not belong there.

9. Further protecting the voters' rights on appeals to the courts from decisions of the Commission.

10. Preventing confusion and disfranchisement on election day even should some registration cards, notwithstanding all the safeguards in the bill, not be present at the polling place.

11. Strengthening the provisions of the law by the imposition of additional penalties.

Mr. FARRELL read in his place and presented to the Chair Senate Bill No. 561, entitled:

An Act to amend the act approved the thirtieth day of March, one thousand nine hundred thirty-seven (P. L. 115), entitled "An act to provide for the permanent personal registration of electors in cities of the first class as a condition of their right to vote at elections and primaries, and their enrollment as members of political parties as a further condition of their right to vote at primaries, prescribing certain procedure for the conduct of elections and primaries and the challenge and proof of qualifications of electors and prescribing the powers and duties of citizens, parties, bodies of electors, registration commissions, commissioners, registrars, inspectors of registration and other appointees of registration, commission, election officers, municipal officers departments and bureaus police officers, courts, judges, prothonotaries, sheriffs, county commissioners, peace officers, county treasurers, county controllers, registrars of vital statistics, real estate brokers, rental agents, certain public service companies, persons, firms and corporations operating vehicles for moving furniture and household goods and boards of school directors and imposing penalties," as amended by redefining, amplifying and changing the powers and duties of the commission, its employes and commissioners, further regulating and changing the provisions of said act, relating to the appointment and removal of registrars and the powers, privileges, rights and duties of registrars, watchers, election officers, and electors, revising and changing the provisions of said act, relating to the times places and manner of registering electors and their enrollment as members of political parties, change of party enrollment, cancellation of registrations, preparation and distribution of street lists, apeals to the commission and to courts and the procedure thereon; the inspection of the records of the commission providing for appeals by the commission to appellate courts, repealing and changing certain provisions of said act, relating to removal notices and for the manner of reckoning time, imposing additional duties on certain city officers, clarifying and coordinating certain provisions of said act and imposing additional penalties.

Which was committed to the Committee on Elections.

Mr. LETZLER read in his place and presented to the Chair Senate Bill No. 562, entitled:

An Act to amend the act, and to add sections one thousand and seven, one thousand and eight, and one thousand and nine to the act approved the twenty-eight day of April, one thousand nine hundred thirty-seven (P. L. 417), entitled "An act relating to milk and the products thereof; creating a Milk Control Commission; establishing its jurisdiction, powers and duties; regulating the production, transportation, manufacturing, processing, storage, distribution, delivery and sale of milk and certain products thereof; providing for the licensing of milk dealers and the payment of fees therefor; requiring milk dealers to file bonds to secure payment for milk to producers and certain milk dealers; authorizing the holding of hearings and the issuance of subpoenas by the commissions; conferring jurisdiction upon courts to punish contempts and to prohibit violations of this act and of rules, regulations and orders of the commission; authorizing the commission to adopt rules, regulations and orders, and to enter into interstate and Federal compacts; requiring persons who weigh, measure, sample or test milk to procure permits or certificates, to take examinations, to pay fees therefor, to furnish certain notices records and statements, and to use certain methods of weighing, measuring, sampling and testing; authorizing the commission to examine the business, papers and premises of milk dealers and producers, requiring the keeping of records and the filing of reports by milk dealers, and permitting with limitations, the use of information obtained thereby; authorizing the commission to fix prices for milk and certain milk products subject to the approval of the Governor, and conferring certain powers upon the Governor with respect thereto; providing for appeals to the courts from decisions of the commission, and for the burden of proof upon such appeals; prescribing penalties, fines and imprisonment for violations of this act and rules, regulations and orders of the commission, defining perjury; defining remedies; repealing legislation supplied and superseded by this act, and saving rights, duties and proceedings thereunder; and making appropriations," by providing that milk delivered or made available or handled or received on consignment or otherwise shall be subject to all the provisions of said act including price fixing and bonding; enabling the ratification of the act or order of one commissioner by another member of the commission; authorizing special agents or examiners to conduct hearings on behalf of the commission; requiring witnesses to testify fully at hearings; enabling certain officers, employes and agents to administer oaths; enabling commissioners to issue, appropriate process beyond the Commonwealth, providing the method and effect of service of certain orders and the posting of rules, regulations and certain orders; enabling employes of the commission to mark or stamp for identification books and papers that they have inspected; providing for action with milk control agencies of other states and of the United States in holding hearings and promulgating and enforcing orders; requiring milk dealers to be licensed; stating grounds for refusal, suspension, revocation or refusal or transfer of licenses; stating the effect of service by registered mail when the addressee refuses to accept or receive such mail; enlarging requirements of milk dealers to file bonds to secure payment to producers and certain milk dealers; prescribing the effective date and term of such bonds and providing for their release; providing for the increase or decrease of the amounts of bonds; prescribing the effect of orders of the commission relating to licenses in suits on bonds; providing for payment to those entitled thereto of moneys in the hands of the commission owing to milk dealers or producers; increasing the scope of regulation of subdealers; clarifying the requisites of orders fixing prices for milk providing that all provisions of price-fixing orders shall be presumed valid and placing the burden of proving invalidity on those asserting the same; prescribing the result of partial invalidity of any order; providing for the classification of prices to be paid producers for milk; authorizing the establishment of equalization pools for the equalizing, averaging or blending of minimum prices to be paid producers; requiring reports from dealers and producers for establishing equalized prices; providing for a reasonable check-off to cover the expense of administering equalization pools, for the establishment of basic averages, and providing a reserve to cover amounts owing by defaulting milk dealers; establishing "The Milk Equalization Fund"; prescribing the method of establishing equalization pools; providing for certain differentials from equalized prices; defining violations of orders of the commission fixing prices; making milk dealers responsible for acts of directors, officers agents or other persons acting for or on behalf of them; prescribing procedure on appeal from orders of the commission; prescribing the method of handling moneys in the Milk Control Fund; further regulating milk dealers and cooperative agricultural associations; further defining and prescribing penalties, defenses and remedies; and authorizing the commission to establish a base-rating price system, a system of classified prices, a system of equalizing or pooling prices to be paid producers or any combination thereof.

Mr. CAVALCANTE. Mr. President, I am trying to correct a very serious condition that has developed in our Commonwealth because of various decisions of the Courts of Common Pleas on the quota law, applicable to the issuance of liquor licenses. If the quota is filled and a licensee has held a malt liquor license many years and desires to have issued to him a liquor license they will not do it, but when those cases have been taken to the Court of Common Pleas on appeal some county courts have held the quota law does not apply to malt beverage licenses, while some county courts have held the quota law does apply, and we have an anomalous situation in this state, in some counties, whereby the holder of a malt retail liquor license may exchange his license for a liquor license and in some other counties the same licensee holder cannot do it. I am presenting this bill to correct that injustice.

Mr. CAVALCANTE read in his place and presented to the Chair Senate Bill No. 563, entitled:

An Act to add section four hundred four and one-tenth to article four of the act, approved the twenty-ninth day of November, one thousand nine hundred and thirty-three (P. L. 15, 1933-34), entitled, as amended "An act to regulate and restrain the sale, manufacture, possession, transportation, importation, traffic in, and use of alcohol, and alcoholic and malt or brewed beverages; conferring powers and imposing duties upon the Pennsylvania Liquor Control Board and its agents, the Department of Public Instruction, other officers of the State government, courts, and district attorneys; authorizing the establishment and operation of State stores for the sale of such beverages not for consumption on the premises, and the granting of licenses, subject to local option, to sell such beverages for consumption on and off the premises; forbidding importation or bringing of such beverages into the State except as herein provided; prohibiting certain sales or practices in, connection with, and transactions in such beverages by licensees and others; providing for the forfeiture of certain property; making disposition of the receipts from State stores and of fees; and imposing penalties," directing the board to issue liquor licenses to holders of retail dispensers' licenses upon payment of fee and furnishing of bond; and providing that the issuance of liquor licenses in such cases shall not be prevented by any laws limiting the number of such licenses to be granted by the board.

Which was committed to the Committee on Law and Order.

Which was committed to the Committee on Education.

revocation and suspension of licenses by said bureau; and providing penalties for violations thereof, and repealing all acts or parts of acts inconsistent therewith," by defining certain terms; imposing certain additional duties upon the State Board of Medical Education and Licensure; further regulating the status of student interns; requiring foreign applicants to complete their citizenship; making provision for graduate students from other states and Canada, and providing for automatic revocation of registration in case of mental incompetency.

Which was committed to the Committee on Public Health.

Mr. MUNDY. Mr. President, on behalf of the gentleman from Northumbreland, Dr. Deitrick, the gentleman from Warren, Dr. Chapman, and myself, I am about to present to the Chair a bill affecting trackless trolleys. In the 1937 session of the Legislature I introduced a bill which made possible throughout the State of Pennsylvania the use of trackless trolleys because I thought the trolley system as such, because of the changes in motor transportation, was practically obsolete. It was not my intention at that time such vehicles should use the state highways and roads absolutely free of cost, so therefore I offer this amendment defining them and placing them in the same category as buses and other means of transportation and fixing a tax on them for a license fee. I think, Mr. President, the State of Pennsylvania and the Commonwealth can well appreciate the fact that this is a new source of income.

Mr. MUNDY read in his place and presented to the Chair Senate Bill No. 576, entitled:

An Act to amend the clause defining Motor Vehicles of section one hundred and two of the act, approved the first day of May, one thousand nine hundred and twenty-nine (P. L. 905), entitled "An act for the protection of the public safety; regulating the use of highways, and the operation of vehicles, tractors, street cars, trackless trolley omnibuses, bicycles, pedestrians, and the riding of animals upon the highways of this Commonwealth; providing for the titling, including liens, encumbrances, and legal claims; registration of certain vehicles and licensing the operators thereof, upon payment of prescribed fees; prescribing and limiting the powers of local authorities to deal with the subject matter of this act; conferring powers and imposing duties upon the Department of Revenue, the Department of Highways, peace officers, mayors, burgesses, magistrates, aldermen, justices of the peace, the courts and the clerks thereof, owners of vehicles, and garage keepers; providing that records are admissible as evidence; imposing upon owners, counties, cities, boroughs, incorporated towns, townships, within the Commonwealth, liability for damages caused by the negligent operation of their motor vehicles; imposing penalties; imposing certain costs upon counties; providing for the disposition of fines, forfeitures, fees, and miscellaneous receipts; making an appropriation and providing for refund," by including trackless trolley omnibuses within the definition of Motor Vehicles.

Which was committed to the Committee on Highways.

RESOLUTION INTRODUCED

Mr. MILLER. Mr. President, I desire to present a resolution and I ask the indulgence of the Chair while I make just a few brief remarks concerning the resolution.

The PRESIDENT. The gentleman from Luzerne will proceed.

Mr. MILLER. Mr. President, I feel honored and proud on behalf of the American Legion of the Department of Pennsylvania by reason of the resolution adopted at the Executive Committee Meeting of that organization in Altoona, Pennsylvania, on April 5, a resolution paying fit tribute to a gentleman and a scholar and one who has for many years exemplified himself as the guider of the youth of America.

RESOLUTION DESIGNATING MAY 17th AS CONNIE MACK DAY

Mr. MILLER offered the following resolution which was twice read, considered, and agreed to:

In the Senate, April 9, 1941.

Whereas, The future of this great Nation depends upon its youth and their capacity to uphold the standards established by their forefathers to safeguard the American way of life; and

Whereas, Clean living and healthful sports are conducive to the development of both virility and morality, and the first essential of capacity to carry on is youth's physical equipment; and

Whereas, One who has lived in our midst for well nigh four score years has by his example and industry made it possible to develop in the ranks of clean sportsmanship exemplars of the value of physical development and clean living as standards for our youth; and

Whereas, The General Assembly desires to show its appreciation to the citizen who has dedicated his life to the development of youth and maintaining their ideals on high standards; therefore be it

Resolved (if the House of Representatives concur), That the Legislature acknowledges the contribution made to our cultural development by endorsing the celebration of May 17, 1941, as Connie Mack Day; and be it further

Resolved, That His Excellency, the Governor of Pennsylvania, shall issue, publish and declare an appropriate proclamation to the people of Pennsylvania, designating for observance this year the 17th of May as Connie Mack Day.

RULE 39 SUSPENDED

Mr. MILLER. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that Rule 39, which requires resolutions be referred to an appropriate committee, be suspended and the Senate do now proceed to the consideration of the resolution just read.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the resolution?

It was agreed to.

CALENDAR

Mr. COLEMAN. Mr. President, before the Chair goes into the reading of the first bill I would like to ask unanimous consent to make a statement.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection? The Chair hears none. The gentleman from Lackawanna will proceed.

Mr. COLEMAN. Mr. President, I hope what I say is not the signal for a series of speeches, because what I am going to say is said in a conciliatory tone rather than in an inflammatory theme.

Mr. President, ever since I came into the House of Representatives in 1935, and until I was elected to membership in the Senate, I cherished an ambition to sit in this chamber. Every now and again I read in the paper of a statement of someone who was a student of legislation that this present Session from a standpoint of talent, from the standpoint of dignity, does not measure up to sessions in the past, and I would like to express my opinion and say that we have in this Senate of Pennsylvania many men who have the statesman's point of view and no body of men in the Commonwealth share a greater portion of my admiration and respect than my colleagues in the Senate of Pennsylvania.

I have come before you this morning not as a penitent youngster confessing a sin but I want to say just a word or two because I think the eyes of the people of the Commonwealth are focused upon the Senate of Pennsylvania; they are very critical of our every action and I am frank to confess perhaps I contributed in some small measure to the slowing up process in the Senate of Pennsylvania, with respect to the bill that was recommitted last night, which brought about my insistence as a member of the Senate that we carry out to the letter the provisions of the Constitution.

I would like to relate a story of a cartoon I saw in the paper several weeks ago. Now, Mr. President, I have never enjoyed the indescribable thrill of some flaxen haired youngster looking at me and calling me daddy and accordingly I am not familiar with the intricacies of diaper pinning but I have a story that I think is most appropriate.

Several weeks ago, Mr. President, I saw in a local paper a cartoon depicting a hospital scene and here were two nurses, one holding a diaper in her hand and in the corner of the room was a crib in which there was a naked little youngster, and the nurse said to the other one, "I am having a difficult time trying to pin anything on to this fellow because he is a gangster's son," and, Mr. President, I do not know on whom I can pin responsibility for the bill that was given to me at the request of the Republican controlled school board in the City of Scranton, the Republican Mayor and the Republican council.

I think, Mr. President, we have reached a stage in this session where we should get down to some serious work. I saw a picture a couple of nights ago of "Men of Boys Town," and I advise all members of the Senate—I have no personal interest in any motion picture concern—but I think there is a great philosophy there and the underlying philosophy of Father Flanagan's Boy's Town is that there are no bad boys in the country, there is no such thing as a bad boy.

I would like to believe, Mr. President, that there is no such thing as a bad Senator and I do not think they are all singling me out for any special persecution. I would like to see that philosophy of Boys Town permeate the Senate chamber.

A story is told and I think it is appropriate to tell it here, Mr. President, about a gentleman who walked into the office of Henry Ford looking for a job. He went into this spacious office and Mr. Ford looked up at him and he said, "Mr. Ford, I am the father of five youngsters and I am in need of work and I would like to have a job." The venerable car manufacturer said, "You go down to McDowell, the foreman, and tell him I said for him to put you to work." The fellow walked out with his head erect and with a new lease on life and as he reached the door he hesitated momentarily at the door and came back rather meekly and he said, "Mr. Ford, I forgot to tell you a little something I think you ought to know. I spent some time at Leavenworth. Ford looked up at him and said, "Never mind that; start where you stand."

Start where you stand. I think that is a great philosophy, Mr. President, and I think we ought to forget the little incident that occurred last night and I am sure I am only too glad to forget.

I heard a story a couple of days ago which I think also is appropriate. Two Irishmen met in the streets of Dublin and one Irishman said to the other, "Where do we stand in this great conflict abroad; where do we stand in the war? The fellow said, "We are neutral." He said "Yes, I know that but who are we neutral against?"

I would like to think, Mr. President, the members of this Senate are really neutral against nobody but really neutral and nonpartisan in the consideration of legislation that does not have any place in the realm of politics.

As I said before, Mr. President, I think the eyes of the people of the Commonwealth are upon us and I think they are demanding some action, I think they are insisting we get away from tomfoolery in the consideration of legislation and I think the time has come when we ought to show them we are the answer to the prayer:

God give us men the time demands
Strong hearts, true faith and willing hands;
Men whom the lust of office does not kill,
Men whom the spoils of office will not buy,
Men who possess the opinion and the will,
Men with honor and men who will not lie.
Men who will stand before the demagogue
And still his treacherous flattery without winking.
Tall men, some crowned, who lives above the fog
In public duty and in private thinking.

Mr. President, on behalf of my good friend, Senator Mundy, the militant leader of democracy in Luzerne County, who rose to my defense last night, we are going to withdraw our request that bills be read at length on three different days, carefully considered and agreed to, and I hope, Mr. President, this is the signal for the beginning of a lot of action.

I do not mind telling you, Mr. President, some of the gentlemen of the press said to me last night it was inspirational to go into the House yesterday and watch how expeditiously they carried on the business of the House and, Mr. President, after all this is the highest law-making body in the Commonwealth.

We have splendid statesmen here, we have plenty of men who have the interest of the people of the Commonwealth at heart and I say, Mr. President, let us forget about what happened yesterday and let us start where we stand.

Mr. MUNDY. Mr. President, I am delighted my colleague from Lackawanna, Senator Coleman, has so much poetry in his soul and mind this morning. I must say I have no kindred feeling.

My own feeling is a practical analysis of what has occurred here and what will probably occur and I say I do not agree with him when he says the people of Pennsylvania are by their attitude watching us and in this particular instance of reading bills will be much more disturbed than they were by the attitude of this Senate from the time we convened in January until this present date.

Now, Mr. President, I just want to add this, that I have been in the Senate—this is my second term—and I have had differences on the floor with my Republican colleagues but at all times in the past I have found everyone of them, up until this, a perfect gentleman and very considerate of Senatorial courtesy.

This is the first time since I have been in the Senate, Mr. President, anybody has abandoned that principle and I must say if any Senator on the other side had any proposition which affected materially his district alone or one city in his district regardless of any politics in the matter I would support him and would continue to support him very, very definitely in that project and I can see no reason why we should depart from that principle. I want to go on record and say if I do remove my objections to reading at length the bills on the Calendar it is not from any public censure or any pressure from back home, because no man need fear, if he feels he is right, any pressure from any individual. I do repeat, Mr. President, that the sooner we develop leadership of the type that is going to direct and know what is going on here on the floor and at least anticipate some rule or some organization, the sooner we are going to proceed and do something for the benefit of the people of Pennsylvania.

Mr. President, at the request of the Senator from Lackawanna, Mr. Coleman, I do reluctantly remove my objection to reading the Calendar and in this connection let me say I am not given to flattery but the excellent service and impartial service rendered by the Chair and the gentleman at the desk, who are the only ones really suffering physically from this thing, after serious consideration, led me to remove my objection.

The PRESIDENT. We will now proceed with the Calendar.

BILL ON THIRD READING

Agreeably to order,

The Senate proceeded to the third reading and consideration of Senate Bill No. 1 entitled:

An Act providing that when inmates of an orphan's home or other children's institution or private home are maintained at the cost of any county and attend public school and are not legal residents of such school district, the county shall pay their tuition charges and collect the same from the school district liable therefor.

POINT OF ORDER

The following occurred during the reading of the bill:

Mr. SHAPIRO. Mr. President, I rise to a point of order.

The PRESIDENT. The gentleman from Philadelphia will state his point of order.

Mr. SHAPIRO. Mr. President, it may be accidental but I do not find in my desk a copy of this bill.

The PRESIDENT. Are there any other Senators without copies of the bill.

Mr. WALKER. I have a copy, Mr. President.

Mr. SHAPIRO. Mr. President, may I have the indulgence of the Chair while I read the bill?

The PRESIDENT. The Senate will be at ease for a moment.

Mr. WOODWARD. Why are we at ease, Mr. President?

Mr. SHAPIRO. Of course, Mr. President, if the Senate objects to members of the Senate reading bills in order to understand what we are voting on, I am perfectly satisfied to withdraw my request but this bill was amended yesterday as I understand it and this is the first time I have had a chance to see an amended copy of the bill and I would like to find out who is responsible for the amendment and I would like to interrogate the gentleman who inserted these amendments.

POINT OF ORDER

Mr. WALKER. Mr. President, I rise on a point or order.

The PRESIDENT. The gentleman from Allegheny will state his point of order.

Mr. WALKER. Mr. President, the bill was being read at the time the request was made by the gentleman from Philadelphia.

The PRESIDENT. For the information of the Senator from Allegheny, according to the rules of the Senate copies of bills must be on the desks of the Senators.

Mr. WALKER. Mr. President, the bill is on the gentleman's desk now and my point of order, Mr. President, is that there is nothing before the Senate with the exception of the reading of the bill.

The PRESIDENT. The bill was being read.

Mr. WALKER. Mr. President, as I understand it the bill had not been read. The reading clerk was in the middle of reading the bill when the gentleman from Philadelphia raised his point of order.

Mr. SHAPIRO. May I suggest at any time, Mr. President, when a bill is being read any member of the Senate has a right to speak, even in the midst of the reading, before the vote is taken, and in addition to which this bill was being illegally and unlawfully read because there was no copy of it on my desk and therefore as far as I am concerned the bill has not been read.

The PRESIDENT. The point of order of the gentleman from Philadelphia is well taken.

Mr. WALKER. Mr. President, do I understand the Chair rules that I am out of order.

The PRESIDENT. The Chair rules the gentleman from Allegheny is out of order. The point of order of the gentleman from Philadelphia is well taken.

Mr. SHAPIRO. Mr. President, may I interrogate the gentleman who introduced the amendments?

The PRESIDENT. Will the gentleman from Butler permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. CARR. I will, Mr. President.

Mr. SHAPIRO. Mr. President, will the gentleman state the reason for the inclusion of tuition being paid for children in private institutions, which was not included in the bill when it first came before us?

Mr. CARR. Mr. President, as I understand the matter there are certain cases in which the county commissioners are permitted to go out and place children who are within their care in private homes rather than in institutions and the only difference is to enable the same procedure to be taken in that case and remission to the school district of the fees for the out of district children and their collection from the school district responsible.

Mr. SHAPIRO. Mr. President, will the gentleman from Butler permit himself to be further interrogated?

Mr. CARR. I will, Mr. President.

Mr. SHAPIRO. Mr. President, does the gentleman think that excludes children who might be attending private schools or a private home where they can afford to pay tuition?

Mr. CARR. I am not familiar with that, Mr. President, as to whether or not all those children live in homes where their support by the county will enable people who are keeping them to pay the tuition. As I understand it, the requirements where they are in a county maintained institution, the county pays their tuition to the school and then collects it from the school district of which they are legal residents. This is simply making the same procedure apply to those put in private homes as to those who are kept in institutions.

Mr. SHAPIRO. Mr. President, I have no personal interest in the bill except from the view of legislation but I think the use of the words "private home" as used here may enable the inclusion of persons who could well afford to pay for the tuition of their children and saddle the burden of that tuition on the particular community. If that was not the inention it ought to be corrected. If that is not the interpretation I am satisfied but I am calling attention to the fact that the use of those words may bring about a situation which was not intended.

Mr. CARR. Mr. President, may I reply that if the parent or guardian from whom children have been taken is or are capable of paying tuition the obligation rests upon the school district of which the children are legal residents to collect that from the parent or guardian, regardless of this bill.

Mr. GELTZ. Mr. President, may I suggest to our colleague from Philadelphia County that the wording to which he objects applies in such instances where such inmates are maintained at the cost of any county and does not apply to the cases to which he objects.

Mr. CAVALCANTE. Mr. President, I am taking the floor in order to help expedite our action on this Calendar. I suggest to the gentleman from Blair, Mr. Mallery, that this bill should go over in its order so that strikeout amendments may be made in the title.

Mr. President, the title is incorrect. It says: "providing that when inmates of an orphan's home or other children's institutions or private home are mained at the cost of any county and attend public schools and are not legal residents of such school districts and the county shall pay their tuition charges and collect the same from the school districts liable therefore"; the first "and" in line five must be stricken out or you have a title which means nothing.

Mr. MALLERY. Mr. President, I think the point of the gentleman from Fayette is well taken. It is a strike out amendment and is so self-evidence there is a possibility the Senate will agree, but I will agree that the bill shall go over in its order. It is simply a strike-out amendment.

Mr. CAVALCANTE. Mr. President, it is simply a strike-out amendment that be made on the floor, but we must have it in writing.

Mr. MALLERY. It is agreeable to me, Mr. President, if you have the bill go over in its order.

Mr. CAVALCANTE. I suggest to the gentleman from Blair, Mr. President, that the bill go over in its order and then it can be passed before we adjourn today.

Mr. THOMAS B. WILSON. What strike out amendment does the gentleman from Fayette desire to make in this bill?

Mr. CAVALCANTE. Mr. President, I am sorry the gentleman from McKean was sleeping when I made my remarks. We must strike out the conjunction "and" in the fifth line of the title, the first conjunction "and." If that is not done the title does not mean anything, a very senseless title.

Mr. THOMAS B. WILSON. I will go back to sleep, Mr. President.

And said bill having been read at length the third time,

And the amendments made thereto having been printed as required by the Constitution,

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

BILL OVER IN ORDER

Mr. CAVALCANTE. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that Senate Bill No. 1, on third reading, go over in its order.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

SCHEDULE OF UNEMPLOYMENT COMPENSATION BENEFITS FOR TOTAL UNEMPLOYMENT

Method by Which the Department shall Determine His Unemployment Compensation Benefits:

A. Weekly Benefits Rate—

1. Select the interval in column (a) in which his full-time weekly wage appears. Opposite, on the same line under column (c) appears the weekly benefit rate.
   Proviso. If total earnings in the base period does not equal or exceed the minimum of the corresponding interval in column (b), or in the absence of a full-time weekly wage then,
2. Select the interval in column (b) in which his high-quarter earnings appear. Immediately opposite, on the same line, under column (c) appears the weekly benefit rate.

B. Maximum Number of Benefit Checks—

1. Upon determining the weekly benefit rate locate, on the same line to the right, the bracket in which total earnings in the base period appear. The figure above that column shows the maximum number of weeks for receiving benefits.

And said bill having been read at length the third time,

And the amendments made thereto having been printed as required by the Constitution,

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the bill?

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, I do not believe there is any use in making any motion to recommit Senate Bill No. 80 or ask that it go over in its order as that would serve no purpose here. I think the minds of the gentlemen on the other side of the Senate are made up as to the action they will take and I hope the minds of the members of the Senate on this side are not made up in order that the very few words I will say in covering the subject may help them decide their position.

The main purpose of every Workmen's Compensation Act, Mr. President, is to provide benefit payments. True, there are twenty-two amendments in this bill and I would say frankly twenty of them are very good, but the twenty amendments are only incidental to the main purpose of a workmen's compensation bill. The main purpose, as I have stated, in my opinion is to provide benefit payments for unemployed persons, in order to maintain purchasing power during various slumps in business, when industry curtails activity because of lack of business and so forth, and I think one reason the depression dipped so deep was because there was no intelligent legislation such as i is on the statute books.

Therefore, Mr. President, I intend to oppose the bill, although I am a co-sponsor of it, because I have maintained from the first that the committee—and I think you will find in the statement of the committee that the commission of which I was a member was to draw up a bill to introduce into this Senate and House which would be non-controversial. The minute the schedule of payments was put into the act the bill became controversial. It was my belief that when we introduced a bill that the matter of amounts to be paid and the number of weeks that payments would be made to unemployed persons would be a matter of study and discussion on the part of the committee with the interested parties, namely, labor and industry in the State of Pennsylvania.

I see that the committee makes a recommendation here and says a "Highlight of the commission's twenty-two point program is an increase in benefits of $5,000,000.00 and reduces the waiting period also.

Now, Mr. President, the figure of $5,000,000—and I have here an actuarial report that says by reducing the waiting period from three weeks to one week it would only cost $2,900,000—and yet the commission reports by reducing the waiting period from three weeks to two weeks it will cost $5,000,000.

When I made the motion yesterday to send this bill back to committee I did so in the interest of harmony and good legislation again. Another bill has been introduced in this Senate by the gentleman from Lackawanna, Mr. Coleman, which deals more specifically with the matter of benefit payments I asked yesterday that this bill be sent back to committee in the hope we could take the bill introduced by the gentleman from Lackawanna and the bill which came over from the House and this bill and as true legislators sit down and try to work out a formula which we could all vote for.

I take the position that although twenty of the twenty-two amendments are good, because of the mere fact that I do not want to go on record as approving the main feature of the bill, which to my mind is bad, I must therefore vote against it.

I am somewhat in the position of a person who likes vegetable soup and although twenty ingredients in the soup are good he does not like carrots, carrots spoil the whole soup so he can not eat any of it.

I want to give you some figures on benefit payments, of cost, which I think will be interesting to this Senate.

If, by raising the weekly amount to twenty dollars instead of fifteen dollars, extending the number of weeks from thirteen to sixteen weeks, reduction from three weeks to one week in the waiting period, changing the effective date, the increased total cost to the system in Pennsylvania would be $17,400,000.

Your present average of collections per year is $80,000,000; your payment averages for 1938, 1939 and 1940 were $56,000,000, leaving a balance of $24,000,000.

We expect the collections under the present conditions will be much greater than $80,000,000 and the benefit payments much less than $56,000,000.

I do not know how many of you listened yesterday when I said Pennsylvania employers were paying into a fund that is going to be made into a common fund by the Federal Social Security Board and this common fund will be used to pay benefit payments in states other than Pennsylvania, although Pennsylvania employers are the largest contributors to the fund.

We sit here and refuse to increase benefit to the employes of Pennsylvania, although the money for the increased benefits is paid by the employers of Pennsylvania and is spent to give higher payments to states that do not have sufficient income of their own to take care of payments they have by law given to their employes.

Mr. President, I think we are foolish; I think we are unsound, if Pennsylvania's employes get larger benefits, higher benefits than the amount collected by the state we certainly are on sound ground if that money is going to be taken now away and given to some other state.

Therefore, Mr. President, I believe that the proper procedure in this case would have been to have taken the three important unemployment compensation bills, to have called in representatives of labor in the State of Pennsylvania, to have called in representatives of industry in the State of Pennsylvania, and to have tried to come to some agreement on a top limit payment and the extension of the number of weeks benefit payments would be paid.

Mr. President, I made a suggestion to the committee which I thought was sound and that would be that we put into the bill a safety ceiling and a safety floor, in other words, when the amount collected or the amount in the fund would be depleted to a certain safety factor, we would then reduce automatically a dollar a week on the payments until we reached a point where the amount per week would be low enough, that we would necessarily have to reduce the number of weeks one week at a time in order that the fund would be maintained at somewhere near a safety level.

I say that is good business and sooner or later if we expect to keep unemployment compensation laws on the books of this Commonwealth and Nation we must put in a sliding scale proposition.

Under that system, Mr. President, there is no increased cost to the employer and the thing I want to try to drive home is this: unemployment compensation is basically put into the law for the benefit first of unemployed persons. It is a sort of bonus payment that they will receive when during a depression or slump in business they are automatically thrown out of work.

You know, Mr. President, it is all right for a person who has a sufficient reserve in bank or a sufficient reserve in stocks or bonds or whatever form of wealth he may have, to say, well, I take care of myself, but when you stop to consider the yearly income of sixty-five per cent of the wage earners in this state and nation, you will find it is difficult for any individual worker to set aside sufficient money in nine months of work to take care of them for three months of unemployment; it is almost physically impossible unless they are in the highest salary brackets.

Therefore, as legislators we pass unemployment compensation laws but when we refuse arbitrarily to amend the benefit payments from year to year or from biennium to biennium in accordance with the needs of the times, when we refuse to do that, then we are not acting in my opinion in the best interests of the proper administration of this bill or any similar bill, nor do we give the benefits we started out to give when we first passed an unemployment compensation bill.

The present status of the fund is this: We have $140,000,000 surplus. Some say that $140,000,000 would be wiped out overnight if we get a serious business slump and unemployment became rampant in this land, which is true under this particular type of bill and schedule because you have a fixed weekly amount, a fixed number of weeks. Under the plan I have suggested to the committee and have tried to have enacted into law, there would be no fixed scale amount except when the fund was over and above the so-called safety fund.

Now, Mr. President, if $140,000,000 of our money is taken by the Federal Social Security Board and given out to various other states, do you think we are acting in good faith with the employers and employes of Pennsylvania? I personally do not think we are. We certainly ought to give our employes and employers the maximum amount of benefits under the law, if the plan is to make a common fund out of the moneys collected from the various states.

You may say some of us are motivated by the principle that unemployment compensation is a social benefit and that all society benefits from the administration of such an act and the provisions of such an act. Others are motivated solely with the prime desire in mind that the minute this becomes a law then we must start with a hatchet to pare down the cost to the employer, they never think of increasing benefits.

In my talk yesterday I said that for many, many years that same attitude was taken on workmen's compensation and when the final blow-off came in 1935 a demand came to the Legislature from the long-suffering persons who received workmen's compensation, namely, injured employes, for increased benefits, and some say that was wild eyed and unconstitutional because in its provisions it took away from people private property and was confiscatory in nature.

Now, Mr. President, you get times like that when you do not do your duty when the proper time to perform your duty presents itself. This is the time for the Senate to take this bill in hand, take it out of the hands of the committee and work on it, if necessary by special committee, and see to it that we in Pennsylvania get the maximum benefits for our employers and employes.

It seems so silly and unsound to me to have employers paying a total of $80,000,000 a year and a surplus of $24,000,000 a year for the benefits of employes of some other state. Mind you, the employes get more per week and for a greater number of weeks than they get in this state where the money comes from. In your own business you would not think of doing that but some of us stand up on the proposition that our only interest in social legislation is to pare down the costs to employers.

That is not the only interest of this Legislature, this General Assembly. The real interest should be that we should try to get the maximum amount, within reason and within the amount paid into the fund, to our employes in order that our employers will get the benefits from the continuing purchasing power of the unemployed person.

Now, Mr. President, that simply is the basis of my opposition to this bill. As I said before, I like the other ingredients but for some reason or other I cannot stomach the carrots, and since twenty of the twenty-two amendments are purely incidental to the main amendment in the bill, which to my mind is benefit payments, then the twenty amendments, although they are good and I do not think they could have been improved upon and I am in favor of them, I cannot positively put my stamp of approval upon a bill which takes and sets a schedule up which I had no part in making.

I will say this, I agree the scale you have placed, is better than the schedule in this bill because it simplifies for the person receiving unemployment compensation and for the administrators of the act their administration, it is more easily computed how much a person will receive, whether they have been unemployed a certain length of time or not, and to my mind it is the best formula ever proposed that I have seen, and I have practically looked into most of the unemployment compensation laws of the United States, the bills of the United States, but because it is a good formula it does not force me to approve it when in the formula you do not put the ingredients for a good cake, if you understand what I mean.

Mr. President, in order to have the thing work out right what we should do is what I suggested yesterday, and I mean this sincerely, let us not pass this bill over to the House as we are doing in this legislation or have the House pass it over here and think in some dim future date we will get together and compromise; we should sit down now and I say let us give some time to this question.

How many men in this Senate have taken the time to really study unemployment compensation; how many men have taken into consideration that this may be one of the most important bills on this Calendar this year? I want to impress upon my collegaues of both side of this Senate we should take our time and if necessary name a special committee, because I understand the one bill introduced by the gentleman from Lackawanna went into the Committee on Labor and Industry and the other bill introduced by four members of the Senate, including myself, went into the Committee on Workmen's Compensation and the bill which came over from the House covering the same subject is in the committee of Workmen's Compensation. Therefore, Mr. President, one committee or the other is not handling a bill that is pertinent to that commitee work, because they both cannot be right, they both deal with the same subject identically and therefore I would like to ask my co-sponsors to agree with me on putting this bill into one of the two committees or name a special committee and let us do justice to both employers and employes of Pennsylvania.

Mr. WOODWARD. Mr. President, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Westmoreland.

The PRESIDENT. Will the gentleman from Westmoreland permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. DENT. I will, Mr. President.

Mr. WOODWARD. Mr. President, I am in favor of increased benefits from thirteen to twenty-six weeks but to me the question seems to be this, that under the federal act you have to be an employer of eight or more, and according to the uniformity clause in our unemployment compensation act we are paying these payroll taxes for employees of less than eight. At the last session I thought perhaps we could relieve that by wiping that out but I did not get very far. The question is when you talk about a common fund that may be distributed among other states, is our good Pennsylvania money merged in that common fund, money we are now required to pay by the federal act?

That money is Pennsylvania money and in my opinion ought to stay in Pennsylvania, but it does not, it goes to Washington and the first thing you know it will be in the common pot. What can the gentleman tell me about it.

Mr. DENT. I will try, Mr. President. I think the whole principle of making a common pot at Washington, where you do not have a uniform benefit schedule, is wrong; I do not think we ought to pay any Pennsylvania benefit payments to other states.

Mr. WOODWARD. Mr. President, doesn't the gentleman from Westmoreland know this Pennsylvania money goes to Washington now.

Mr. DENT. That is correct, Mr. President.

Mr. WOODWARD. And it ought to stay right here, Mr. President.

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, if the gentleman from Philadelphia wants me to agree with him, I will.

Mr. EDMONDS. Mr. President, may I interrogate the gentleman from Westmoreland?

The PRESIDENT. Will the gentleman from Westmoreland permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. DENT. I will, Mr. President.

Mr. EDMONDS. Mr. President, the gentleman from Westmoreland referred several times to federal legislation, stating that Pennsylvania money would be spent in other states. How far has that progressed? Has there been a bill introduced? Has there been a bill passed to that end?

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, the only thing I can tell the gentleman from Montgomery is from the report we received from our own unemployment compensation people in this state, to our commission here. They said in all probability that would in all probability be the action of the federal government.

Mr. EDMONDS. Mr. President, does the gentleman from Westmoreland know whether there is any proposition to that end that has been submitted to Congress?

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, I am a member of this State Senate and not of the Federal Congress. I can only recognize the statement made to us by our own people.

Mr. SHAPIRO. Mr. President, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Westmoreland.

The PRESIDENT. Will the gentleman from Westmoreland permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. DENT. Yes, Mr. President.

Mr. SHAPIRO. Isn't it a fact, Mr. President, all the money paid by Pennsylvania employers merely goes to the federal government as a separate and definite fund belonging to Pennsylvania and to be paid to Pennsylvania under the workmen's compensation law.

Mr. DENT. That is not a fact, Mr. President. That is the practice up to date but the Social Security Board may change that at any time.

Mr. SHAPIRO. Mr. President, if the gentleman from Westmoreland will yield I would like to suggest the unemployment compensation act provides for payment by the industry to the federal government and it goes earmarked as belonging to Pennsylvania. Payments from the fund to Pennsylvanians are made directly from the fund and no one else collects any money from the fund, except people outside of Pennsylvania who may be working in industry in Pennsylvania.

The only thing in common is the difference between three per cent and 2.7 per cent which is the fund for administration from which funds are allocated to certain funds by the federal government.

We should not confuse the picture by the statement that it will lead us into difficulty. I am not in favor of this bill but I think it ought to be clearly stated our state fund is kept separate and apart and there is no co-mingling of the state fund except as to administration.

Mr. EDMONDS. Mr. President, does the gentleman have any knowledge of any formal or particular proposition to amend the law so as to provide for this common merging of that fund.

Mr. SHAPIRO. Mr. President, there is no such proposition I have heard of, either in Congress or the halls of this legislative body.

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, in making a plea for an increased benefit system of payments I have here a statement part of which reads as follows:

> "It is got to come out of moneys now held in the Federal treasury from the balance collected from Pennsylvania employers."

That is the thing I am trying to bring out here. It has been publicly stated in the public press, aside from the conversation and information that we received in committee hearings, it has been publicly stated in the public press, that the Federal Government intends to make a common pool out of all funds collected because we have some states in the United States that are not able to meet the benefit payment requirements under their law.

Mr. HEYBURN. Mr. President, I might add that there is quite a bit of misunderstanding about contributions to the Federal fund apparently. There is a tax levy of three per cent on payrolls in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, with a ninety per cent credit, if we have an unemployment compensation law of our own, which means 2.7 per cent goes to a special fund in Washington to the credit of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania and three tenths of one per cent is kept in Washington in another fund from which they are supposed to allocate money to use for administrative purposes. We are contributing into that special fund about $11,000,000 a year now and getting only between $6,000,000 and $7,000,000, which is more or less of an injustice, but the entire contribution does not go into any common fund and I know of no such proposal.

Mr. President, what I have heard about this problem is this: they had a meeting some time ago in Hershey, where a representative of the Social Security Board stated they would like, say one per cent, put into a special fund in Washington and two per cent in another fund earmarked from Pennsylvania and from this fund of one per cent they were to deal out parcels of money to states which have been lax in their legislative duty and had gone out and liberalized their act to such an extent the funds are bankrupt.

This is the position we are in in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania: we are serving as a trustee of an insurance fund, and it is just like a man who takes out a life insurance policy for one thousand dollars and then he dies and the widow wants to get five thousand dollars. Pretty soon under such conditions the fund will be bankrupt.

Mr. President, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Westmoreland.

The PRESIDENT. Will the gentleman from Westmoreland permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. DENT. Yes, Mr. President

Mr. HEYBURN. Mr. President, will the gentleman from Westmoreland tell me whether or not there has ever been a year in which the payments from the fund have exceeded the contributions to the fund?

Mr. DENT. From my records, Mr. President, which were given to me by the Department, that is not the case, there has not been a year. I have records here for 1938. 1939 and 1940.

Mr. HEYBURN. There has been a year, Mr. President. I regret very much to differ with my very able colleague but in the year 1938 we paid out more money than we took in. Therefore, Mr. President, it is rather ridiculous to stand up here and talk about liberalizing. We all want to liberalize all we can. Every man in this body would like to give every working man fifty dollars a week if he could. I know I would like to have it myself—with nothing to do.

However, Mr. President, we have this fund to protect. In the year 1938 we paid out more money than we took in. It is true we have a balance today, and we need it. There is apt to be a time in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania when we will need two balances of the size we now have. Look at the experience in Great Britain, where the fund went bankrupt. It seems to me this is like a great reservoir of water in the mountains, we save the water in the reservoir until we need it and then we use as much as we need. The gentleman from Westmoreland would like to leave it all out when we have plenty of rain and then when we have a dry spell we will have no water.

He talks of the House Bill, Mr. President, and he said the maximum amount in cost to the fund was $17,000,000 a year. I would like to quote from a newspaper article a statement by Mr. Ernest Kelly, who was appointed by His Excellency George H. Earle, former governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania—and Mr. Kelly has been kept on. He has a wide reputation of being an extremely liberal administrator of the Unemployment Compensation fund. I would like to read from one paragraph of what he said after the bill passed the House of Representatives. He said it was a question only of how much the general reserve fund could stand in its benefits and he also said nobody can say that at this time. In other words, Mr. President, there does not seem to have been a proper sort of study made.

Mr. President, as I said yesterday this bill is the result of two years of study. The gentleman speaks of rushing legislation through the legislature, but this bill is the result of two years of study by a committee of which I happened to have served as chairman and on which the gentleman from Westmoreland was a member, and every single solitary amendment here was agreed to by the gentleman from Westmoreland, including the two week's waiting time. He did however, raise some issue about the amount of benefits paid under this schedule, which was perfectly proper.

However, Mr. President, he just said the reduction from three weeks to two weeks would cost the fund three million dollars and again I am afraid he is in error. That would cost the fund two million dollars. The schedule itself would cost the fund three million dollars. It is extremely more liberal than the other formula which we had.

I might say, Mr. President, before our committee we called in experts on unemployment compensation, we called in attorneys from the legal staff connected with that department, and they, Mr. President, told us they could not themselves calculate just what labor should receive under unemployment compensation, under this old formula system, so we set up a very simple formula, which is contained in page 42 of the bill and we have liberalized it to such an extent that it will take in thousands and thousands of workers not now covered by the unemployment compensation law.

Mr. President, it sets up an eligibility figure of one hundred dollars. Let us take a gentleman who is making one hundred dollars in his high quarter, in his best period. and you will find under the present act he could get one-eighth of that maximum or $12.50; under this he would get three times one-eighth, which would be $24.00

You see, Mr. President, this to my mind is a very good bill, it is an intelligent approach to a very difficult situation. If we would be so foolish as to go out and extend the benefits to such an extent that when the great test comes we have no funds left then we would have failed in our solemn duties as trustees of the unemployment compensation fund.

Mr. President, the gentleman spoke of reducing the waiting period to one week. That plan of reducing the waiting period has been tried in two states of the nation, Rhode Island and Texas, and in those two states they have merit rating and also in those two states the employes pay one half of the contribution, one and one half per cent of the employe's wages go into this fund, while in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania the employer puts up the whole three per cent.

I could talk a long time on this, Mr. President, but I think generally the problem is pretty well understood here in the Senate; it has been discussed, it has been back in the committee once at the suggestion of the gentleman from Westmoreland and the bill came in with this increased figure—and of course we would like to see that done, Mr. President—but nobody knows how much it would cost the fund and we do not know whether or not it would wreck the fund in six months, when the crash comes.

I regret very much to say I am afraid there will be a crash some time in the not too far distant future. I wish it would never come, Mr. President, but I am afraid it will come.

This is a non-controversial bill, Mr. President. The only objection raised by the gentleman from Westmoreland is as to the amount to be paid per week. Why not let this bill go through as corrected and if the gentleman wants to increase the benefit payments let him introduce another bill. That could be easily done.

Mr. President, it seems to me this is an intelligent approach to this problem. Here is what the bill does, among other things. It increases the minimum to eight dollars; it reduces the waiting period from three to two weeks; it sets the minimum eligibility earnings at $100 instead of varying amounts up to $195; it exempts bonuses and free salaries payable to employes from the payment of the tax; it permits earnings up to three dollars per week without regarding it as disqualifying the employe from receiving benefits. In other words, Mr. President, under the present act if a man on unemployment compensation went out and made five cents he would be considered employed and therefore not eligible to benefits under the act. This provides that a man or woman can go out and make three dollars a week, mowing lawns, washing cars or what not, and still be entitled to the weekly benefits. It seems to me certainly this is a long step in the right direction.

It also exempts all employes attached to a farm, as there was some question as to certain farm employes under our present law and this will conform to the 1939 amendments to the federal social security act. It protects the rights of draftees and volunteers. I do not think anyone will argue that is not a liberalizing section, if you read it.

It simplifies the method of determining benefits due employes and at the same time preserves, as was requested by representatives of the C.I.O., the full time weekly wage method where wages are paid on a weekly basis.

It provides for a mandatory advisory council with representatives of employers and employes to advise on the administration of the act.

It otherwise conforms to recent amendments to the federal social security act of 1939 and there are several other liberalizing features.

This thing has been checked and rechecked by the Federal Social Security board in Washington and I think it is in good shape, as good as it possibly could be.

Mr. President, I think the committee did a good job and I think the gentleman from Westmoreland did a good job and I want to congratulate him. However, I am just wondering whether or not he is breaking faith a little bit when he comes in here and says we ought to reduce the waiting period to one week.

I would like to interrogate the gentleman from Westmoreland.

The PRESIDENT. Will the gentleman from Westmoreland permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. DENT. I will, Mr. President.

Mr. HEYBURN. Isn't it a fact, Mr. President, we all agreed on a waiting period of two weeks.

Mr. DENT. That is correct, Mr. President.

Mr. HEYBURN. My advice to my fellow colleagues here, Mr. President, regardless of party, is to pass this bill and to send it to the House. I would not like to see this great liberalizing bill thrown into the maelstrom of partisan politics and the employes receive no benefits.

Mr. SHAPIRO. Mr. President, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Delaware.

The PRESIDENT. Will the gentleman from Delaware permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. HEYBURN. I will, Mr. President.

Mr. SHAPIRO. Mr. President, I think in order to be able to vote on the bill we ought to be able to understand what is actually being done.

Mr. HEYBURN. Yes, Mr. President.

Mr. SHAPIRO. Mr. President, will the gentleman from Delaware state for the information of the Senate how much is being paid into the fund annually by employers?

Mr. HEYBURN. Mr. President, I thought the Senator from Philadelphia had read this report we submitted—two months ago, three months ago, I think. Right here in the report the gentleman from Philadelphia will find a schedule of benefits and payments all the way down since the inception of the act.

Mr. SHAPIRO. Mr. President, I am sure you will find many Senators, who did not read the bill, which is over forty pages long and who did not read the report which is over fifty pages long.

Mr. HEYBURN. Mr. President, I beg to differ with the gentleman from Philadelphia. It is only thirty-four pages.

Mr. SHAPIRO. Mr. President, I am quite sure the gentleman will understand it would be much better and more helpful for the bill if he could give us those figures. I have my own information about it but in view of the importance of the bill I do not want to make any statement that might be inaccurate. I think the gentleman who sponsored the bill should tell the members of the Senate. This is the question directed to him: how much money is being spent annually and how much money is being paid annually into the fund, so that we may know the difference in surplus, and by how much money this new bill on which we are about to vote will increase the drain on the fund.

Mr. HEYBURN. Mr. President, I think I have already told the gentleman it will increase the drain on the fund by five million dollars.

Mr. SHAPIRO. Mr. President, how much surplus is there annually between payments in and expenditures from the fund?

Mr. HEYBURN. Well, Mr. President, as I told the gentleman, in 1938 we paid out more money than we took in. In 1939, there was a balance and in 1940 there was a balance.

Mr. President, I thought the gentleman from Philadelphia was trying to do a good intelligent job here and had read up on the bill. Does he mean to tell us, with this bill affecting every working man in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania—and he being the great champion of the working man—he never read it with this report right on his desk?

Mr. SHAPIRO. Mr. President, I do not want to break my arm patting myself on the back as to what I did. I am trying to influence the votes of the members of this Senate and I am trying to get further information, information which they expect to get from one of their own members on the Republican side, so will he tell the members of the Senate how much the surplus is being depleted by the terms of this bill.

Mr. HEYBURN. Mr. President, the surplus at the present time is something under $150,000,000.

Mr. SHAPIRO. Mr. President, I mean the annual surplus.

Mr. HEYBURN. Well, if the gentleman will bear with me I will look it up and in the meantime the gentleman from Philadelphia may go ahead and talk.

Mr. SHAPIRO. While the gentleman from Delaware is looking it up I would like to state my objections to the bill. I do not think anybody in this room would believe it if I said that having read this bill I understand what it is all about and I would not expect any member of this Senate, unless he had the actuarial figures which are necessary or desirable, to understand this bill. So far as the terms of the bill are concerned, we will remain in utter ignorance of it unless we are furnished the information by persons who have the daily experience as far as income and expenditures annually are concerned; we can get them from the department, but my understanding and information is that this surplus is accumulated in two ways. First, Mr. President, You will remember the benefits under the act could not begin until the year following the receipt of the premiums paid under the law, so, there was an accumulation which to my recollection would be somewhere around $22,000,000 during the first year. Thereafter taxes increased and there was an additional accumulation and of course when the fund began to be paid out in 1938 there must necessarily have been a payment out of more money than came in, but the fact that the fund is $154,000,000 today under the law which was passed in 1935—1936—which did not become operative for payments out until 1938, indicates that there must have been a tremendous surplus in 1939 and in 1940 and a tremendous reserve.

Mr. President, under those circumstances it would seem to me that we should approach this problem on the basis of how much more we could safely pay out in benefits to employes without wrecking the fund and at the same time without disturbing too materially the surplus which should be allowed to accumulate. I am not in favor of the position that just because there is $154,000,000, it must be paid out. On the contrary since the experiences of those who know anything about it since the 1919 provisions for unemployment compensation in England I feel the time to accumulate large surpluses is in the good years for the purpose of taking care of the bad years and we must not lose sight of the fact that—and I am not approaching this on the basis of what the Democratic Party or the Republican Party wants—but I want to know something about these figures which are very difficult to get in Pennsylvania and when I have offered to give them to the gentleman they are always questioned. I would prefer to believe people who have dealt with this problem, grappled with it, than those who are now attempting to explain it to us.

Approaching the problem from this point of view, I want to say if the benefits increase from three to five million dollars under this act I do not think this act goes far enough, because if the accumulation runs in the neighborhood of $25,000,000 or $30,000,000 a year we can afford to increase the benefits beyond this point and I have in mind this fact: every time a man moves off a job, he moves first into the relief fund and after the waiting period moves back to unemployment compensation and then after that he moves back again onto the relief fund, so that we are not fooling ourselves when we preclude his taking money from a fund which will save the State money; we are just simply playing bad government because every dollar that goes to the unemployed out of the unemployment compensation found is a dollar saved to the tax-payers, the general taxpayers, which would otherwise be spent by them through the avenue of relief.

Mr. President, there are two things in my opinion we ought to know and I think the gentleman who sponsored this bill ought to tell us. In dollars and cents, what is the surplus and in dollars and cents, how will it be affected? In the main I agree with the gentleman it would be difficult to say what would be the cost in cutting down the waiting period because there more than anywhere else you are getting into a wide area which is possible to wreck the fund because you do not know until you have had your actual experience.

There are other states from which we can get that information, but that is the question, I suggest: what are these two factors and that we ought to know, so that we can vote intelligently.

Mr. HEYBURN. Mr. President, I have this report which has been in the hands of the gentleman from Philadelphia for more than three months, but he has not read it, apparently, I am sorry to say.

For the information of the gentleman from Philadelphia, I would like to read from this report as follows:

In 1938 the contributions were $71,581,556. The benefits were $71,553,159.

In 1939, the contributions were—

Mr. COLEMAN. Mr. President, at this point I should like to interrogate the gentleman from Delaware.

The PRESIDENT. Will the gentleman from Delaware permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. HEYBURN. I will, Mr. President.

Mr. COLEMAN. Mr. President, I am sure the gentleman will forgive me for interrupting him. He made the statement a short while ago that in 1938 the fund paid out more money than it collected. Here just read from a report which indicates to the contrary.

Mr. HEYBURN. Mr. President, I stand on my latest figures, which I gave yesterday, and the payments exceeded contributions by a small figure. However, the figures are just about equal and it is too picayune to talk about. However, Mr. President, the latest figures are these

In 1939 the contributions were $80,407,614;

In 1939 the benefits were $54,594,545;

In 1940 the contributions were $86,024,965;

In 1940 the benefits were $44,260,799.

Mr. President, as I told the gentleman before, at the present time I understand the balance has increased and it is something under $150,000,000. So you see, Mr. President, I am right.

Mr. SHAPIRO. Mr. President, I wanted these figures from the gentleman from Delaware because of the statement which he made originally that the fund in 1938 had paid out more money than it had received. My friend the gentleman from Delaware has not taken into consideration the expense item which if added to the item which he gave me, his original figure, would apparently even it up.

The first year is out of the picture in my opinion for several reasons, because that was the first year under the act, and secondly, because that is not the measure of experience now because he indicates that there is a fifty per cent differential between the amount received and the amount paid out; now more than fifty per cent. The last year, as you have already heard, was about $86,000,000, with $44,000,000 paid out.

Now, in that point is the crux of this situation and because of that I say that this is the most inadequate increase in compensation that I have heard about. Here is a fund with $44,000,000 surplus. There is no reason for a fifty per cent surplus in this fund at any time, with the present accumulation of $150,000,000. If somebody had talked about liberalizing this fund in the first year or the second year or the third year I would have said it would have been silly until we had the experience. There are over forty states from which we can get experience even now, and I suggest that this bill is wholly inadequate under the figures that have just been given to us.

Out of this surplus we will increase the benefits $5,000,000, but by making this increase we do not increase the burden on the employer. We shall relieve ourselves and give the employer in indirect taxation relief and release the relief fund from the burden we have so much of these days. Therefore with safety to the fund, guaranteed and assured from experience it is in my opinion ridiculous to say that this is a liberal bill, that we are going to increase compensation payments $5,000,000. Divide that into the number of persons who are unemployed over a period of years and see what it means individually.

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, it has been often said that figures do not lie but liars will figure. I made the statement the fund was not costing any money simply because I was reading the record given to me. I did not know the gentleman from Delaware had private information coming to him from minute wires and of course if the fund fluctuates every day and they let you have inside information I cannot hope to know that, but I do know this, that in the year of 1938 from our own figures in the report we increased the balance in the fund from $68,078,213 to $70,181,366. Now, Mr. President, that does not jibe at all with the figures here on benefit payments and contributions and interest received in our own reports. Some one must be giving us false figures.

I further want to correct the gentleman from Delaware, Mr. President, and say I do not believe in tapping a water reservoir from the bottom but I do believe like every other person that has anything to do with a water reservoir when you fill up to the surface, you have got to take the overflow at the top and see that your breast works and so on are not washed away by the overflow.

Mr. President, my proposition was not for tapping at the bottom but for setting up an overflow reserve and take from the top of the tank and that is exactly what the purpose is.

Mr. President, if you will look over the bill you will find we have definitely twenty good features in the act; I said that I admit that and I compliment the gentleman on his work. I think the committee did excellent work but I still come back to my original proposition that I might like everything else in the soup but I still do not like the carrots.

Mr. HEYBURN. Mr. President, I thought the gentleman from Westmoreland, Mr. Dent, and the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Shapiro, had given more attention to this bill. The gentleman from Philadelphia likes to get up and display his great intelligence—you have seen him, all of you people in the Senate, on both sides, Democrats and Republicans. He likes to be the all knowing man, he gets up and tries to make me look ridiculous, don't you see, by saying the Senator from Delaware in the 1938 figures forgot to add expenses of administration, when, Mr. President, expenses of administration come from an entirely different fund; that comes from the three-tenths of one per cent in Washington and yet the Senator tells me if I add that expense to this figure I will balance the books He is entirely wrong, Mr. President.

Now, Mr. President, with regard to the point raised by the gentleman from Westmoreland and the reason, there is a slight balance in favor of contributions existing in 1938 is because accrued interest from about $141,000,000 is added. That brings the 1938 figures—that shows at the top, contributions and interest—the gentleman is reading from the wrong column entirely. That does not mean contributions, that is contributions and interest and the interest accrued from the $141,000,000 is what makes that column exceed by a few dollars the other column.

I move the previous question, Mr. President.

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, I think this is too important a subject to move the previous question. I know you are going to pass it, but please do not gag us.

Mr. President, I want to read one statement for the information of the Senate. When I said agreements were reached—and I think I played some small part in getting an agreement on the part of industry and on the part of labor to agree to certain specific amendments—I will read from page 7 of the minutes of our hearings: "At the hearings held on December 12, 1939, February 27, 1940, April 16, 1940 and July 30, 1940, the committee heard from representatives of organized labor, business and industry, and interested persons on amending the Pennsylvania Unemployment Compensation Law to bring it into conformity with the 1939 amendments to the Federal Social Security Act and the Federal Internal Revenue code relating to unemployment compensation."

I want to say, Mr. President, we agreed to those amendments and I am standing on that original proposition that we did not agree at any time other than for the formula to be applied in computing amounts but we never agreed on the amounts.

Mr. COX. Mr. President, I want to congratulate the Joint Government Commission on the fine manner in which they presented this study and I want to thank the gentleman from Delaware, Mr. Heyburn and the gentleman from Westmoreland, Mr. Dent, for the expression of their adverse points of view.

I am satisfied, Mr. President, both of these gentlemen are sincere and honorable and the points of view they expressed today represent their actual thoughts in this matter.

I am not an authority on unemployment compensation, I do not profess to be and I have to take the results of their study in order to formulate my own ideas relative to unemployment compensation. It has been disclosed today we have a tremendous reserve which is rapidly accumulating and out of that reserve we certainly could provide more adequate unemployment compensation to the working people.

I realize, Mr. President, and it is my philosophy of life, you cannot tax business out of existence. I do not believe in that sort of thing and I do not think if we increase benefits which could be paid under this act we would be putting an undue burden on business.

The statement has been made the increase in the rates would amount to approximately $5,000,000 a year.

Is that correct, Senator Heyburn?

Mr. HEYBURN. Yes, Mr. President.

Mr. COX. And, Mr. President, the surplus which is accumulated is $19,000,000, is that correct?

Mr. HEYBURN. Mr. President, that is not the figure. There is no increase, when business is good, because as contributions raise the benefit payments drop but when you get into a period of slump, why of course then your benefits raise and the contributions drop and there is no way to establish a basis on this thing excepting by long experience.

The gentleman from Westmoreland talked about bankrupting the fund, and that is exactly how it happened, they gauged the thing too high and when the depression came along they could not maintain the fund, the contributions dropped off and the benefits went up and there was no protection.

Mr. COX. Mr. President, I am well satisfied from the figures quoted there can be an increase in the amount of compensation payable. It seems to me very, very difficult to ask any man to live on eight dollars a week, and do not forget the man you are asking to live with his family on eight dollars a week is the man who has had the smallest possible income. I realize that you cannot establish a standard of living which affords great luxuries from an unemployment compensation fund, but you can establish a standard of living by increasing the amount so you can give the man and his family sufficient so that he does not have to starve to death and that seems to be the principle of this entire debate.

Mr. EDMONDS. Mr. President, there was one question asked by the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Woodward, relative to employers of less than eight and I want to ask this question: what becomes of that money? Is that included in the figures the gentleman has given.

Mr. HEYBURN. Yes, it is, Mr. President. The federal act excludes employers of less than eight. However, under the uniformity clause of the constitution we have to maintain uniformity, so they are all taxed. Those employes who work for employers of less than eight do come under the act. The money goes into the same fund and when the employe of an employer of less than eight loses employment then he receives the same benefits as those of more than eight. Do I make myself clear, Mr. President?

Mr. EDMONDS. Mr. President, are the figures for employers of less than eight included in the totals you have given?

Mr. HEYBURN. That is right, Mr. President.

I would like to suggest one thing more, Mr. President. It seems to me there has been quite a misunderstanding about unemployment compensation. My very good friend, the able Senator from Pittsburgh, Mr. Cox, just talked about a living standard and I quite agree, Mr. President. However, this is an unemployment insurance proposition and you can not get away from that. It is just like a life insurance policy. You may take out a policy for two hundred dollars and somebody would die and that would not cover burial expenses; nevertheless on that basis you can not say to the insurance company, I should have five thousand dollars or ten thousand dollars because some multi-millionaire was buried up the road and that is what his funeral cost.

It seems to me, Mr. President, it is just a question of figures and it is a question of properly understanding that there are two things, it is insurance and it is a social obligation the Commonwealth is fulfilling under the public assistance law.

And the question recurring.

Will the Senate agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

The yeas and nays were taken agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution, and were as follows, viz:

A majority of all the Senators having voted "aye" the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, That the Clerk present said bill to the House of Representatives for concurrence.

Mr. BARR. Mr. President, I would like to explain my vote. In my opinion, there is nothing political about this bill. I voted "aye" hoping that the people will get some increased benefit and help out of it and if the bill is passed finally in the House there may be some agreement for a little higher benefit.

Mr. SHAPIRO. Mr. President, I should like to add to my reason for voting against this bill what I wanted to reserve until after the gentlemen on the other side of the House got through voting for it and the gentleman from Delaware got through giving them his explanation as to why he could not give more benefits, and so, Mr. President, the reason I voted against this bill is because I see in it an effort to keep those benefits down so that the gentleman's resolution might have some force and effect and some day soon he will get Congress to reduce the unemployment compensation tax in accordance with the resolution which he introduced in Congress memorializing them to reduce this tax to two per cent.

SENATE BILL No. 1 CONSIDERED

Mr. MALLERY. Mr. President, I move that the Senate do now resume consideration of Senate Bill No. 1, on third reading, page 1 of the Calendar, which went over in its order.

Mr. EALY. Mr. President, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

Agreeably to order,

The Senate proceeded to the third reading and consideration of Senate Bill No. 1, as follows:

An Act providing that when inmates of an orphans' home or other children's institution or private home are maintained at the cost of any county and attend public school and are not legal residents of such school district and the county shall pay their tuition charges and collect the same from the school district liable therefor

The General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania hereby enacts as follows

Section 1 Whenever any child is an inmate of a orphan asylum or home or a children's home or a home for the friendless or a private home or other institution for the care or training of orphan's or other children and the maintenance of such children is provided at the cost of the county wherein it is located and such child attends the public schools of the school district wherein such home or institution is located although not a legal resident of such district the county shall in all such cases pay to such school district the cost of tuitions text books and school supplies for such child which shall be figured as provided by law for tuition costs in other cases Such costs shall be paid annually by the county and shall thereafter be collected by the county from the school district in which such child is a legal resident

Section 2 All acts and parts of acts inconsistent with the provisions of this act are hereby repealed

And said bill having been read at length the third time,

And the amendments made thereto having been printed as required by the Constitution,

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the bill?

Mr. MALLERY. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent to amend title, page 1, line 5 of title, by striking out the word "and," where it appears the first time in said line.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection?

The Chair hears none.

The amendment was agreed to.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the bill on third reading, as amended?

POINT OF INFORMATION

Mr. EALY. Mr. President, I rise on a point of information.

The PRESIDENT. The gentleman from Somerset will state his point of information.

Mr. EALY. Mr. President, is the first bill on the Calendar to be taken up and voted on now?

The PRESIDENT. That is correct.

Mr. EALY. Mr. President, ordinarily we have a rule that where there are strike out amendments the bill should lay over for correct printing. This strike out amendment is so insignificant I think it could be corrected under general procedure and it would seem to me that this is not a withdrawal from our regular rules. Unless the Librarian or the Secretary objects I see no reason in this case, since the amendment is so insignificant that we might vote on it. However, Mr. President, I do not wish it to be understood we are waiving the general rule on strike out amendments that requires bills to be placed on the Calendar the next day.

Mr. MALLERY. Mr. President, I am entirely satisfied to have the bill go over in its order. I do not want to make any exception, especially if there is anyone in the Senate who objects to the amendment.

Mr. CAVALCANTE. Mr. President, all we need to do now after the amendments are inserted is by unanimous consent proceed to final passage of the bill.

The PRESIDENT. The Chair thinks the gentleman from Fayette is correct. There is no objection from any of the Senators to the suggestion. The objection is from the desk because it is contrary to custom of the Senate but the Senate certainly can waive or deviate from any custom.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the bill on third reading as amended.

Mr. COX. Mr. President, I am very sorry for delaying the procedure but I did not understand we had proceeded so far with the Calendar as to the calling of the roll. Our attention has been called to the amendment to this bill, which would have the effect of imposing the duty on the counties of paying the tuition of those children and then collecting the tuition from the individual school districts. I do not know how burdensome that would be in a small county but I know it will impose a great burden on Allegheny County.

Under the Juvenile Court system it is necessary for the county to make certain expenditures at the present time which it might again collect from the City of Pittsburgh. Five dollars, for instance, on every child per week, payable by the county. At the present time the City of Pittsburgh owes the County of Allegheny one million dollars and we feel that one million dollars will never be collected.

If you figure the tuition rate at eight dollars per month per pupil and there are today two thousand pupils under the control of our juvenile detention authorities and you multiply two thousand by eight you can see the terrific cost that will impose upon the County of Allegheny.

I feel in this particular instance, Mr. President, the school district, in which this child is located should collect directly from the school district from which the child came. We feel in Allegheny County we cannot possibly afford this added expense and burden on the taxpayers of the county and if the county makes the payment it will not collect from the individual school districts the amounts that have been paid.

Mr. FREY. Mr. President, the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Cox, has referred to the amount due the City of Pittsburgh from the county and associated those remarks with this bill. I do not see where the City of Pittsburgh enters into this bill. The bill reads that collections shall be made by the county from the school districts but not the City of Pittsburgh.

Mr. COX. I did say the cities, Mr. President, that is correct, but I merely used that as an example of what happens when you impose a burden on one municipal subdivision to collect from another.

Mr. THOMAS B. WILSON. Mr. President, this bill does not relieve the school district owing the tuition from paying the school district furnishing the instruction, and goes to the expense of taking care of the children. This bill only requires in cases where children are put in homes by order of court, where the school district has to take care of them by order of court. That has been done by the county but the county pays the district the tuition and collects from the other district but it does not relieve the district that owes the tuition from the duty of payment.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the bill on third reading as amended?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

The yeas and nays were taken agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution, and were as follows, viz:

QUESTION OF PERSONAL PRIVILEGE

Mr. HEYBURN. Mr. President, I rise on a question of personal privilege, to defend myself from the unwarranted attack made by the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Shapiro.

The PRESIDENT. The gentleman from Delaware will proceed.

Mr. HEYBURN. Mr. President, the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Shapiro, has seen fit to rise in his place in the Senate and question my motive here today for defending the action of the committee for which I worked for two years as chairman.

Mr. President, I rise to defend the work done by that committee from all attack whether from within or without, fifth column or anything else. The Senator from Philadelphia seems to credit to me the motive of trying to play for the big fellows in this discussion. And, of course, who is one of the big fellows here I will let you choose for yourself, as to whether you will take a big corporation lawyer or a poor humble farmer.

Mr. President, I do not like to divulge anything occurring in a committee meeting, and neither will I, and yet what I am going to say here I think is proper.

The idea of a resolution memorializing Congress to reduce the rate of contribution from three to two per cent was not my baby. That was suggested by the gentleman from Westmoreland, Mr. Dent, and received very wide publicity. Therefore, Mr. President, I do not hesitate to get up and talk about it if, and it were not for that fact I would certainly not speak. However, Mr. President, the gentleman from Westmoreland was entirely proper and as I recall the story appeared in the public press. He represents a coal mining section of the Commonwealth, a section where heavy company industries prevail, steel and iron, and their rate of turnover in unemployment is tremendous. He opposed a merit rating and he said on that basis that is not the thing to do, we should have a reduction for everybody in Pennsylvania, wherever they are, heavy, light or middle, and so he had this suggestion drawn up and presented to the committee, it was passed and I as the chairman of the committee presented it here.

Mr. SHAPIRO. Mr. President, I could tell you a story about the gentleman being right on four points except in four points but I shall refrain. However, Mr. President, I merely want to say I am not a big corporation lawyer, nor am I a big lawyer and also I wish to say the gentleman from Delaware is not a little farmer, because Mrs. Shapiro tells me when she goes to his market she pays more money than anywhere else.

Going back to the resolution, Mr. President, the gentleman said when he got up on a question of personal privilege I had been unjust concerning the resolution and he did not sponsor the resolution. Mr. President, taking up the history at page 117 I find a resolution by Mr. Heyburn in which he seeks to memorialize Congress by Senate Resolution No. 104 and he asks Congress to be good enough to reduce the tax to two per cent. Whose idea it was I do not know—they did not take me into their confidence but Mr. Heyburn, the gentleman from Delaware accepts the responsibility and I suggested that this bill was a forerunner of an attempt to keep the fund high enough so that they could support an argument for a reduction in the tax for manufacturers.

QUESTION OF PERSONAL PRIVILEGE

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, I rise on a question of personal privilege.

The PRESIDENT. The gentleman from Westmoreland will proceed.

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, due to the statements made here relative to the suggestions I made in committee, I want to say I agree with the gentleman from Delaware, Mr. Heyburn, and I want it emphatically understood I do not back-track one iota from the position I took there and take now on the subject of merit rating proposals in connection with unemployment compensation.

A merit rating system would have added to my industries in my community; the heavy, durable goods industries and the coal mining industry of my own community would have had to pay the maximum under the proposal offered for merit rating. Utilities or such industries which enjoy a more permanent basis of employment would have succeeded in getting a reduction from 2.7 per cent down to two per cent.

I took the position, Mr. President, and I take it now, the proper place for any reduction was in the Federal Congress and the only position the State of Pennsylvania could take in order to lay before the Federal Congress the idea that we might have a reduction in the total fund and to all the employers of Pennsylvania would have been by a memorializing resolution. I said it then and I again say it but it was then in the interest of keeping from the statute books in Pennsylvania a merit rating plan which would have saddled an added burden on the particular industry and decreased the burden on another type of industry.

That was my position then and I want it clearly understood.

BILL OVER IN ORDER

Mr. HALUSKA. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that Senate Bill No. 206, on third reading, entitled:

An Act to further amend subsection (a) of section four of the act approved the twenty-fourth day of June, one thousand nine hundred and thirty-seven (P. L. 2045), entitled "An act relating to the support of indigent persons publicly cared for or assisted; providing for the support of such persons by certain relatives, and for the recovery of public moneys expended for care and assistance from the property and estates of such persons; providing for guardians of the person and property of such persons; providing for the arrest and seizure and sale of the property of deserters; and providing procedure," by providing for the furnishing of statements to persons against whom claims are due for support, maintenance and assistance.

go over in its order.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

Section 10 This act shall become effective immediately upon final enactment

And said bill having been read at length the third time,

And the amendments made thereto having been printed as required by the Constitution,

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the bill?

Mr. WALKER. Mr. President, for what it is worth I would like to respectfully call attention to the sponsors of this bill the fact that on page 2 of the bill, lines 6 and 7, the optional feature of the bill is included in the bill and in the title there is nothing so indicated and I offer this suggestion for what it is worth because I would hate to have us pass a tax abatement act that would benefit the folks in the City of Pittsburgh and Philadelphia and then have the act declared unconstitutional and my colleagues would not have any tax abatement.

Mr. SHAPIRO. Mr. President, this tax abatement act is in the opinion of one group of large corporation lawyers—in which I do not fall—an optional bill but by another group it is not considered an optional bill. In other words, the notice provision of the Constitution and the laws are that there shall be sufficient designation in the title to put the persons affected thereby upon notice that they will be affected. This, therefore, will be a tax abatement bill; it is such a bill. It does not give the taxing authority any option at all, but it gives them the duty; that is, if they do not want to act, they must act, and if they do not act, they are bound to do it. One group of lawyers say you need to include it in the title and another group says you do not need to, and I say we are not going to get anywhere until we can get these lawyers to agree, if that can ever happen.

Mr. WALKER. Mr. President, I just want to call to the attention of the laymen of the Senate that the Supreme Court which would declare this bill constitutional or unconstitutional is composed of lawyers. You can notice here in two minutes you have two lawyers who do not agree and in the Supreme Court you have a group of lawyers and very frequently we have experienced that they do not agree on what is constitutional and what is unconstitutional.

Now, Mr. President, if putting these suggestions in the title would protect it why don't we take that protection now, Why do we gamble all hope we have for abatement for the two largest cities in Pennsylvania on a throw of the dice in the Supreme Court?

I am making this suggestion so that not only are we aware of it but so that we can do something about it. I have a number of folks in my district and I do not want to jeopardize their abatement on any whim or caprice of the Supreme Court.

Mr. STIEFEL. Mr. President, I do not believe I need use the microphone because my voice carries sufficiently, I do not need the device.

Gentlemen of the Senate, for the first time in my legislative career I am jittery about postponing a bill, because apparently it involves a constitutional change, and apparently this tax abatement bill is a thought provoking bill and everybody comes up with a new idea.

I am afraid if the bill goes over in its order for another few days there will be a few new amendments and eventually it will be as I stated yesterday, a raven instead of a dove which we sent out in the morning.

Mr. FREY. Mr. President, I believe I can convince my colleague from Allegheny, Mr. Walker, that he need have no fear that his constituents will not have a tax abatement act because of the absence of reference to the optional feature in the title, for this reason, the abatement act of 1939 was drawn practically in the same manner, it contained an optional clause almost similar to the optional clause in the present bill and the title contained no reference or indication to that optional feature.

The 1939 act has not been attacked on the basis of constitutionality and I think the gentleman's fears should be relieved by reason of that fact.

Now, Mr. President, like the co-sponsor of this bill, the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Stiefel, I am very anxious to have this bill expedited so that the taxpayers in the districts affected will have an understanding of just what to anticipate in regard to tax abatement legislation.

In one of the Pittsburgh newspapers of yesterday there was an article concerning the collection of delinquent taxes, a part of which reads as follows; "The falling off in the collection of delinquent taxes during the past month (meaning March) was seen today as an indication that the taxpayers were anticipating a new tax abatement act. Collections for this March were $24,072 under the collections for last March, despite a better business outlook. It was during March that talk of renewing the abatement act was again brought up in Harrisburg."

I hope the members of the Senate will vote favorably now upon this bill.

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, I call attention to the fact that the bill, by going back to committee, was at one time in practically the same shape this bill is in now and by amendment and appeasement it was put in the shape it has presently assumed, in a shape where I am ashamed of it personally.

It seems to me a peculiar way, to move for the taxpayers for the City of Pittsburgh or the City of Philadelphia and deny tax relief on the poor country jake taxpayers, they can not have tax relief because of the fact that certain men from those cities originally opposed the tax abatement bill introduced for the country sections.

Now, Mr. President, if we take the same position here we would vote "no" on this bill but in order to help at least one group of taxpayers, we are going to be fair-minded in this and we hope you Senators from the city sections will be as fair to us country jake Senators.

Mr. MALLERY. Mr. President, I intend to vote for this bill as it is, in the confidence that those who vote for it will likewise vote for a bill substantially in the same form which will help the country districts.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

The yeas and nays were taken agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution, and were as follows, viz:

BILL ON THIRD READING

Agreeably to order,

The Senate proceeded to the third reading and consideration of Senate Bill No. 325, as follows:

An Act to further amend section four of the act approved the twenty-eighth day of June one thousand nine hundred and thirty-five (P. L. 452) entitled as amended "An act to promote the welfare of the people of the Commonwealth creating a General State Authority as a body corporate and politic with power to construct improve equip furnish and operate projects and to lease the same and to fix and collect fees rentals and charges for the use thereof authorizing and regulating the issuance of bonds by said Authority and providing for the payment of such bonds and the rights of the holders thereof and to enter into agreements with the Government of the United States or any Federal agency and authorizing the Department of Property and Supplies to grant assign convey or lease to the Authority lands of the Commonwealth and interests therein and to acquire lands therefor granting the right of eminent domain and providing that no debt of the Commonwealth shall be incurred in the exercise of any of the powers granted by this act" by providing that no new project shall be begun without specific authority from the General Assembly and approval of the Governor and providing for a limitation of the costs thereof

Section 2 The provisions of this act shall become effective immediately upon final enactment

And said bill having been read at length the third time,

And the amendments made thereto having been printed as required by the Constitution,

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the bill?

Mr. EALY. Mr. President, the bill now before us for consideration is Senate Bill No. 325. At the time, however, of the introduction of this bill another one, Senate Bill No. 321, was presented by me relating to the same subject matter. In asking for the support of the measure now on the calendar I desire to explain my reasons for so doing, and I beg the indulgence of the Senate so that I may set forth the purposes that I had in mind in bringing before the Senate legislation of this character.

Under our form of government the legislative branch is charged with the duty of raising money and directing the manner in which it shall be spent. In the United States Constitution, the first section of Article I provides for the Congress. In like manner immediately following the Bill of Rights of the Pennsylvania Constitution, the next Article relates to the Legislative.

This is the branch of government which is closest to the people and upon which they must depend for protection against the Executive branch and indeed, as history proves, on occasions, against the Judiciary.

In times of so-called emergency the legislative power is called upon to subordinate itself to the executive and here in America and in Pennsylvania also, even in normal times, the executive has been permitted to encroach upon the functions of the law making division of government.

The Legislature can only perform its proper duty by standing for its dignity and its prerogatives as a co-ordinate branch of our State Government.

In passing the Act of Assembly which created the General State Authority, the Legislative surrendered to a group of ten officials and citizens power which the Constitution never intended should be so delegated and for use in a manner distinctly prohibited thereby.

Section 5 of Article IX of the State Constitution declares that—"All laws, authorizing the borrowing of money by and on behalf of the State, shall specify the purpose for which the money is to be used, and the money so borrowed shall be used for the purpose specified and no other."

The General State Authority has erected numerous buildings "on behalf of the state" and has borrowed the money necessary for the purposes without any specific authority from the legislature and without any general authority other than that given in the Act which created it. The language of Section 4 of this act, the Act of 1935, as amended, is in part as follows:

"Section 4. Purposes and Powers General The Authority is created for the purpose of constructing, improving, equipping, furnishing, maintaining and operating sewers, sewer systems and sewage treatment works for State institutions of every kind and character (heretofore or hereafter constructed) public buildings for the use of the Commonwealth, State arsenals, armories and military reserves, State airports and landing fields, State institutions of every kind and character (heretofore or hereafter constructed) additions and improvements to land grant colleges, school buildings and the furnishings and equipment thereof for the use of the public schools, county courthouses, State highways and bridges, tunnels and traffic circles on State highways, swimming pools and lakes on State land and low head dams and improvements to river embankments (any and all the foregoing being herein called 'projects')."

The original Act limited the powers granted to a period of two years but this limitation has now been entirely removed.

If it be said that the buildings constructed were technically not built on behalf of the State I call attention to the fact that the very language of the Section which I have read indicates that the purpose of the Act was to provide for the erection of buildings and works for the use of the Commonwealth (as well as its subdivisions) and the buildings heretofore constructed were built in fulfillment of that purpose.

The bill which is before us will provide a certain check on unrestrained commitments for new construction and to an extent will restore to the Legislature some of the authority which it wrongly surrendered in the Act of 1935 and its amendments.

But it does not go far enough and I am attempting to point out that the other bill which I introduced should also be reported from committee and passed—namely the one to repeal the whole General Authority Act in so far as it relates to new projects. Section 4 of Article IX of the Constitution says, "No debt shall be created by or on behalf of the State, except to supply casual deficiencies of revenue, repeal invasion, suppress insurrection, defend the State in war, or to pay existing debt; and the debt created to supply deficiencies in revenue shall never exceed in the aggregate, at any one time, one million dollars:"

It is to be noted that the limitation on borrowing set forth in the Constitution does not apply in any real emergency such as insurrection, invasion, war. When the life of the State is really in immediate danger then such funds may be raised as are necessary to preserve it.

For other matters the people declared that they should be consulted if borrowing in excess of one million dollars was considered desirable. In this manner we have borrowed, by Constitutional amendment, for roads and the Soldiers' Bonus and even for general expenses. This plan should have been followed in the matter of erecting public buildings.

It is true that a number of the buildings erected were needed but none of them were so immediately necessary but that the funds could have been raised by taxation in the Constitutional manner, or by economies in governmental finance.

I call attention to the fact that for the next biennium it is required that the sum of eight and one-half million dollars be appropriated to pay the so-called rentals—that is, interest and sinking fund charges on bonds issued by the General State Authority. If each biennium such a sum had been applied to construction of needed buildings the program would have been carried on more efficiently, and unnecessary construction such as has taken place in many instances would have been avoided. In a budget of $350,000,000 it should not be difficult to find a little money for construction purposes if buildings are very urgently needed for immediate use.

The evasion of the plain mandate of the Pennsylvania Constitution is even more serious than the matter of the increase in the State debt without popular sanction. I think that it needs no argument to show that the indebtedness incurred by the General State Authority is in reality a State debt as all the buildings erected are used by the State or its agencies, and all the bonds sold are held by the Retirement System.

The Construction is a solemn agreement entered into by the people as to their plan of government. It protects the people from the government. It protects the minority from the autocratic acts of the majority. It protects the majority against itself. Any violation of that supreme law in one respect invariably leads to other and more dangerous violations.

A constitution is only a piece of parchment. It has no binding force in itself. Without the full support of the people it falls. The Constitutions of Central and South America were patterned after that of the United States, but their words did not give the people freedom. They meant only what the dictators in those lands interpreted them to mean.

I regret that under the guise of expediency we should weaken and evade our Constitution. In these days when confusion and disaster reign throughout the world it is more necessary than ever to hold fast to that which has been tried and proved good and substantial.

There is another feature of this legislation to which I wish to refer. It is generally conceded that a not inconsiderable part of the money heretofore spent by the General State Authority was used unwisely or in buildings not planned to give the best results. However, the aggregate amount of perhaps $80,000,000 for projects finished or for which commitments have been made is not an excessive sum in itself. But nevertheless a limit should be put on future spending and it is about this I now wish to speak. It is not a popular course to preach economy in this age of waste and extravagance. It would almost seem that thoughtful people have given up all hope of avoiding the financial collapse which is apparent to them, and that they have abandoned efforts to bring back the country to financial stability.

It is too much to hope that any weak efforts of mine can accomplish what men of power have failed to do. As a member of this Senate, however, I feel that I should not remain wholly silent in regard to the chaos of depression which will inevitably follow the continuation of the present course of spending.

Why will men in authority not read the lessons of history? Individual bankruptcy brings sorrow and poverty. Bankruptcy of government brings riot and insurrection and blood shed and loss of liberty.

The excesses of the French Revolution were due in large measure to the huge debt followed by the public repudiation of the same. A wholesale demoralization of society took place—values became uncertain, thrift was destroyed, motives for economy passed away. In the mania for present enjoyment, extravagance flourished but in the end came chaos and cruelty which ended only with Napoleon who established a pay as you go policy.

The history of Germany after the World War is fresh in our minds. The repudiation of the debts of the various cities and states left the people defenseless against the man who gave them bread in exchange for their liberty.

If we think these things will not happen in America we need only remember that the solemn promise of the government to pay its bonds in gold was broken but a few months after the last of such bonds was issued.

What can we do about it? Let us as the Legislature of Pennsylvania declare a moratorium on unnecessary spending. Let us urge a like course upon the subdivisions of our State and let us endeavor to bring our people back to saner and less extravagant ways of living.

Let us pass this bill as a start in the control of expenditures, but let us also examine in our minds the other measure introduced and raise a sentiment for its return to the floor of this Senate and its eventual passage.

Mr. SHAPIRO. Mr. President, I have no doubt the bill we have before us comes after considerable thought and deliberation on the part of the Senator from Somerset. All of us know if we do not agree with him in his political or social philosophy that he is sincere in whatever he says. There can be no motives impugned to him except that he believes in what he just stated this morning but on the other hand I just as sincerely disagree with him and I disagree with him because I am considering actualities and not theory.

I recently had an experience which brought this more forcibly to my attention. For four or five years or rather during the four years of the last administration, I attempted to convince the Department of Public Health that they could reduce the waiting list of tubercular patients for the hospitals by establishment of a procedure which has been used for years in many states, namely the classification of the degree of illness of tuberculars so that those who could get the modern treatment of pneumothorax could be segregated from those who are hopeless cases and all of the new known methods of phrenic operations and other such advances in medical science could be applied to the patients, who could then be removed from the beds in an ambulatory and thus allow the beds to be used.

I was told at that time that the waiting list was so great that it would not, even if that were done, accomplish the purpose but in any event there was an immediate necessity at that time for additions to and enlargements of the state hospitals treating tubercular patients.

Under no stretch of the imagination of any member of this Senate at the time could we have found a better method and a more speedy method of acquiring additional space to take care of those patients. Nobody will deny that was a governmental function in the real sense of the word and if it were not for the fact in Norristown, particularly in Norristown, and in many other institutions in this state, such as Mont Alto, where there had been additions under the authority built, we would be confronted with the situation that today our waiting list would not be cleaned up by June 1st, as I am informed, but there would be a continuance of the chaotic situation that we had at that time.

Mr. President, when I said Norristown I was thinking of the insane asylum and that is another phase of it, but there are in the tubercular hospitals today, additions being built which will be completed by June 1st, and which Doctor Shaw says will result in the elimination of the waiting list for tubercular patients.

Now, Mr. President, if we destroy this institution, the creature under which these improvements were made, we have no substitute, we have no money and we will be destroying the method found to perform a governmental function in the absence of any other.

What I have said about tubercular patients is true with regard to the mentally ill. For years you have heard about Byberry on this Senate floor and you have heard about other institutions and if this legislature must give its approval we would never have had a situation which is now being progressively worked out with respect to Byberry.

In an institution having six thousand patients or over with room for ony three thousand, we have in Philadelphia a most glaring example of the inability of local and state governments without such a method to carry out the duty of performing a governmental function of the highest degree.

The gentleman who spoke, if he is a member of the State Authority, as I think he is, must have voted in favor of the project which is now increasing the bed capacity at Byberry.

In Norristown the horrible situation there in the district of the gentleman from Montgomery, has been alleviated by one of the finest monuments to state governmental functions I have ever seen and now, because two things have occurred—a local authority has been guilty of an offense against the law, and budgetary items are increasing, we are going to shut our eyes to the fact that there is no other means under which we can authorize this function if you strike this down, and it seems to me to be the wrong way to attack it.

Mr. President, if controls are necessary reasonable controls should be set up, but if this Legislature should adjourn for two years and we should not have a special session for the next two years, if this bill carries out the purpose which the gentleman from Somerset intends, then there will be no power on the part of any official charged with the duty of seeing to it that that function is performed and the government will receive only criticism and will have no way out.

It seems to me, Mr. President, that a matter of this kind should certainly not be passed in such haste.

This is not a government debt, it is not a government bond, it is not a bond on which there will be a default because in the budget we provide the funds necessary to pay the rentals which include amortization of those bonds.

There is no difference in my opinion in the net result in doing it this way or in doing it in the way in which the gentleman from Somerset would have us do it.

The gentleman says this is to confine governmental activities and there is a constitutional provision which says you cannot increase your debt beyond a million dollars and he says because the people in 1874 came to the conclusion under the conditions then existing they should not increase our debt more than a million dollars, that should tie our hands to such an extent that we should go through the procedure of waiting two or three years for the adoption of amendments while the tubercular and the mentally ill are walking our streets and spreading their diseases and endangering the rest of the community. To me that seems an unreasonable view to take, to me that seems to be a misinterpretation of the constitutional prohibition; it was never intended by the framers that that should be done.

Now, Mr. President, if we do it the way that has been urged by the gentleman from Somerset and extend the period for two years we would be back in the position we are today of paying interest on the amortization of these very governmental functions.

Mr. President, I do not think there is any disagreement on the necessity for the operation of the functions of this department and if there is not then there is only the difference as to the method of doing it and I suggest that no man would say that if there is a legal way to give relief to these people promptly we should not do it because the Constitution says you cannot increase your debt.

This has not been charged to be unconstitutional. The Supreme Court has not said these acts are unconstitutional; on the contrary the Supreme Court has said that they are constitutional.

Now, Mr. President, what this bill says is this: do not do this thing promptly; if it is necessary, in your opinion, to do it, the officials who are subject to recall, or the administration which is subject to recall by the people if they do not perform the duty, they are the ones to do it; it is not any political party, it is the executive, it is the gentlemen who have duties to perform which we give to them.

This bill says do not begin any new projects. What does that mean? Does that mean do not begin any of the projects which are set forth in the bill that are authorized or does it mean do not begin any new propect that is not mentioned? Does the bill mean, do not engage in any more projects—any more structures that are authorized or does it mean do not engage in any more projects that are not authorized but which are new ones?

The bill in my opinion is faulty in that it does not clarify that. If it means do not do any more on the projects that are authorized then I say the bill should not be passed. If it means do not take in any new functions then I say that this bill is not necessary because new functions under this act, under the law, rather, cannot be authorized except by an act of legislature. In other words, if we do restrict this to hospitals for tubercular patients, this act, and we now want to allow them to build hospitals for the mentally ill, we would have to have a new act passed by the gentleman of the Senate and the House and approved by the Governor. This bill says no new project shall be begun unless it is approved by a majority of the members of the Senate and the House and approved by the Governor. Under those circumstances I say on the one hand the bill does not add anything to our present law, if it means any additional projects, because the projects shall be authorized; if it means this, that all the authorized projects should not be executed or carried on without legislative action then I say you are destroying a system which in the past four years has shown this to be a help and a Godsend to the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania. Do not confuse this State Authority Act in your mind with the local authority act.

The gentleman from Montgomery has made a careful study and he himself acknowledges that even local authorities in some places have been doing some good. There have been abuses but so far as the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania is concerned in its actions even the gentleman from Somerset admits it has done a good job. There may have been some waste but that applies in anything.

The only thing I can say, Mr. President, is that we are absolutely destroying in this bill something which we need because of our financial situation today. If you vote for this bill you stop the improvements at Byberry—I do not mean the ones already carrying on because even those are not sufficient to relieve the congestion; you stop the improvements which may be or which will be needed in a year from now; you stop new improvements. Destroy this function and you prevent the additions because there will be no money otherwise; you prevent the addition of buildings to state institutions which are becoming more and more necessary every day with the development and the increase in the demands being upon the state.

Now then, Mr. President, nothing in this bill binds the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania to accept the payment of rentals for institutions and projects into which it enters nothing in this bill ties the obligations of these bonds to the Commonwealth; nothing in this bill does anything that increases the indebtedness of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania.

I say to the members of this Senate it would be a shame and a pity to destroy this system now.

Mr. EALY. Mr. President, personally it does not make a bit of difference to me whether the Senate passes this bill or not.

The argument of the gentleman from Philadelphia certainly defeats itself. It answers itself fully. His argument is that we should break down entirely all constitutional government. He talks about Byberry. We heard about Byberry in 1937. We have had two regular sessions and one or more special sessions since then. That could have been presented to the Legislature at any time.

We ought to proceed on a pay as you go method. That is the thing I am trying to impress upon the gentleman. We ought to stop this extravagance. During 1938 Pennsylvania became a paradise for architects and contractors. A lot of these buildings are badly built, they are not well planned, the whole scheme was rushed through to conclusion on the thought the Legislature would wake up and stop it.

The Senator says these buildings are not state buildings; that the state is under no obligation. Every bond this General State Authority has sold is a bond under the retirement system of this state.

It seems to me unnecessary to say anything more. If the Legislature wants to utterly abdicate its power entirely let us go ahead and let this group that is set up here ignore the citizens and do what they want to do.

And the question recurring.

Will the Senate agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

BILL ON THIRD READING

Agreeably to order,

And said bill having been read at length the third time, and agreed to,

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

The yeas and nays were taken agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution, and were as follows, viz:

A majority of all the Senators having voted "aye" the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, That the Clerk present said bill to the House of Representatives for concurrence.

Mr. CAVALCANTE. Mr. President, may I ask the indulgence of the Chair. When the last bill was called up, and the roll was called it was considered, I was engrossed in the reading of the Jefferson Manual and I had intended to make just a few short remarks concerning the bill which has just passed, I wonder if my colleagues on the other side would indulge and give me unanimous consent to make these few remarks.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection? The Chair hears none. The gentleman from Fayette may proceed.

Mr. CAVALCANTE. Mr. President, the remarks that I want to make are simply this: this bill is aimed at creating a committee to investigate the commission's offenses against society in this Commonwealth.

I voted "no" on this bill and I think that everybody else should have voted "no," because the passage of this bill I regard as a direct slap at the efficiency of one of the finest bodies of police in the whole United States of America. We have in this Commonwealth our State Motor Police; it is a large force and it is composed of some of the finest and most intilligent police officers that you can find anywhere in the world. They talk about the Northwest Mounted Police, they talk about their Scotland Yard Police in London, they can talk about their police all over the world, but we have here in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania a recognized police force all over the world, and yet here now, Mr. President, we are going to appropriate fifty thousand dollars to create a committee similar to the committee that was created at Washington, D. C., known as the Dies Committee.

Now, Mr. President, it is very fresh in my mind the difficulty that committee had with the Department of Justice of the United States and the members of the Federal Bureau of Investigation. We have in the Federal Bureau of Investigation one of the finest trained and most intelligent police forces in the world and they have men with the intelligence and the ability to ferret out and bring to justice any one who might engage in an offense against our nation or our society, and here in the State of Pennsylvania we are going to create that same situation. We are going to create here a commission that will work in direct opposition to our State Motor Police.

I would rather have seen the fifty thousand dollars turned over to the appropriation fund of the State Motor Police, and give them and the Department of Justice this duty to do these things instead of creating this new committee which will no doubt end up the same as the Dies Committee. It will run headlong into disagreement with our State Police force that is so efficient and so good in this Commonwealth.

BILL ON THIRD READING

Agreeably to order,

The Senate proceeded to the third reading and consideration of Senate Bill No. 411, (House Bill No. 583), as follows:

An Act authorizing the Department of Property and Supplies with the approval of the Governor to sell and convey two certain plots of land

The General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania hereby enacts as follows

Section 1 The Department of Property and Supplies with the approval of the Governor is hereby authorized and empowered to sell and convey for such price as may be agreed upon two certain adjoining plots of land together with the improvements thereon erected situate in Clearfield County Plot number one containing 1.103 acres located in Lawrence Township adjacent to Clearfield Borough facing River Street and Old Mill Road and plot number two containing .7427 acres located in Lawrence Township adjacent to Clearfield Borough and adjoining rear property line of plot number one facing Old Mill Road title to which plots of ground is in the Commonwealth and to make and execute a deed in the name of the Commonwealth to the purchaser thereof The moneys received as the purchase price of said plots of ground shall be paid into the General Fund of the State Treasury

Section 2 This act shall become effective immediately upon final enactment

And said bill having been read at length the third time, and agreed to,

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. LETZLER. Mr. President, this bill intends to give the Clearfield School Board an opportunity to purchase property vacated by the Highway Department, by authorizing the Department of Property and Supplies to dispose of these buildings. The property is well suited for the purpose and the school district is anxious to acquire it.

A considerable amount of publicity has been provoked because someone tried to capitalize politically by sending a telegram to one of the local daily papers, when a House bill covering the same subject had passed first reading. The same bill had been previously introduced here in the Senate by myself and passed. When the Senate bill came to the House, it was sent to the Committee on State Government. The House bill introduced by the representative from the first assembly district in Clearfield county, Mr. Breth, was then brought out of committee, and as I have already stated, the bill had passed first reading. Mr. Breth sent a telegram to the Clearfield Progress advising them that his bill had made the first lap of its journey. The result of the discussion in our county newspapers indicates the local interest in the subject.

Mr. President, I have a very long editorial here which I am not going to read but I do want to quote from two columns which are closely printed, just this paragraph.

"Clearfield is overflowing with young men who want and need the training a vocational school would give. Generally speaking, Clearfield does not care whose name adorns the bill which makes a vocational school possible without delay. Clearfield does, however, make note of the fact that Sen. Letzler's bill was passed by the Senate in jig time and could have been made into law by the House in three additional legislative days except for this intervention of partisan politics."

From another county newspaper, I will just quote briefly from a front page editorial entitled "Small-Time Politics" as follows:

"It seems that it was considered smart to throw a monkey wrench into this procedure and pigeon-hole the same and then introduce a similar bill in the Assembly. As has been said, this may possibly have the effect of killing the Letzler bill and as a result this building which would be of value to Clearfield Borough and the tax payers of Clearfield Borough, the School District, will be prevented from securing this building which is ideal for a vocational school."

Mr. President, in reading the discussion that took place in the House as it is recorded in the Legislative Journal for March 25th, I am surprised to know that the course pursued by Mr. Breth is somewhat confusing.

He says, "I have been down here long enough to know that a lot of things can happen to a bill that is good and that has no political significance whatever, and that sometimes do happen, so I ask this side of the House to put the bill through and send it over to the Senate to avoid the death which sometimes comes to good bills."

Mr. President, he seems to place a lot of confidence in the Senate to pass another bill, namely, his own House bill, in order as he says to avoid the death which sometimes comes to good bills.

That is a very evident confession that the bill which we sent to the House on March 18th will have no chance of passing over there.

Well, Mr. President, I am only interested in seeing that the Clearfield School Board is provided the opportunity to secure this property for its use as a vocational school and I have no burning desire or craving for credit as the sponsor of the bill, so I am perfectly willing to have Representative Breth's bill passed in this Senate, in order that he may get the full credit as the sponsor of the bill.

I was surprised also to read the statement of the majority floor leader of the House of Representatives, Mr. Achterman. I just want to quote briefly from that statement. He says:

"Incidentally I think it is an excellent opportunity to find out whether the Senator who introduced this measure is sincerely and honestly interested in the particular measure. If he is, then he will certainly pass the bill that we sent to him. If he is interested in his own power and his own glory, then he will let the bill drop in the Senate and endeavor to see whether we will pass his measure."

Mr. President, as I said before, I have no particular desire to be credited with the sponsorship of the bill. I have only one thought in mind and that is that the Borough of Clearfield and its school board may get this building, which is very well suited for the purpose.

I just want to make this statement in order to clarify the record and the reports that have been made locally, and I ask the Senators, as they have once before, to again vote for and pass this measure.

Mr. SHAPIRO. Mr. President, I would like to place myself on record as saying that I accept the statement of Mr. Letzler as a statesmanlike action, and that I think it sets a very good example for the members of the Legislature to follow.

I do not want to get into the position of criticizing members of the House, but it seems to me that if we follow the proposition that has been just suggested to us, that we should vote on legislation on the subject matter and not on the basis of sponsorship, we will get a great deal better results for our citizens.

Mr. President, I am very happy to be able to vote for this bill, because as I understand, it is a necessity and I am happy that the fairmindedness and the statesmanship of the gentleman from Clearfield makes it possible for us to vote for it.

And the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

The yeas and nays were taken agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution, and were as follows, viz:

YEAS—46.

Barr,	DiSilvestro,	Lanius,	Snowden,

Agreeably to order,

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

BILL RECOMMITTED

Mr. TALLMAN. Mr. President, I move that Senate Bill No. 197 on second reading, entitled:

An Act to authorize cities, boroughs, incorporated towns, townships, and school districts to file suggestions of nonpayment and averments of default, or to sue out writs of scire facias on certain tax or municipal claims, and to revive judgments where the lien of such claims or the judgments thereon have been lost; and providing for the reinstatement of the liens of such claims and judgments.

be recommitted to the Committee on Judiciary General.

Mr. MALLERY. Mr. President, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

Mr. President, I want to say I am very happy and pleased to have heard the remarks of the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Shapiro, in connection with the remarks made by the gentleman from Clearfield, Mr. Letzler. For the information of the Senate—and if there is some feeling there should be a more general discussion and appreciation of bills, without significance being placed upon their sponsorship—I should like to remind the Senate that as of the Calendars of March 31st, there were reported out of committee in the House forty-four bills sponsored by Democrats, three bills sponsored by Republicans, and seven bills which had joint sponsorship.

In the Senate, Mr. President, there were reported out of committee seven bills sponsored by Democratic members, sixteen bills which are sponsored by Republican members and seven bills sponsored jointly by Democrats and Republicans.

There have been consistent rumors on the Hill that the feeling in the House and also in the Senate from time to time has been that the sponsorship of bills should control their coming out of committee. I would like to respectfully suggest that since both bodies are made up of able men who are allegedly intelligent, that we owe some duty to the people of this Commonwealth and if anything can be done on the part of the gentlemen on the other side, and particularly the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Shapiro, so that on both sides and in both Houses this matter may come to an end, I feel very certain it will be very helpful to all the people in the interest of some good and decent legislation.

Mr. WALKER. Mr. President, I suggest to the gentleman from Lehigh, Mr. Tallman, that Senate Bill No. 197 came out of the Committee on Municipal Government and not out of the Committee on Judiciary General. However, we would be very glad to pickle the bill for him, because we have had "vat" experience.

BILLS ON FIRST READING

An Act authorizing the redemption of real property purchased by political subdivisions at tax sales, upon the payment of the amount charged against the same and costs, by installment payments; and prescribing the procedure therefor.

And said bill having been read at length the first time, Ordered, To be laid aside for second reading.

Mr. WALKER. Mr. President, this bill Senate Bill No. 315, did not come out of the Committee on Judiciary General but I would like to call the attention to the sponsor of this bill to the fact that in the Committee on Judiciary General we have a number of bills relating to the law on adoption and that there is a subcommittee appointed which is attempting to redraft the laws on adoption.

I would like to ask permission from the sponsor of this bill to have Senate Bill No. 315 rereferred to the Committee on Judiciary General so that we may have an opportunity of coordinating it with the new law of adoption being drafted by the committee.

Mr. STIEFEL. Mr. President, I am always ready to extend courtesy to a request of this kind but I am fearful lest the proceedings in the Committee of Judiciary General will be delayed and then we will have no bill. Mr. President, if I could be assured this codification will take place in the near future, I would readily accede to the request of the gentleman from Allegheny, but we are now approaching that period of time when the legislative mills will begin to work constantly and there will be some more important bills on the agenda.

Now, Mr. President, what will happen to this bill if the committee will have no time to proceed with the codification?

Mr. WALKER. Mr. President, may I assure the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Stiefel, there are a number of bills in this Senate relating to the law on adoption and as I said a sub-committee has been busily engaged in redrafting the entire code. We are attempting to unify the law and the court decisions on adoption, in this subcommittee under the very able leadership of the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Kephart, who has charge of that part of the case, and I assure the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Stiefel, that there will be a code brought out in plenty of time to have it passed by the General Assembly.

However, Mr. President, if the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Stiefel, does not desire to have his bill incorporated in the code, that is all right with me. I am merely suggesting that for expedient codification.

Mr. STIEFEL. Mr. President, in tribute to the splendid remarks of the Chairman of the Committee on Judiciary General and in the light of his assurance, I will accede to his request.

BILL RECOMMITTED

Mr. WALKER. Mr. President, I move that Senate Bill No. 315 on first reading, entitled:

Mr. LETZLER. Mr. President, may I take just a minute of the time of the Senate to call attention of the Senators to a very informative publication being placed on their desks, "Mineral Industries." issued by the Pennsylvania State College. I merely mentioned the fact so that the pamphlet will not find its way into the waste baskets of the Senators. I think there is so much of value in it you really should look it over.

It deals with a number of subjects, such as coke, manu-factured gas, refractories, nonferrous metals excepting aluminum, building stone, iron, steel, anthracite and bitu-minous coal, petroleum, natural gas and non-metallic minerals and metals, and on the last page there is an article entitled "Pennsylvania at the Economic Cross-roads; her Future at Stake."

I merely mention that, Mr. President, so that the article will not be overlooked.

Grant, O God, that the soul-shaking events which we are reviewing in these days may not fail to arouse our souls to the dangers in which we stand. And do Thou, O Father, give heed to the supplication of our Master, that our faith fail not. Help us to love Thee even as Thou hast loved us. Amen.

The majority required by the Constitution having voted in the affirmative, the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, That the Clerk present the same to the Senate for concurrence.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 1017, entitled as follows:

An Act requiring the Governor of the Commonwealth to issue annual proclamations setting apart September thirteenth of each year as Commodore John Barry Day

The General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania hereby enacts as follows

Section 1 The Governor shall annually issue a proclamation setting apart September thirteenth as Commodore John Barry Day and recommending that it be observed by the people with appropriate exercises in the public schools and otherwise as he may see it fit to the end that the memory of the service rendered by Commodore John Barry during the struggle for American independence may be perpetuated

Section 2 This act shall become effective immediately upon final enactment

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. FINNERTY. Mr. Speaker, House Bill 1017, Printer's No. 201, I feel needs some explanation.

Some Members are under the impression that this bill creates another legal holiday. It does not, it just requests the Governor to issue a proclamation calling the attention of the people of this state to that occasion, and providing for proper exercises in the schools on September thirteenth to perpetuate the memory of one of the great heroes of the Revolution, Commodore John Barry, the father of the American navy. It is particularly significant at this time when the navy is so important. On September 13th of each year in different parts of the state, exercises are being held in honor of the memory of this great hero. Philadelphia has the largest demonstration and exercises of all. On last September 13th in Philadelphia, the exercises were attended by the highest officials of Philadelphia and the state, including His Excellency, the Governor of Pennsylvania. I ask all of the members of this House to support this bill.

Mr. WOODSIDE. Mr. Speaker, yesterday on the calendar we had a resolution of this type which we adopted. Today we are setting another day aside for some other person. It seems to me almost every day we are having another resolution or a new bill setting aside a day in honor of a certain person or thing.

There is one thing I am worried about, Mr. Speaker; there are a lot of people in this House who are going to become great people before they die or after they die. For instance, the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Finnerty; the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Holland, who is riding on the wave; the gentleman from Monroe, Mr. Achterman, and the Spokesman, as he is sometimes called, the ex-Speaker. There are a lot of men in this House who sooner or later, it seems to me, will become great men, entitled to honor in this great Commonwealth. The thing that concerns me is that by the time they acquire all their greatness and die, and reach the place where they are entitled to have a day set aside, there will not be any days left. While I think this particular bill is all right and we had better pass it, yet we had better call a halt so that there will be some days left to honor the great men of this House of Representatives in the future.

Mr. FINNERTY. Mr. Speaker, I appreciate the gentleman's mentioning the great days in the future for the members of this House, but I wish at least to take this opportunity of adding to that number our friend on the other side, Mr. Woodside. I can appreciate why he did not name himself, but as one member suggested to me maybe some day will be named for him, "Woodside", which would be quite a day. I appreciate the member mentioning me, and I do hope sometime in the future we will have days named after all the Members of this House on this side and on the other side.

Mr. TURNER. Mr. Speaker, in my modesty I hesitate to arise, but as long as you are going to have a lot of these days taken up, I hesitate to say this, but my birthday is the ninth day of August and if you want to preempt that day now, it's all right with me.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

PARLIAMENTARY INQUIRY

Mr. REUBEN E. COHEN. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a question of parliamentary inquiry.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman will state his question of parliamentary inquiry.

Mr. REUBEN E. COHEN. Mr. Speaker, I first want to thank the Speaker for the lovely card which I have before me certifying that Mrs. Reuben E. Cohen is the wife of a member of the House for the session of 1941-1942. I would like to ask a few questions about it. First it says "not transferable." Does that refer to the card or the wife?

The SPEAKER. Both.

Mr. REUBEN E. COHEN. Second, after the session of 1941 and 1942 what happens, Mr. Speaker?

The SPEAKER. Let your conscience be your guide.

The majority required by the Constitution having voted in the affirmative, the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, That the Clerk present the same to the Senate for concurrence.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS HOUSE

Mr. IMBRIE asked and obtained unanimous consent to addresses the House.

For some time now I have been studying the problems associated with profit and non-profit cemetery associations and in an effort to curb some of the evils connected with cemetery organizations organized for profit, I ask your consideration of a bill which fully covers the situation.

For many years, Pennsylvania has been plagued by numerous cemetery associations which spring up overnight and fade almost as quickly. The unfortunate part of this type of real estate development is that it is based on the element of hoax and deception.

Thousands of Pennsylvanians have been lured into purchasing cemetery lots from these travelling real estate manipulators only to find that they had acquired an interest in a worthless and undeveloped piece of property.

As you know, state law requires cemetery associations organized for profit to deposit one-tenth of the gross amount received from the sale of lots as a special fund to be used for the perpetuation and care of cemetery property. In most cases these funds are never used for that purpose.

Experience has shown that high pressure salesmen, who float from state to state, set up their organization in a promising community; buy or lease a piece of land; announce the formation of a cemetery association and start selling lots at 10,000 percent profit. They agree that it will be a permanent association; that funds will be set aside for that purpose.

Instead, after exhausting sales prospects, and making a land office clean-up, they move on to other more lucrative fields, taking with them the funds supposedly set aside for the permanent care of cemetery property.

My measure is aimed at checking the nefarious practice of migratory land exploiters and if the 10 percent maintenance fund is regulated by law so that mandatory deposits are made with accredited Banking institutions, it will curb the operations of the floating real estate sharper and bunco artist.

Banks, acting in the capacity of trustees, would be a protective guarantee that the money actually would be used for the perpetuation of cemetery lots and other property coming under the jurisdiction of the cemetery association.

The State Banking Department, under the provisions of my bill, also would be empowered to examine securities purchased by commercial cemetery associations to further insure proper execution of the maintenance fund. Likewise, an annual report would be required to the Quarter Sessions Court of the County in which the cemetery was located.

This, I believe, is an important piece of legislation; one that will have a strong value in combating fraudulent land deals in this state and protecting the savings of thousands of Pennsylvanians who have been victimized in recent years.

I now offer this bill for your consideration.

The SPEAKER. The bill will be filed with the Clerk.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS HOUSE

Mr. SARGE asked and received unanimous consent to address the House.

I take the privilege of calling your attention to a very important issue..... one that I believe is essential if we are to regard the importance of economical government, and that, I might add, has been the basic reason for the success with which the James administration has operated since 1939. During the session of 1939 methods were inaugurated which saved considerable sums in printing. Further improvement is necessary and possible.

I am greatly concerned with the matter of bill printing for I believe this is one of the most abused privileges connected with the mechanism of the state legislature.

For years, now, the state has been saddled with the exorbitant cost of printing thousands of bills, most of which are impractical and improvident and I see no reason why this custom should continue.

The discontinuance of unnecessary legislation will smooth out the course of practical legislation because the very act of preventing the hopper from becoming overcrowded will prevent a cluttering of the calendar and better enable legislators to focus their attention on vital issues.

The process of elimination figures here for it stands to reason that we, as lawmakers, will be better qualified to concentrate on a minor number of important bills rather than have our perspective confused by a haphazard flow of inconsequential measures which contribute absolutely nothing to the well being of the people of this Commonwealth.

I cannot help believe that many of these bills are created purely in a hope of attracting political publicity and I reiterate my contention that I do not believe the people of this state should be obliged to pay for this privilege.

We all know that only a small percentage of these bills have a ghost of a chance of ever reaching the statute books. In 1937 more than three thousand measures were introduced in the General Assembly and of this number only 756 were ever enacted into law.

This drives home my point precisely and I commend this to your attention, gentlemen, as a matter affecting in great detail the course of government procedure so that we as legislators may feel that we have fulfilled our obligations to the people of this Commonwealth.

Therefore, I now submit a resolution to study this matter further by a special committee..not a study confused with other studies..but specially considered.

The SPEAKER. The resolution will be filed with the Clerk under the rules.

CONGRATULATORY RESOLUTION

Mr. CORRIGAN offered the following resolution and asked and obtained unanimous consent for its immediate consideration.

The resolution was read, considered and adopted:

In the House of Representatives, April 9, 1941.

Whereas, In accordance with the rules governing such business the meeting opened on April 7, 1921, with a prayer by the officiating clergyman; and

Resolved, That a copy of this resolution be mailed by the Chief Clerk of the House of Representatives to the Honorable S. Edward Moore and his wife, Anne Bacon Moore.

The SPEAKER. The Chair recognizes the Parliamentarian of the House, Mr. S. Edward Moore.

Mr. MOORE. Mr. Speaker, this resolution is indeed a pleasant surprise and on behalf of Mrs. Moore and myself, I want you to know how sincerely we appreciate the sentiments and good wishes expressed by the Members of the House today.

PARLIAMENTARY INQUIRY

Mr. TURNER. Mr. Speaker, I arise to a question of parliamentary inquiry.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman will state his question of parliamentary inquiry.

Mr. TURNER. Mr. Speaker, isn't the first hundred years the hardest

The SPEAKER. The gentleman from Delaware should know.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS HOUSE

Mr. WOODRING asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the House.

Mr. Speaker, I am in receipt of a very beautiful card extending special rights and privileges to Mrs. Woodring as the wife of a member of this House. I understand all of the members of the House have received similiar cards.

The card I received is signed by Elmer Kilroy, Speaker, and in behalf of myself,—and I believe that the other members agree with me—I want to take this opportunity to thank the Speaker for his kindness and consideration in extending this honor to our wives. I want to extend my commiseration to those members who do not have wives and who have not received cards.

The SPEAKER. The Chair is very happy to extend all possible privileges to the members and their wives.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS HOUSE

Mr. HOLLAND asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the House.

Mr. Speaker, on behalf of the Members of this House who do not have wives, we do not need the married men of this House to extend apologies to us. On the other hand we sympathize with them. If the Speaker of the House would be kind enough to give the single members of the House a lot of blank cards, we would have a lot of places to put them.

The SPEAKER. For the information of the gentleman from Allegheny, he will note at the bottom of the card that it is not transferrable. A single man might abuse the privilege.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS HOUSE

Mr. BENTZEL asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the House.

Mr. Speaker, I have a very beautiful card in my hand that I just borrowed from a married man. It is very beautifully engraved—you can mark it exhibit A if you care to do so. As a widower and in behalf of a lot of unmarried men in the House I would like to know whether or not some provision could not be made whereby a great many of our lady friends might carry cards of this nature. I have in mind Jimmy McLane. Then we have quite a few men in this House who are unmarried. I have reference to Stuart Helm, to Mr. McClester, Mr. Leydic and quite a few more. We as an organization protest, Mr. Speaker. We think we should receive a card of some kind whereby we too would have an entree to some of the things these married members of the House have.

The SPEAKER. For the information of the gentleman from York the Chair is of the opinion that all the Members ought to be married.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS HOUSE

Mr. TURNER asked and obtain unanimous consent to address the House.

Mr. Speaker, I have great sympathy for my friends Felix Bentzel, Stuart Helm, Albert McClester, Jimmy McLane and some of the others he mentioned as not being included in that exclusive class of happily married men. On the other hand I just heard the gentleman from Lebanon, Mr. Sarge, introduce a resolution, after a very earnest plea for economy, in which he said he thought we ought to have a committee to investigate printing, to keep down the cost to the taxpayers. Knowing the gentlemen who have been mentioned and others who have not, I beg to state that if the Speaker attempted to give them cards for their lady-friends, the printing costs of this Commonwealth would go up exceedingly.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS HOUSE

Mr. SARGE asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the House.

I want to say, Mr. Speaker, that what annoys me is this matter of expression. It behooves one to beware of ponderosity and not to indulge in too much verbiage. I would like to ask the Speaker if he will not say to the class that is visiting the House today and who are studying democracy that the question that has just been discussed has nothing to do with democracy.

The SPEAKER. For the information of the gentleman from Lebanon, he missed the boat. The class is not present at this time.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS HOUSE

Mr. FLYNN asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the House.

Mr. Speaker, I received a card from one of my constituents and I am at a loss as to the proper procedure. I will read the card:

"Mr. Edward Flynn, LaPorte, Sullivan County, Pennsylvania. Dear Sir: I voted for you. Please try to find me a nice young woman for housekeeper. Respectfully, George Breitmeier, Jonestown, Pa."

The SPEAKER. It should be signed "Yours Hopefully"

Mr. FLYNN. Mr. Speaker, he did not state whether he preferred a blonde, brunette or red-head, but I thought since you are issuing cards to members' wives, you may be able to issue him a card offering him consolation which will be an incentive for him to get a woman.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS HOUSE

Mr. VOLDOW asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the House.

Mr. Speaker, I have just received a telephone call from Mrs. Voldow. who asked me to advise the Speaker that she is very much married and desires a card.

The SPEAKER. She will get it.

The SPEAKER. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Shaw who is also a bachelor but still hopeful.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS HOUSE

Mr. SHAW asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the House.

Mr. Speaker, I would ask the Speaker to advise the gentleman who read the postcard he has received, that that does not fall within the province of the Chairman of the Welfare Committee, who handles other matters of assistance but does not handle matters of that kind.

The SPEAKER. The parliamentarian advises me he understands the problem comes under Ways and Means and not Welfare.

PARLIAMENTARY INQUIRY

Mr. TURNER. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a question of parliamentary inquiry.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman will state his question of parliamentary inquiry.

Mr. TURNER. Mr. Speaker, it sounds more like Public Assistance than Ways and Means.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS HOUSE

Mr. HEWITT asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the House.

Mr. Speaker, after having served in this Session for three months I am fully convinced that the Speaker needs no defense. However, I rather resent the remarks of the gentleman from Delaware. These cards came from the Speaker and not from the State.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS HOUSE

Mr. DALRYMPLE asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the House.

Mr. Speaker, as I recall yesterday the first termers were called into the caucus room for instructions. Now, if these bachelors will come into the caucus room after the adjournment of this afternoon's session I will be glad to volunteer, as a married man, to give them instructions. I can instruct them out of twenty years of experience as a married man, and I am sure I agree with Mr. and Mrs. Moore. We can possibly get other instructors to assist.

The SPEAKER. After twenty years anything can happen.

REQUEST TO USE HALL OF HOUSE

Mr. O'BRIEN. Mr. Speaker, I ask consent of the House to use the House next Tuesday for a public hearing before the Liquor Control Committee at ten o'clock a. m.

The SPEAKER. Will the House give its unanimous consent? Is there objection?

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS HOUSE

Mr. TURNER asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the House.

Mr. Speaker, I know the problem we have been having in providing sufficient space for large hearings, but it seems to me it is a bad policy to permit the use of the Hall of the House on days we have sessions at noon for hearings at ten o'clock. It ought to leave enough time, but I remember the last hearing we had there was some question about it.

Some Members must use their desks, the only space they have for work. If the hearing is so large that it cannot be held in the old Caucus Room or in the present Caucus Room, then it seems to me we ought to secure permission to use the Forum where there is plenty of room for holding hearings and it does not disturb or interfere with the work of the House. If the hearing continues close to the time for the session to convene, you will not disrupt and disturb conditions that leave it somewhat hard to organize the House. I remember at one of these hearings the Speaker had a great deal of difficulty in getting the House to order, and getting the visitors off the floor of the House. That is a burden we ought not put on the Speaker. I would ask the gentleman from Philadelphia to try and find another place for his hearing other than the Hall of the House.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS HOUSE

Mr. WOODSIDE asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the House.

Mr. Speaker, supplementing very briefly what was said by the gentleman from Delaware, Mr. Turner, I might particularly call attention to the fact that we are coming very close to the end of the session, we hope, and the calendar is long. As far as the gentleman from Delaware is concerned and as far as I am concerned, we have our own offices with our files as do some of the gentlemen on the other side. Chairmen of committees have their own offices and their own files, but most of the Members want to look over the calendar in the morning or look over the bills and they must come to the House early for that purpose. They have no other place to get this information. I think that is an important matter to be taken into consideration in reference to the use of the Hall of the House at any time, prior to a session on any day, particularly on a Tuesday.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. O'Brien withdraws his request for the use of the House for next Tuesday. The understanding of the Chair is that the hearing will be held in the new House caucus room.

For the information of Chairmen of various Committees, when hearings are too large for the House Caucus room, the Forum in the Educational Building can be obtained at the request of the Chairman. This will not inconvenience the individual members nor will it interfere with the filing of bills on the member's desks.

The SPEAKER (Elmer Kilroy) in the Chair.

PRAYER

The Chaplain, Rev. DONALD McFALL offered the following prayer:

Almighty God, we beseech Thee to grant Thy blessing upon all of this House of Representatives, its members, its officers, its visitors. As each journeys homeward may he be conscious of the fact that before he returns to this place, there will be great days observed within the Christian Church throughout the world. Grant, O God, that each might seriously consider that which marks Good Friday, and especially Easter Sunday. May the story of Easter Morn encourage us to seek to do Thy will in all things. Bless the homes represented within this House. Be with thy servants everywhere, and may we return, better men, than when we went away. Hear our prayer, we ask in the name of Jesus, the Christ. Amen.

RESOLUTIONS INTRODUCED AND REFERRED

By Mr. SARGE. (Concurrent) RESOLUTION No. 75.

In the House of Representatives, April 8, 1941.

The vast number of bills introduced during a legislative session which are never reported to the House or Senate by the committee to which they were assigned has added tremendously to the cost of a legislative session.

During the session of 1935 three thousand five hundred and thirteen bills were introduced and only five hundred and eighty-seven were finally passed; during the 1937 session two thousand nine hundred and ninety-nine were introduced and only seven hundred and fifty-six were passed; and during the 1939 session two thousand and seventy-three were introduced and five hundred and forty-nine were passed.

It often happens that at one session a half dozen bills bearing on the same subject and seeking the same remedy are introduced, which practice aids materially in increasing the number of bills that remain in committee.

During the past three regular sessions a total of eight thousand five hundred and eighty-five bills were introduced and one thousand eight hundred and eighty-two were passed.

This situation demands a remedy in order to cut down the useless cost of printing bills, and eliminates waste occasioned by the handling and filing of bills that should not have been introduced and printed.

In order to arrive at some remedy for this waste of money and work, a special study should be made of the condition by a commission charged with no other duty; therefore be it

Resolved (if the Senate concur), That a committee of three members of the House of Representatives to be appointed by the Speaker of the House, three Snators to be appointed by the President pro tempore of the Senate, and three persons to be appointed by the Governor, is hereby created whose duty it shall be to make a study of the question of the introduction of bills in the legislature and endeavor to arrive at some method which could effectively be used in reducing the number of bills introduced and printed and to report its findings to the regular session of the legislature to be convened in January, one thousand nine hundred forty-three.

The said committee shall organize immediately after its appointment and elect a chairman and a secretary from its membership and appoint any clerks or stenographers necessary to carry out the purpose of this resolution.

The members of the commission shall receive no compensation but shall be reimbursed for any necessary traveling and living expenses actually incurred in the performance of the duties hereby imposed.

An item of five thousand dollars shall be inserted in the general appropriation bill for the purpose of paying such expenses and the salaries of such clerks and stenographers, appointed by the committee.

Referred to the Committee on Rules.

By Mr. JEFFERSON. RESOLUTION No. 76.

In the House of Representatives, April 9, 1941.

Whereas, Music is the agency that synchronizes and soothes the feelings of mankind, and, at the same time, creates an emotional reaction that brings ease to the mind and solace to the soul; and

Whereas, Music, from time immemorial, has been intended by mankind to create an emotional response which is fitting and proper for particular occasions in man's life; and

Whereas, Music can be best appreciated when it is performed under proper circumstances; and

Whereas, The commercialism of today, and the resultant swing or jazz arrangements of certain music, is in absolute derogation of the composer's or creator's expression of such music; and

Whereas, The songs known as spirituals and folk songs have meant a great deal in the development of the American negro, and have been a great cultural contribution by him to the development of American music; and

Whereas, Spirituals are symbolic of the deep religious devotion of the American negro to his God and creator; and

Whereas, Today negro spirituals are being used by leading orchestras throughout the country in jazz and swing arrangements, which are nothing but ribald desecrations of such beautiful music; therefore be it

Resolved, That the House of Representatives request all radio broadcasting stations in this Commonwealth to cooperate with it in its attempt to have the spiritual and folk song assume its proper place in our cultural life by limiting the use of such music to religious occasions or to programs of a religious nature on the Sabbath day or other religious holiday, and by also eliminating the jazz and swing arrangements of such music which tend to desecrate it; and be it further

Resolved, That the Chief Clerk of the House mail a copy of this resolution to all radio broadcasting stations in this Commonwealth, in order to apprise them of the feeling of the membership of the House towards these great songs.

Referred to the Committee on Rules.

PERMISSION GRANTED COMMITTEE TO MEET DURING SESSION

Mr. GERARD, asked and obtained permission for the Committee on Mines and Mining to meet during the session of the House.

SENATE MESSAGE

RESOLUTION FOR CONCURRENCE

The Clerk of the Senate being introduced presented an extract from the Journal of the Senate, which was read as follows:

In the Senate, April 9, 1941.

Whereas, The future of this great Nation depends upon its youth and their capacity to uphold the standards established by their forefathers to safeguard the American way of life; and

Whereas, lean living and healthful sports are conducive to the development of both virility and morality, and the first essential of capacity to carry on is youth's physical equipment; and

Whereas, One who has lived in our midst for well nigh four score years has by his example and industry made it possible to develop in the ranks of clean sportsmanship exemplars of the value of physical development and clean living as standards for our youth; and

Whereas, The General Assembly desires to show its appreciation to the citizen who has dedicated his life to the development of youth and maintaining their ideals on high standards; therefore be it

Resolved (if the House of Representatives concur), That the Legislature acknowledges the contribution made to our cultural development by endorsing the celebration of May 17, 1941 as Connie Mack Day; and be it further

Resolved, That His Excellency, the Governor of Pennsylvania, shall issue, publish and declare an appropriate proclamation to the people of Pennsylvania, designating for observance this year the 17th of May as Connie Mack Day.

Ordered, That the Clerk present the same to the House of Representatives for its concurrence.

Referred to the Committee on Rules.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS HOUSE

Mr. WOODSIDE asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the House.

Mr. Speaker, I notice that the Members have been introducing amendments generally without sending a corbon copy to the floor leaders. It would be well to follow the practice which was adopted at the last session, and which I think was meant to be followed at this session, of giving copies of the amendments to the floor leaders. Otherwise, the floor leaders may find it necessary to hold up the reading of the amendments until those interested in the bill have a chance to write them down. It will greatly delay the proceedings of the House. If the Legislative Reference Bureau, the Attorney General's office or whatever other places are preparing amendments do not furnish enough copies, arrangements ought to be made to supply sufficient copies to the members so that one copy can be furnished to each of the floor leaders, and each floor leader in turn can give it to the Members on his side of the House who are interested in the particular bill.

I call this to the attention of all of the Members of the House because from now on I think the House is going to be busy, and it would be bad practice for the House to take time to read and study the amendments from the desk. The work of the House will be carried on a lot easier if extra copies are prepared.

The SPEAKER. The Chair appreciates the remarks of the gentleman from Dauphin concerning amendments offered without the knowledge of the floor leaders. The Chair requests Members offering amendments to give a copy to each floor leader before they are considered. If you do not have a sufficient number of copies, request them from the Legislative Reference Bureau. The Desk requires four copies. The Reference Bureau can easily furnish six copies.

BILL ON THIRD READING

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 1092, as follows:

An Act making an appropriation for the expenses of the committee of the House of Representatives created by House Resolution Serial Number forty-nine adopted the nineteenth day of February one thousand nine hundred forty-one

The General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania hereby enacts as follows

Section 1 The sum of ten thousand dollars ($10,000) or so much thereof as may be necessary is hereby specifically appropriated to the committee created by House Resolution Serial Number forty-nine adopted the nineteenth day of February one thousand nine hundred forty-one and authorized thereby to make an investigation of the causes and reasons for gas main explosions in the city and county of Philadelphia for the payment of the expenses of such investigation by the committee including the cost of subpoenas witnesses witness fees stenographic service the wages or other compensation of necessary clerical assistants and any other expenses of every kind and description which may be authorized by a majority of the committee in connection with the conduct of its work

Section 2 This act shall become effective immediately upon final enactment

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. D'ORTONA. Mr. Speaker and members of the House,

As Chairman of a Committee of this House, appointed to investigate a terrible catastrophe in South Philadelphia, which resulted in the death of five persons by explosion and burning, in injury to more than sixty persons, and vast destruction of property, I rise to ask support of this House for the appropriation requested by the Committee.

The Committee has proceeded with the investigation thoroughly and expeditiously. After organization we selected James F. Masterson, as counsel for the Committee, and sought expert engineering and chemical advice. We requested Mr. Wm. H. Gravell, an eminent engineer, and Dr. Louis Gershenfeld, professor of chemistry at the Philadelphia College of Pharmacy and Science to co-operate with the Committee. We explained to these gentlemen that no appropriation had been granted the Committee, but that we felt that this body would make an appropriation to compensate them for such services as would become necessary in making the investigation.

Our counsel and engineers have spent days and nights on this investigation. We held three all day public hearings and two public night hearings lasting until 11 P. M. We held these hearings during both the day and evenings to give the public an opportunity to be heard. We have heard every citizen we could locate or who volunteered who could throw any light on the subject matter under investigation. We gave the City of Philadelphia the same opportunity, and we have heard from responsible employes and officials who were in a position to know the true conditions. The testimony taken up to the present time covers approximately six hundred pages. We are now affording the Philadelphia Gas Works Company the same opportunity to produce whatever records or facts it has in its possession to show the cause of this frightful tragedy.

We have learned many things with respect to the conditions of the water system of the City of Philadelphia, and the gas main system of the Philadelphia Gas Works Company.

From the beginning of this investigation the Committee has had in mind the idea that if at all possible such tragedies should be prevented in the future, and it is our purpose when the investigation is completed to recommend to this House legislation which may eliminate some of the fundamental, underlying causes which led to these explosions.

The 20th Century Fox Film Corporation took about six hundred feet of film of the scene, but most of it was so gruesome that the negative was not printed. However, the company agreed to show the negative to the Committee and when the Committee saw it, it was determined to have the negative printed and to purchase a copy so that it can be shown to this House when the report of this committee is made.

Our counsel and engineers have worked day and night in preparing the testimony which has been produced before the Committee, and that which remains to be heard. A great deal of physical investigation has been done including chemical analysis of the soil, physical examination of the scene, buildings, pipes, and investigations into the records of the City of Philadelphia with respect to alleged breaks in the water and sewer systems.

The members of the Committee having to be in Harrisburg in connection with their duties here, the work of preparation for the hearings naturally devolved upon our counsel and the engineers, and these men devoted practically all of their time from February 20th to April 4th to matters affecting this investigation.

It is believed that additional experts will have to be obtained upon the conclusion of the testimony of the Philadelphia Gas Works Company, as we propose upon the completion of the testimony to seek the advice of eminent gas engineers to see if improvements could be made in the manner of gas and water distribution, and what precautions can or should be taken to avoid any such future catastrophe.

It certainly requires no argument on my part to convince the members of this House, and without prejudging the investigation, that gas mains and water pipes laid 50 to 75 years ago cannot be in good condition, and the Committee intends to seek the advice of the best engineers available on the subject in order to protect, if possible, by law the lives and properties of the citizens against any recurrence of such a frightful tragedy.

In these days of safety drives to protect the lives and limbs of citizens from the operators of automobiles, railroads, industrial accidents, etc., it seems to this Committee that there should be some way of requiring by law, measures which science has developed to protect and guard the lives and properties of our people from damage and injury caused by pipes carrying gas and water under city streets, and into the homes of our people, who have elected us to provide laws for their safety.

I would, therefore, request that the House pass the appropriation bill as recommended by the Committee.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution the yeas and nays were taken and were as follows, viz:

HOUSE BILL No. 583.

An Act authorizing the Department of Property and Supplies, with the approval of the Governor, to sell and convey two certain plots of land.

The General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania hereby enacts as follows

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS HOUSE

Mr. McCLESTER asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the House.

Mr. Speaker, we have a Member of this House who by his genial personality, love for fair play and magnanimous generosity has endeared himself to every member of this august body. Although it is not generally known he never turns down a request for financial assistance whether it be large or small (exclusive of fellow members). Only last week he heeded a call and made a very worth while bequest and not only did that but assured the recipients that he would be glad to increase his donation one hundred fold for the following year.

The Easter Season is upon us and the spirit of generosity gets into every person's anatomy. So in keeping with the spirit, Mr. Speaker, we the friends of the party referred to wish to express our appreciation. Will you therefore, Mr. Speaker, appoint a committee to escort Hon. Kenneth L. Leydic, the gentleman from Allegheny County, to the rostrum to receive said token of appreciation in the form of an Easter Basket.

The SPEAKER. The Chair at this time appoints Messrs. McMillen, and Helm, to escort the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Leydic to the rostrum.

It is with a great deal of pleasure that the chair presents Easter Greetings, very much alive, to the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Leydic. I hope he has a very happy Easter holiday. The Members having asked the gentleman from Allegheny Mr. Leydic to make a speech, the Speaker yields.

Mr. LEYDIC. Mr. Speaker, and gentlemen, it is a pleasure to be here on such a grand morning and to be presented with something that is near and dear to my heart. I am not so sure what is in the bottom of this basket. I wish you all a grand and glorious Easter.

RESOLUTIONS

SYMPATHY EXTENDED

Mr. FRENCH offered the following resolution and asked and obtained unanimous consent for its immediate consideration.

The resolution was read, considered and adopted:

In the House of Representatives, April 10, 1941.

From Washington flashes the news of the passing of another outstanding national figure, in the death of United States Senator Morris Sheppard of Texas, widely known as the "Father of the Eighteenth Amendment," and as Chairman of the presently most important Senate Military Affairs Committee, having charge of all measures for national defense.

Senator Sheppard was a veteran in Congress, having first entered the House of Representatives in 1902, and having served without interruption in the House and Senate until the time of his death. His experience and knowledge of national affairs made his services invaluable, and his loss will be the more keenly felt. Be it, therefore,

Resolved, That the House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania pay fitting tribute to the memory of a great statesman and patriot and an able leader in the affairs of the National Government; and that this commemorative resolution be spread upon the journal of this House, and a properly certified copy thereof be forwarded to the family of the deceased and to the Senate of the United States in which he served at the time of his death.

The PRESIDENT (Lieutenant-Governor Samuel S. Lewis) in the Chair.

PRAYER

The Chaplain, Rev. BURLEIGH A. PETERS, offered the following prayer:

Thou kind and Beneficient Father, most definitely are we thankful for this beautiful day with the many evidences of an awakening nature in another springtime. Not one of us should accept these benefications without deep gratitude unto Thee.

And especially are we thankful for another blessed Easter season literally sensed throughout the world. We are grateful for its direct message unto a dying world together with its by-products of such sustaining value unto us all regardless of race, color and creed. May it please Thee to cause Thy message of peace and hope and immortality to be heard and obeyed among the nations of the earth, even those who in this day are engaged in mortal combat. O that men would learn the lesson of arbitration in matters of personal differences and philosophy of life rather than a recourse to arms leaving its long trail of human suffering and death in its wake!

O Father, in these days sober our thinking and correct our living and prune our spiritual growth that we may quit us like men and be strong, putting on the whole armor of God.

This is our prayer here in this Senate today. May it likewise be such throughout the nation for we pray in the name of the resurrected One who possesses all power, wisdom and might. Amen.

An Act making an appropriation for the expenses of the committee of the House of Representatives created by House Resolution Serial Number forty-nine, adopted the nineteenth day of February, one thousand nine hundred forty-one.

Which was committed to the Committee on Appropriations.

BILL SIGNED

The PRESIDENT (Lieutenant Governor Samuel S. Lewis) announced that the Chief Clerk having reported that the following bill had passed both houses of the General Assembly and the same being correct, the title was publicly read as follows:

House Bill No. 583, entitled:

An Act authorizing the Department of Property and Supplies, with the approval of the Governor, to sell and convey two certain plots of land.

Whereupon,

The PRESIDENT (Lieutenant Governor Samuel S. Lewis) in the presence of the Senate signed the same.

REPORT FROM COMMITTEE ON EXECUTIVE NOMINATIONS

Mr. JAMES. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent to make report from committee at this time.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

Mr. JAMES from the Committee on Executive Nominations reported with a favorable recommendation the following nominations, made by His Excellency, the Governor, of the Commonwealth:

APPOINTMENT AS MEMBER OF SUPERIOR COURT OF PENNSYLVANIA

Commonwealth of Pennsylvania,
Governor's Office, Harrisburg, April 8, 1941.

To the Honorable, the Senate of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

In conformity with law, I have the honor hereby to nominate for the advice and consent of the Senate Charles E. Kenworthey of Ardmore, Montgomery County for appointment as Judge of the Superior Court of Pennsylvania, vice William M. Parker, resigned, to serve until the first Monday of January, 1942.

ARTHUR H. JAMES.

REPORT FROM COMMITTEE ON EXECUTIVE NOMINATIONS

Mr. JAMES. Mr. President, on behalf of the Committee on Executive Nominations I report with favorable recommendation the nomination of Charles E. Kenworthey Esq., as a judge of the Superior Court of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania. The nomination of Mr. Kenworthey came to the Senate the last day of the Session of last week and in the opinion of the Committee on Executive Nominations, due to the high character of the office and in consideration of the Bar of the Commonwealth and the importance of this office, we believe that opportunity should be afforded to members of the Bar of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania to obtain their reaction upon this appointment.

Mr. President, I am glad to say that since the last session I have seen and have had an interview with Mr. Kenworthey, which was indeed very satisfactory.

I find from the recommendations he has received that he is a man of very marked legal ability, belongs to a prominent law firm in the City of Philadelphia and has received the unanimous recommendation of the State Bar Association for this high office.

I have received also, Mr. President, up to the present time a great many communications, letters and messages of commendation. In fact, I have read a hundred letters or more written to him, or messages delivered to him, by distinguished lawyers and judges of the Commonwealth, all of them advocating his being admitted or being brought into the judiciary as a member of the Superior Court of Pennsylvania.

He has the recommendation of the Chief Justice of the Supreme Court of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania and nearly every associate justice of that Court. He has the recommendation and the approval of the President Judge of the Superior Court of Pennsylvania and nearly if not all of the members of that Court. I have received recommendations of him from nearly every judge of the Courts of Common Pleas, and of the Orphan's Court of the County of Philadelphia and adjoining and contiguous counties and even a number of Federal Judges have certified to his character, reputation and training as an able trial lawyer.

Mr. President, I am glad to say that during this interim I have not received nor heard one dissenting voice raised against the confirmation of Mr. Kenworthey and therefore I believe he is the man for the job.

Hence, Mr. President, it affords me very great pleasure on behalf of the Committee on Executive Nominations as well as myself to move that Rule No. 38 of the Senate be suspended and we do now go into Executive Session for the purpose of acting upon and considering the confirmation of this appointee.

Mr. EDMONDS. It gives me very great pleasure to second the motion the gentleman from Bucks, Mr. James, has just made and in doing so I desire to express my appreciation of the careful way which he as an attorney and the other members of the committee have looked into the qualifications of this candidate.

Mr. President, we have before us a candidate who is distinguished for his legal ability and who in addition to that has a personality and a worth which warrants recommending him for public service in this state and I take very great pleasure in seconding the motion of the gentleman from Bucks, Mr. James.

RULE 38 SUSPENDED

By unanimous consent,

A motion was made by Mr. JAMES and Mr. EDMONDS.

Which was committed to the Committee on Law and Order.

Mr. JASPAN. Mr. President, on behalf of the gentleman from Cambria, Mr. Haluska and myself I wish to present the Chair the following bill and in doing so I ask permission to make a brief statement.

The PRESIDENT. Is there any objection? The Chair hears none. The gentleman from Philadelphia may proceed.

Mr. JASPAN. Mr. President, we feel that we can venture to say without fear of contradiction that if a popular poll were taken as to the most controversial law on our statute books it would be the Law of April 22, 1794, best known as the "Blue Law" or "Sunday Law," and which provides:

> "If any person shall do or perform any worldly employment or business whatsoever on the Lord's day, commonly called Sunday (work of necessity and charity only excepted), shall use or practice any unlawful game, hunting, shooting, sport or diversion whatsoever on the same day and be convicted thereof, every such person so offending shall, for every such offense, forfeit and pay four dollars—That nothing herein contained be construed to prohibit the dressing of victuals in private families, bake-houses, lodging-houses, inns and other houses of entertainment for the use of sojourners, travellers or strangers, or to hinder watermen from landing their passengers, or ferrymen from carrying over the water travellers, or persons removing with their families on the Lord's day, commonly called Sunday, nor to the delivery of milk or the necessaries of life, before nine of the clock in the forenoon, nor after five of the clock in the afternoon of the same day."

together with its supplements modifying some of the rigours of the early law.

Sunday has, from the earliest days, been dedicated to spiritual devotions and as a respite from worldly toil. But things being what they are today, with the whirling of motor cars, eighteen-hole golf, the excursion to the shore or country, not to mention the nine-course dinner mother has to cook over a hot oven for a large, hungry family, there is very little rest for anyone on that day, whatever the degree of participation in spiritual exercises.

The history of the Sabbath or Sunday as it is known in the Christian Church is worth recalling. The ancient institution of the Sabbath was as a stated religious feast—a time for feasting, a time for wearing one's best clothes, a time to eat, drink and be glad. (I quote from Isaiah, LVIII, 13.) It was not until after the Babylonian exile that the Hebrews, from whom stems all our conceptions of the sanctity of the Sabbath, made it a day of total abstinence and restraint. It was to this more ancient law and not the post-exilic law period that Christ appealed when he said "The Sabbath is made for man and not man for the Sabbath." (Matthew, XII, 1-14). The early Christian church adopted this later, post-exilic concept, only changing the Sabbath from the seventh day to the first day of the week because that was the day of the Resurrection. Constantine, in 321 A. D., enacted a law that all courts of justice and inhabitants of town and workship were to be at rest on Sunday, save for agricultural labor. Later, Charlemagne forbade labor of any kind. In England, as early as the Seventh Century, laws were passed forbidding working, marketing or hunting. Then follows a long history that persists down to modern times, but a short portion of which I find time to repeat to you as it concerns the application of Sunday Laws in this State and in the early colonies.

In New England, for example, Sunday was a day of restraint. The Puritans brought with them to this country a fixed idea that the first day of the week, the Sabbath, should be strictly observed. Even in Virginia and New York, where the people were not so strict, there were rigid laws for the ordering of one's conduct on the Sabbath day. In Massachusetts, the law provided that no person should be permitted to walk in the streets on Sunday, except in reverently going to church or returning from the services. It was even considered wrong to have a fire in the church, so that most of the worshippers, unless they were extremely hardy, suffered severely.

The Sabbath began, in New England, at sunset Saturday afternoon, and all work stopped and the children's play hushed to prepare their minds for the coming of the Sabbath. Next morning the whole family arose early. No work, except such as was absolutely necessary, was done. No hot meals were prepared and the dishes were left unwashed until Monday morning. Whether the weather was stormy or fair, the entire household, save the tiniest children, set out for the meeting house, oftentimes several miles distant. The services were long and lasted all day and "noon houses" were provided for the worshippers to stay to eat their dinner. The commencement of the Sabbath on Saturday followed the Jewish Sabbath, as it was the early Jewish laws I have stated which influenced the Sabbath practices in this country.

In Pennsylvania, the strict Sunday observances of the Puritans were matched by the Act of 1794, which was introduced and enforced by the Quakers themselves, but for somewhat different reasons. To understand the severity of these long past days, even in the minds of that religious sect that we have learned to associate with tolerance and regard with great respect, we must regard the Quaker faith of that day, which consisted of a severe discipline in morals and manners. They prohibited every act of life, every amusement and every occupation which interfered with the tranquility of mind which tended to disturb the meditation and repose which were necessary to the development of the inward light. Not only were courts and games of chance forbidden in this Quaker faith, but all games of skill, all kinds of hunting and sports, which they said aroused too much excitement in the mind. Balls and the theatre were equally dangerous; all works of novel, fiction and poetry were condemned; and they were particularly opposed to music. It is easy to see, therefore, why the Quakers carried into the Blue Laws of 1794 the severe rigour of their own lives, especially since they were legislating concerning the Sabbath day.

It has only been at the centers where wealth has accumulated that holy days lost their severity and became holidays. Men who work from dawn to dusk had little time or inclination for diversion of any kind on Sunday, especially so if on a preceding Saturday night he gave himself over to sexual dissipation, gluttony and more likely drunkenness. His weekly life was an alternate cycle of drudgery and indulgence. Nowadays, there is leisure for all. The modern worker, under good conditions, gets his daily, weekly and annual leisure as he gets his daily bread. He even has daylight to waste.

In recognition of these changing conditions, we have been slowly reverting to the ancient Hebrew conception of the Sabbath as a day on which to wear one's best clothes, to eat, drink and be glad. In this State, we have relaxed the Blue Laws to permit certain sports or other recreational diversions. In neighboring Delaware, recently many of you have read of the dramatic manner in which referendums were provided for to deal with the Sunday Laws. Everywhere are faint rustlings of man's clamor for the Biblical prospect that you cannot live by bread alone and that in his leisure time he must, after performing his devotions in the church of his choice, minister to the cravings of his temporal self as he did to his spiritual self.

Of course, we cannot brush aside Sunday as an irrevelancy, as a day for wreckless worldly pleasures or enterprises, a day that has lost its flavor with the masses completely; on the contrary, it is a day whose enjoyment for holy purposes and meditation and repose is too deeply ingrained in the lives of many God-fearing men and women of Christian faith to be disposed of so capriciously. Such an idea would be wholly unthinkable.

Sunday is, Emerson once said, "the core of our civilization's conduct to thought and reverence" but even he admitted that "it changes its form from age to age." All men do not think alike or act alike, and communities which are but aggregations of man likewise differ in their conception as to how they choose to spend their time. If a community wishes to enjoy its Sabbath in quiet, peace and tranquility of the past, there should be none to say nay. Likewise, if a community desires to enjoy Sabbath in whatever form it pleases, there should be no interference from the minority who do not see eye to eye with the majority. Each community should be allowed to decide for itself by referendum just as was done in Delaware how they choose to enjoy their Sabbath. This method can harm no one and can only help preserve the Democratic process of life.

This is the purpose of my bill and that is precisely what it means. It is simply a case of home rule applied to a subject which can best be solved by the majority of the people in each city, town or township.

In short it authorizes the counties throughout the state through a referendum to repeal the blue laws and their supplement in whole or in part. Now on behalf of the noted liberal Senator John J. Haluska of Cambria County and myself, I read in place and present to the Chair the following bill.

Messrs. JASPAN and HALUSKA read in their places and presented to the Chair Senate Bill No. 600, entitled:

An Act making the performance of worldly business and worldly employment, and the engaging, conducting or participation in any game, sport, hunting, shooting, or any other diversion whatsoever, which is now prohibited by law from being conducted at any time on Sunday, lawful and proper to be conducted on Sunday, providing for referendums to ascertain the will of the electors of any city, borough, town or township of this Commonwealth relative thereto; and repealing inconsistent legislation.

Which was committed to the Committee on Law and Order.

Mr. WOODWARD read in his place and presented to the Chair Senate Bill No. 601, entitled:

A Joint Resolution proposing an amendment to section one, article nine of the Constitution of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania.

Which was committed to the Committee on Constitutional Changes.

Mr. HOMSHER read in his place and presented to the Chair Senate Bill No. 602, entitled:

An Act to further amend section one thousand four hundred and thirty-nine of the act, approved the eighteenth day of May one thousand nine hundred and eleven (P. L. 309), entitled "An act to establish a public school system in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, together with the provisions by which it shall be administered, and prescribing penalties for the violation thereof; providing revenue to establish and maintain the same, and the method of collecting such revenue; and repealing all laws general, special or local, or any parts thereof, that are or may be inconsistent therewith," providing for education of blind children by the Department of Public Instruction, and for the payment therefor out of appropriation made for such purposes.

Which was committed to the Committee on Education.

REPORT FROM COMMITTEE

Mr. KEPHART, from the Committee on Highways, reported as committed, Senate Bill No 30, entitled:

An Act providing for the establishment, construction, maintenance and use of a mountain ridge road or skyway on State forest, game and fish lands in the Pocono Mountains, through or bordering the counties of Monroe, Northampton, Carbon, Luzerne, Lackawanna, Wayne and Pike, to be known as the "Rim Parkway"; conferring powers and imposing duties on the Department of Highways; providing for the acquisition and taking of additional land; and the use of Federal Funds; authorizing the collection of tolls and rentals: and appropriating moneys out of the Motor License Fund.

MEMORIALIZING CONGRESS TO AMEND SOCIAL SECURITY LAW BY PROVIDING CONTRIBUTION OF FEDERAL FUNDS FOR ASSISTANCE TO THE BLIND

Mr. CARR offered the following resolution which was twice read, considered, and referred to Committee on Welfare, Public Assistance and Pensions:

In the Senate, April 14, 1941.

Whereas, The Commonwealth of Pennsylvania recognizing the duty of the Commonwealth to provide for its unfortunate blind citizens has provided for the payment to them of a pension; and

Whereas, The Federal Government contributes toward the care of blind persons but insists that moneys apportioned to any state for such purpose must and can only be contributed on a basis of the actual need of the blind; and

Whereas, This Commonwealth receives no part of Federal funds apportioned for blind persons because its system of assistance for the blind is on a liberal pension basis instead of the basis of actual need as required by the Federal Social Security Act; therefore be it

Resolved (if the House concur), That the Congress of the United States is hereby memorialized to amend the Social Security Law of the Federal Government by providing for the contribution of Federal funds for assistance to blind persons to states which provide for such assistance either on a basis of actual need or on a pension basis; and be it further

Resolved, That a copy hereof be transmitted to the President and Vice President of the United States, to the President of the Senate and the Speaker of the House of Representatives of the Congress of the United States and to the Senators and Representatives in the Congress of the United States from this Commonwealth.

TIME OF NEXT MEETING

Mr. WADE offered the following resolution which was twice read, considered, and agreed to:

In the Senate, April 14, 1941.

Resolved, (if the House of Representatives concur), That when the Senate adjourns this week, it reconvene on Monday, April 21, 1941, at 4:30 o'clock p. m., and when the House of Representatives adjourns this week, it reconvene on Monday, April 21, 1941, at 9:00 o'clock p. m.

Ordered, that the Clerk present the same to the House of Representatives for concurrence.

BILL ON THIRD READING AND FINAL PASSAGE

And said bill having been read at length the third time,

And the amendments made thereto having been printed as required by the Constitution,

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the bill?

Mr. CAVALCANTE. Mr. President, I desire to interrogate the sponsor of this bill.

The PRESIDENT. Will the gentleman from Clinton permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. STEVENSON. Yes, Mr. President.

Mr. CAVALVANTE. Will the gentleman from Clinton state whether or not the passage of this bill will require the employment of more persons by the Department of Public Assistance?

Mr. STEVENSON. Mr. President, I can not answer that question directly but it seems to me the present personnel of the Department of Public Assistance should be able to handle this.

Mr. CAVALCANTE. I thank the gentleman from Clinton. Mr. President, I am glad the sponsor of the bill in his frankness has stated he is not certain whether or not this bill will require more employes to carry out its provisions.

I personally feel, Mr. President, that the purpose of the bill is laudable but I do say if the bill will require the employment of more persons to carry its provisions out, then I say the bill is not the kind of a bill we ought to pass at this time. The provisions of the bill warn me it is going to require more employes in the Department of Public Assistance. If the bill is passed, it is going to permit the setting up in the Department of Public Assistance of another set-up for the purpose of going out to find out when a man or person receiving assistance has become self-supporting. It is going to open up a field of work that has not been opened up to this time and that field, Mr. President, is this: it is going to give to the Department of Public Assistance and the County Boards of Public Assistance an opportunity or a leeway to go out and check up on all persons who have received assistance to see whether they have become self-supporting or not.

It is going to open the door for the employment or the establishment of another branch of this great army of flat heels that we already have. It is going to create a different line of endeavor that they have been pursuing so far. They are going to go out now to train flat heels to go out and find out where these hundreds of persons who are not off of relief have become self-supporting or self-sustaining and then to write up another case history for the files of the department.

Mr. President, if I was assured or had the slightest thought the bill would not require additional employment I would gladly vote for the bill, but whenever the sponsor himself is not certain—and I am one of the members of this body who is not ready, judging from past experience, to trust this group of flat heels, that they will not start a new set-up in the Department of Public Assistance or the County Boards of Public Assistance for the purpose of pursuing this new line of endeavor set-up in this bill.

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, I am opposed to this bill not only on the grounds stated by my colleague from Fayette but also because of a few other reasons. One of the main reasons is that the mere sending of a notice will not in any way affect the payment of the so-called claims against the relief recipients because as the bill states now, the claim against a relief recipent is against a parcel of real estate and at no time during lifetime of the recipient of relief, may the State enforce that claim, and so the only purpose this bill serves, as I see it, is to set up another bureau in the Department of Public Assistance.

Mr. President, we all know from the local paper report that these relief rolls are at their lowest since 1935. Mr. President, the relief rolls are low, I understand there has been a sixty per cent cut in the relief rolls or the relief load—however, Mr. President, there has not been a sixty per cent cut in the administrative force of the Department of Public Assistance and so therefore they are seeking new avenues of keeping the various employees at work.

That would not be so bad if it were not for the fact the relief department in itself is a cancer and one we must get rid of if we are going to have good government. In other words, Mr. President, it is an extra department of government that is not at all essential to the welfare of the state, and the sooner we get rid of it the better off we will be. In setting up this new department or new bureau we set up a great office force to send out thousands and thousands of reports twice a year which in no way will enhance the chances of collecting the money, because under the law they do not have to pay the money until the party is no longer alive.

In other words, Mr. President, during the life time of a relief recipient, they cannot enforce a claim against his real estate, and of course the question comes up whether or not we in the Senate are to sanction the actions of the Department of Public Assistance in getting a bond executed by the relief recipient. Some of us think perhaps those who receive relief and who do not own property ought to be liable too for the amount they receive and here again there is a setup which says when they become sufficiently able to take care of themselves.

In other words, Mr. President, who is to judge as to when they have sufficient income and are able to pay back according to this bill the amounts that are owed to the state?

You must remember, Mr. President, that a person may be unemployed for a period of five or six years, he may have signed a bond that forever puts a lien against his property or until he can pay the lien off. Suppose he gets a job in the defense set up. Probably there are many things he may need for himself and his family before he will be able to make enough money to pay the amount back which he owes to the state. Then can you say to one group because you own property and have tried to be a good citizen we now insist on your paying back to the state this amount of money and then say to those who have never tried and never did own a property and have never tried to take care of their families, we will allow you to go scot free?

I therefore, Mr. President, oppose this bill because it will not have any good effect, it will not do any good, it will not increase the chances of collection, and therefore it should be defeated.

Mr. STEVENSON. Mr. President. in answer to the gentleman from Westmoreland, may I say that he classifies all relief recipients as being of one type of citizen, as having subscribed to the something for nothing philosophy; he overlooks the fact that among the relief recipients are a great many good citizens who accepted this relief with injured pride and who welcome this opportunity to repay this money, if they know how much they owe and to whom it is to be paid.

At the same time, Mr. President, it gives them an opportunity to wipe off the lien against their property and redeem it and become full owners of that property again.

I think this is a very constructive piece of legislation and I think it will mean millons of dollars to the State of Pennsylvana from these people who have now rehabi- of Pennsylvania from these people who have now rehabilitated themselves and are able now to pay money back able to receive benefits.

I think this is a very constructive piece of legislation and urge my colleagues to support it.

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, I do not want to ask the reporter to read what I said but in order that there be no misunderstanding, I have never taken the position that all persons who received relief belonged in that group that will take what they can get and do not hope to pay it back.

I say under the present relief law in the State of Pennsylvania there is nothing that stops the Department of Public Assistance from notifying relief recipients of how much they owe to the government, or to the state government; there is nothing in the law. All you need to add to this act is to say twice a year some clerk must send out notices.

Now, Mr. President, if you know how many persons have received relief in the State of Pennsylvania and how many have signed bonds you will see what a sizeable group of employes you are festering on the taxpayers of the State of Pennsylvania for no good purpose whatsoever, because the department can certainly send out a letter now whenever it thinks it is necessary, whenever they have information a person who has received money can pay it back. There is nothing to stop them from sending it out. The only thing they do by this bill is to freeze it so that they can put on a group of employes to do nothing but send out notices.

That is the only thing I object to, Mr. President, and I do not say everybody who has been receiving relief does not want to pay it back.

Mr. MUNDY. Mr. President, this bill is a bill perpetuating the employment of social workers in the Department of Public Assistance and I know, regardless of what the gentleman from Clinton says, human nature is the same the world over. The honest man, realizing he has incurred an obligation, will eventually pay that obligation, but the man who is dishonest will try to resist payment and all the notices and all the reminders this Department of Public Assistance sends to this type, this peculiar divisional type, will make no difference in the voluntary contributions in return for relief given.

Mr. President, if there were back of this notice some power or some force or some threat it probably would bring about the proper result, but as a voluntary measure the only thing it does is that it produces new employment and new expense upon the State of Pennsylvania.

I am not diverging from the subject except to take up what the Senator from Fayette said about these so-called flat heels in the Department of Public Assistance, relative to their self-perpetuation, which is along the line of discussing this bill proper.

From my experience of over some thirty odd years with social workers of all types I say they pretend to the minds of the Senators and members of the House they are a non-political body. I was invited at one time about some two years ago to address a gathering of social workers and the last warning I got before I went in to speak was that I was told to be careful, that these social workers were non-political. I said, "What do you mean by the term non-political; do you mean to say they have no knowledge or any means of using their intelligence to interpret the political situation as it exists in America today?" I said, "Don't you worry, I am not going to talk partisan politics because I do not think any citizen of the United States at the present time under present conditions should be devoid of having an opinion as to how this country should be conducted."

It is strange to me, Mr. President, not only here in the Senate of Pennsylvania and in the House of Representatives, but also in federal affairs at Washington, that during I will say the last four sessions nobody either in this branch or the other branch in the federal government has had the courage to get up and present the facts concerning social workers as they should be presented and should be understood.

I say to you, Mr. President, if they are not political under present conditions then they are not good citizens of the United States. My experience with them shows to me or demonstrates to me the average social worker group is divided into probably a percentage class. I would say probably twenty-five per cent of the social workers are active good citizens, interested in the civic affairs of community, some fifty per cent of them are simply parasites upon the social life of America, and the remaining twenty-five per cent, as I place them, are distinctly undesirable citizens of this country and are responsible for a lot of new ideas, new thoughts and new "isms" that are springing up throughout the United States of America.

Mr. President, somebody should have the courage to tell these ladies and gentlemen they are drawing public money and they are paid out of public funds and as public servants they should be interested in promoting good government and should not go around preaching the fact they are non-political.

I want to tell you gentlemen—both on the Democratic and Republican side, they have the greatest political organization existent in America today. If you do not believe that take one of their number and put him at the head of a bureau in any city in Pennsylvania and any idle social worker from San Francisco to Portland, Maine, will smell that ham and eggs and they will be all in this State and well taken care of in jobs while your citizens are lying idle, citizens who are very capable of filling those positions.

It is this underground net work of a super-political organization we are allowing ourselves to build up that is eventually going to strangle the vote of the Republican and the Democratic organizations and we are going to have in America here a lot of flat heels, seventy-five per cent flat heels and twenty-five per cent round heels, that are going to take the affairs away from the Legislators and conduct them themselves.

Go into the legislative halls for this session, for three sessions over in the House, for three terms down in the Federal Government at Washington, and see where anybody rose to his feet on the floor to tell the social workers what they are—the most highly organized, intensely organized political organization that is controlling the future of America and the future of your children, and I think, Mr. President and gentlemen of the Senate, it is time we stand up and assert ourselves as legislators and say here, we are going to conduct these affairs.

I have been a member of the Committee on Welfare, Public Assistance and Pensions, and was at one time chairman of it. These social workers came in and it seems to me they were an authority on every thing that affects human emotions and human welfare. The last word was to be said by them, whereas the truth of the matter is the average man, the average citizen of common sense in his community, has more sense of feeling and sense of idea and sense of the future for the people of his community, than all the social workers.

I am not concerned whether you are Democrats or Republicans, but, Mr. President, I say this relief situation frankly as it is presented today is neglecting the most important item of the American Citizenry.

We have millions of them, both federal and in the state. For instance, a man who has been frugal enough in the past to have worked, to have been a good citizen, to have accumulated a home, now when he has a mortgage on it, he can not get any money, he can not eat it, and here in the sovereign State of Pennsylvania and also the federal government we say to him, "you have an equity in real estate and we can not assist you," but we go out to the fellow who sleeps in the park with the squirrels and say to him, "we will establish you on a basis a future basis, your future is secure; you live better now than you ever lived in your life and your future is secure."

Is that a courageous way to face this situation, Mr. President? You keep on perpetuating these social workers and give them jobs and coddling them and listening to their opinions and you are going to make very, very peculiar Americans.

You have your citizens now in Pennsylvania who have lost their identity as John So and So, they no longer remain individuals, they have been catalogued like prisoners in a prison with numbers, and when these social workers get an individual they do no speak of him as John So and So; he has lost his respectability, he becomes a case record, he becomes a case number down in the indexes of Pennsylvania as number So on and So and that is not going to promote a good future America.

Mr. HALUSKA. Mr. President, last week I asked that this bill go over in its order so I might have an opportunity to go home and check over a few items of importance to me. I found in my county—and my county is no different from other counties—I checked specifically one case where within the last four months this man has received four notices asking for reimbursement, and therefore the policy the gentleman fom Clinton has in mind is now in force, they are sending out notices, not twice a year but practically every month.

I must agree with my colleague from Luzerne, Mr. Mundy, when he states you are going after the man who has been conservative.

As given by Mr. Russell, the record shows that only one out of every fourteen persons who applies for relief in Pennsylvania is a property owner. Thirteen of them have no property and you have made no plans to secure anything from them but you are going back to that one of the fourteen who has built America and made this country just what it is and now because he is old and feeble or crippled and must apply for aid, you say to him you must pay back what we give you.

I think this is a silly bill and has no place in this chamber. Talk about constructive bills—I think this a a very unconstructive bill.

Mr. STEVENSON. Mr. President, it is not my purpose to attempt to perpetuate the system of public assistance. I know it has been the policy of a lot of social service workers to maintain themselves in jobs, and as far as I am concerned I am perfectly willing at any time to dump the whole thing overboard. I do not think it is the proper way to handle public assistance but I do think that while we do have it we should strengthen the public assistance law, and this is one means of strengthening it.

As I have said before, Mr. President, there are a lot of people who have asked for statements. It is not the general policy to send out these statements; if it is done at all in Cambria County, it is not done in other counties to my knowledge, and it must be done in a very haphazard manner.

However, Mr. President, in order to promote uniformity throughout the state and give these people statements as to how much money they owe and where they shall pay the money, that is the purpose of this bill.

There has been enough laxity in work for these social workers so they could do this work without any additional help. As has been stated, the amount of public assistance has greatly diminished and these people have ample time to take care of this work; they have the files in their offices, and they know against whom these liens have been entered and it is a simple matter to mail out statements.

I believe this is a very wise policy to adopt, Mr. President.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

The yeas and nays were taken agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution, and were as follows, viz:

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS THE SENATE

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, I ask permission to address the Senate.

The PRESIDENT. The gentleman from Westmoreland may proceed.

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, I have prepared a statement on the question of labor and its position in this emergency. Due to the fact I have a rather bad throat and have over-exercised it a little this afternoon, I ask the indulgence of the Senate to insert this statement in the record of the proceedings of the Senate, without the formality of reading it to the Senate.

The PRESIDENT. Is there any objection? The Chair hears none. It is so ordered.

Mr. DENT. Mr. President and Members of the Senate.

Again I feel called upon, as a public servant, to review the labor position in this emergency, as I see it.

Recent developments are causing a general stampede of the fake liberals who are literally running over each other to climb upon the anti-labor bandwagon. On every hand, we hear the question, "Why are there so many strikes in the Defense Program"? What's wrong with labor?

Every now and then a courageous person will ask, "What's wrong with Industry"? I, for one, cannot believe that labor is entirely to blame and yet when the State Police under Mr. Adams swung their billy clubs and riot sticks at Bethlehem, the only ones who had their heads cracked were the laborites. Why hasn't someone inquired into the reasons for the strike at Bethlehem? As a layman, I would be tempted to ask this question, "Why did Bethlehem Steel pick this particular time to challenge the C.I.O."? Why was it so important to the Steel Company to hold a Company Union election at this time"? If the Steel Company felt that Defense comes first on its list of activities why couldn't the Company Union election have waited until the emergency was over. The same was true of the Johnstown crisis.

Many firms have received orders from the Government with little or no search being made by the O.P.M. Some companies may have taken orders that they can't possibly put out on schedule and a little labor trouble will help alibi their delay in the completion of their orders. Certainly we're against strikes when they are called without considering the consequences, especially when they are called against Defense Industries. But I claim it is as much or more a concern of the Industry to see to it that grievances do not reach the stage where a strike is inevitable.

Consider for a minute the position of a working man. Take a man with a family who has come through the depression with considerable debts piled against his future earnings. During the last eight or ten years he has been on relief or working part time. During this period, debts have piled up and now he is working in an industry that is working on Defense work. He knows that speed is the essence of defense production. He knows that every day his food bill is a little more than it was the day before. He knows that when the defense work is done he will in all probability be thrown back onto part time or perhaps onto complete unemployment. He sees the various Legislatures passing laws curtailing his freedom and the freedom of his Union Organization. He sees the newspapers and reads in them the dire prophesies of the calamity that will follow the war orders. He sees one or more of his sons drafted for Army Service. How can a man who knows and sees all this be anything but receptive when a motion is made to claim better working conditions. Instead of using plain horse sense and reassuring their employees, many companys are taking advantage of public opinion and are waving the Red Flag of challenge to him, to his family and to his Union. You wonder why so many labor disturbances occur in the plants having Government Orders. It is not true that in many of these plants the dispute goes back to days before the National Emergency. I would hate to think that there is a scheme on foot to use this emergency and Defense Program as a wedge to force the cracking up of the labor movement. I would hate to think that under the guise of patriotism, labor baiters and union haters are attempting to mould public opinion against the rights of labor.

Do any of you remember when the proposition was advanced to limit the profit of Industry on Defense orders there was a general protest and even threats of non-participation on the part of some concerns. And yet, when labor protests against limited earnings it's the signal for a general strike against labor leaders and labor rights.

During this emergency large tracts of land have been sold to the Government, does anyone doubt that the interested parties will reap a hugh profit. During this emergency huge contracts have been given to some corporations. Does anyone doubt that handsome profits will be made by these employers. During this emergency labor has asked for increased wages, to meet increased living costs and to share more equitably in the increased profits of employers, does anyone think labor will get their just dues, the same as the land salesman or the Industrial producer without a fight? Does anyone stop to consider that the first to feel the pinch of poverty and depression is the wage earner. Sometimes the wage earner sits and ponders on the futility of the future and perhaps he feels justified in saying to the legislators, why don't you put as many restrictions on all other commodities as you put upon the labor of this country? For truly, since the last war, this Country has seen a great regrowth of Labor Organizations. This is a natural growth because more and more persons find themselves in the wage earners group from which the avenues of escape have been practically all shut off. The wage earner is therefore, driven into an organization of his fellow workers for mutual aid and protection.

Labor through its Unions will contribute its share and more to National Defense and Unity. The times immediately ahead of us are going to be trying times. They will test the capacity of men in public life to think clearly and vote courageously. They will test the fairness of the Press, they will test the ability of Labor Leaders to steer their organizations over the rocks and shoals of adverse propaganda and public opinion. They will test the fortitude and loyalty of union membership. They will be interesting times to the students of progress and civil rights.

Personally, I go into the future as I have come through the past, a firm believer in the rights of men and women to organize and bargain collectively.

I do not expect to set aside these beliefs because of political expediency or because of adverse popular opinion. I am against strikes in vital Defense Industries, except that I qualify my opposition by saying that when these strikes are part of a prearranged plan on the part of management whose patriotism is measured by the dollar sign. I never have condoned violence in labor disputes, I abhor blood shed under any circumstances.

I do not believe labor and its dependents should be made pay the major cost of this supreme effort through service in the Army, long working hours, short pay schedules and anti-labor legislation. If employers are to reap unlimited profits and the taxpayers have to pay the added costs piled onto defense orders, why should labor be persecuted. I do not believe labor ought to be expected to pay more and more for clothes, food, shelter, and public utilities and other essentials without due consideration being given to the earnings of the average wage earner. I believe the employer should give labor the same consideration he expects from Labor in the interest of harmony and unity

When we consider the years of sacrifice and privation endured by the pioneers of the Labor movement we must admit that the battle being fought for the preservation of these Unions today is a worthwhile endeavor.

The Labor movement is not new. It is as old as the system of working for wages and goes back to the early days of American History in this country. Mistakes have been made in the past and will in all probability be made again in the future. But in spite of mistakes the main purpose of organized labor has been to elevate the wage earner, to raise his standards of living, to give to the families of wage earners an opportunity to enjoy a sense of security that would be impossible without the protection of a Labor Union. Allow me to read the Supreme Court Decision on the right to strike.

"American Steel Foundries vs. Tri-City Central Trades Council (257 U. S. 184 1921), in the words of Chief Justice Taft!" "Labor Unions are recognized by the Clayton Act as legal when instituted for mutual help and lawfully carrying out their legitimate objects. They have long been thus recognized by the courts. They were organized out of the necessities of the situation. A single employee was helpless in dealing with an employer. He was dependent ordinarily on his daily wage for the maintenance of himself and family. If the employer refused to pay him the wages that he thought fair, he was nevertheless unable to leave the employ and to resist arbitrary and unfair treatment. Union was essential to give laborers an opportunity to deal on equality with their employer. They united to exert influence upon him and to leave him in a body in order by this inconvenience to induce him to make better terms with them. They were withholding their labor of economic value to make him pay what they thought it was worth. The right to combine for such a lawful purpose has in many years not been denied by any court. The strike became a lawful instrument in a lawful economic struggle or competition between employer and employees as to the share or division between them of the joint product of labor and capital."

Remember that organized labor has fought the good fight for Workmen's Compensation, Unemployment Compensation, the right to organize, the right to strike, limited work weeks, minimum wages, and other necessary social reforms. Men in this Senate have opposed many of these reforms and stand always ready to amend or repeal the gains made by labor after years of struggle.

If after my service in the General Assembly, I can point to one piece of legislation that has made the road easier for the wage earner in Pennsylvania, I will feel that in a measure, my job has been well done.

In closing this statement, I do so convinced that the right thinking people of Pennsylvania will not condemn all labor unions because a few of them may at times seem unreasonable. I'm sure the Members of this Senate will not be stampeded into passing anti-labor legislation by the cries of wolf, wolf, by a few corporations whose entire histories have been contrary to the rights of labor to organize and to bargain collectively I'm sure that the majority of men in this Senate will want both sides of the story before condemning either side in the disputes, that may take place in Defense Industries in Pennsylvania.

I believe the police powers of the Governor should be used only when all else fails. I don't believe the mere mention of a strike should result in a riot call by the Governor and the State Police. It has taken many years for labor to learn to trust the State Police as such. It has been a well deserved victory on the part of the State Police who have gained the confidence of the mine workers and steel workers after a bloody past history in labor disputes in Western Pennsylvania. For years mine workers refused to march in a parade where State Police were used as an escort. Only in recent years has this prejudice been wiped out. All of us were glad to see mutual trust and confidence between the Unions and State Police.

After all these years it seems a pity that the incident at Bethlehem may again place the State Police in the ranks where they were so many years ago. Many fine men have come through the ranks of the State Police. Many have been my personal friends. I hate the thought of how far the use of State Police in labor disputes may go under an unfair Administration. I dislike the idea of having my friends in the State Police branded by the same stick that years ago labeled them cossacks and strike breakers. I sincerely hope the Governor will refrain from using the power of the State Police in labor disputes and remember that wage earners are human beings and are more amenable to persuasion than they are to threats and big sticks. Give labor a fair break and I for one am confident that the wheels will keep turning and Defense of this nation will become an accomplished fact through the skill and production of the hands and brains of the wage earner.

QUESTION OF PERSONAL PRIVILEGE

Mr. CHAPMAN. Mr. President, I rise on a question of personal privilege.

The PRESIDENT. The gentleman from Warren may proceed.

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, someone has asked whether the gentleman from Warren, Dr. Chapman's throat might be a little sore tonight also.

Mr. CHAPMAN. Mr. President, due to the lateness of the hour, I will accede to the request of the gentleman from Westmoreland.

The PRESIDENT. Permission is asked by the gentleman from Warren to insert his statement in the Journal of the Senate without reading. Is there objection? The Chair hears none. It is so ordered.

Mr. CHAPMAN:

MR. PRESIDENT, WHAT'S WRONG WITH THE UNITED STATES

These are dire days. The forces of the dictators are driving forward despite the sacrifices and endeavors that are being made to halt them. The threat of a giant pincer movement that will encircle both shores of the Mediterranean Sea seems to be under way. With the Suez Canal lost or closed Great Britain will suffer. One of its life lines will be cut. Despite the efforts of the fleet, the bombers will be able to harry and perhaps destroy the British Fleet and do horrible damage.

This is the picture as seen by the scores, hundreds and thousands of the faint hearted. The British Empire is about to collapse, according to the view which they are having of the situation Some of them seem to have the idea that the Nazi forces are invincible and that we ought to get a Swastika embroidered on the seat of our trousers to save ourselves from a kicking by the Storm Troopers.

But these folk with the sour stomaches and of little faith we have seen before. They were singing their song of doom and darkness when the British were forced to withdraw from Norway, when the Nazi hordes rolled into Belgium, into the Netherlands and their number became countless when the British came out of Dunkirk and France fell and all seemed lost.

Pictures taken then and displayed by the Nazi Press showed Hitler and Gobbels doing a little dance of joy and getting ready for the invasion of the British Isles. The date was set for July 15 when the Hitler steamroller would crush England. That date, however, has been postponed and is still far in the offing.

At that time the British had lost all of their equipment in France. The Italian Navy was still intact. The Fascists clung to all of Northern Africa and Germany's air forces was four or five times greater than that of the Democracy.

But Hitler did not move to the west. British diplomacy was busy and so was the navy moving the famous Aussies and New Zealanders into Africa to cooperate with South African forces. Now Mussolini's African Empire has crumbled. The fall of Massaua last week finished it. Haile Selassie driven from his land by the rapacity of the Italians legions is back in his capital the first ruler of a country to be restored by the power of the Democracies. Meanwhile, a composite force of Italians and Germans is attacking places in Libia against small British forces. The armies of Great Britain at the moment had more important work to do but they are now streaming into positions to meet the Nazi panzers and the Italian hangers on. The tribesmen of Africa can attend to the scattered Italians and how they love to do it. The Red Sea is opened and the American flag will soon be seen there on ships. The invading forces in Labia are still far from the Suez Canal.

That the Nazis have made great gains in the Balkans is true. How long Yugo Slavia can battle the invaders is unknown to any observer but that she can wage guerilla warfare for weeks is expected. This will compel the Germans to keep large forces there busy. The fall of Salonika is not a great loss. In the World War it was a port and the Allies despite their navies were unable to use it effectively. The Germans have no navy. It has no value except for propaganda purposes to claim prestige. Its capture was a hollow victory.

All Northern Greece is mountainous. The British are there strongly fortified. The British convoys moving forces and supplies to Greece have been unopposed and losses have been small. British submarines are at work and this past week have done wonderful service sinking thousands of tons of transports.

The movements have kept the German armies busy. Two hundred and ten of the Nazi 240 divisions are immobilized. More than a million men are in Poland and along the Russian border. More are in Norway, 60,000 are in Belgium and 900,000 are in France. Few of these can be put into service in other places as much as Hitler and his war staff could desire.

War in the Balkans increases the Nazi requirements of food, gasoline, munitions and essential war supplies. Rumania gives most of the oil but the closing of the Danube for 300 miles by sunken ships filled with concrete, blocks much of that. Unless the war in the Balkans can be ended speedily the Nazi situation will become grave.

Britain and her Allies dominate the seas. Eventually the dulled German brain must register the fact that even if Hitler's hordes conquer the European continent the war will hardly have begun. United States has turned more ships over to the English. The flow of airplanes is increasing and food and necessities will reach England in spite of the German submarines. Free France is beginning to awaken, sabotage in Norway, Czecho-Slovakia, Denmark and other countries is hamstringing the Germans to a degree. The sweep of British planes and the exploding of bombs in German cities is increasing.

Of course, the Nazis will gain. Perhaps in Africa the Italians and Nazis will advance. But as Hitler gets his armies farther and farther away from home bases, his problems grow greater and greater. The resources of three quarters of the world are against Germany.

There is only one fly in the ointment and that is the lethargy that is felt by our people here at home. Their homes are not yet endangered; they have not been roused to the needs of the Democracies. The war is so far away they do not feel its burden. But when the shores of United States are touched off some of these days by a daring Nazi raider, we will awaken to the need. And I feel it is not far away that we will be stunned some of these mornings to learn of a call from a German raider at an eastern port.

Help us to get our feet on the ground and end this epidemic of strikes and arguments holding up our program of defense. Let us keep our heads cool, our hands busy and let the flow of ships, planes, guns, shells and food on a bridge of ships become a reality and not a figure of speech [for a suave orator.]

Stop the politics, speed the machines and let the tide of victory soon be reached. There is no need for pessimism if we all do our part and if Americans all look with clear vision to the future.

PRAYER

The Chaplain, Rev. DONALD McFALL offered the following prayer:

Almighty and Everlasting God, from whom comes all power and dominion in heaven and on earth, we humbly bow before Thee as we ask Thee, our God, to look with pity upon our bewildered but greatly beloved nation. Let Thy children within this State remember their Creator. Grant to our leaders, and to all citizens of this democracy a spirit of true wisdom, a spirit of unselfish desire to establish good will and fair play as the controlling force of our great State and Nation.

Rule our hearts and establish Thy will to the end that security, order, and peace may prevail. Take vain pride and foolish boastings from our lips and make us strong within through our devotion to Thee and to Thy laws, so that being blessed we may become a blessing to all with whom we come into contact as individuals, as a State, and as a Nation. May each of us have a part in the establishment of a true commonwealth of men, the fruits of which are love and joy and peace forevermore. We beseech Thee to hear our prayer in the name of Christ. Amen.

SENATE MESSAGE

RESOLUTION FOR CONCURRENCE

The Clerk of the Senate being introduced presented an extract from the Journal of the Senate, which was read as follows:

In the Senate, April 2, 1941.

The hospitals of the Commonwealth are its safeguards and bulwarks against attacks by disease and accident upon the health, safety and well being of our people,

These well equipped fortresses of mercy with their modern equipment and efficient staffs of trained physicians, surgeons and nurses have reduced the toll of death within this Commonwealth and have brought relief and happiness to most of its citizens,

Those physicians and surgeons have given freely and generously of their services for the alleviation of suffering among those who otherwise could ill afford the cost of such aid;

Those who manage the necessary business and financial affairs of our hospitals likewise contribute valuable services in the interests of humanity,

Those nurses who tirelessly and ceaselessly lend their cheerful aid to the task of bringing relief and comfort to those inmates who are seeking a way back to life and health, are, in turn, a major part in the united work of restoring health to the afflicted. They are true apostles of that great English woman Florence Nightingale who dedicated her life to the relief of the suffering and raised a menial task to an heroic profession,

It is as fitting and proper to observe and celebrate the achievements of a living institution as to observe and celebrate the glories of the past; therefore be it

Resolved (if the House concur) That in recognition of the work performed by the hospitals of the Commonwealth and the splendid achievements of their staffs of physicians, surgeons and nurses the Governor of the Commonwealth is hereby requested to issue his proclamation designating May twelfth, one thousand nine hundred and forty-one, the anniversary of the birth of Florence Nightingale, as Hospital Day as a tribute to the splendid service rendered the citizens of this Commonwealth by our hospitals and those responsible for their operation; and be it further

Resolved, That a copy of this resolution shall be immediately transmitted to his Excellency the Governor.

Ordered, That the Clerk present the same to the House of Representatives for its concurrence.

On the question,

Will the House concur in the resolution of the Senate?

It was concurred in.

Ordered, That the Clerk inform the Senate accordingly.

The third section was read.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the section?

Mr. VOORHEES. Mr. Speaker, I desire to offer the following amendment.

The amendment was read by the Clerk as follows:

Amend section 3, page 1, lines 7 and 8, by striking out the words "immediately upon final enactment" and inserting in lieu thereof the following: "on the first day of January, one thousand nine hundred and forty-two."

On the question,

Will the House agree to the amendment?

Mr. VOORHEES. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, this bill is a bill to prohibit the present wage tax in Philadelphia. If this bill is enacted into law with its present effective date, which is immediately, it means that the Philadelphia City budget is out by $17,000,000, which means that we could not operate the city without some other form of taxation. I do not think the purpose of the bill is to interfere with the operation of the city, and so I ask that the House support this amendment, which makes the effective date the first day of January, 1942, when we start a new budget.

Mr. ROSENFELD. Mr. Speaker, I too do not wish to interfere with the administration of the city of Philadelphia. I do not think we ought to embarrass the city administration by making the act effective immediately, inasmuch as their budget has already been prepared for the balance of the year. I feel however that the important issue is not one of partisanship, but one of relieving a burden upon many taxpayers in Philadelphia.

I, therefore, ask the membership of the House to go along on this amendment.

On the question recurring.

Will the House agree to the amendment?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the section as amended?

It was agreed to.

The title was read and agreed to.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on second reading as amended?

Mr. BRETHERICK. Mr. Speaker, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Rosenfeld.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Philadelphia permit himself to be interrogated.

Mr. ROSENFELD. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. BRETHERICK. Mr. Speaker, am I correct in my understanding that if this bill is passed it will exempt only persons living within the territorial limits of the city of Philadelphia and will permit the city of Philadelphia to levy a tax on non-residents who are employed within the city.

Mr. ROSENFELD. Mr. Speaker in answer to the gentleman from Delaware, I might say that the tax which would be imposed on non-residents would be unconstitutional and, therefore, no group is left exempt under the provisions of this measure.

Mr. BRETHERICK. Mr. Speaker, does the gentleman from Philadelphia pay a real-estate tax within the city of Philadelphia?

Mr. ROSENFELD. I do not, Mr. Speaker, but members of my family do.

Mr. BRETHERICK. Mr. Speaker, we have the rather anomolous situation of an act to permit the city of Philadelphia to levy a tax on non-residents employed in the city of Philadelphia, while at the same time exempting those who reside within the city of Philadelphia from the payment of any such tax. The gentleman who is sponsoring this bill would of course benefit by its provisions, in that he would not have to pay an occupation or wage tax. He has stated on the floor of this House he does not pay any tax on real-estate. In other words he is going to enjoy the benefits that accrue to one living in the city of Philadelphia without sharing in its tax responsibility—

POINT OF ORDER

Mr. ROSENFELD. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a point of order.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman from Philadelphia will state his point of order.

Mr. ROSENFELD. Mr. Speaker, the gentleman from Delaware is debating the measure on second reading.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman from Delaware is in order in debating the measure on second reading. The question is: Will the House agree to the bill on second reading as amended. The gentleman will proceed.

Mr. BRETHERICK. In other words, Mr. Speaker, the gentleman from Philadelphia, as I just stated, is going to share in the benefits that will accrue to him from living in that city, but is going to pass on to those persons residing outside of the city of Philadelphia, who work within its borders, the responsibility for maintaining the government in order that he may benefit. He will be paying no tax whatsoever to the city of Philadelphia and, therefore, Mr. Speaker, I offer the following amendment.

The SPEAKER. It will be necessary for the gentleman to move to reconsider the vote by which the House agreed to Section 1, that being the section to which the gentleman is offering amendments.

Mr. BRETHERICK. Mr. Speaker, we have gotten through the sections and title before I had a chance to be recognized. Mr. Voorhees spoke on section three.

RECONSIDERATION OF VOTE

Mr. BRETHERICK. Mr. Speaker, I move that the vote by which the title and the several Sections were agreed to be reconsidered.

Mr. EDWIN A. LEE. Mr. Speaker, I second the motion.

The SPEAKER. How did the gentleman from Delaware vote?

Mr. BRETHERICK. Mr. Speaker, in the majority.

The SPEAKER. How did the gentleman from Philadelphia vote?

Mr. EDWIN A. LEE. In the majority.

The motion was agreed to.

The first section was read.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the section?

Mr. BRETHERICK. Mr. Speaker, I desire to offer the following amendments.

The amendments were read by the Clerk as follows:

Amend Section 1, page 1, line 2, by inserting after the word "levy" the following "on any non-resident."

Amend Section, page 1, line 3, by striking out the words "individuals residing" and inserting in lieu thereof the following "such non-resident."

On the question,

Will the House agree to the amendments?

Mr. ROSENFELD. Mr. Speaker, I rise to oppose this amendment. As I mentioned to the gentleman a few minutes age the provisions of this act are sought to be extended to non-residents. It is my feeling that a measure which would leave free from the burden of the tax nonresidents would be unconstitutional, and therefore the amendment offered as to the redundancy of this bill complicates a very simple proposition.

I ask the membership on this side of the House to vote "no" on this amendment.

Mr. VOORHEES. Mr. Speaker, I rise to oppose these amendments, because the amendments strike out a tax on people outside of Philadelphia County. We have a particular problem in Philadelphia of supporting a city where many of the residents live outside the artificial line which is drawn around the city.

Therefore, I ask the membership to vote "no" on these amendments.

Mr. BRETHERICK. Mr. Speaker, I happen to live in Delaware County and represent the County of Delaware. In our county we have numerous defense industries along the Delaware River where we employ thousands of Philadelphians who come to our county and earn their living. We impose no wage or occupation tax on them. We contribute at the present time to the maintenance of the government of Philadelphia while sharing none of the rights to elect represenatives in the city. So far as I can see I think the tax is absolutely unfair. We maintain our own municipalities, we maintain our own sewers, we maintain our own water, and we pay a tax on our real estate for that purpose. We have our own policemen, we have our own fire department and Philadelphia ought to maintain its own departments in the same way.

I say too, Mr. Speaker, that this tax is absolutely unfair so far as it concerns those who are non-residents of the city of Philadelphia. It is unfair as I have previously said, for the simple reason that there are thousands of Philadelphians who are earning their daily bread in Delaware County and other surrounding counties, who do not pay or contribute one cent of tax for the maintenance of the government in those counties.

Therefore, I ask the members of the House to vote for this amendment, and Mr. Speaker, I ask for a roll call.

Mr. RUSH. Mr. Speaker, I rise in suport of the amendment offered by my colleague from Delaware County, Mr. Bretherick, because the present wage tax which is levied in the City of Philadelphia is very unfair. They do collect a tax from residents of the counties surrounding Philadelphia County who in many cases do not do their work in Philadelphia. They do not earn their money in Philadelphia, they do not use the facilities of the city of Philadelphia, yet because they happen to work for some firm which has its headquarters in Philadelphia, where they have to report occasionally, they seek to have them pay a wage tax in Philadelphia. This reaches out not only into Delaware County but into Chester County and all the way into Berks County.

Therefore, I rise in support of the amendment offered by the gentleman from Delaware, Mr. Bretherick.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the amendments?

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. BRETHERICK and Mr. RUSH and were as follows:

So the question was determined in the negative and the amendments were not agreed to.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the section?

Mr. BRETHERICK. Mr. Speaker, I desire to offer the following amendment.

The amendment was read by the Clerk as follows:

Amend section 1, page 1, line 4, by inserting after the word "thereof" the words: "or elsewhere."

On the question,

Will the House agree to the amendment?

Mr. ROSENFELD. Mr. Speaker, I would like to interrogate the gentleman from Delaware, Mr. Bretherick.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Delaware permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. BRETHERICK. Mr. Speaker, I will.

Mr. ROSENFELD. Mr. Speaker, I desire to ask the gentleman from Delaware as to the purpose of this amendment.

Mr. BRETHERICK. The purpose of the amendment, Mr. Speaker, is to cure any question as to the effect of the bill as far as it effects non-residents of Philadelphia County. It will make the bill read that a wage or occupation tax may not be levied on anybody anywhere including the city of Philadelphia.

Mr. ROSENFELD. Mr. Speaker, does the gentleman feel that the measure as it now reads with this amendment will cover every person earning money within the territorial limits of the city of Philadelphia?

Mr. BRETHERICK. I do, Mr. Speaker, residents and non-residents.

Mr. ROSENFELD. Mr. Speaker, I will ask the membership of this House to endorse this amendment.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the amendment?

It was agreed to.

The second section, third section as amended and title were separately read and agreed to.

And said bill having been read at length the second time and agreed to as amended.

Ordered, To be transcribed for a third reading.

MOTION TO RECOMMIT

Mr. VOORHEES. Mr. Speaker, I move that this bill be re-referred to the committee on Cities of the First Class.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the motion?

Mr. ROSENFELD. Mr. Speaker, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Voorhees.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Philadelphia permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. VOORHEES. I will, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. ROSENFELD. Mr. Speaker, Will Mr. Voorhees please state what is the purpose in asking for a re-committal of this bill?

Mr. VOORHEES. Mr. Speaker, my purpose in asking for a re-committal of this bill is that the city of Philadelphia placed a wage tax after due consideration. The city of Philadelphia from the year of 1931 to the present time suffered a shrinkage in it's real-estate value of one billion dollars. That meant a loss to the tax payers of seventeen million dollars.

Now, this is a non-partisan measure. During the administration of Mayor Wilson, when the city needed some form of income to replace the shrinkage of real-estate a committee was appointed by the Mayor, and that committee investigated various forms of taxation that the city might use. They investigated the sales tax and found out the effect the sales tax would have on the city of Philadelphia. Philadelphia is in a vicinity where many of its people live outside of the city limits of Philadelphia. The sales tax had the effect of driving business out of the city. A large amount of the taxes that are collected in Philadelphia come from the central part of the city, and the central part of the city depends upon business, and the sales tax throws business outside of the city.

When the wage tax was offered as a means of taxing people who live outside of the city of Philadelphia, and who pay nothing towards the support of the city of Philadelphia, and taxing those people in order to receive this additional revenue.

We in the Legislature, without due consideration for the needs of the city of Philadelphia, now want to prohibit a measure that has been carefully studied by a non-partisian committee appointed by Mayor Wilson,—Mayor Wilson who some days said he was a Republican and the next day he was a Democrat. I do not think you can consider it a partisian measure at all, but it is a means of raising revenue to carry on the finances of the city of Philadelphia. I think we of the House should give the bill every consideration and return it to the committee and to be studied as to how it will effect the city's budget and how we are going to replace seventeen million dollars.

If the gentleman from Philadelphia will tell me how we can raise this money by some other method of taxation I will not ask that the bill be re-committed.

Mr. ROSENFELD. Mr. Speaker, I would like to inquire why the gentleman felt that the effective date should be January 1, 1942 if he didn't feel that this measure should be passed.

Mr. VOORHEES. Mr. Speaker, I think as a member of the House it is my duty to provide, in case the bill should be passed, to get as good a bill as can be had. Now, I was only providing in that amendment that the city budget for this year would not be thrown out; so that the necessary funds for carrying on the city government would not be disrupted.

Mr. ROSENFELD. Mr. Speaker, I would like to inquire as to the amount of indebtedness at the prestnt time of the city of Philadelphia.

Mr. VOORHEES. Mr. Speaker, the present indebtedness of the city of Philadelphia,—that is the net indebtedness is around $320,000,000. The gross indebtedness is over $500,000,000, with the provision of the sinking fund. If you subtract the sinking fund from the gross it leaves the net, and on that point I might say, Mr. Speaker, from a non-partisan Bureau of Research which has just printed a pamphlet that there is an excellent refunding opportunity. I won't read the whole thing, but the gist of it is that on October 27th next the $8,804,000 bond issue of four and one quarter per cent, fifteen to twenty year bonds can be recalled and refunded at a considerable saving to the city. This will take place on a number of bond issues and the city is now over the hump of the heavy tax burden to pay for these bonds. We are now in a place where we can refund the bonds and reduce our indebtedness and be in a good financial condition.

Mr. ROSENFELD. Mr. Speaker, I would like to know from the gentleman as to whether the wage tax ordinance in Philadelphia exempts present city bondholders from the payment of tax on the interest accruing to them.

Mr. VOORHEES. Will the gentleman repeat his question please, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. ROSENFELD. I would like to know, Mr. Speaker, as to whether the wage tax ordinance in Philadelphia excepts from its provisions city bondholders on interest or dividends accruing to them.

Mr. VOORHEES. The present wage tax ordinance, Mr. Speaker, provides that all money earned in the city of Philadelphia or by residents of the city of Philadelphia be taxable. It has nothing to do with money earned form bonds. That is taxed under the personal property tax.

Mr. ROSENFELD. Mr. Speaker, I wonder if the gentleman would be surprised if I told him that the bondholders in Philadelphia are not required to pay income tax on the dividends accruing to them from the bonds?

Mr. VOORHEES. What kind of an income tax, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. ROSENFELD. An income tax, Mr. Speaker, under the ordinance of Philadelphia.

Mr. VOORHEES. Mr. Speaker, as I understand interest on bonds is not an earned income; that is a tax on personal property at the rate of four mills by the city and four mills by the state.

Mr. ROSENFELD. Is the gentleman, Mr. Speaker, astonished to learn that others paying the four mills tax have to pay an income tax?

Mr. VOORHEES. I am surprised, Mr. Speaker, to learn that they are paying on unearned income, yes.

Mr. ROSENFELD. Will the gentleman also say that a part of the plight of the city of Philadelphia is due to the fact that we haye so many of these outstanding bonds?

Mr. VOORHEES. Mr. Speaker, the plight of the city of Philadelphia is due to the shrinkage of our real estate values, and due to the natural tendency of every city in the country to expand its area. Every city in the United States is suffering somewhat from the same condition. Our population is spreading to the valleys and hills, and that is due to the automobile. Formerly, the workman had to live near his place of employment. Today the automobile is taking them out fifty miles from the city, and the natural radius today for workers in any large city is fifty miles.

Mr. Speaker, in line with that, I have offered legislation here to try to correct the real causes of the budget trouble in Philadelphia, and I look at it in this way, in the first place the city of Philadelphia has a lot of real estate. There is a great deal of real estate frozen because of the fact that we cannot collect delinquent taxes and you cannot put them up for sale because nobody will bid on them. I have introduced two bills, one to allow delinquent tax property to go to sale and to give an absolute title at the sale, which will increase the amount of taxes collected, and therefore, will increase the income and make it possible to do away with the wage tax. I have also introduced a bill to extend the county of Philadelphia further out so that it will expand according to economic laws.

Mr. ROSENFELD. Mr. Speaker, I would like to inquire of Mr. Voorhees as to how long it will take the city of Philadelphia to see daylight with the continuance of the present city wage tax.

Mr. VOORHEES. Mr. Speaker, I think the city of Philadelphia should in the next few years be able, with the rise in value of real estate and with the greater income from personal property, to abolish the wage tax, but I cannot state a definite time. I don't think any one can; that depends on economic conditions.

Mr. ROSENFELD. Mr. Speaker, I rise to oppose the motion to recommit the bill. I can see no valid reason for recommittal at this time. I think Mr. Voorhees has given us every reason why this bill should passed as speedily as possible. It appears that the wage tax, which was at its original inception introduced as an emergency measure, will now continue for many years to come.

The plight of the city of Philadelphia is due to indebtedness that will continue for a long time. It has become a problem now with the city in its analysis and its solution we feel at this time that there is no necessity for continuing a tax of this sort, which was originally intended to be an emergency tax. I therefore ask the members of the House to vote down the amendment.

Mr. VOORHEES. Mr. Speaker, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Rosenfeld.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Rosenfeld, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. ROSENFELD Yes, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. VOORHEES. Mr. Speaker, may I ask the gentleman what substitute he has to offer to raise $17,000,000?

Mr. ROSENELD. Mr. Speaker, I am not here to solve the financial problems of the city of Philadelphia. However, I feel that there are many things that could be done in Philadelphia to reduce the amount of its present expenditures and indebtedness. I think there should be something done about tax exempt property. I think there should be a reduction in the payroll. I think there are many drones on the city payroll who have no right to be there, I feel as the city is presently being administered that big indebtedness will be continued for a long time, and that there is no definite answer to the condition at this time.

Mr. VOORHEES. Mr. Speaker, may I ask the gentleman how much can be saved on the payroll?

Mr. ROSENFELD. About a million dollars annually, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. VOORHEES. How can we raise the other sixteen million dollars, Mr. Speaker?

Mr. ROSENFELD. By taxing exempt properties, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. VOORHEES. How much can we raise from that source?

Mr. ROSENFELD. About nine or ten million dollars, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. VOORHEES. And how much is the total value of the tax exempt property in the city of Philadelphia, Mr. Speaker?

Mr. ROSENFELD. In the neighborhood of three hundred million dollars, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. VOORHEES. Mr. Speaker, I understand that the total value of tax exempt property in the city of Philadelphia is seventy million dollars. This includes churches, utility property, railroad beds and all property owned by the city and owned by the schools. To tax them would only be like taking money out of one pocket and putting it into another. I do not think we want to tax churches; I do not think we want to tax road beds of the railroads. There is some controversy as to whether we should tax the utilities. We had a great discourse on that by the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Holland, but we cannot raise much money, maybe a million dollars from a tax on property owned by the utility companies. This leaves fifteen million dollars.

Now, Mr. Speaker, I do not want to take too much of the time of the House on the problem of saving Philadelphia, but I think we have shown here that we are being asked to vote for a bill without being offered any substitutes. I think the purpose of the bill is to have Philadelphia papers headline: "Democratic Party Opposes Wage Tax." We are all opposed to the wage tax, in fact we are opposed to all taxes, but as long as we live we are going to have taxes, and it is just a question of what we are going to tax. If you are going to get a substitute for this tax, all right, but I think it is our duty either to support this or find something else, and that something else which they are to tax should not be something that is just as objectionable, in fact more so.

I ask that the bill be recommitted so that it can be given further study.

Mr. REUBEN E. COHEN. Mr. Speaker, I think in fairness to Philadelphia I should clear up two or three matters that were discussed on the floor of the House tonight. First of all the statement was made by the gentleman on the other side of the House that the sales tax was passed and found wanting. Now we have the wage tax on the books and we do not know what to do about it because they now suggest that we withhold action until January 1, 1942.

There are those of us in this House, who prior to the passage of the sales tax told the city of Philadelphia, and we said it in many ways, told it on the street corners that they should not pass it, but City Council passed it, but they soon got rid of it because it was no good and nobody liked it. Then they talked about the wage tax. We then went back to the same place, the street corners, and talked to these people and came to the conclusion that the wage tax was an iniquitous tax, that it ought not to have been passed, but they could not let go; they had hold of a tiger by the tail and could not let go because of the necessity for further income. They now come to the conclusion that by January 1, 1942 the millenium will have been reached.

The gentleman asked us what we can do to offer a substitute. Why did the City Council of Philadelphia some time ago when the Harr-White Plan was offered, to show how the bonded indebtedness might be reduced, that is the interest be reduced, why didn't they adopt that plan or something like it instead of the wage tax to pull them out of that dilemma? On debate the gentleman tells this House that Philadelphia is in a bad way because real estate values have declined.

Just to remind everybody, we have some fourteen to twenty million dollars invested in art museums; we have some twenty to thirty million dollars sunk in subways. We have some subways running for about four blocks and nobody knows whether you are going or coming. And we cannot find money for housing. That is where the money has been wasted in Philadelphia. Don't blame it on declining real estate values, but put it where it belongs. Let every proposition stand on its own two feet. If those things are taken into consideration I think ways will be found for the Philadelphia City Council or the City Fathers to work out their problem themselves rather than come up here crying and saying that the iniquitous wage tax shall remain until we can find some other measures to make up these millions.

Mr. LEVY. Mr. Speaker, in answer to the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Voorhees, I only want to explain to him that with the effective date of the act being January 1, 1942, certainly the City Council between the time of the closing of this session of Legislature, if the bill is enacted, and January 1, 1942, should be able to find some other method of taxation.

I only want to say to the gentleman from Philadelphia, that in all his answers to the interrogation he never gave one reason why this iniquitious tax, which everybody thinks is of such a nature, should not be repealed. The gentleman from Philadelphia referred to the diminishing real estate values. We have diminishing real estate values not only in Philadelphia but in every county and in every community of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, yet there are not many counties in Pennsylvania that have a wage tax. I might say to the gentleman from Philadelphia that in 1935 this Legislature, the House being Democratic and the Senate being Republican, passed an act which gave the people the right to vote on a graduated income tax for the state of Pennsylvania. That act provided for a referendum to be placed before the people of Pennsylvania on the question of whether or not there should be a graduated income tax. I say to the gentleman from Philadelphia if the state of Pennsylvania had a graduated income tax ————

POINT OF ORDER

Mr. VOORHEES. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a point of order.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman from Philadelphia will state his point of order.

Mr. VOORHEES. Mr. Speaker, the graduated income tax has nothing to do with the budget in Philadelphia. I think the gentleman is off the subject.

The SPEAKER. I think the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Voorhees, will realize that the Chair has given great latitude in discussing this bill. The gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Voorhees discussed other bills while debating this particular bill.

The question before the House is on the motion to recommit. However the Chair is of the opinion that the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Levy, should have the same latitude in debate as the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Voorhees, had during his discussion. The Chair will request the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Levy, to please try to confine himself to the question before the House.

Mr. LEVY. I will, Mr. Speaker. In answer to the gentleman from Philadelphia, let me remind him that in the 1935 session, and I believe this is very relevant to the matter, in view of the fact that the gentleman from Philadelphia wants to know what other kind of tax the City Fathers can place upon the backs of the people of Philadelphia, I might remind him that in 1935 a Democratic House and a Republican Senate passed an act permitting the people of Pennsylvania to have a referendum calling for a graduated income tax. That bill passed in both House and Senate and the question was submitted to the people. Mr. Speaker, following the enactment of the bill in the 1935 session a referendum was placed before the people in the primary in 1937, at which time the Republican party in Philadelphia gave orders to their district precinct leaders to knife the referendum on the graduated income tax. It is these same politicians who today come into this House and ask to be alleviated from the repeal of this unfair act. You heard the gentleman from Delaware say it was an unfair and inequitable tax. He says it is unfair to the people of the County of Delaware, and then I say in the same breath it is unfair to the people of the City of Philadelphia, and, Mr. Speaker, I ask the House to vote against this recommittal.

Mr. VOORHEES. Mr. Speaker, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Levy.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Philadelphia permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. LEVY. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. VOORHEES. Mr. Speaker, what effect on the city of Philadelphia, as far as income is concerned, would the passage of the graduated income tax amendment have?

Mr. LEVY. In answer to the gentleman from Philadelphia, I believe I explained that. If the graduated income tax referendum had been approved by the people of the Commonwealth, and had not the Republican organization of Philadelphia knifed the referendum, the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania would have been in possession of sufficient funds to take care of the mental hospital in Philadelphia and many other functions of the city and county of Philadelphia, and the situation which the city of Philadelphia now finds itself in might have been alleviated before this. Certainly it would not have required the passage of a wage tax in Philadelphia two years ago.

Mr. VOORHEES. Mr. Speaker, how much would be saved to the city of Philadelphia if the State took over the mental institutions?

Mr. LEVY. Mr. Speaker, I do not have the figures at hand. I will ask the gentleman from Philadelphia to be fair. The gentleman realizes that we will have the figures on our desk when these bills come up for consideration, and I will be only too glad to help him with his problem. I only mentioned the mental institution in Philadelphia as an example of one of the savings which could have been affected. There are many others.

Mr. VOORHEES. Mr. Speaker, how much is there in the budget to-day to take care of the mental institution in Philadelphia?

Mr. LEVY. Mr. Speaker, in the budget to-day I understand there is nothing, which is very unfortunate for the mentally ill in Philadelphia.

Mr. VOORHEES. Mr. Speaker, if there is nothing in the budget to-day and the State has already taken care of the mental institutions, we do not save any of the seventeen million dollars we are trying to raise. Mr. Levy has not offered any method to raise this amount of money.

Now, Mr. Speaker, I would like to interrogate the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Reuben E. Cohen.

Mr. LEVY. Mr. Speaker, before the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Voorhees, interrogates the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Reuben E. Cohen, I want to answer a statement he made which I think should be answered.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Voorhees, yield?

Mr. VOORHEES. I will, Mr. Speaker.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman from Philadelphia Mr. Levy will proceed.

Mr. LEVY. Mr. Speaker, I think the answer of the gentleman from Philadelphia only goes to prove more conclusively that this recommittal motion should be defeated. The gentleman stated just a moment ago that there is no item in the budget in Philadelphia to take care of the mental hospital in Philadelphia. I only want to say that that is just another inconsistency on the part of the city fathers of Philadelphia, because every man in this House knows that the leaders of the Republican party in the House are about to introduce or have introduced to-night a measure to further postpone State supervision of mental institutions.

Now, we have an anomolous situation in Philadelphia where the Republican leadership in the state along with the Governor of the Commonwealth, says, "No, we are going to postpone action on all mental hospitals," and at the same time the City Fathers of Philadelphia have made no provision in their budget for such institutions for this year to take care of the mentally ill. I think that again is one more conclusive argument why this motion should be defeated.

Mr. VOORHEES. Mr. Speaker, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Reuben Cohen.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Cohen, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. REUBEN E. COHEN. I will Mr. Speaker.

Mr. VOORHEES. Mr. Speaker, how much would be saved from the so called Harr-White plan to refund the city bonds.

Mr. REUBEN E. COHEN. Mr. Speaker, the figures are not in my possession and I can speak only from recollection, but at the time the issue was first made public the estimates began rather modestly and then began to take on greater proportions. I think, Mr. Speaker, all in all, if the Harr-White Plan in detail were put into effect it would bring about a savings of the sum of one hundred and thirty-six million dollars.

Mr. VOORHEES. Mr. Speaker, what does this plan depend on?

Mr. REUBEN E. COHEN. Mr. Speaker, the plan depends upon the city council and the City Fathers in Philadelphia having guts enough to put the plan into effect.

Mr. VOORHEES. Mr. Speaker, is there anything else necessary to put the plan into effect?

Mr. REUBEN E. COHEN. Yes, Mr. Speaker, there is something else very necessary, and that is to have a Democratic City administration put the plan through.

Mr. VOORHEES. Mr. Speaker, if the Harr-White plan were put into effect the city would save in the next fifty years the sum of twenty-six million dollars ———

Mr. RUEBEN E. COHEN. Mr. Speaker, I do not know that that is correct. I do not have the figures before me, or am I now being interrogated?

Mr. VOORHEES. No, that is all. Mr. Speaker, the plan depends on one big "If". If the people who own the bonds that are now paying five and one quarter percent interest would be kind enough to bring those bonds onto the counter and allow the city to re-issue them into other bonds paying a lower rate of interest, then the plan could be put into effect. However, I do not believe we will find people with those bonds that pay five percent interest who would be willing to accept bonds paying only two and one half percent interest. The only other plan is the plan that the city is now adopting, to refund the bonds at five percent as soon as they are called. That is what they are going to do on October 27th on the first issue of eight million dollars.

Mr. Speaker we have spent a great deal of time on this question and I think we have proven pretty well that the sponsor of this measure has not given it proper study. I think we have proved pretty well that we have no way of replacing this sum of seventeen million dollars which this bill takes away from the city of Philadelphia. I do not think it is proper for the House membership to pass such a bill without further study. I am not asking the members to defeat the bill, but I am asking the Members of the House to recommit this bill to the proper committee for further study so that we can have a proper substitute for the bill, and then after we have the substitute re-report the bill. I ask the members of the House to vote "aye".

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the motion?

It was not agreed to.

L. 932) entitled "An act relating to cities of the third class and amending revising and consolidating the law relating thereto" by fixing the minimum salaries or compensation for paid firemen and paid employes of the fire department in such cities

The first section was read.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the section?

MOTION TO RECOMMIT

Mr. AUKER. Mr. Speaker, I move that this bill be recommitted to the Committee on Third Class Cities for the purpose of a public hearing.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the motion?

Mr. AUKER. Mr. Speaker, in speaking for this motion and asking my colleagues of the House to support it, I am only going to talk a few minutes.

First of all, I say and firmly believe that majority of the Members of the House think as a matter of good principal, as a matter of good government, it is wrong for us Members to come here to Harrisburg and pass bills imposing duties and financial obligations on the people back home and then say to the people back home, "Well, we told you what to do, now you people go ahead and raise the money to do it." The boroughs and townships and cities outside of Philadelphia have only one place to raise money and that is by a tax on real estate. I have been more or less a student of Pennsylvania Legislative history for some years, and to the best of my memory I never have known of an occasion where this House passed any bill to relieve real estate taxes in the boroughs and cities of this state. Now, we are asked again to pass a bill which will impose additional obligations upon various municipalities, and especially the third class cities.

I had a talk with the firemen back home in Altoona last Monday. They asked me to support this bill. I said to them, "Where are you going to get the money"? They said," It can come out of the general budget of the people of Altoona." I said, "Where do the people of Altoona get their money"? They said, "By a tax on real estate." I said, "Then you are going to levy an additional tax on real estate". They said, "No, you can get it out of the general finances, it won't need any additional tax." I said to them," If you can show me that at a public hearing I probably will withdraw my objection to this bill". They said they would be only too glad to try to do it. That is the reason I am asking that this bill be recommitted to the Committee on Third Class Cities for the purpose of a public hearing.

As a matter of general principle I do not think we should impose financial obligations on the people back home without giving them the means or furnishing them with the money to pay for that burden and obligation. Second, if we do do that, if we do pass such a measure here, adding additional burdens to the municipalities back home, then most certainly I do not think we ought to do it, and I say emphatically we ought not to do it until those municipalities have a chance to show at a public hearing that it is going to materially affect the finances of their municipalities.

I respectfully ask the Members of the House to support this motion to recommit this bill to the Committee on Third Class Cities for a public hearing in order that the third class cities and other municipalities interested may have a chance to be heard and state their position on these bills.

Mr. HEATHERINGTON. Mr. Speaker, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Blair, Mr. Auker.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Blair permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. AUKER. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. HEATHERINGTON. Mr. Speaker, does the gentleman from Blair know when this bill was presented?

Mr. AUKER. Mr. Speaker, I can tell the gentleman in a minute by looking at the date of it.

Mr. HEATHERINGTON. Never mind, I will tell the gentleman. It was March 11th. This bill, Mr. Speaker, in my opinion deals with the forgotten man in Pennsylvania. I will agree with the gentleman from Blair that quite a few people say they should not get a raise, but when the Mayor of any third class city or the City Council, have any pet friends, whose salaries they want to raise, they do it without an act of the Legislature.

Furthermore, Mr. Speaker, I have had no request, and I do not think the Chairman of the Committee on Third Class Cities has had any request for a public hearing. I personally think, along with quite a few other Members of the House, that the firemen are underpaid. This motion of Mr. Auker in my opinion is only made for the purpose of delaying the bill. In most of your third class cities, the only time they think the firemen should get a raise is after there has been a fire in which the roof falls in and kills eight or ten or twelve firemen.

Mr. AUKER. Mr. Speaker, in answer to the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Heatherington, regarding a public hearing, I desire at this time in support of my motion to read a letter which I received in the mail today. I have no doubt that other members of the House have received the same letter. The letter is from W. E. Greenwood, President of the League of Cities of the Third Class in Pennsylvania, and is addressed to me. It reads as follows:

"By reason of the fact that the writer was assured that he was going to have an opportunity to personally discuss with the Committee on Cities of the Third Class legislation affecting such cities, and inasmuch as the Chairman of the Committee stated publicly at a meeting in Easton that the writer would be asked to appear before the Committee on legislation therein pending, we did not make any statement to the members of the Committee independently as to the cost imposed upon the cities by House Bill No. 751, which was reported out today, and which will, undoubtedly, pass first reading tomorrow.

"On behalf of the Cities of the Third Class I desire to protest against this bill by reason of the expense entailed and for the further reason that the determination of compensation to be paid to firemen and policemen is a matter which should be left solely to the municipal authorities of the respective communities. I, herewith, enclose a statement showing the number of firemen, present salaries, and the amount of increase in cost to the several cities of the state having paid fire departments or paid employees in the fire department occasioned by this bill.

"I would respectfully request that this bill be returned to Committee for further consideration and that I be given an opportunity on behalf of the Cities of the Third Class to appear before this Committee personally and present our reasons why this bill should not be passed.

"I am not at this time asking for a public hearing, but in view of the statements that have been made to me by the various members of the Committee as to my being given an opportunity to appear before the Committee, I am most earnestly requesting that the bill be recommitted for the purpose of hearing me personally on this matter.

Very truly yours,

W. E. GREENWOOD
President

The bill was presented on March 11th and was not reported out until last week, and in view of the movement of other bills in this House, and the way they have been delayed, I think this bill has been moving along very, very rapidly. The bill starts out with a minimum salary of fourteen hundred dollars, and from then it adds one hundred dollars every year for seven years until it reaches the sum of twenty-one hundred dollars. This salary schedule shows that in the majority of the cities, the city firemen are now receiving sixteen, seventeen or eighteen hundred dollars on an average. I say again that the cities and the municipalities should have a chance at a public hearing to present their views on this matter.

I am sorry that the gentleman from Allegheny questioned my sincerity when I related the conversation I had with the firemen of my city. I have every respect in the world for firemen, I am their friend and always have been. I have told them constantly that I could not vote for any legislation here that would impose an additional burden on real estate, that it was up to them to show me, and I think it is up to them to show all of us that this bill is not going to impose an additional financial obligation or an additional tax on real estate. We do not have any business coming down here levying a heavier tax on real estate, but if the gentleman from Allegheny wishes to take responsibility, then let him answer to the people next Fall.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the motion?

The SPEAKER. The Chair at this time presents the Hon. John Sparkman, Congressman from the Eighth District of Alabama, who is the Speaker's guest tonight.

ADDRESS BY HON. JOHN SPARKMAN.

Mr. SPARKMAN. Mr. Speaker, and gentlemen of the Legislature of Pennsylvania, I would have a terrible nerve if I dared now to take a minute of your time to speak to you as the Speaker has so kindly suggested. I do want to say however that it has been a very great privilege to me to sit here tonight and watch you in your work. I believe I have learned some tricks that we might very well use down in Washington in the House of Representatives.

Of course, I was pleased to see that you have tossed across the aisles about the same things we do down in Washington. It has been a very great pleasure to see you at work, and I deem it especially a great pleasure to have been here on this occasion. I thank you.

SENATE

TUESDAY, April 15, 1941

The Senate met at 12:30 o'clock p. m.

The PRESIDENT (Lieutenant-Governor Samuel S. Lewis) in the Chair.

PRAYER

In the absence of the Chaplain the prayer was offered by the Senator from Berks, Rev. FRANK W. RUTH.

Almighty God, our Heavenly Father, we thank Thee that Thou hast given us the privilege to meet again today to do the work to which thou hast called us and we pray that Thy spirit will guide us that we may do those things that shall make for the greater happiness and contentment not only of the people of our state but of this world and this generation.

We pray that Thou wilt help us to understand that Thou hast put us here in the world, men to do men's jobs, and that we shall not blame Thee for the mistakes that we make.

May we have the power to see clearly, to understand Thy will and to do what our conscience and Thy Holy Spirit guide us to do to make this a better world. We ask it in Thy Holy Name, Amen.

JOURNAL APPROVED

The PRESIDENT. A quorum of the Senate being present the Clerk will read the Journal of the preceding session.

The Clerk proceeded to read the Journal of the preceding session, when, on motion of Mr. MALLERY and Mr. HEYBURN, the further reading was dispensed with, and the Journal was approved.

PERMISSION GRANTED TO READ COMMUNICATION INTO JOURNAL

Mr. HALUSKA. Mr. President, I ask permission to read into the Journal a letter I received this morning. It is very short.

THE PRESIDENT. Is there objection? The Chair hears none. The gentleman may proceed.

Mr. HALUSKA. Mr. President, I might say I have received hundreds of letters of the same type and I have not imposed upon this body by reading many letters into the record but I do think this letter deserves some consideration. The letter comes from Renovo, Pennsylvania, is dated April 14th, and is addressed to me and reads as follows:

"The liability clause in the Old Age assistance law requiring the recipient of Old Age assistance to transfer over to the Department of Public Assistance any claim to his property is one-sided and lopsided discrimination. It penalizes the owner of a home. It's the Nazi Hitler method of conquest.

"There are many people who do not own any property but they have received relief grants or assistance and still do. These same people did not sign any warrant to refund any assistance they receive. Therefore it's very logical the home owner has been taken for a ride by the Department of Public Assistance.

"The property owner, through years of sacrifice managed to acquire a small home and, by paying taxes helped to support the community. Many of these home owners have lived in the community the greater part of their life. Before being eligible for assistance the home owner, is required to hand over lock, stock and barrel the title and claim to his home. Immediately the birds of Prey (the Department of Public Assistance and copartner Robert J. Boltz) enter a $200,000 lien against the property regardless of the valuation of the property.

"If the Department of Public Assistance can justify the entering of a lien on the down and out home owner, then Nazi Hitler likely has taken a leaf from the Pennsylvania Public Assistance Law to justify his invasion, confiscation and crucifixion of the small defenseless nations of Europe. Dear Senator Haluska.

"Thank you for your interest in the small home owner I hope you will be successful in having the relief bond repealed.

Again I thank you,

JOHN F. KENNEY,
Renovo, Pa.

"You are at liberty to use this letter in any manner you see fit."

RESOLUTION DESIGNATING MAY 12, 1941, AS HOSPITAL DAY

He also informed the Senate that the House has concurred in Resolution from the Senate as follows:

In the Senate, April 2, 1941.

The hospitals of the Commonwealth are its safeguards and bulwarks against attacks by disease and accident upon the health, safety and well being of our people,

These well equipped fortresses of mercy with their modern equipment and efficient staffs of trained physicians, surgeons and nurses have reduced the toll of death within this Commonwealth and have brought relief and happiness to most of its citizens,

Those physicians and surgeons have given freely and generously of their services for the alleviation of suffering among those who otherwise could ill afford the cost of such aid;

Those who manage the necessary business and financial affairs of our hospitals likewise contribute valuable services in the interests of humanity,

Those nurses who tirelessly and carelessly lend their cheerful aid to the task of bringing relief and comfort to those inmates who are seeking a way back to life and health, are in turn, a major part in the united work of restoring health to the afflicted. They are true apostles of that great English woman Florence Nightingale who dedicated her life to the relief of the suffering and raised a menial task to an heroic profession,

It is as fitting and proper to observe and celebrate the achievements of a living institution as to observe and celebrate the glories of the past; therefore be it

Resolved (if the House concur) That in recognition of the work performed by the hospitals of the Commonwealth and the splendid achievements of their staffs of physicians, surgeons and nurses the Governor of the Commonwealth is hereby requested to issue his proclamation designating May twelfth, one thousand nine hundred and forty-one, the anniversary of the birth of Florence Nightingale, as Hospital Day as a tribute to the splendid service rendered the citizens of this Commonwealth by our hospitals and those responsible for their operation; and be it further

Resolved, That a copy of this resolution shall be immediately transmitted to his Excellency the Governor

INTERROGATION RELATIVE TO MOTION TO RECOMMIT SENATE BILL No. 130

Mr. CAVALCANTE. Mr. President, in line with the order of business we have before us I wish to call attention of the Chair to a motion appearing on page 412 of the Journal, which reads as follows:

MOTION TO RECOMMIT SENATE BILL NO. 130 TO COMMITTEE ON JUDICIARY GENERAL

Mr. CAVALCANTE. Mr. President, I move that Senate Bill No. 130 be recommitted to the Committee on Judiciary General for the specific purpose of an open and public hearing.

Mr. President, I think the remarks made for and against the bill ought to be stenographically transcribed and that, after a public and open hearing, the committee shall return the bill to this Senate witfh amendments or recommendations or both.

Mr. REED. Mr. President, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to and the bill was recommitted to the Committee on Judiciary General.

In line with this motion, Mr. President, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Walker, the chairman of the Committee on Judiciary General.

The PRESIDENT. Will the gentleman from Allegheny permit himself to be interrogated.

Mr. WALKER. I will, Mr. President. May I ask the gentleman from Fayette the page number to which he referred.

Mr. CAVALCANTE. Mr. President, the motion appears on page 412 of the Journal.

Mr. WALKER. Thank you.

Mr. CAVALCANTE. Mr. President, in line with the direction contained in this motion, is the gentleman from Allegheny as chairman of the Committee on Judiciary General ready to return Senate Bill No. 130 to the Senate?

Mr. WALKER. Mr. President, the answer to the interrogation is "no."

Mr. CAVALCANTE. Mr. President, I desire to further interrogate the gentleman from Allegheny.

The PRESIDENT. Will the gentleman from Allegheny permit himself to be further interrogated.

Mr. WALKER. I will, Mr. President.

Mr. CAVALCANTE. Is it the intention, Mr. President, to ever return Senate Bill No. 130 to the Senate, in line with the direction of that motion?

Mr. WALKER. Mr. President, I would like to say as far as the committee is concerned, under the present action of the committee, the answer is "no". If I may supplement my answer, may I suggest that the Legislative Journal shows the motion was agreed to and the bill was recommitted to the Committee on Judiciary General; however, Mr. President, there is nothing in the Journal to show there was any official action taken by the Senate to require Senate Bill No. 130 to be returned to the floor.

I might further say, Mr. President, if the Senate desires Senate Bill No. 130 to be returned to the floor, in violation of the action taken by the Committee on Judiciary General, the Senate has in its hands the proper parliamentary procedure to have the bill returned to the floor.

Mr. CAVALCANTE. Thank you, Mr. Walker. Now, Mr. President, there is no use quibbling over the language of the motion found on page 412 of the Journal and adopted by unanimous vote of the members of this body. It specifically contains a direction that after a public and open hearing the committee shall return the bill to this Senate, with amendments or recommendations or both, and then later on in the Journal, when the Chair questioned me concerning my intention, I specifically made it clear to the Chair and to all the members of this Senate that the purpose of the motion was to have this bill brought back to this Senate after a public hearing.

The bill was on third reading when recommitted and now, Mr. President, I know of no other parliamentary procedure by which the action of this body may be enforced other than to appeal to the authority conferred upon the Chair to enforce the action taken by this body.

APPEAL TO THE CHAIR

Mr. CAVALCANTE. Therefore, Mr. President, I now appeal to the authority of the Chair to summon the gentleman from Allegheny, the Chairman of the Committee on Judiciary General, to the Bar of the Senate and require him to deliver to this body Senate Bill No. 130, or be declared in contempt of the mandatory direction contained in the motion to which I have made reference.

The PRESIDENT. Is that a request, a point of order or a motion?

Mr. CAVALCANTE. Mr. President, it does not take a motion whenever an action taken appears on the records of this Senate, and the only thing lewt to be done is to enforce the action taken, and that authority is vested in the Chair and nobody else.

The PRESIDENT. The Chair is of the opinion he has no such authority and the proper redress would be a motion to discharge the Committee on Judiciary General from further consideration of the bill.

Mr. WALKER. Mr. President, I would like to explain to the members of the Senate—I feel they are entitled to an explanation—my legislative experience has been so limited, but I was told when I first had the opportunity of becoming a member of this body, that what went on in the committee meetings was of a confidential nature, not that we have anything to hide from our beloved public—but because of the fact that a frank and open expression in committee meetings was necessary and that a confidential discussion was always looked forward to in committee meetings and what went on in a committee meeting was entirely the business of the committee and not of the public.

I was quite surprised to find in the newspapers a full and complete account of what occurred in the meeting of the Committee on Judiciary General when Senate Bill No. 130 was considered by that committee. The names of the members of the Senate who voted to report the bill out of committee were listed and those who voted against reporting it out of committee were listed. It was unfortunate for the sponsor of the bill that more members voted to postpone action on the bill than voted to report it out and according to my understanding of parliamentary procedure, when a majority of the members of a committee voted against reporting a bill out of committee, the bill stays in the committee.

Mr. President, if the gentleman from Fayette is not satisfied with the action of the committee he is a member of that committee, he was present at the meeting and he knew who voted for and against it.

There were no newspaper men present and I know, Mr. President, that I as Chairman of the committee did not issue that statement to the press. I would suggest to the gentleman from Fayette that if the action taken by the Committee on Judiciary General does not meet with his approval, he can make a motion to discharge the committee and the members of the Senate can do then as they see fit.

Mr. President, if the Senate directs the Committee on Judiciary General to report the bill back out on the floor, the committee will do so.

As to calling the Chairman of the Committee on Judiciary General before the Bar of the Senate to undergo a public or private spanking, through any feeling or whim or caprice of one of the members of the committee, that is an authority I would certainly challenge. The gentleman from Fayette has his parliamentary recourse if he cares to avail himself of it. A majority of the committee voted to keep the bill in committee and until the committee changes its mind that is where the bill will stay.

Mr. CAVALCANTE. Mr. President, in answer to the statement of my colleague from Allegheny, Mr. Walker, I wish to inform him I am not satisfied with the conduct of the Chairman of the Committee on Judiciary General and that his reflection that I betrayed any confidence of that committee will be properly answered next week. I do not wish to take any further time of this Senate on this talk, but I assure the gentleman from Allegheny and the members of this Senate, and I trust they will offer no objections, that next week I shall give the gentleman from Allegheny an appropriate answer.

QUESTION OF PERSONAL PRIVILEGE

Mr. MILLER. Mr. President, I rise on a question of personal privilege.

The PRESIDENT. The gentleman from Luzerne will state his question of personal privilege.

Mr. MILLER. Mr. President, as I arose this morning and viewed from my window this glorious day, giving an early promise of spring, which also gives hope of an early adjournment, my thoughts went out to those fellow sportsmen who at this very hour are now whipping the streams in this great recreational Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, and, being privileged to breakfast with my distinguished colleague from Butler, Senator Carr, and fully cognizant of his ability as a writer of poetry, I suggested to the gentleman from Butler that I would appreciate very much if he would place in poetry an appropriate verse which I would read before this Senate.

So with that thought in mind, Mr. President, and in order to convey the thoughts of this Senate to our fellow sportsmen now in the field, I desire to read this piece of poetry which I take no credit whatsoever for writing but do take credit as being the instigator. The poem is captioned:

"ALAS AND ALACK—ALACK AND ALAS," and is as follows:

This is the day that the Lord hath made
And which we have set aside,
When the men of the state with rod and bait
Take the trout for a one-way ride.
With line and hook to his favorite nook
Each fisherman goes with joy,
We sweat and strain with body and brain
And problems of state annoy.

For weeks we have worked,
Some say we have shirked
The tasks that are ours to do,
But now we must stay,
While they hie away,
It's sad but it's all too true.

Oh, for a day on the open stream
Free from the cares of state;
Oh, to be there without a care
Where the finny tribes await.
But no, Alas, this day must pass
And we must labor and sweat;
But not next year, just have no fear,
We'll be there in our boots, you bet!

QUESTION OF PARLIAMENTARY INQUIRY

Mr. CAVALCANTE. Mr. President, I rise to a question of parliamentary inquiry or information, whichever the Chair may desire.

The PRESIDENT. The gentleman from Fayette will state his question.

Mr. CAVALCANTE. Mr. President, last night, I think it was around midnight, I read in one of the papers that a former member of this Senate, the Honorable Alonzo S. Batchelor, had departed this life and I wondered whether there is any word on that subject which has been sent to this body.

The PRESIDENT. Is any Senator able to furnish the Senator from Fayette with the information desired?

Mr. CAVALCANTE. I might say it was in the papers last night, I read it last night, and I know it was definitely stated he had been a member of this body and that he had died, and I just wondered whether anybody knew anything about it and whether some appropriate action might be taken by this body, as we have in cases of this kind in the past.

The PRESIDENT. Apparently no member of the Senate has had any notice, but the Chair is certain proper action and consideration will be given.

Mr. McQUIDDY. Mr. President, for the information of the gentleman from Fayette, I might state there is an appropriate resolution being prepared, which will be submitted to the Senate at this session.

REPORT FROM COMMITTEE

Mr. LETZLER. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent to make report from committee at this time.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

Which was committed to the Committee on Highways.

Mr. RUTH. Mr. President, in presenting to the Chair a bill it is necessary for me to make a short statement. A few weeks ago a schoolmen's meeting was held at the University of Pennsylvania when the two bills I introduced, Senate Bill No. 167 and Senate Bill No. 168, relating to the Superintendent of Public Instruction and the State Council of Education were under discussion.

This group which discussed these bills was comprised of practically all branches of education and the public in the State of Pennsylvania, school directors and teachers, teachers' colleges, county superintendents of public education, chambers of commerce, child welfare groups and women's clubs.

I might say, Mr. President, this bill embodies the conclusion reached by that panel of discussion. Therefore, Mr. President, in presenting to the Chair this bill I would request that the Committee on Education drop from further consideration Senate Bill No. 167 and Senate Bill No. 168. The bill I am now introducing is to take the place of those two bills.

Which was committed to the Committee on Education.

MEMORIALIZING CONGRESS TO REPEAL SOCIAL SECURITY ACT AS AMENDED AUGUST 10, 1939

Mr. HEYBURN offered the following resolution which was twice read, and referred to the Committee on Federal Relations.

In the Senate, April 15, 1941.

Whereas, The Federal Government recognized in the original Social Security Act that the administration of unemployment compensation laws is properly a function of the various states and accordingly designed the act as an inducement to the adoption of the program by the states themselves; and

Whereas, The funds received from the Federal Government for the expenses of administering the state acts have in the first instance been taken from employers of the states themselves; and

Whereas, The Social Security Act has prior to and since its amendment August 10, 1939, required the state acts to meet a prescribed standard as a condition to the eligibility of such states for the refund of their expenses of administration; and

Whereas, By amendment of August 10, 1939, clauses (8) and (9) were added to subsection (a) of section 303 requiring as further conditions to the refund of such administrative expenses, the following:

"(8) Effective July 1, 1941, the expenditure of all moneys received pursuant to section 302 of this title solely for the purpose and in the amounts found necessary by the Board for the proper and efficient administration of such state law; and

"(9) Effective July 1, 1941, the replacement, within a reasonable time, of any moneys received pursuant to section 302 of this title, which, because of any action or contingency, have been lost or have been expended for purposes other than, or in amounts in excess of, those found necessary by the Board for the proper administration of such state law;" and

Whereas, Said clauses (8) and (9) are unnecessary for the reason that ample protection is afforded the interests of the Federal Government by the existing requirement for approval and certification of state laws by the Federal Social Security Board; and

Whereas, Said clauses are improper for the reason that they attempt to give the Federal Government power to encroach upon the domain of the states in determining their own questions of procedure and administration in which, because of geographical locations, peculiar governmental procedures and processes, and other differentials, there must necessarily exist wide variations among the several states which cannot be standardized, nor can a particular state efficiently adopt a procedure in regard to one of its functions which would be out of harmony with its general practices; and

Whereas, Clause (9) makes possible by a single act of the Federal Social Security Board the upsetting of established precedents existing under present state unemployment compensation laws already approved and accepted by the Federal Board and requiring the repayment of funds heretofore legally expended, nor does said clause have any limitation either as to the scope of the inquiry or as to the time in which demand for repayment must be made; and

Whereas, The enforcement of said clauses will have the effect of giving the Federal Government complete and arbitrary control over the administration of the unemployment compensation program which the Federal Act itself recognizes as a proper function of the states themselves; and

Whereas, If said clauses are allowed to become effective they will grant to the Federal Government control of the administration of any state or local law wherein the benefit of Federal funds is or may be obtained; therefore be it

Resolved (if the House concur), That the General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania hereby respectfully memorialize and petition the President of the United States and the Congress of the United States to cause said clauses (8) and (9) of subsection (a) of section 303, of the Social Security Act, as amended August 10, 1939, to be repealed prior to its effective date; and be it further

Resolved, That copies of this resolution be immediately transmitted to the President of the United States and to each Senator and Representative in Congress from the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania.

Section 6 All acts or parts of acts inconsistent herewith are hereby repealed

Section 7 The provisions of this act shall become effective immediately upon final enactment

And said bill having been read at length the third time, and the amendments made thereto having been printed as required by the Constitution,

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the bill?

Mr. COX. Mr. President, I admired the great ease with which Senate Bill No. 269 sailed down the legislative stream, scarcely causing a ripple in its mirror of complacency and I look back with strange amazement to the tempestuous course with which Senate Bill No. 125 sailed down the same legislative stream last week.

It seems to me the thing to be desired is some remedy which will not make it necessary for taxing authorities to sell a property because of the failure of its owner to pay its taxes. This is another situation of what we do with properties on which there are municipal liens and tax liens and it is a very burdensome one and the problem I think would well merit the serious consideration of the Joint Government Commission.

I know from experience as a lawyer, Mr. President, we have great difficulty in attempting to collect on properties to be sold for taxes. For instance, if a school district sells a property for taxes of course it takes it subject to the tax liens of the county and also the municipality.

I can see no practical benefit in this bill. It imposes a burden on the municipality which purchases the property. Although the terms of the bill itself do not make it mandatory for the taxing authority that sells the property to grant this relief over five annual installments of twenty per cent, yet in practice it does make it mandatory.

We all know, Mr. President, the political import of such a situation and the argument which was used against Senate Bill No. 125 I believe applies to this bill very nicely. You will recall that one of the difficulties, in order to secure a sufficient vote to pass Senate Bill No. 125, was one of the requirements which made it necessary for the taxing authority to refuse the provisions of the bill by having a meeting and so publicly declaring its intent, but if you pass this bill, you are making it mandatory on the taxing authorities to sell a property for payment and that it has to grant this relief in every instance.

Mr. President, I oppose this bill and intend to vote against it.

Mr. MILLER. Mr. President, it is not my purpose to extend this argument, because as the sponsor of this bill I feel it is a very good bill.

If you will recall, at the time it was introduced, I made the statement on the floor of this Senate that in my County of Luzerne there were eleven thousand properties now in the hands of county commissioners received through tax sales. In many of these instances these properties represent sentiment to a great degree. What I am trying to state is that these properties have been handed down from parents to sons and, through no fault of their own, the sons have been unable to keep up the taxes, and therefore these properties were sold.

As I interpret this bill, and I trust my friends in this body will interpret it as I do, there is nothing political in the bill. It simply makes possible the redemption of those properties by paying actual costs as set up by the court, and taking advantage of the twenty per cent deferment plan that is now on the statute books. I think under the present set up, whereby many property owners who have lost their homes, are now employed, and I think they will welcome the opportunity to again regain possession of their homes.

Mr. President, there is one more feature that I think is advisable to consider and that is the point that while those properties rest in the hands of the county commissioners, there are no taxes derived therefrom and the minute these properties revert back to their original owners, the taxing authorities are again privileged to tax them, in the hope it will help them maintain the government of the community.

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, I desire to interrogate the sponsor of this bill.

The PRESIDENT. Will the gentleman from Luzerne permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. MILLER. I will, Mr. President.

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, I am not sure of myself on this bill. As I understand it, the properties could have been taken over by the commissioners at a commissioner's sale or treasurer's sale four or five years ago.

Mr. MILLER. Mr. President, for the information of the gentleman from Westmoreland, I think the bill includes that situation, yes.

Mr. DENT. And then now, Mr. President, a person can come in after the property has been taken over and the amounts assessed against the property for back taxes, penalties, interest and so forth are frozen, naturally, at the amount that the commissioners bid the property in.

Now, under this bill, although there has been no added penalty over the five or four year period that the property has rested in the hands of the commissioners, a person can come in and redeem his property by paying one-fifth of the total amount assessed against it as owing to the counties and the various municipalities, is that right?

Mr. MILLER. That is correct, Mr. President, I believe.

Mr. DENT. What I am trying to get at is this, Mr: President: we refused last week to allow persons now holding their properties, before the tax sale takes place, to save the property by paying twenty per cent of the delinquent taxes by abatement and yet we rush in now and pass a bill through, that after they have lost their property we give them the same privilege that we denied them in Senate Bill No. 125.

Mr. President, I do not want to vote against this bill but I must say I am not sure on certain points and if the gentleman from Luzerne will allow the bill to go over in its order until tomorrow I am sure I will be ready to vote on it and some of my colleagues who do not want to vote on it now in the present situation I think will be ready by that time to vote for it. If the gentleman from Luzerne will consent to the bill going over in its order until tomorrow I assure him I will cooperate with him in final action on the bill.

Mr. MILLER. Mr. President, I will say I have always found the gentleman from Westmoreland very ready to cooperate and I will certainly accede to his request and allow the bill to go over in its order.

Mr. DENT. Thank you kindly.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. WADE. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent to make a statement at this time.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection? The Chair hears none. The gentleman from Cumberland may proceed.

Mr. President and Members of the Senate:

Because my collegaue, the Senator from Philadelphia, Mr. Shapiro, last week in a long and prepared address to this body laid the groundwork for an attack which I believe goes to the very fundamentals of our American institutions and because this attack was directly against one branch of a business in which I am engaged, which business, I believe, is conducting its affairs in general, along sound and intelligent lines and is in no sense anti-social, I ask your indulgence for a short time in making some observations and in pointing out the fallacies and misrepresentation contained in his address.

I regret exceedingly the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Shapiro, is not present here today. I looked forward to his being here today so he could have heard this statement. I would have deferred making this statement until tomorrow, but I am informed he will not be here this week on account of business. If it was on account of sickness I would be inclined to wait. I have therefore this morning by special delivery mail sent a copy of this statement to the Senator in Philadelphia.

For the last few years, those in this country who believe in the American system of free enterprise have observed with much concern the tendency on the part of a vocal and energetic radical minority to fundamentally change our way of life in these United States. We have observed the left wing radicals in Washington and elsewhere advocating the entry of government into various fields of private enterprise. We have recognized the desire of the so-called fellow travellers to emulate the totalitarian and communistic economic systems which have grown up in Europe. Hardly any branch of private enterprise or democratic institution has escaped their notice.

During the last year or so, the business of insurance has been receiving their attention. It appears that a definite plan has been adopted seeking the eventual and complete socialization of this field of private enterprise. Political meddlers want to bring this field within the control of public officeholders, and the spoils system. Last Monday night we discovered that the Senator from Philadelphia, Mr. Shapiro, has been selected by this left wing group to start the campaign in this state. Right here, so as to avoid any misapprehensions, it is well for you my colleagues to know that I am a life insurance agent and not in the Workman's Compensation field. And just one passing comment regarding this sister institution—While off the subject it is significant that American citizens only comprising 7% of the world's population, own 70% of the world's life insurance and I leave it to you to judge if we do not today hold in our hearts here in America 70% of the world's peace of mind, the world's comfort and confidence, 70 per cent of the world's economic contentment, and security, and 70% of the world's hope in the future. Is there a direct relation between these time-proven institutions and America's position which is now the envy of all the civilized world? The Senator and his wing of the Democratic Party would in one fell swoop transfer to the state a large branch of the insurance business, that of sixty-three different insurance companies in this particular line operating in this Commonwealth, paying taxes here, with their agents and their brokers living within our borders, and who are also taxpayers.

If there is any doubt in anyone's mind that Mr. Shapiro's proposal for a monopolistic State Workmen's Insurance Fund is merely part of the program of the radical and left wing groups in Washington, no further proof will be required than Madame Perkins's report, Bulletin No. 35A, issued early in 1940, in which she and her hand-picked committee, including many of her own employees in the Department of Labor at Washington, advocate for every state compulsory workmen's compensation insurance and an exclusive monopolistic State Fund. "These are not my figures", said Mr. Shapiro, and repeated, "These are not my figures" when accosted for his unwarranted attack by Senator H. I. Wilson on Tuesday, April 8. "Whose are they?" we are entitled to ask. "May I suggest that . . . Senator Shapiro merely voices the objectives of this group in and out of Pennsylvania, who assume that private ownership is per se anti-social and that sooner or later society in self-defense must take over all business and industry as a logical and unavoidable step in economic evolution.

That the advocacy of government insurance is not endorsed by the farseeing, loyal and patriotic Democrats of the nation is evidenced by the speech of Senator Joseph C. O'Mahoney, Democratic United States Senator from Wyoming, in his address before the American Bar Association in Philadelphia last year, wherein, in answer to the charge that he and his Temporary National Economic Committee were following the lead of Madame Perkins he made this statement, and I quote:

"Because of the persistency of the reports (that he was promoting a scheme of government competition in the insurance business) I venture once again to declare in the clearest and most emphatic terms that the Temporary National Economic Committee has never entertained any proposal . . . for the institution of any plan of government competition with any branch of insurance . . ."

Let us consider the specific charges which the Senator from Philadelphia made last Monday.

The Senator charges first, that the rate making procedure in Pennsylvania is fundamentally wrong, and represents what he describes as a gigantic conspiracy to defraud workmen and employers. In the words of a famous Democrat, "let's now look at the record."

The present method of arriving at Workmen's Compensation rates in Pennsylvania has been used since the inception of the Workmen's Compensation Law in this Commonwealth. These rates are initially proposed by a group of actuaries presided over by the state Insurance Commissioner and selected by the State Workmen's Insurance Fund and the companies who do business in Pennsylvania. These companies, by the way, bear the entire expense of the maintenance of this rating board, and this, keep in mind, is one of the necessary expenses of conducting their business.

These rates, thus proposed, when approved by the Insurance Commissioner, must be used by the State Fund and every company in fixing premiums. This is the universally accepted method of setting up rates for compensation insurance in the United States, viz—through the instrumentality of a rating board consisting of representatives of insurance companies, which board proposes rates for the approval or disapproval of the state supervisory authorities. The entire expense in all cases, as in Pennsylvania, is borne by the insurance companies.

There are numerous types of companies in the workmen's compensation insurance business in Pennsylvania. First, there are the straight stock companies, who have agents throughout the Commonwealth receiving service commissions from the business they acquire for their respective companies, and who retain for their stockholders profits which they make. Secondly, there are companies which, while stock companies, nevertheless provide for the return of excess premium to their policyholders, and which are known as participating stock companies. These companies pay back to their policyholders, not stockholders, all or part of what is left from their premium after the payment of their expenses and losses. Among these, it might be noted, is the Pennsylvania Manufacturers' Association Casualty Insurance Company, concerning which Senator Shapiro had much to say. There is a third group of companies which are strictly mutual companies, which have no stockholders and whose manner of doing business is well known to every member of this Senate. How then does the Rating Bureau proceed to arrive at the rates they will propose?

I am informed by the Insurance Department, and my investigation has confirmed, that every rate making body throughout the United States, including the one here in our own Commonwealth, has found after investigation that in order for a non-participating company to meet the losses it will sustain over the years, to pay service commissions of its agents and brokers who acquire and service its business, to pay its overhead, and to establish unquestionable financial stability, the rate must be set up so that 60% thereof is allocated for losses, and the remaining 40% for the cost of doing business, including taxes such as; income taxes, personal property taxes, tax on loans, capital stock taxes, State Corporate tax, federal corporate tax, real estate tax, social security tax, premium tax and all other taxes normal businesses are subjected to, and other acquisition costs. In other words, experience has shown that a stock company which pays its agents the usual service commission on the premiums it receives, pays its taxes and all other expenses, will require 40% of its premium for those purposes, and 60% for losses. The rating boards, therefore, after studying the loss experience in the various classes of industries, fix rates on this 60-40 basis, and that they have done for years in Pennsylvania as in all other states in the Union. Coal mines are on 66 2/3-33 1/3 basis. If the rates fixed over the years by this rating method were too high, we would find in examining the actual experience of all companies that their losses would not amount to 60% of their permiums. If, however, we should find that the losses have approximated that figure of 60% over the years, we must necessarily conclude that the rating methods are substantially correct. The loss experience in Pennsylvania is almost exactly this 60%.

Senator Shapiro picks out a certain five year period only, although there was available to him, as it was to me and is to anybody else who takes the trouble to inquire, the result of the operations of all the companies ever since the Act went into effect. These figures show that since the passage of the Workmen's Compensation law in Pennsylvania, there have been paid in to the various insurance companies, including the State Fund, in premiums, a total of $330.724,864, and that the losses incurred over that period amount to $186,023,364. This figure is practically 60% of the total premiums paid. It is inconceivable that a more accurate result would be humanly possible.

During the five year period chosen by Senator Shapiro, it is true that the average losses were slightly less than 60% of the premiums. It was for this very reason, I charge, that he deliberately chose that particular five year period. Parenthetically, you will also be interested in information I received from the Insurance Commissioner, who tells me that he furnished Mr. Shapiro at his request with figures for the five year period and included the same detail, as to the compensation experience in coal mining. These figures, however, he very conveniently omitted from his speech. You can draw your own conclusion as to why these were omitted. As everyone knows, it was during this period that the 1937 Workmen's Compensation Act was adopted, with its extensive changes in all the schedules. It is of course to be expected that in the adjustment of rates which was necessary to reflect these wide and unusual changes, the same accuracy could not immediately be obtained.

The 1937 Workmen's Compensation Act increased the benefits substantially 70%. Prior to that time, there had never been adopted amendments in any state which made changes amounting to more than 25% in the schedule of benefits in any one year and there was little experience on which to gauge the effect of such a drastic change. I repeat, therefore, in spite of the charges of the Senator from Philadelphia, that the record itself belies his statements, and that the rate making methods in Pennsylvania are as accurate as is possible.

Insurance of all kinds fundamentally was devised for and has always been an instrument to spread the risk over a group and also over a period of time as well and to furnish protection when calamity or disaster occurs, and for that reason . . .

The fairness of a rate in any kind of insurance can never be proven or disproven by the citation of the experience in one particular case, or in one given year. A man may take out a life insurance policy, pay three months' premium and die, and his beneficiary receives hundreds of times more than was paid into the company. Another man may insure his home and for sixty years pay the premium, and never have a fire. The proof of the reasonableness of any insurance rate, as everyone with common sense knows, is the experience over the years with a large number of risks. So much for his criticisms of methods of establishing rates here in Pennsylvania.

Senator Shapiro next complains of what he represents to be excessively high profits on the basis of these rates, established, he says, by conspiracy. He says on the one hand that the rates are too high and on the other hand that the State Fund is losing money on these rates. This argument answers itself. He shows by his figures that the non-participating stock companies, after paying their losses, their overhead, their taxes, their agents and brokers, their attorneys and meeting all the other expenses of their business, have remaining from their premiums only about 3 cents out of every dollar. This 3 cents he himself seems to admit represents no more than a reasonable profit to these companies. It is interesting to note that in order to show a net operating profit of even 3 cents he had to take the full five year period, as during two of those years these stock companies had an actual loss. Remember also that it was during this five year period that the loss ratio proved to be something less than the 60% average of the full years the law had been in operation. This would establish that during the entire period that these companies have been writing compensation insurance they must have had left considerably less than 3 cents out of each premium dollar, and everyone in the insurance business knows that this is true.

Now let's turn to the participating stock compensation companies. Let me say again that I am in the life insurance business and hold no brief for these companies. Senator Shapiro separates the Pennsylvania Manufacturer's Association Casualty Insurance Company from the other participating stock companies, and I might add that I have no interest or connection of any kind whatsoever with this company either. Remember, that we are now talking about participating stock companies, and Senator Shapiro has gone to great limits to compare the operating results of these companies with the 3 cent margin of the non-participating companies. Did all of you, as you heard him speak the other day, note that he never mentioned the amounts returned by the participating companies to their policyholders, he carefully and with obvious intent avoided this. It is hard for me to believe that an experienced member of the Senate of Pennsylvania would so deliberately, and apparently with malice, misrepresent a situation to the extent that Senator Shapiro did in failing to take into account in his figures, returns paid to the policyholders of the participating and mutual companies. I say here that if I am accused of making a $5.00 profit on a transaction when my accuser knows that the article I sold cost me $10.00 and that though I charged $15.00, I allowed the purchaser a $4.00 discount, that man is deliberately and maliciously attempting to mislead his hearers. Even a sixth grade school child knows that in that transaction the profit was $1.00 and not $5.00.

Examining the Senator's figures in the light of these facts and taking into account the amount actually returned to the policyholders, let's look at what the records in the Insurance Department show with reference to the Pennsylvania Manufacturers' Association Casualty Insurance Company, which the Senator took so much delight in mentioning by name. As a matter of fact, did he not label his entire talk as a political exploitation by mentioning names and a particular company. The records in the Insurance Department show that this company is a participating stock company, that its stockholders have no right under its charter, its by-laws, and its policy contracts, to ever receive at any time more than simple interest on the money actually put into the company by those stockholders. It cannot at any time have any profit whatever except this simple interest. All of its reserves are held for the benefit of its policyholders and injured only, and all of the premiums which it receives after taking care of its losses and expenses and necessary reserves, are returned to the policyholders who paid them. These records in the Insurance Department further establish that this company has received as premiums on Workmen's Compensation Insurance in the entire twenty-five years during which it has been in business approximately eighty million dollars. Of this amount, approximately twenty-one million dollars has been returned to the policyholders, so that the total net premiums actually paid to this company on Workmen's Compensation Insurance since it commenced business, amount to fifty-nine million dollars. You will find that during this period when it received fifty-nine million dollars net in premiums, it paid out in accident costs and operating expenses, including taxes (operating expenses the Senator says are the lowest of any company doing business in this state) sixty-two million dollars. In other words, instead of this company having made in twenty-five years huge profits amounting to, as the Senator says, "almost 45 cents on the dollar," it has actually paid out on this compensation business over two and one-half million dollars in excess of its premium receipts.

We of course understand that these charges were made with reference to this company in the hope of hurting the Republican Party. In other words, they were purely political. But it seems to me that political license does not go to the extent of permitting such deliberate falsehoods as are disclosed by this record. I would say that the Little New Deal in Pennsylvania will never return to power again in this Commonwealth by attempting to mislead the public to the extent that the Senator attempted in this address. The Senator paints a very sad picture of the plight of the unfortunate business men in this Commonwealth who have been misled into insuring their workmen's compensation with this particular company. I learned the other day that for many years the business which during his lifetime was operated by Senator Shapiro's father, and which is now operated by two of his brothers, is in this unfortunate class, for this business has carried its insurance in the Pennsylvania Manufacturers' Association Casualty Insurance Company for many years. Why?

It seems to me that the facts which I have brought to your attention pretty effectually dispose of Mr. Shapiro's whole unreasonable tirade. He, of course, as does Madame Perkins in Washington and all of her left wing associates, attempts to infer that the part of the premium returned to policyholders in fact belongs to the injured workmen. It is interesting to note, however, that a careful reading of his entire speech discloses that there is no charge made that the full schedule of benefits to which any injured man may be entitled under our law has not been paid by any of the companies. The situation, then, is simply this: If these schedules of benefits are not sufficiently liberal, if they do not adequately compensate the injured workman, they should be increased. But certainly, once they are established, the companies who insure this liability and the businessmen who pay it should not be ridiculed for keeping their premiums down to the lowest possible figure.

If an energetic agent is successful in acquiring for the stock company which he represents a certain risk, in which he is to make a service commission, is that a crime? On the other hand, if an employer prefers to carry his insurance with a participating company which does not have this acquisition cost, the laws of our state have always permitted it, and rightfully so. And if an employer, under the safeguards which the Legislature has set up, prefers to insure his own risk, while I, as an insurance agent, would prefer not to have him do it, I can see not the slightest reason why he should not be permitted to do so. That is the American way of free, competitive enterprise.

I had always understood that Senator Shapiro was a lawyer. In fact, he has been represented to me as an able lawyer. I admit that I am not a member of the bar, but I do distinctly remember of reading in the newspapers and in the insurance journals of how the Supreme Court of Pennsylvania had declared many important sections of the 1937 New Deal act unconstitutional, and I know that many lawyers had grave doubts as to the constitutionality of the whole act after this Supreme Court decision. I also, though not a lawyer, remember the chaos that resulted from the 1937 act and how necessary it was found to enact, in 1939, a new compensation law, so that the employees of Pennsylvania would be protected with the just benefits of workmen's compensation insurance. In view of all this, I could hardly believe my ears when I heard Senator Shapiro charge the Republican Party with repealing the Little New Deal act of 1937, which was in fact repealed by the Supreme Court. Everyone knows that the act of 1939 restored order to the chaotic condition which existed following the passage of the Little New Deal law and that once again in Pennsylvania, our vast army of industrial workers were assured of the benefits of a constitutional workmen's compensation law.

The Senator goes to great length in extolling the monopolistic system in existence in Ohio. I understand that it is extremely difficult to obtain accurate figures with reference to the operation of this system. This is to be expected, as the same thing is true in almost all politically managed and governmentally controlled bureaus. I have learned, however, certain interesting facts with reference to this system in Ohio. The first, and perhaps the most startling, explains the low cost which the Senator made so much ado about. In the state of Ohio, the taxpayers and not the policyholders pay the cost of operating the Fund. In other words, the employees themselves, through the state taxes which they pay, contribute to the operating expenses of the workmen's compensation insurance in that state, whereas in Pennsylvania, we compel the employers, through their premiums, to bear this entire burden. Is there anyone here who would approve of assessing a part of the insurance cost on the employees, I venture to suggest that any company doing business in Pennsylvania would be very glad to have the state pay their overhead and reduce their premiums by a corresponding amount. Bear in mind also that in Pennsylvania, these sixty-three insurance companies doing workmen's compensation business in our state pay into our state treasury a large amount of tax. Look at your copy of the last budget and see how much direct premium tax is included in the revenues of this Commonwealth. A large percentage of this came from the premiums on workmen's compensation which the Senator would wipe out by his proposal. Why would Senator Shapiro, when he pointed so confidently to the Ohio socialistic Fund, fail to mention that they pay no tax and that the taxpayers pay their expenses,

An investigating committee appointed by the Governor of Ohio in 1934 found that because of political influences, lack of constructive and intelligent development and businesslike methods, the administration of the law was inefficiently managed and stated that an inefficient staff had resulted in great delay and unnecessary cost. Anyone with experience in government knows that this must be true. We never turn to any instrumentality of government to find efficiency.

I am wholeheartedly and unqualifiedly opposed to the Senator's proposal. I again charge that he is merely the mouthpiece of a radical and left wing group who are seeking to socialize private enterprise in this country. I further charge that this is the first step of this group to socialize insurance. With the forces at work in this world today, we may find ourselves, during the chaos following this war, in the situation of many of the European countries, and we may have forced upon us an entirely new economy. The radicals that are today so greatly interfering with our defense effort may at that time become a majority instead of a minority and force the taking over of all private business by the government, making us all government employees and vassals of the supreme state.

It is doubtful if the independence of thought and action which has been incorporated into the building of America will be subordinated by these influence, and I, for one, propose to raise my voice against them.

It is also contrary to the economic security of this nation that our great institutions of industry, trade and commerce should be besmirched by any allegations which throw a pall over all similar forms of business and place a stigma after those associated with various enterprises.

The unwarranted attacks on these institutions which have been part and parcel of American progress are not compatible with their purpose and function.

I am satisfied that this Senate is opposed to such tactics and that I will be joined not only by my Republican colleagues but by many of those on the other side who propose to fight these destructive influences so long as there is any Americanism left in this body.

PERSONAL PRIVILEGE

Mr. CROWE. Mr. President, I rise on a question of personal privilege.

The PRESIDENT. The gentleman from Monroe will state his question of personal privilege.

Mr. CROWE. I am reluctant, Mr. President, to intrude my personality on my associates in this body, but last week we had the Senator from Philadelphia ask for twenty-five minutes and I think the Senate settled for an hour and twenty-five minutes. I assure you, Mr. President, I will not talk for more than eleven minutes and I hope I can settle for nine minutes.

Pennsylvania is usually regarded as one of the great industrial states of the Union. And with its far flung and diversified manufacturing plants, its railroads and mines stands as an industrial empire second to none. At this time let me state that this is by no means its greatest attraction. Since the days of William Penn and even long before, the forests, lakes, rivers and streams made Pennsylvania the paradise of hunters and fishermen, and now its verdant hills and the sparkling waters of its lakes and streams abundantly stocked with game and fish, not only give its residents the best hunting and fishing in the United States, but its State Forests add recreational facilities that annually draw millions of visitors to our State.

Just what has the Republican party and particularly the James Administration done to further these natural resources? Always the Party of conservation since the days of Theodore Roosevelt, we have developed a vast system of State Forests now more than 1,650,936 acres with the addition of our public parks/and Recreation Demonstration Areas of more than 32,863 acres, all of which is administered by the Department of Forests and Waters.. There are 4,000 Forest Fire Wardens and 31,000 organized forest fire fighters to watch over these areas of public lands, and never in the history of Pennsylvania has greater protection been given to our forest lands or the losses by fire less.

Each year millions of seedlings are distributed for reforestation. Some of these go to reforest the lands of private owners, while a lesser amount are planted in the State Forests. Practically all of these trees were grown in State owned nurseries.

Many of the State forests are traversed by improved State Highways and in addition there are approximately 3,000 miles of forest roads and 4,000 miles of forest trails. Thus our forests have become the centre of parks and recreational areas aggregating more than 35,000 acres composed of 28 forest parks, 56 picnic and wayside parks, 10 natural monuments and 10 historical parks used for camping, picnicking, hiking, swimming, hunting and fishing.

The James administration has really done something about flood control.

In 1939 the Flood Emergency Committee was organized especially to cope with possible floods in the Susquehanna and Pittsburgh river areas. By joint planning with adjoining states, the idea of a series of storage dams was evolved and other precautions taken to lessen the danger ever present from rising waters. Emergency Relief Corps were organized so that in case of flood, areas affected can be evacuated orderly and with as little loss of property and life as possible.

While discussing forests and waters, we must not forget the game and fish that inhabit these woods, fields and waters. During the 1939 session of the Legislature, both Game and Fish Laws were completely revised and brought up to-date. This was not done in an arbitrary manner, but only after holding endless conferences with various groups interested in game and fish from many angles. Sportsmen to-day admit that our game and fish laws are in the best shape they have been for years and need very few changes. And these only on account of changing conditions. So I absolutely deny the demand of the Democratic Party that these laws should be again rewritten. While it is true that a few minority groups are always willing to "up-set the apple-cart" for their own benefit, the organized sportsmen of Pennsylvania representing a majority of the hunters and fishermen, who are definitely interested in something more than just killing are well satisfied.

In the 1939 Game Laws was established a system of Auxiliary State Game Refuges, whereby wildlife can be protected and propagated, this being in addition to the State Game Farms and Propagation areas. During the past two years public hunting grounds and refuges have been increased from 750,000 acres to almost 1,000,000 acres —largest increase in any previous two year period. Title was acquired to 183 tracts of land in 34 counties, totaling over 51,000 acres. These purchases brought the aggregate acerage of land owned by the Game Commission to 650,000 acres in 59 of 67 counties. At the end of 1940 there was under contract for purchase more than 44,000 acres. There are now 33 primary game refuges; 248 refuge units cooperative farm-game projects; 42 propagating areas, and more than 1,000 safety zones around buildings on farm homesteads where the owners have leased the hunting privileges to the commission. Much of the improvement work has been done through W. P. A. and Work Relief Labor, the latter made available through the Pierson act, Republican sponsored in the 1939 session. Since January 65,000 rabbits have been released and soon 60,000 ring-neck pheasants and 20,000 quail. More than $2,000,000 has been spent on W. P. A. labor.

In 1939 the Republican Party added to the Fish Laws the privilege of allowing the Fish Commission to purchase lands containing open water for the purpose of making them public fishing grounds. In this present session we hope that either Senate Bill 405 or House Bill 988 will be passed, so that the Fishing License willl be raised to $2.00 from $1.50 making .50c available from each license fee for the puchase of public fishing rights and privileges in any rivers, streams lakes or ponds. Such funds to be car-marked and to be used for this purpose alone. In order to give our youth and many workers in conjested sections the privileges of enjoying real fishing—this is a plan long advocated by sportsmen throughout the state.

A mammoth expansion of the State's hatchery facilities has been started with WPA cooperation and at the present time more than $800,000 worth of work is actually under way. It was long regarded as impossible to grow bass in great numbers, but by using new and untired methods the hatcheries under the direction of the Fish Commission distributed over 500,000 bass last year. During the present year, every lake in the state containing more than 40 acres with bass in it and open to public fishing will be stocked. Also by new methods of breeding it has been possible to increase the size of trout used for stocking. While formerly trout that were 9 and 10 inches long were considered good, now the Fish Commission is stocking streams with trout that are as large as 15 and even 18 inches in length. Pennsylvania is the only State in the Union that has successfully raised perch to fingerling size for stocking.

Governor James has promised that Game and Fish Funds will not be tapped for other purposes. As he is noted as a lover of both hunting and fishing, we know this promise is one that will be kept in spite of rumors by the Democrats to the contrary.

In order that our State Forests, Parks, Recreational areas, hunting and fishing may be better known not only to the rest of the nation but also to the citizens of the Commonwealth, the Department of Commerce organized under the present Republican administration, and so successful that during the 1941 session of the New York Legislature a Bureau known as the Department of Commerce and Industry was established following the model set up in Pennsylvania—has cooperated in publicizing our natural attractions. This has brought millions of visitors from outside of the state as well as the large sums of money spent by these visitors to the benefit of business in Pennsylvania, thus making good one of the promises of the Republican party "To keep business in the State and to bring in new business from outside the State." During the past winter due to this publicity, winter sports were greater in Pennsylvania, particularly in the Poconos where I live than anywhere in the United States. Also the present fishing season and the coming hunting season both promise to be the greatest in history.

Finally in order that these three great Departments may progress without political interference as not only Republicans hunt and fish and use the State Forests but also Democrats do the same—it is planned to introduce a uniform civil service bill so that the Department of Forests and Waters and the Game and Fish Commissions can do their work unhampered by partisan politics.

PRAYER

The Chaplain, Rev. DONALD McFALL offered the following prayer:

Gracious God and Master, draw us into truer fellowship with Thee that we may stand ready to do Thy work with willing hearts. May we be eager to share our blessings with others as Thou didst freely share Thy love with us. We pray that each day Thou wouldst help us express our friendship to Thee in some deed of helpfulness toward our fellow man.

We ask especially this afternoon, our Father that Thy blessing may abide with those who have come here to share with us in this music. We would ask Thee to bless this student group from the Manheim High School, their instructors, their leaders. Grant, our Father, as we sit together in this place thinking in terms of legislation, we may think in terms of youth such as is represented before us at this time. We pray Thee, our Father, guide our thinking, guide our actions; may we realize, that some day these who so beautifully have played and may play for us will become the citizens of to-morrow and may occupy the place that we now occupy.

Help us, Father, in the task which is ours, to legislate with love. In Jesus' name we pray. Amen.

JOURNAL APPROVED

The SPEAKER. The Clerk will read the Journal of yesterday.

The Clerk proceeded to read the Journal of yesterday, when, on motion of Mr. ROONEY, unanimously agreed to, the further reading was dispensed with and the Journal approved.

MANHEIM HIGH SCHOOL WELCOMED

The SPEAKER. The Members of the House I am sure were thrilled as was the Speaker with the concert rendered by the Mannheim High School Band of Lancaster County. The Chair congratulates its able leader, Professor Enck, and the band for a splendid performance.

The Chair also extends to the gentleman from Lancaster Mr. Trout the thanks of the House for the privilege of listening to them. The band is here at his invitation.

The Chair would ask the leader of the band, Professor Enck, to take a bow. The Chair realizes that the band is hungry by this time but Professor Enck has agreed to play the Star Spangled Banner.

RECESS

The SPEAKER. If there are no objections the Chair will declare a recess during which the Star Spangled Banner will be played by the band.

During the recess the Manheim High School Band played the Star Spangled Banner.

AFTER RECESS

The time of recess having expired the House was called to order.

The House proceeded to the first reading and consideration of House Bill No. 971, entitled:

An Act to further amend sections fifteen and fifteen and three-tenths, and to repeal sections fifteen and one-tenth and fifteen and two-tenths, of the act approved the sixteenth day of May, one thousand nine hundred and twenty-three (P. L. 207) entitled "An act providing when, how, upon what property, and to what extent, liens shall be allowed for taxes and for municipal improvements, for the removal of nuisances, and for water rents or rates, sewer rates and lighting rates; for the procedure upon claims filed therefor; the methods for preserving such liens and enforcing payment of such claims; the effect of judicial sales of the properties liened; the distribution of the proceeds of such sales, and the redemption of the property therefrom; for the lien and collection of certain taxes heretofore assessed, and of claims for municipal improvements made and nuisances removed, within six months before the passage of this act; and for the procedure on tax and municipal claims filed under other and prior acts of Assembly," as amended, by providing for the renewal, extension and continuation of liens for taxes and water, lighting, power and sewer rates, until such taxes and rates are fully paid and satisfied; and authorizing the filing and revival of liens heretofore lost, and in certain cases, reviving, validating, preserving and extending liens.

And said bill having been read at length the first time, Ordered, To be laid aside for second reading.

The SPEAKER (Elmer Kilroy) in the Chair.

The SPEAKER. The Chair thanks the gentleman from Westmoreland, Mr. Lovett, for presiding.

BILL ON SECOND READING

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the first reading and consideration of House Bill No. 691, entitled:

L. 1333) entitled "An act concerning elections including general municipal special and primary elections the nomination of candidates primary and election expenses contests creating and defining membership of county boards of elections imposing duties upon the Secretary of the Commonwealth courts county boards of elections county commissioners imposing penalties for violation of the act and codifying revising and consolidating the laws relating thereto and repealing certain acts and parts of acts relating to elections" by extending the provisions relating to voting by persons in actual military service to primary elections

The first section was read.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the section?

BILL RECOMMITTED

Mr. MATTHEW J. WELSH. Mr. Speaker, I move that this bill be recommitted to the Committee on Elections for the purpose of further study and possible amendment.

The motion was agreed to.

BILL ON SECOND READING

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the first reading and consideration of House Bill No. 733, entitled:

A Joint Resolution proposing an amendment to Article nine of the Constitution of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania by adding thereto section eighteen

The first section was read.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the section?

BILL RECOMMITTED

Mr. ACHTERMAN. Mr. Speaker, I move that this bill be recommitted to the Committee on Constitutional Amendments for the purpose of further study and possible amendment.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the motion?

Mr. TROUT. Mr. Speaker, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Monroe, Mr. Achterman.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Monroe permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. ACHTERMAN. I will, Mr Speaker.

Mr. TROUT. I should like to ask the gentleman from Monroe to explain just why this bill is to be recommitted to the Committee on Constitutional Amendments.

Mr. ACHTERMAN. The main reason is the fact that we have a bill on third reading now that more adequately and completely covers the subject.

Mr. TROUT. I thank the gentleman from Monroe, Mr. Achterman.

Mr. Speaker, I am sorry that I cannot agree with the gentleman from Monroe in his statement. House Bill 733 was introduced after a great deal of study and a number of conferences with the leaders of both the majority and the minority party. It was my hope that we might eliminate any political feeling in attempting to get for once what some of us have been hoping for for a number of years. I should have liked to have had an opportunity of discussing this bill in some detail on the floor of the House and I should like to have had an opportunity given to all the Member to discuss the bill. I am very sorry, Mr. Speaker, that the majority leader has seen fit to make a motion to recomit the bill without having given the opportunity of a careful discussion on the floor of the House, in comparison with the provisions of bill 470, concerning which the gentleman from Monroe has just spoken. I ask the membership of the House to vote "No" on the motion to recommit.

Mr. ACHTERMAN. Mr. Speaker, in answer to the gentleman from Lancaster, I told him that our reason for recommitting House Bill 733 was because it did not adequately or completely cover the subject. I am at a loss, Mr. Speaker, to understand why he and those whom he represents should hold so sacred one particular fund which they have tapped time and time again without making any effort to replace it, and not feel that other funds that they have likewise tapped, are not equally sacred.

May I say to the gentleman that House Bill 470 treats all funds in the same light and prevents a transfer of money from those funds to be used for other purposes without the replacement of those funds within the biennium, and provides that appropriate revenue measures shall be enacted so that those funds will be replaced within the biennium. The gentleman's bill No. 733, covers the problem only in relation to funds realized from taxes on motor vehicle legislation fees, operator license fees and so on. Those funds are truly used for highway purposes. Can the gentleman from Lancaster tell me why the funds that the County Commissioners receive, the funds that the supervisors receive from the State, which have been constantly tapped, should not receive the same sort of treatment? Those funds are used for road purposes, the same as the fund the gentleman mentioned. Are we going to hamstring the County Commissioners and the Supervisors while at the same time protecting the State Highway Department, or are we going to approach the problem in the broad field, the field in which we should approach it, by raising sufficient funds to carry out the various governmental operations without the constant tapping of special funds? May I ask the gentleman from Lancaster why he does not feel that the funds which the fireman receive for their pensions are equally as sacred as the funds the Highway Department receives, and may I ask him why he does not approach this subject in that light? I am sure, Mr. Speaker, that House bill 733 is inadequate and does not cover the subject. It was drawn for one small particular group. Our party proposes to study and to approach the entire problem with the thought in mind that we intend to have a solution once and for all, to the effect that we shall not tap one particular fund without making a provision for repaying that particular money. That is why I am moving for the recommittal of the gentleman's pet measure.

Mr. WOODSIDE. Mr. Speaker, I am not going to debate House Bill 470 until we reach that bill.

There were two remarks, which the gentleman from Monroe made which I think should be cleared up. One was the statement that transfers have been made by this side of the House without any effort having been made to replace the fund. That is definitely a misstatement of fact, as the gentleman well knows. I think he made it rather as a slip of the tongue. I wish to say to the members of the House that every effort has been made and will be made to replace all of that money.

In the second place the gentleman from Monroe in his original motion made the remark that it was being recommitted for further study and amendment, while in interrogation he emphatically admitted it was being recommitted because there was another bill which they expected to pass, which I think means that this bill is to be recommitted to be pickled and for no other reason.

Mr. ACHTERMAN. Mr. Speaker, just in reply to the gentleman from Dauphin, Mr. Woodside, his party may have made efforts to replace the funds they have tapped, but it still remains a fact that those funds have not been replaced up to the present moment. I have not forgotten that some years ago the Democratic majority had to replace the funds tapped by the prior Republican administration, and I am certain that in 1943 the Democrats again will be forced to replace funds the Republicans have tapped.

Mr. WOODSIDE. Mr. Speaker, there are two very good reasons why what the gentleman has stated are not true. The gentleman well knows or should know, if he does not know, that the only purpose of borrowing money from a fund is to carry over from the thirty-first day of May to the first day of June, and tax anticipation notes have solved the other problem of governmental financing.

The gentleman from Monroe during the Special Session of 1940 expressed ignorance of a situation time and time again, one that I do not think, Mr. Speaker, he actually had, but the only purpose of borrowing money or passing any of the transfers is to be able to balance over between the thirty-first day of May and the first day of June. Certainly you do not pay the money back during the same biennium. You have to have a reason to borrow it, but you do pay it back immediately after the transfer, after the first day of June, by floating tax anticipation notes. All of the bills provide for that and the Governor's budget provides for that repayment, so that everything reasonable to be done to repay that fund has been done, and everything that can be done to repay it, will be done. There is no question about that. The money will be repaid and every provision has been made to repay it at the time when everybody knew it was to be paid.

Mr. ACHTERMAN. Mr. Speaker, the gentleman spoke about tax anticipation notes. May I give him and his party a warning? If the deficit continues to increase at the rate it now continues to increase, and may I say, Mr. Speaker, very roughly that the deficit now is in the neighborhood of ninety million dollars, he will find that the issuing of tax anticipation notes is not going to solve the problem.

Mr. TROUT. Mr. Speaker, it is strange how soon we forget. I recall that we had a Governor in Pennsylvania some years ago by the name of Pinchot. I guess most of you remember that. When the Democrats took possession of the State Government in 1935 they said that the "Great Pinchot had left a deficit of thirty-five million dollars, for which they were compelled to assume responsibility. Then at the end of the first biennium of that administration there was still a deficit only it had increased, and at the end of the second biennium of that Democratic administration the deficit still existed, only it was larger. Then when the Republicans took over the state government there was a deficit but it had still increased. Now, our friend from Monroe says when this biennium closes the deficit will be still larger. Well, if that is true then we will have to take the Democrats and the Republicans jointly and they will have to assume responsibility for the increase of the deficit. I think we all agree on that point.

I have just one other point on this House Bill 470. We enacted in 1936, I think, a one cent gas tax which was paid to the General Fund. That tax has been re-enacted, and according to the schedule of the present Governor it is again to be re-enacted at this Session. Now, gentlemen, that is a diversion of funds. House Bill 733 says that the gas tax will not be re-enacted, but you say House Bill 470 is going to stop that one cent gas tax from going into the General Fund. If for no other reason, that is reason enough why there should be a provision, as there is in House Bill 733, so that we might get rid of that one cent gas tax. We talk about diversion but when we do we forget about the one cent gas tax that we have been paying since 1936. It seems to me it is time to stop that too.

Mr. Speaker, I ask for the roll call.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the motion?

The SPEAKER. How did the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Goodwin vote on the final passage of this bill?

Mr. GOODWIN. Mr. Speaker, I voted in the majority.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the motion?

The SPEAKER declared the ayes appeared to have it.

Whereupon, a division was called for, one hundred five members having voted in the affirmative and sixty in the negative, the question was determined in the affirmative and the motion was agreed to.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. WOODSIDE. Mr. Speaker, I thought probably the sponsor of this bill would follow the more usual procedure of putting the bill over on the calendar so that it could be printed and could be taken up in its usual order, so that the members would know it was going to be taken up. However, since he has not seen fit to do that, it seems to me there is one thing about the bill that ought to be called to the attention of the House, which was not called to the attention of the House last night, or at least ought to be suggested.

It is a fact as the bill is drafted, unless it can be shown there are other provisions in the act which definitely change the construction of the bill, as it now appears on our desks, it would be possible to sell a bottle of liquor in hotels at all times when the States stores are not open. Now, if that means what it says, "at all times when the State stores are not open," it would be after the hours of two o'clock in the morning, and it would mean on Sunday and at all other times when the State stores are not open including holidays on which sale is forbidden. It might be possible, in connection with the rest of the Liquor Control Act, that that would not be true. I think personally, it should be made clear in this bill, that such a situation is not desired by the sponsors, if in fact it is not desired by them, and since it has not been made clear in this bill for that reason alone this bill should be defeated. I was hoping the sponsors in order to clarify that point would amend the bill, although I'm not suggesting that I would be in favor of the bill even then, but it would make it a much less objectionable bill. I think this matter should be called to the attention of Members of the House before this bill is voted upon.

Mr. SCANLON. Mr. Speaker, I cannot quite agree with the minority floor leader because on line eleven, page four of the bill, as I read the bill it provides, "Hotel restaurant and public service licensees their servants agents or employes may sell liquor and malt or brewed beverages only after seven o'clock antemeridian of the following week day and shall not sell on Sunday."

Therefore, I submit Mr. Speaker, that this is only a technical objection. I discussed this matter with the minority leader and if this bill should pass the House I would not have any objection to the bill's being amended in the Senate. It is not the intention of the sponsor to allow any licensee to sell by the bottle on Sunday. I hope the Members will not construe the bill in that light. If this bill should pass this House, and it is deemed necessary I would be agreeable to inserting an amendment in the Senate.

Mr. CHARLES H. BRUNNER. Mr Speaker, a few minutes ago I voted to reconsider the vote by which this bill was defeated. Last night I voted for this bill, and until Mr. Woodside the minority floor leader called my attention to the possibility of this measure allowing sales on Sundays and various hours of the early morning and late at night, I had intended again to vote for this measure. I think it is incumbent upon the sponsor of this measure to allow the membership of this House to consider the full consequences of this act, and unless the sponsors are willing that the bill be placed on the postponed calendar I am asking the membership of this House to vote "No."

BILL POSTPONED

Mr. SCANLON. Mr. Speaker, in view of the fact that we cannot clarify the situation now, I move that this bill be placed on the postponed calendar.

The motion was agreed to.

BILL ON FINAL PASSAGE

Agreeably to order,

The bill having been called up from the postponed calendar by Mr. SHAW.

The House resumed the consideration on final passage of House Bill No. 367, entitled:

An Act legalizing the operation of bowling alleys and participation in the sport of bowling after two o'clock post meridian on Sunday

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. McFALL. Mr. Speaker, another attempt is being made to pass a Sunday bowling bill that is obnoxious to many good citizens of our State and unjust to many others, so we are back where we started from a week ago, when this bill was defeated because it could not muster the 105 votes necessary to its passage. De who oppose this bill intend to fight every inch of the way not by trading votes, which seems to be an old political custom, but by appeals to finer and nobler codes, to the spiritual and inspirational ideals, without which man would be just another animal.

I oppose this Sunday bowling bill because of many reasons, chief among them being Sunday observance (desecration) Sunday work (employment) and the denial of self-government local option (referendum). We are many men of many minds. We do not all think alike. This is as it should be—it is our right and privilege. A young man married happily continually boasted about his wife, kept saying he was so glad every man did not think as he did or else they would all want his wife—one day one of his friends growing tired of this said to him, "It is a good thing everybody doesn't think as I do, if they did, no one would want her.

Sabbath observance was so important to our forefathers that they enacted into law what we have come to know as the Blue Laws of Pennsylvania. Many of these laws are looked upon as being narrow—unethical and in some cases impossible to live up to in letter and in law, such as the kissing of one's wife and prohibiting all worldly pleasures on the Sabbath day. From what I heard on the floor of this House last Thursday on the question of having a wife—I feel sure there are some House Members who would be glad if they had a wife to kiss—one day out of a week.

I do not like to think of our Forefathers as being narrowminded, but rather that they wanted to give the Sabbath the full value of their devotion, forgetting and putting aside all material things that would hinder or cause them to forget that the worship of God in their minds would always come first.

I do not need to tell you that the first religious bodies of our state zealously guarded the Sabbath day as a day for worship and as a day for rest, such religious bodies as the Quakers—the Moravions, the Lutherans, the Methodists and many others. Later years has seen the breaking down of the high ideals and the spiritual devotion once held for the Sabbath day. Constant chiselling has worn away some of the religious and spiritual desires and the day has been given over to sports and pleasures that are slowly but surely sapping the souls of men of their spiritual values and to the physical body that rest that is so vital and necessary to human health and happiness.

None of us like a chiseler, for he is one who seeks to destroy, to tear down or to remove. We look upon a chisler as undesirable, worthless and of no value or good to society. I would therefore, Mr. Speaker, hate to go down in history as being one Legislator who helped to chisel away Sabbath observance so that Sunday will come to mean only another weekday. At the rate we are now going soon there will be no day of worship—no day to hallow or no day to rest.

Those that are championing this bill like to claim the healthful and necessary exercise this game of bowling affords. I will agree if the game is held to a strict moderation for that very purpose, but not to commercialize the game on Sunday so that tournaments and match games can be run off hour after hour where spectators and players will be crowded and jammed into basements and rooms with limited space, a foul and tobacco smoke laden atmosphere to breathe. So I am not so sure if there are any real physical benefits or any moral benefits for that matter in opening the gates to Sunday bowling.

If we feel the need for exercise, young or old, and we want to utilize part of Sunday for that purpose we can get all we need by walking out into God's sunshine and breathe the pure air he gives us without money and without price.

Where do we get this idea of Sabbath observance and a day of rest from—now I am not going to think the Representatives of this House are all as dumb as the story of the three Senators who bet none of them knew the Lord's Prayer. One of them said I will take the bet and began to recite—"Now I lay me down to sleep I pray the Lord my Soul to keep, if I should die before I wake I pray my Soul the Lord to take and the other two said, you win I did not think you knew it.

In the Book of Genesis, second chapter, second and third verses we find these words—

And on the seventh day God ended his work which he had made and he rested on the seventh day from all his work and God blessed the seventh day and sanctified it; because that in it be had rested from all his work which God created and made. The word sanctified means to purify. Now I give you this question to answer, will the passage of this Act help God to still further purify the Sabbath day?

Legalizing and commercializing Sunday bowling brings into the picture the profit motive, a desire to do business on Sunday, a motive so obvious that we can pass over it by saying the desire to make money by many is much more stronger than the desire to do good to all the people.

Then there is this Commandment. Six days shalt thou labor and do all thy work, but the seventh day is the Sabbath of thy Lord in it thou shall not do any work, thou nor thy son. Nor thy daughter, thy manservant, thy maidservant, nor thy cattle, nor the stranger within thy gate.

There are millions of people who still believe in the Golden Rule—and the ten commandments. That there is something beautiful and inspiring in the devotion of parents and children to the observance of the Sabbath day no one can deny.

What more pleasing sight or inspirational touch can one get than to see the smiling faces of the children of our state, spick and span in suits and dresses wending their way each Sunday to Sunday School. Why should there be obstacles placed in the way of this rising generation, the men and women of tomorrow, some of whom will be the leaders and rulers of our state. "If righteousness exalteth a nation" why don't we let well enough alone and try to make all things better, rather than to tear down the high ideals set by our Forefathers, and by every thinker—philosopher and teacher—that ever trod the Earth.

Then there are certain inamiable rights every community is entitled to, which right this bill denies. The right of home rule, local self-government—local option—referendum.

Baseball, football, motion pictures all come under local option. Why not bowling? If this bill passes every ten pin alley in the state can be open from 2:00 p.m. until the next day. In any place an alley can be set up regardless of what the wishes and desires of the community are. We hear a lot about home rule these days. Too much centralization and too much power given into the hands of a few. This bill does not recognize any of these facts, but says in effect, Take it or leave it. We are going to have bowling all over the state whether you like it or not.

Senator Jaspan introduced a bill in the Senate, to make all Sunday legislation a matter of local option.

This bill would repeal parts of the acts of 1794 and of Section 651 of the Penal Code of 1939, that plainly is inconsistent with the purpose of the act. Section 651 of the Penal Code prohibits the attendance of persons under 18 years of age in bowling alleys on any day of the week, this bill, No. 367, makes no such provision, and would therefore permit on Sunday what the Penal Code prohibits on other days of the week. To me this just doesn't make sense, or is the general opinion for this Bowling Bill to construe. "Better the day, better the deed."

Sen. Jaspan introduced in the Senate today a bill to make all Sunday legislation a matter of local option.

Mr. Speaker and Members of the House, I want to thank you for the attention you have given to my remarks. My one hope is that the truth of my statements may have found a reciprocating feeling in the minds and hearts of every member and with me will vote "no" on this bill.

Mr. HARE. Mr. Speaker, coming as I do, from the little rural county of Somerset, the roof garden of Pennsylvania and the foothills of Heaven, I feel that I would be derelict in my duty if I did not rise to oppose this bill.

In our country, we have a great deal of respect for the churches, and I feel that I would be slurring the memory of a mother who taught me the Lord's prayer on her knees if I would now cast aside the moral training and respect for the Creator by voting for any further desecration of the Sabbath day. It seems to me rather hypocritical that Members of this House can bow their heads at the beginning of each session, before some of the most beautiful prayers to which I have had the privilege of listening. Yesterday the Chaplain of this House made the statement in his prayer, "let Thy Children within this state remember their Creator". Certainly we all recognize the fact that this Democracy exists with a sense of moral values largely because of the creation of the Ten Commandments. We certainly recognize that every nation that has fallen since the beginning of time, has fallen because in some form or another they forgot the teaching of the greatest teacher who ever lived. I have no desire in my little village to have a minister interrupted in the midst of his Doxology on a Sunday evening by a gutteral explosion of voices in a bowling alley because some fellow missed a spare by two pins. We are definitely faced with an anti-church bill. Take it or leave it. If any of you have any regard for the teaching of the church that spawned you,, then certainly you should vote against this type of criminal legislation.

Mr. FRENCH. Mr. Speaker, I am sorry I am not able to rise to magnificent heights of oratory in order to get my thoughts across, but in my hunmble manner I will have to do the best I can.

The gentleman on my right stole a part of my speech. One of the reasons I am before this "mike" at the present moment in opposition to this bill is the particular reason that the gentleman just spoke about a minute ago. I was born of very humble parents back up here on the mountain on a little old hill near a farm. My parents at the time I thought were a little bit hard on us. They would not permit us to pick up a baseball bat on Sunday afternoon to knock out a few flies. They would not allow us to go swimming on Sunday; they would not let us do a lot of things. They would not even let us whistle around the place on Sunday. They might have been a little bit stern, at least we thought so at the time, but I stand here to honor the folks, those old people for what they did for us, and I have never forgotten them.

This bill that we are about to vote on is a purely commercialized affair. I was very much impressed as all of you were this afternoon when this session started, with the band of young folks up there rendering that most magnificent music. I dare say there are few men in the House at the present time who are not fathers of boys and girls back home. The question which each one of us has to answer for himself this afternoon is this, do we want these chaps of ours to spend Sunday afternoon in a bowling alley, or do we not? Are we not men enough, do we not have enough control over our kids to say to them "Let us take a rest this afternoon" or if we have a car "Let us take a little car ride." I know there will be some opposition to that statement because some of you may feel that that is just as bad as bowling, but I think that is not true. Would it not be far better for us to try to furnish some other amusement for those children on Sunday afternoons than to let them go into a bowling alley? I have been in them a few times but never on Sunday. You know as well as I do that the folks in these bowling alleys are good fellows, but they are not very particular about the use of their language around such places as that. We all know that to be a fact. That is another good reason why we should oppose this bill this afternoon.

Another thing, as I said a moment ago, this is a purely commercial bill, a bill to commercialize the Sabbath. I want to make this statement to you folks, that any bill or any movement that is intended to commercialize the Sabbath or earn money by commercializing the Sabbath, such money earned in that manner is eventually bound to sicken your hearts. Chickens are bound to come home to roost sooner or later. Besides that, Members of the House, this bill is intended to abolish an edict or I might call it an act that was laid down to us many centuries ago. I have never found any place recorded in history, and I am sure there is no member of this House who has ever found it recorded any place in history that that act or that edict was ever abolished to the best of my knowledge. Now then, I am not opposed to bowling. I want you fellows to get me clear on that. I think it is good clean sport, one of the cleanest sports we have. I think it is a fine thing and I am not opposed to bowling, not by any means. It is a fine sport. It is a clean sport, as clean as any sport as we have anywhere, but we are opposed to this proposition of desecrating the Sabbath.

Gentlemen, I ask you to consider this matter very seriously and when the time comes to vote on this bill, vote in such a manner so that you can go back home and meet the people who walk up and down the street with a clear conscience, so that you will not have to go across on the other side of the street in order to keep from meeting them. I ask you men to vote "no" on this bill this afternoon.

Mr. HEATHERINGTON. Mr. Speaker, I want to speak a few words in defense of the Sunday bowling bill. This bill was introduced, not for the purpose which has been mentioned, to commercialize the Sabbath, but the Sunday bowling bill was introduced as a health measure.

In the Pittsburgh Sunday Press, Commenting on Sunday bowling after the bill was defeated, the editorial reads as follows:

> "For want of five votes a bill to permit bowling on Sunday was defeated in the State House of Representatives, even though a majority of those present favored it. The vote was 98 in favor of the bill and 96 opposed. The constitution requires 105 votes in order to pass a bill. Actually there were 100 Representatives in favor of the measure, but two of them changed their votes the result was announced so that they would be in position to ask a reconsideration.
> "We hope that the extra five votes will be rounded up when the bill again comes up, so that it can be passed.
> "Bowling is a clean, healthful sport, played in good surroundings. It has never been tainted by gambling or other evil conditions.
> "It helps build sturdy men and women—something this nation needs. It provides clean and inexpensive recreation—and to some persons Sunday is almost the only opportunity to get it.
> "Many other sports are legal on Sunday It is rank discrimination to ban bowling.
> "The era of blue laws is gone. A modern nation recognizes that it is not proper function of law to try to enforce the religious beliefs of one person upon another who disagrees with them. Under the bowling bill nobody who doesn't believe in Sunday bowling would be compelled to do so. But it is equally fair that those who want it should not be controlled by those who don't."

Further, Mr. Speaker, I will quote from the Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph, which reads as follows:

> "The Sun-Telegraph was active in the movement to modify the Blue Law to permit Sunday movies and ball games in communities which vote in favor of them at local option elections. We would like to see this liberalism extended to the authorization of bowling on Sundays after 2 p. m. and are glad to learn that the enabling bill, though defeated in the House last week by a majority of six votes, still has a chance. A motion to reconsider will be made, and the result will be determined by 14 members of the House who were absent when the original vote was taken."

Mr. Speaker and members of the House, I have a clipping from the McKeesport Daily News, which reads as follows:

> "Kenny Mettle, one of the best bowlers in this city, is thankful that he took up bowling. At the age of four he was stricken with infantile paralysis. During his high school days he attempted various forms of athletics, but bowling really gave him a lease on an active life and now he is a 190 average bowler."

Now, friends, the "Curbstone Coach" in the McKeesport Daily News says:

> "It won't be long until bowling invades the schools of the district if the interest taken by the youngsters in the game is an indication. Girls and boys of 'teen age have been trying their skill on local alleys between league matches of the older folks and some of them are becoming quite proficient at scattering the pins. That's one nice thing about bowling, you don't have to be a 200-pound giant to achieve a good score. Just like a good baseball pitcher, all you need is a little control."

There is one other point, Mr. Speaker, about this sport of bowling. In the past it was a sport that was manned by men, but women are beginning to take the men off the sporting page when it comes to bowling. Gentlemen, I agree with some of the men on the other side of the House when they say we must rest on the seventh day, but I want them also to know that 15 or 18 years ago, as I was working in the steel works, Judge Gary told me that I must work on Sunday and stay home on Wednesday. He made Wednesday my seventh day.

I ask the members on both sides of the House as a health measure to support the Sunday bowling bill.

Mr. HEWITT. Mr. Speaker, I suppose after this long debate the Members are sort of uneasy. I will try not to impose too much upon the time of the House in my remarks.

There has been one feature of this bill which has been overlooked. There was a time when a man worked six days a week, ten or twelve hours a day, and at that time there was not much chance for recreation. Now we have gotten down to eight hours a day or seven hours a day, and that gives a man the bigger part of the afternoon for recreation. The gentleman from Allegheny states that this is a health measure. I noticed this bill was reported from the Committee on Law and Order. I don't know why it was not reported from the Committee on Health and Sanitation, if it is that kind of a bill.

Mr. Speaker, I am opposed to the bill because I come from a little county which has a lot of churches up on the hill and all around the town, and I do not want to hear the bowling balls and pins being knocked down when the minister is preaching his sermon. Another thing, these bowling alleys are located on the first, second or any other floor and anybody who bowls knows it is a noisy game.

I'm opposed to the bill for those several reasons.

Mr. WRIGHT. Mr. Speaker, I desire to make a brief statement relative to the Sunday bowling bill 367, but to be more specific I will refer to a few instances when our greatest men spoke on this same subject.

Abraham Lincoln on November 15, 1862 issued the following order. "The President, commander-in-chief of the Army and Navy desires and enjoins the orderly observance of the Sabbath by the officers and men in military and naval services.

The importance of man and beast of the prescribed weekly rest, the sacred rights of Christian soldiers and sailors, a becoming deference of a Christian people, and due regard for the Divine Will, demand that Sunday labor be reduced to the measure of strict necessity.

The dicipline and character of the National Forces should not suffer, nor the cause they defend be imperiled by the profanation of the day or names of the Most High."

In their orders for Sabbath observance, Harrison, McKinley and Woodrow Wilson followed Lincoln's example.

And only a few weeks ago President Roosevelt said "What we need now more than anything else is a moral and spiritual undergirdling." and, Mr. Speaker and Members of the House, I believe that our Sabbath and Sanctuary are indispensible for the creation of such undergirdling.

In this day of world tragedies and public distress, we need a stouter morale and a morale that expresses itself in morals. A loose living, pleasure loving, light minded, happy-go-lucky people simply cannot possess a morale equal to the present crisis.

It is natural for everyone to think of themselves first, but, Mr. Speaker, I have been selected to represent a people who are the equal of any in Pennsylvania in refinement and sturdy citizenship; while I view it as a grave responsibility to be their representative, I think of it as a distinct privilege, realizing that my representation of them here is unbreakably linked with their private life and their public welfare.

The promoters of the Sunday Bowling Bill are aiming to break down our age-old Sabbath Day traditions, they might just as well try to shut up Summer in a little garden as to try to smother the living truth in that tradition, it breaks through and escapes such efforts and language, and we, the citizens, of the great state of Pennsylvania proponents of Sunday observance are proud. Arguments should not be needed the facts alone testify.

The things we do here now are not for us but are for those that follow in the great tomorrow. The Sunday Bowling Bill if passed in its present form would become a law without referendum to municipalities, And, Mr. Speaker, and members of the House, you will agree with me that there are quite a few good citizens living in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania who are just outside the limits of our two great cities, Philadelphia and Pittsburgh. These good people of whom I speak love the Christian Sabbath and its ideals, and their experience has proven that their faithful observance of the Sabbath Day makes for efficiency.

Mr. Speaker, more directly, more deeply, our national idea and ideals are derived from a faith in the heart of men and women today, we need to go no further back. It is to that moral tradition that we owe our origin.

By the same token, if morals fail, morale will fail too, and along with it our sense of the dignity, duty, and worth of the Sabbath Day to man. Only by its observance, can we keep our tradition of liberty under law—Moral Law.

Mr. Speaker, please allow me to remind you that all progress whether it be ethical, social, economical or political, is moving steadily forward upon the marching feet of little children. These same young men and women will build a new America whose foundations are being laid now by our own pronouncements.

Surely then, this splendid group, a body of law-making and law-observing men, will do nothing to weaken our spiritual undergirdling, or the desecration of our Christian Sabbath. Therefore, Mr. Speaker and Members of the House, allow me to appeal to each of you, but most especially to the fathers, to vote against the passage of the Sunday bowling bill, 367.

Mr. AUKER. Mr. Speaker, I ask the further indulgence of the House for about five minutes. I am arising to oppose this measure on one ground that to my mind makes it utterly vicious, utterly bad and utterly disreputable. It seems to me that we are again passing a law, imposing our will on the individuals and people back home, concerning whom we have no business to pass such legislation. Let us follow that through to a concrete example. I am referring now to the fact that this bill carries no local option feature as all the other sports bills had. Let us take for instance, in the city of Altoona, that ten percent of the people wanted bowling and ninety percent of the people did not. All right ten percent of the people forced their will on the other ninety percent. What is true in Altoona is true in every little borough and hamlet and city in this Commonwealth. I say to you that such a principle of government is utterly bad, utterly vicious. We have no right here to pass such a law and force this kind of thing down the throats of the people back home. That is democracy at its worst. There is nothing democratic about it. Certainly the sponsors of this bill, if they wanted to have a good measure, would have included a local option feature in it.

I am asking the Members of the House, if for no other reason than that we should not come here and impose our will upon the people back home, to vote against this bill. They do not have any say whatsoever as to whether they want bowling in their community on Sunday or not They will not have any say whatsoever, except to forbid their children to go there on Sunday, and whether they want their children to go to the bowling alleys on Sunday or not, if the bowling alleys are opened it is likely the children will go in anyway. That is not home rule, certainly it is not democratic government, and for that reason alone I am asking you to vote down this measure.

Mr. BENTLEY. Mr. Speaker, the remarks I am about to make might better come under the head of personal privilege, because I voted for this bill at the time it was first before the House and I propose to again vote for the bill, but I do not intend to sit idly by and leave unanswered on the record the charge that I am irreverent to the Sabbath because of my vote. What is even more of a personal affront, that I lack respect to my parents because I so voted. I so understood the remarks of the gentleman from Somerset. I think by those remarks every Member of the House who voted for this bill at the time it was first before the House suffered a personal affront I yield to no man of this House in the respect I have for my parents and my daughter. But my vote in the first instance and again today will be a vote for fair play. The best example of it that I can give is to take the statement that was made by one of the men who preceded me who in his conclusion said the bill says you are going to have bowling whether you like it or not. I say that a refusal to permit bowling is a sword cutting the other way, and it is the statement that you won't have bowling whether you like it or not.

Mr. Speaker, I wanted to make clear my position and my reasons for supporting this bill. I say to the men of this House, who have no doubt felt as I did when those words were being spoken that they too should rise and express their resentment against that sort of an attack on our rights and duties to vote as we see our way clear to vote.

Mr. FRENCH. Mr. Speaker, I am sorry I had to get up here again and I would not have done so except for a remark which Mr. Heatherington made. It seems from his remarks that this bill has resolved itself into a health bill. I want to call his attention and also the attention of the other Members of the House to a statement he made two weeks ago on the floor that if this bill is defeated, it would deprive the city of Pittsburgh and likewise the city of Philadelphia of one million or more dollars in revenue, by preventing bowling tournaments from being held there. If that is not commercialism I would like to have somebody else tell me what it is.

Mr. CULLEN. Mr. Speaker, I also rise to resent the statement about being irreligious because I am supporting this bill. I might say that I am a married man with four young men. My wife, three children and I go to church, the other one does not go because he is in the United States Navy. We attend our religious services and then I bowl with my sons. If that is irreligious Members of this House, give me more of it.

They spoke very eloquently about our forefathers and these so-called blue laws. Those laws may have been all right in their day, but Mr. Speaker, I contend they are insidious today. They are not the kind of laws we want at the present time. I contend this is a liberal nation and a liberal state. One of the speakers spoke about us fellows swearing when we miss a spare. What right has he got to tell me that I cannot swear when I miss a spare? Wnat right has he got to tell me I cannot swear when I want to swear? Right in line with that I might state that there is very little swearing in bowling alleys because we have the finest women in the state there who bowl. We pay respect to our womanhood. Yes, if I miss a spare I can swear, and I do not have to account to any Member of this Legislature or any other citizen of this state. It is my business and not the business of anybody else. When I swear, I swear very quietly. And that is my right. I do not hesitate to say we are going to have a good many votes against this particular bill by a good many gentlemen who go out on the golf course on Sundays and swing a golf club. It is about time I think that Members of the Legislative bodies in this state and every place else stop and legislate more in the interest of the people. But this cannot be done, Mr. Speaker. You cannot legislate morals. If I want to be religious because of what this body says, all right, I will. And if I do not want to be religious this body cannot make me be religious. Therefore, all of this stuff about religion which our forefathers brought back, I think in a lot of cases is a lot of bunk, because up in New England a great man by the name of Roger Williams was chased out of the state because he wanted to have his own religion. Those are the men we are supposed to follow. I for one think all the blue laws on the statute books ought to be scrapped and the sooner they are scrapped the better it will be for the state of Pennsylvania.

In conclusion, Mr. Speaker, I would like to read into the record a statement from the Philadelphia Record found in the editior of April 6, 1941, as follows:

> "If the Governor of Pennsylvania is still of the opinion his state shouldn't have Sunday bowling because of the objections from church groups, here is an interesting note that we bring to his attention.
> "There are 6012 church teams registered with the American Bowling Congress," and incidentally they play on Sunday, "As well as 3678 teams from the Knights of Columbus, Masonic Orders and B'Nai Brith.
> "Among other groups represented in the American Bowling Congress are 448 from fraternal orders—Elks, Eagles, etc.; 1302 Y. M. C. A. teams, 2500 civic club teams—Lions, Kiwanis, Exchange, etc. while thousands of others come from clubs—Penn A. C., Detroit A. C., Chicago A. C., etc., colleges, American Legions, country clubs, Federal and State Employes, etc. Or are you still uninterested, Governor?"

Mr. Speaker, I am asking you, is not that a representation of good citizenship of this state or any other state, and they all bowl and they are bowling on Sunday. I thank you.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution the yeas and nays were taken. Messrs. Reagan, Gates and Norman Wood asked for a verification of the roll. The roll was verified and was as follows:

Section 2 This act shall become effective immediately upon final enactment

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. HOLLAND. Mr. Speaker, we are about to vote on a bill which will give more power to the major oil and gasoline companies in Pennsylvania than any power that has ever been given to the government.

This bill has the support of the Associated Petroleum Industry. The Associated Petroleum Industry consists of all of the executives of all the major oil and gasoline companies in the United States. This association protested and fought the enactment of the N. R. A. stating that the N. R. A. was price fixing. They now come to this House and offer House bill 393 which gives the power to any large oil and gasoline company to fix the price. This is a lot of power to give to any one industry.

I might point out that a man who has been very prominent in this industry, a man who gave some very enlightening testimony before the Oil Commission, is now in this House and was in this House last night and today lobbying for this bill. I refer to Purvis Taylor.

We have in Committee House bill 523 which would give the power to the dealers to get together for protection, but now we are called upon to vote on a bill that makes the oil industry bigger than the Government and gives them complete control of the dealers, in fact gives them a power that no other industry has in the United States.

I have here a letter from the Associated Retail Gasoline Dealers, Incorporated of the State of Pennsylvania, who protest against this bill and state that this bill will hurt every independent gasoline dealer in the state of Pennsylvania. I feel that this House should vote against this bill and give the independent gas dealers of the State a chance for their eexistence.

Mr. VOLDOW. Mr. Speaker, I rise at this time in support of the bill. This bill will simply permit the producer of a commodity sold from vending equipment and which bears the tradename or name of the producer to stipulate the minimum resale price of such commodity with his purchaser or dealer. I should like to point out to the membership of this House that the Fair Trade Act of 1935 today covers commodities in general which bear the name of the producer and that this bill simply amends the Fair Trade Act of 1935 by extending the provisions thereof to commodities sold from vending equipment.

This bill would not only apply to the gasoline industry, but would also apply to other commodities sold from vending equipment. For example the bill will apply to Coca Cola sold from vending equipment in paper cups, or to peanuts sold from vending equipment.

A condition has long been prevelant in Philadelphia and in many other parts of the state which makes it impossible for the dealer of gasoline to make a fair margin of profit. These men put in long and hard hours of work in their gas stations, usually opening their station at 7 a.m. and closing at 1 or 2 in the morning and the existing "price wars" in the industry has prevented these men from making a decent living. Many of them have not even been able to eke out a meager existence. Furthermore these "price wars" have resulted in fraud being practiced on the public. Often times those dealers who undersell are forced to mix a standard grade of gasoline with an inferior grade of gasoline. Whenever I purchase gas from a dealer who undersells, I have invariably noticed the difference in the performance of my car and from past experience I know that this is due to the gasoline being mixed with an inferior grade.

In other words the purpose of this bill is twofold: 1 to permit the dealer a fair margin of profit and 2 to protect the public from fraud. The Fair Trade Act of 1935 now applies to commodities in general which bear the name of the producer and I can't see any difference between commodities in general and gasoline. Therefore, I ask the membership of this House to support the Bill.

Mr. NAGEL. Mr. Speaker, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Voldow.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Philadelphia permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. VOLDOW. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. NAGEL. I want to call the gentleman's attention to the situation that existed only a few weeks ago and perhaps exists today in my section of the state. In a section of Beaver County where gas is sold, and it is Blue Sunoco to be exact about it, this retailer sold his gas at nineteen cents a gallon. Four miles away in the adjoining county of Lawrence this same gas was sold from sixteen to sixteen and one half cents a gallon. When I asked my Beaver county dealer why this was so he said he could not explain, but the distributor of this particular gas hauled it past his filling station four miles beyond and sold it to that dealer at a lesser price. Can the gentleman from Philadelphia explain why this is done and whether or not the passage of this bill would cure this evil.

Mr. VOLDOW. Mr. Speaker, the passage of this bill would cure that situation.

Mr. NAGEL. Mr. Speaker, then would it leave the way open to price fixing and to raise the price to an exorbitant figure for the consumer?

Mr. VOLDOW. Mr. Speaker, if the price is raised those men who raise the price will drive themselves out of business because they will have to compete with those individuals who conform with the price as fixed by the producer.

Mr. NAGEL. Mr. Speaker, will the gentleman tell this House whether or not in his opinion the passage of this bill would open a way for dealers to connive and get together and fix prices perhaps dangerous and injurious to the consumer of gasoline?

Mr. VOLDOW. Mr. Speaker, this bill has nothing to do with dealers fixing the price. The price under this bill is fixed entirely and solely by the producer who sells the commodity. In no event can the buyer fix the price under this bill.

Mr. GATES. Mr. Speaker, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Voldow.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Philadelphia permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. VOLDOW. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. GATES. Mr. Speaker, I would like for my own information to know whether in answer to Mr. Nagel's question Mr. Voldow said that the producer had the right to fix the price at which he sold his oil and gasoline to the dealer and also had the right to fix the price at which the dealer sold the commodity.

Mr. VOLDOW. Mr. Speaker, will the gentleman from Armstrong please repeat the question? I did not quite understand him.

Mr. GATES. Mr. Speaker, does the producer, in the bill of the gentleman from Philadelphia, have the right not only to fix the price at which he sells his commodity to the dealer but also the right to tell the dealer what price he shall sell the commodity for?

Mr. VOLDOW. Mr. Speaker, with or without this bill the producer will have the right to fix the price at any level since it is his commodity. However under the bill the producer has the right to fix the price at which the dealer can resell.

Mr. GATES. Mr. Speaker, then if I understand correctly the producer could fix his price at nineteen to twenty cents a gallon and he could fix the price at which the dealer sold his gasoline at twenty-five cents a gallon, and the poor consumer would have no redress at all. In other words as Mr. Holland pointed out, it seems to me that this is a travesty on justice under the democracy of the United States, and the state of Pennsylvania in particular, when we give any particular manufacturing association authority to fix the price to the dealer and the price at which the dealer can sell his commodity to the consumer. I think it is the most unethical bill I have ever heard of since I have been in the halls of legislature.

Mr. VOLDOW. Mr. Speaker, in answer to the gentleman may I say as I said before, under the Fair Trade Act of 1935 numerous commodities are now covered by the Fair Trade Act which gives the producers of those commodities the right to fix the price. As an example let me point out that Prestone on the market is sold for two dollars and sixty-five cents per gallon. The producer has never taken advantage of the dealer and has always allowed him a fair margin of profit. I do not believe the producer of gasoline will take advantage of the dealer in this instance.

Mr. PETROSKY. Mr. Speaker, I arise at this time to oppose House Bill 393, due to the principles that are involved in this measure. It may be true that Prestone is being sold for a fixed price, Prestone is not in the high competitive status as a commodity on the market as are gasoline and oil.

I find the gentleman speaks of the fair margin of profit to the dealer in the fixing of the prices of gasoline and oil. We have no way of insuring this fair margin of profit under this measure. Therefore, I think in this bill we are legislating for a few privileged persons and legislating detrimentally to those dealers and to those consumers of gasoline and oil that will be interested in this measure.

Therefore, I ask the membership of the House to vote against House Bill 393.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution the yeas and nays were taken.

BILL ON FINAL PASSAGE

Agreeably to order,

The bill having been called up from the postponed calendar by Mr. McClanaghan.

The House resumed the consideration of House Bill No. 77, entitled:

An Act requiring the Department of Welfare of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, to allow all employes of state penal and correctional institutions twenty-four consecutive hours of rest each week; authorizing the Department of Welfare to provide additional employes.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. WOODSIDE. Mr. Speaker, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Monroe, Mr. Achterman.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Monroe permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. ACHTERMAN. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. WOODSIDE. Mr. Speaker, I would like to know from the gentleman from Monroe whether he made inquiry of the Department of Welfare concerning the budgetary effect of this bill, what the report was and from whom it was obtained?

Mr ACHTERMAN. Mr. Speaker, I did inquire and Secretary Sweeney sent me information that this bill would not affect his budget.

Mr. WOODSIDE. Mr. Speaker, I would like to know from the gentleman whether that was based purely upon the theory that they would allocate an amount to each institution and that institution would therefore have to get along on the amount that was allocated to them.

Mr. ACHTERMAN. Mr. Speaker, it was based on the fact that they allocate to the various institutions certain sums of money. From that allocation the institutions will, of course, pay their bills, including the employes' wages. I was advised that in the opinion of the Department it would not affect the budget of these institutions.

Mr. WOODSIDE. Mr. Speaker, in other words it would cost the Commonwealth no more and the institutions no more in salaries to operate under this bill in the manner in which they are now operating?

Mr. ACHTERMAN. Mr. Speaker, that was my conclusion from the report made to me by the Department.

Mr. TURNER. Mr. Speaker, I have had this question up before in reference to the Sleighton Farms Institution in Delaware County, to which young girls are committed from the courts of the different counties in and about Philadelphia. I think as long as a half dozen years ago this question was raised. Now I do not think any of us want to object to the employes of our penal and correctional institutions receiving twenty-four hours of rest. In other words, they ought to have a day off. But in these institutions such as Sleighton Farms it raises a very difficult problem, and in spite of the report of the gentleman from Monroe, and I do not mean or imply that I doubt his word in any way, I know that the Sleighton Farms people advised me in the past that not only would it raise a budgetary question but it would raise a very serious question of personnel.

In that institution girls are housed in cottages. They have a house mother in each cottage. It is not easy to get someone to take over that job. It is a very specialized job and a very particular job. Their custom has been in the past to give their people a vacation once a month when they can work it out, but to give them a day of rest once a week means the employment of people who are not easy to find, and it makes it a very difficult proposition for them as well as entailing additional cost.

Without further information on it I would have to vote against the bill because I do not feel I can place that problem upon the institution.

Mr. ACHTERMAN. Mr. Speaker, I inquired of the representatives of the Department in relation to the subject concerning which the gentleman from Delaware was speaking.

Apparently, in some institutions the employes will accumulate their twenty-four hours of leave, and possibly take two days off in a two-week period. Apparently the accumulations do not exceed more than that. However, I did inquire whether it would raise any serious question as to the administration of the work of the institution, and I was told it would not cause any great discord or disruption in that particular work. I was very particular and careful in my inquiry relative to the increased expense and I was assured it would not affect their budget in any manner, so that personally I see no reason why there should be opposition to this bill.

Mr. TURNER. Mr. Speaker, on the statement of the gentleman from Monroe, Mr. Achterman, I shall vote "aye" on the bill.

Ordered, That the Clerk present the same to the Senate for concurrence

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 772, as follows:

An Act making an appropriation to state teachers colleges to enable such institutions to add certain courses to their curricula

Whereas Our national prosperity and safety is threatened for the present and future generations by the continued exploitation of our national resources and

Whereas The exploitation of top soil is less a matter of greed than ignorance of the vital necessity of top soil as a requisite to animal life and existence and ignorance of necessary conservation practices and controls and

Whereas Rural teachers should have knowledge of conservation practices and erosion control as well as a sympathetic understanding of the agricultural needs of the rural communities they serve and

Whereas Vocational high schools reach a very low percentage of rural youth since sixteen per centum of rural children enter and twelve per centum graduate from high schools of the Commonwealth with a relatively lower percentage matriculating in vocational courses so that a comprehensive understanding of conservation and agricultural problems and remedies is unattainable to the rural masses except through the rural schools of the Commonwealth therefore

Section 1 The sum of one hundred thousand dollars ($100,000) or so much thereof as shall be necessary is hereby appropriated to State teachers colleges of the Commonwealth to enable such schools to instruct their students in the agricultural needs and problems of the Commonwealth particularly on the subjects of soil conservation erosion control reforestation and rural social problems and rural electrification needs The Secretary of Public Instruction shall formulate such an educational program so that instruction shall be given thereon at the opening of the school semesters in the fall term of one thousand nine hundred forty-one

The majority required by the Constitution having voted in the affirmative, the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, That the Clerk present the same to the Senate for concurrence.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 35, as follows:

An Act prohibiting the taxation of income salaries and wages by political subdivisions of this Commonwealth

The General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania hereby enacts as follows

Section 1 No political subdivision of this Commonwealth shall levy any tax on income salaries or wages earned by or accruing to individuals residing within the territorial limits thereof or elsewhere

Section 2 All acts and parts of acts inconsistent herewith are hereby repealed

Section 3 This act shall become effective on the first day of January one thousand nine hundred and forty-two

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. VOORHEES. Mr. Speaker, we discussed this bill for two hours last night trying to have it recommitted because it takes away from the city of Philadelphia seventeen million dollars, and the only income the sponsor of the bill could offer amounts to one million dollars which would be cut from the payrolls by firing men from their jobs. The only other place this money can be raised is by increasing the tax on real estate, and a vote in favor of this bill is a vote to increase the tax on real estate in the city of Philadelphia.

I ask you Members of the House to vote "no" on House Bill No. 35.

Mr. ROSENFELD. Mr. Speaker, I am quoting from an editorial appearing in one of the Philadelphia newspapers under date of November 25, 1938, which refers to the vote of Councilman Crossan, and which reads as follows:

> "Crossan's objection was that Council had not affected all economies possible in the 1939 city-county budget, and that the tax would 'fall heaviest on those least able to pay.'"

It appears to me there must be a house divided, or a party divided, if you will, against itself.

Unless this Legislature intervenes, Philadelphia's City Council will retain the obnoxious wage levy which by the admission last night of the gentleman from Philadelphia will continue for the next few years. This estimate to my mind is conservative since I have every reason to believe that its retention will be for the next five years or longer. This unsound tax is a crime against the citizens of a major metropolitan city. There is infinite antipathy and resentment to this tax by practically all classes of citizens of Philadelphia. It has been denounced by all the newspapers of the city. It is obvious that unless the General Assembly prohibits such unfair inequitable and burdensome levies the city of Philadelphia will continue to extract what blood remains of the already anaemic citizens to compensate for the ravages of a diseased administration.

I exhort this House, to end such tyrannous and arbitrary power arrogated by any city council.

We have the prepostrous situation of the Federal Government levying taxes for relief and W.P.A. and then the city Government levying a wage tax on the public money paid to the W.P.A. workers. Those in control have brought this situation about in order that they may evade the payment of their contribution of the cost of operating the city Government.

Philadelphia's unwarranted plight has caused its city council in desperation to impose the pernicious sales tax. Strong opposition at the end of 1938 presented its re-enactment for 1939. For years, the city had been receiving a rental of four million two hundred thousand dollars from a private operating company for the use of the municipal gas works. Now this annual income was lost since it was pledged to the Reconstruction Finance Corporation and private banking groups for the loan of forty-one million dollars, borrowed to defray 1939 expenses.

On December 13, 1939, the wage tax measure was signed by the Mayor. It is appropriate to inquire how it is to be levied and collected. The tax is imposed upon the following subjects of taxation:

1. The Salary Tax

(a) On the salaries, wages, commissions and other compensation earned during 1940 by residents of Philadelphia.

(b) On the salaries, wages, commissions and other compensation earned during 1940 by non-residents of Philadelphia for work done or services rendered or performed in the City.

2. The Net Profits Tax

(c) On net profits earned during the calendar or fiscal year 1939, of businesses, professions, or other activities conducted by residents of Philadelphia.

(d) On the net profits earned during the calendar or fiscal year 1939, of businesses, professions, or other activities conducted in Philadelphia by non-residents.

The ordinance despite protests from organized labor requires that the salary tax should be collected at the source. Employers are therefore required to make deductions monthly or at the time wages are paid.

There is no question that an income tax which is not graduated, affects the wage earner least able to pay and when this occurs, the levy is iniquitous.

Council's entire approach to the question of raising money is unsound and evasive. It is significant that Council has made no genuine attempt to reduce the city's debt services.

The basic problem is:

(1) A reduction in the funded debt which now takes approximately $39,000,000 of the city's money annually for debt charges or nearly half of the city's entire budget.

(2) Tax Exempt Real Estate

(3) Economies and reductions in personnel

(4) Economies in purchase of city supplies and services such as those involved in condemnation proceedings.

(5) Scientific and more equitable tax assessment system.

(6) Adequate legislation for collections of delinquent taxes so as to eliminate large real estate holders from evading payment of real estate taxes.

(7) Equitable distribution of state taxes due the city.

Gentlemen I am the last one who would transgress upon home rule, but when a cancerous condition exists as does exist in Philadelphia, I feel it is the duty of this legislature to intervene and render such sound advice and such sound assistance as the circumstances will permit. I ask the Members of the House to vote "aye" on this bill.

Mr. VOORHEES. Mr. Speaker I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Rosenfeld.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Philadelphia permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. ROSENFELD. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. VOORHEES. Mr. Speaker, can the gentleman from Philadelphia suggest some tax that is not iniquitous?

Mr. ROSENFELD. Mr. Speaker, in answer to the gentleman from Philadelphia, all taxes when they get beyond a certain scope become iniquitous. In civilization today a certain amount of taxation is required. This is an unrequired tax and is therefore iniquitous.

Mr. VOORHEES. Mr. Speaker, the gentleman has not answered my question to my satisfaction. We have a practical problem here of raising seventeen million dollars. If he had made some suggestion that would perhaps save—

POINT OF ORDER

Mr. WOODRING. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a point of order.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman from Northampton will state his point of order.

Mr. WOODRING. Mr. Speaker, the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Voorhees, is not directing his question to the subject before the House. He is discussing the problem of raising seventeen million dollars which is not the problem of this body, but is the problem of the city council of Philadelphia.

Mr. VOORHEES. Mr. Speaker, that is exactly the point I think we should consider in voting on this bill.

The SPEAKER. Does the gentleman desire to further interrogate the gentleman from Philadelphia?

Mr. VOORHEES. Not at this time, Mr. Speaker.

The SPEAKER. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Voorhees.

Mr. VOORHEES. Mr. Speaker, the gentleman has mentioned exactly the point we should consider in voting on this bill. It is not the problem of this body to raise money for Philadelphia, but it becomes the problem of this body to provide the means of raising money for Philadelphia, if we take every possible means of taxation away from them. We have provided under the Sterling Act that everything that the state taxes the city cannot tax. We have two places where we can place taxes, the sales tax and the wage tax. We are now taking away the wage tax. Therefore it becomes a problem for this body to find ways and means to raise that seventeen million dollars. I ask the gentleman from Philadelphia Mr. Rosenfeld, to give a substitute, of some type that is not obnoxious, which the people will be willing to pay, which will be satisfactory to them, and if he can offer that tax then I will be willing to vote for this bill. I think he has a duty to offer any substitute he has for this tax, because if he cannot offer a substitute the only place it is going to come from is a tax on real estate. A vote for this bill then becomes a vote to increase the tax on real estate in Philadelphia. If the gentleman is interested in increasing public housing in Philadelphia, in low-rent housing, the largest amount of the cost in low rent housing comes from financing and from taxes. If we increase the tax on real estate, rents will go up and the people cannot pay for the housing. Therefore, it becomes a duty and an obligation on the part of the gentleman from Philadelphia to offer a substitute for this tax.

Mr. Speaker, I would like to interrogate the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Rosenfeld.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Philadelphia permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. ROSENFELD. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. VOORHEES. Mr. Speaker, can the gentleman offer a tax which is not obnoxious?

Mr. ROSENFELD. Mr. Speaker, in answer to the gentleman I would say the problem appearing before us today is not one regarding the raising of revenue, but one in which a condition exists that is cancerous to the city of Philadelphia, a condition which we should abolish, because I cannot think of any major city with such an obnoxious tax as Philadelphia has. Philadelphia has until January 1st 1942 to devise a way of raising revenue.

Mr. VOORHEES. Mr. Speaker, I see I cannot get the answer from the gentleman from Philadelphia. I, therefore, ask the Members of of this House to vote "no" on the bill, because it will only increase the tax on real estate in Philadelphia, and the gentleman on the other side has not offered a substitute measure. I ask the clerk to call the roll slowly and to record only the members who answer to their names.

Mr. LEVY. Mr. Speaker, I think last evening the gentleman from Philadelphia gave us sufficient reasons why the General Assembly should attempt to stamp out the obnoxious tax placed upon the citizens of Philadelphia and the non-residents of the city of Philadelphia, without going into much detail about how we ought to get this money.

The gentleman from Philadelphia knows full well it is not the duty of the State Legislature to levy taxes for the city of Philadelphia, and I challenge the gentleman from Philadelphia who represents the party that is now in control of the machinery at Philadelphia to say that the proper function of the City Council of Philadelphia is not to levy taxes. He knows that as well as any other member of this House. The question before us this afternoon is not how we are going to get money for Philadelphia City Council to spend, but it is the duty of the State Legislature to watch that the citizens of Philadelphia are not trampled upon by a group of men who do not have at heart the best interest of the majority of the people in Philadelphia. I would say to the gentleman from Philadelphia that he is intending to confuse the House with reference to this bill. If it were enacted into law finally, it would not necessarily mean that the entire city and county machinery of Philadelphia would cease. The effective date of this act is January 1st 1942, and there is ample time between now and January 1st 1942, for City Council to delve into the problem, conscientiously and sincerely, to try to find some tax by which they might raise the necessary money—and I don't admit it requires seventeen million dollars.

I would further say to the gentleman from Philadelphia and to the Members of this House that we in the Democratic party, in Philadelphia especially, and I feel from other parts of the State feel it is a tribute to a Democratic controlled House to wipe out such an iniquitous tax as the wage, salary and income tax in the city of Philadelphia, which was imposed upon it by Republican dominated City Council against the will of the majority of the people.

Mr. REUBEN E. COHEN. Mr. Speaker, I want to briefly make answer to one question which I am afraid the gentleman from Philadelphia feels has not been answered.

He has asked for a substitute for this tax. The Democratic party went on record some years ago and supported a constitutional amendment that would provide for a graduated income tax in Pennsylvania. There is the answer. If the Republican party in Philadelphia had not knifed that proposition at the polls, the graduated income tax in Pennsylvania would have produced sufficient funds for the school district of Philadelphia and it would have been given money which is required for educational purposes. In that way City Council in Philadelphia would not have the unpleasant task they say they have of raising seventeen million dollars. I say to the gentleman, if they made broth to suit their plans in 1937, they ought to stew in their broth now. We tried it once, now let them try it.

Mr. VOORHEES. Mr. Speaker, we as Members of the House were elected to office to serve in the Legislature, and when we are elected to that office we represent the district from which we come. The members of the City Council are elected by the people and I do think they represent the people, and I do not think it is proper for a Member of this House to criticize another member of a legislative body in this Commonwealth.

We have had experience in raising money in the House. Further we know that the House is not in a position and is not usually willing to turn money back to school districts when they get hold of it. The income tax would not solve the problem in 1942. You do not have this graduated income tax existing on the statute books, and the state is not going to give the money. We have got to get it some place else. The majority on the other side want to take this away from Philadelphia. I remember very well the gentleman from York stating at the last session when he was discussing many bills, "In two years from now how many of you men will not come back"? I say to you members that the citizens of Philadelphia will not be fooled by this matter because if you vote for this bill you will not be back.

Mr. LEVY. Mr. Speaker, I do not want to prolong the discussion on this bill and I am going to be very brief.

Mr. Speaker, I remember very well back in the last session the minority leader made that challenge and apparently it turned out the way he prophesized. We are not going back over that. The only thing I want to say to the gentleman from Philadelphia who is upholding Philadelphia City Council, he had never attempted on this floor in debate to say that the wage, salary, and income tax in Philadelphia is a fair tax; he has never once had the courage to advocate its value. The only thing he tells us is what the tax will yield. We all know what the tax yields and we also know that the people of Philadelphia are against it. I say to the gentleman from Philadelphia, the only way he can vote against this is by saying to the people of Philadelphia, "I am for the salary, wage, and income tax".

Mr. GATES. Mr. Speaker, Mr. Levy in addressing the House very properly said that it is not the business of this House to levy taxes for Philadelphia. By the same token, it is certainly not the business of this House to prohibit Philadelphia from levying such taxes as they see fit to levy.

Mr. VOORHEES. Mr. Speaker, I feel I should answer the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Levy, with reference to my standing on the wage tax. I served on Mayor Wilson's Committee, which studied ways and means of raising money for Philadelphia when we had this sales tax up. Mr. Wilgarde who sits over here, and who is now Secretary for the Democratic City Committee in Philadelphia, was Secretary to the then Mayor Wilson, and he knows the problem very well. He knows at that time this Committee was composed of the best men in the city of Philadelphia, not because I was a member of that committee, as I just happened to have been a member, but it was composed of the president of Drexel Company, it was composed of the biggest real estate men of Philadelphia, it was composed of consumers, it was composed of labor leaders and it was a cross-section of the City of Philadelphia. They decided that the wage tax was the best way of raising money for the city of Philadelphia. I stand by the findings of that committee. I think the wage tax is the best tax we can get under the present circumstances, and until the Democratic party can offer a substitute, I think the Republican party, as it has always in the past and always will in the future, will face the problem squarely and not pussyfoot on the issue and say, "This is what we need; this is what we must do. Hard as it is let us do it. Let us face the future for Philadelphia. Let us go forward instead of backward and knocking down." I might say that those gentlemen who are criticizing the wage tax have a bill before the Legislature to take away our Art Gallery. Is that being proud of our city of Philadelphia, taking away our objects of art? No, it certainly is not.

Mr. LEVY. Mr. Speaker, the gentleman from Philadelphia has certainly used wide latitude, in my estimation, and has said very little. He is not going to fool the people of Philadelphia by dragging in the Parkway; he is not going to fool the people attempting to make a hero or a martyr out of the members of City Council. We contend this: if the members of City Council had conscientiously and sincerely sat down with the problem of taxation, they would not have levied a wage tax on the people of Philadelphia. I repeat, it is a tribute to the Democratic Party in the State Legislature to advocate the abolishment of the wage tax in the City of Philadelphia.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution the yeas and nays were taken and were as follows, viz:

The SPEAKER (Elmer Kilroy) IN THE CHAIR

The SPEAKER. The Chair thanks the gentleman from Delaware, Mr. Turner, for presiding.

HOUSE RESOLUTION No. 76

Mr. JEFFERSON. Mr. Speaker, I desire to call up House Resolution No. 76, Printer's No. 267.

The resolution was read by the Clerk as follows:

In the House of Representatives, April 9, 1941.

Whereas Music is the agency that synchronizes and soothes the feelings of mankind and at the same time creates an emotional reaction that brings ease to the mind and solace to the soul and

Whereas Music from time immemorial has been intended by mankind to create an emotional response which is fitting and proper for particular occasions in man's life and

Whereas Music can be best appreciated when it is performed under proper circumstances and

Whereas The commercialism of today and the resultant swing or jazz arrangements of certain music is in absolute derogation of the composer's or creator's expression of such music and

Whereas The songs known as spirituals and folk songs have meant a great deal in the development of the American negro and have been a great cultural contribution by him to the development of American music and

Whereas Spirituals are symbolic of the deep religious devotion of the American negro to his God and creator and

Whereas Today negro spirituals are being used by leading orchestras throughout the country in jazz and swing arrangements which are nothing but ribald desecrations of such beautiful music therefore be it

Resolved That the House of Representatives request all radio broadcasting stations in this Commonwealth to cooperate with it in its attempt to have the spiritual and folk song assume its proper place in our cultural life by limiting the use of such music to religious occasions or to programs of a religious nature on the Sabbath day or other religious holiday and by also eliminating the jazz and swing arrangements of such music which tend to desecrate it and be it further

Resolved That the Chief Clerk of the House mail a copy of this resolution to all radio broadcasting stations in this Commonwealth in order to apprise them of the feeling of the membership of the House towards these great songs

On the question,
Will the House adopt the resolution?
It was adopted.

SENATE MESSAGE

CONCURRENCE IN HOUSE RESOLUTION No. 73

The Clerk of the Senate being introduced, informed that the Senate has concurred in the resolution from the House of Representatives as follows:

In the House of Representatives, April 8, 1941.

Whereas, The future of this great Nation depends upon its youth and their capacity to uphold the standards established by their forefathers to safeguard the American way of life; and

Whereas, Clean living and healthful sports are conducive to the development of both virility and morality, and the first essential of capacity to carry on is youth's physical equipment; and

Whereas, One who has lived in our midst for well nigh four score years has by his example and industry made it possible to develop in the ranks of clean sportsmanship exemplars of the value of physical development and clean living as standards for our youth; and

Whereas, The General Assembly desires to show its appreciation to the citizen who has dedicated his life to the development of youth and maintaining their ideals on high standards; therefore be it

Resolved (if the Senate concur), That the Legislature acknowledge the contribution made to our cultural development by endorsing the celebration of May 17, 1941 as Connie Mack Day; and be it further

Resolved, That His Excellency, the Governor of Pennsylvania, shall issue, publish and declare an appropriate proclamation to the people of Pennsylvania, designating for observance this year the 17th of May as Connie Mack Day.

Honorable Samuel B. Scott, prominent lawyer, and a long-time resident of Germantown and Chestnut Hill, died Sunday morning at 11:15 a. m. in the University Hospital, following a three weeks' illness and a major operation.

Mr. Scott was born in Pittsburgh, August twenty-sixth, one thousand eight hundred seventy-eight and was educated in the public schools and Shady Side Academy in Pittsburgh. From there he went to Princeton University in nineteen hundred and in nineteen fifteen was admitted to the Philadelphia Bar. At the time of his death he was a member of the firm of Scott and Burton. He was always active in legislative work and represented the Germantown District at the Pennsylvania House of Representatives during the sessions of nineteen hundred seven, nineteen hundred nine, nineteen hundred eleven and nineteen hundred thirteen.

During World War I he was active in giving "Four Minute Speeches" to the recruits and also represented the local draft board. Later he volunteered for service and was given a commission of Major in the Field Artillery. He was a member of the Houston Post 47, American Legion.

Mr. Scott was a direct descendent of Benjamin Franklin and was a member of the Society of the Descendants of the Signers of the Declaration of Independence.

Mr. Scott is survived by his mother, Mrs. Margaretta Morris, wife of the late Charles Hodge Scott of New York; three daughters, Dr. Eleanor Scott, Mrs. Steuchert of Chestnut Hill and Mrs. Alexander Cortz of Pasadena, California; two sisters, Anna M. Scott of New York and Mrs. Isaac P. Miller of Haverford; two brothers, Alexander Scott of New Britain, Connecticut, and Major William Scott of Cynwyd; therefore be it

Mr. Himes was born sixty-nine years ago at New Bethlehem, Clarion County, and received his education in the public schools of that community. Early in life he espoused the printer's trade, in which he advanced step by step, until in eighteen hundred and ninety-six he came to Kittanning, where a few years later he became managing editor of the Kittanning Weekly Tribune.

Aside from his service in the General Assembly, Mr. Himes served as a member of the Kittanning school board, and for a time as its president. He was also active in other public and civic matters, an earnest churchman, and prominent in masonic and other fraternal orders. He is survived by a widow, two sons, a grandson and other collateral relatives, therefore be it

WEDNESDAY, April 16, 1941

The Senate met at 11:00 o'clock, a. m.

The PRESIDENT (Lieutenant-Governor Samuel S. Lewis) in the Chair.

PRAYER

The Chaplain, Rev. BURLEIGH A. PETERS offered the following prayer:

With each succeeding day, our Heavenly Father, the need for Thy wisdom and counsel in all our affairs grows more discernible if we both as individuals and as a nation would maintain personal equilibrium and stable government. Concerning this issue there should never be any doubt, O God, for Thou hast been so kind unto us even when we least deserved it, yet the mind of man tends toward the things of lesser import and ceases to remember Thy goodness and fails to trust Thy promises.

About us upon every hand world chaos threatens. Subversive activities in our own body politic persists. Personal ideals very largely lie shattered within the corridors of a forgotten yesterday. The minds of men today are ill at ease. We are on our way, our Father, but we know not whither.

Look with tenderest compassion upon our sorry plight and lead us back to the sound moralities of yesterday based upon a definite, quickened faith in Thee lest we too share the fate of other nations who tried to live without Thee. Their histories have been written.

O do Thou be very near unto us as we once more profess our unalterable faith in Thee and rely upon Thy guidance. For Thy name's sake. Amen.

QUESTION OF PERSONAL PRIVILEGE

Mr. HALUSKA. Mr. President, I rise to a question of personal privilege.

The PRESIDENT. The gentleman from Cambria will state his question of personal privilege.

Mr. HALUSKA. Mr. President, several weeks ago, four or five weeks ago, I was asked by the gentleman from Allegheny, Senator Geltz, if it would be possible to work out some plan to refrain from speaking on questions of personal privilege until the Senate had finished with the Calendar, and up until this time I have walked the so-called chalk-line; I think all my colleagues will agree I have been very loyal to the promise I made.

However, Mr. President, I have noticed that a number of my colleagues have spoken on questions of personal privilege before consideration of the Calendar was begun.

However, this morning, Mr. President, I have a question that is personal to me and I would like the indulgence of this Senate to put before this body something of great importance.

The PRESIDENT. The gentleman from Cambria may proceed.

Mr. HALUSKA. Mr. President, it is not my intention to bring to Harrisburg my problems from Cambria County. We all have problems back home but no doubt my problem is quite different from the problems of others.

I have in my county, Mr. President, a man whom we call Hiram G. Andrews, a man who happens to be the editor of the so-called Johnstown Democrat. To keep the record clear I must give you a brief history of this man. He sought public office in the year of 1940. He sought the seat I am now holding. The record shows, Mr. President, that the people of my county rejected his idea of coming down to the Senate and left him back home.

So, to vindicate himself, he has taken on a policy of continually writing about me and my work in this chamber. Well, Mr. President, I have no fear of what newspapers say if they tell the truth, and I must compliment the many, many newspapers in this great Commonwealth because, from the local Harrisburg papers to the metropolitan Philadelphia and Pittsburgh papers I must say, Mr. President, the writers have been very fair. I did not always agree with what they said about me but they have told the truth, and just as long as they have confined themselves to the truth I find no fault. They have been more than fair in so far as I am concerned but the paper that is edited by Mr. Andrews has taken the other course.

He has failed at one time to tell the truth about my record. I think all my colleagues this morning received a copy of the paper dated Tuesday, April 8th, 1941, in which appears an editorial headed, "Those Broken Promises."

Now, Mr. President, he states that some Senators or in fact all Senators are able to present bills to this Chamber and have them brought before the body of a committee but that Senator Haluska cannot get his bills placed in a committee. He is referring, Mr. President, to the bill I introduced, known as the Sixty at Sixty Pension Plan, and he goes on and says, "Most members of the Senate can get their bills into committee but have a hard time getting them out. 'Battling Kid' Haluska apparently can't even get his bills in."

So, to keep the record clear, Mr. President—it is important to me—I would like this morning to ask a few questions of my colleague from Northampton, Senator Bartlett, the Chairman of the Committee on Welfare, Public Assistance and Pensions.

The PRESIDENT. Will the gentleman from Northampton permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. BARTLETT. Gladly, Mr. President.

Mr. HALUSKA. Mr. President, did the gentleman hear the quotation I read into the record about a bill a moment ago?

Mr. BARTLETT. I did not understand the question, Mr. President.

Mr. HALUSKA. Mr. President, I was reading an editorial from a paper dated Tuesday, April 8th, written by Mr. Andrews. For the information of the gentleman from Northampton the part to which I referred reads as follows, "Most members of the Senate can get their bills into committee but have a hard time getting them out. 'Battling Kid' Haluska apparently can't even get his bills in."

Will the gentleman from Northampton state whether or not the bill introduced by myself pertaining to the aged, and known as the Sixty at Sixty Plan, is in the Committee on Welfare, Public Assistance, and Pensions?

Mr BARTLETT. It is, Mr. President.

Mr. HALUSKA. Mr. President, has the gentleman from Northampton seen the bill himself?

Mr. BARTLETT. That bill is in the committee, Mr. President.

Mr. HALUSKA. Was that bill discussed in Committee, Mr. President?

Mr. BARTLETT. It has been discussed.

Mr. HALUSKA. Is there any possibility of this bill being acted upon, Mr. President?

Mr. BARTLETT. Mr. President, there is no immediate possibility of that bill being released.

Mr. HALUSKA. Mr. President I thank the gentleman from Northampton. I wanted to make sure the bill was in his committee. I say that, Mr. President, without malice and in all sincerity, because the impression back home is I cannot get my bills placed in committee. I know that sounds silly. However, this man back home is trying to insinuate that my bills are rejected by this Senate and I think it is unfair and improper to have any crazy editor print such trash.

Now, Mr. President, he goes on and states the following: "However, as long as the 'Battling Kid' can keep his pension plan going he expects he will be able to keep going. In the meantime, of course, he will have to write some insurance. It's a great game—statesmanship. Some men are able to make a livelihood out of being a member of the General Assembly," but Haluska cannot.

Mr. President, I agree I can not make a living by merely being a member of the General Assembly. The meager sum of three thousand dollars for two years can not keep my family or any other man's family. However, he tries to insinuate I must go back home and write some insurance. Certainly. that is true, but I have the same right to go back home and write insurance as my colleagues have to go back home and practice law or to go back home and take care of their farms or to take care of their industries. Why not? What is wrong with that?

Mr. President, I have refrained up to this time from saying anything mean about this man. I realize he likes publicity and because he wants publicity is the simple reason I have refrained from mentioning his name, because even this speech will give him notice and he will go back home and tell his friends his name was brought up in the Senate, and he is a glutton for that.

Mr. President, some weeks ago we had a public hearing, a public meeting, on the so-called communist bill, and I am sorry that Mr. Andrews was not called to appear before that body. Why do I say that? Because in these times of strife, in this great crisis, we are all speaking of Americanism, we are all trying to be patriotic, we do all we possibly can to keep that flag before the American people.

Mr. President, this man, Hiram Andrews, has written in his Johnstown Democrat, the following, stating that Senator Haluska has, and this is very bluntly put, but I will quote his own words, "Senator Haluska is the king of all the Wops in Cambria County." Imagine those words being printed by a so-called white man, by a so-called American—that "Senator Haluska was the king of all the Hunkies in Cambria County."

Mr. President, we speak of fifth columnists. My interpretation of a fifth columnist is one who tries to create class hatred, and if that is not class hatred, nothing is. True enough, I was born of Slovenian parents, and I am proud of it. I am not ashamed of it. First of all, it is not my fault, and secondly, it is something I am proud of, because I can speak in that native tongue, However, my father and mother came from across the seas and settled in the county where my good friend, Senator Reed, comes from, the County of Washington, fifty-eight years ago, and I first saw the light of day in that great county of Washington; I was born in the borough of Cannonsburg, and I came to Cambria County after I was two years old and I have resided in Cambria County since then, and yet he has the audacity to say I come from foreign parents, and that I should be discredited because of the fact my people were Slovenians. Well, thank God my colleagues do not feel that way, because each and every one of them have respected me and I have respected them, but it is tough to live in a county where you have a mad man, a man who is crazy, a man who is insane, trying to put before the public issues that are un-American and unpatriotic, and then wraps himself up in the American flag and says he is a one hundred per cent American.

It is tough to live in such a county, Mr. President. I do not think he has ever grown up; I think he has been a runt, a midget, never a full sized man. Had he been a full sized man, Mr. President, I would not probably be here today. I would take the law in my own hands. I am only hoping I can refrain from doing that, and am asking my Maker to give me sufficient patience and intelligence to keep from attacking that man physically. He comes around this Senate chamber like a weasel, back of the gates, in and out, and then he goes back home and he tells a different story. Let him print my record, let him tell the world about my record; I am proud of my record. I have done the best I knew how since I have been a member of this body and I will continue pursuing the same course. If what I do is wrong, and the papers wish to print it, well and good, but they should confine themselves to the truth.

I have always been told newspapers were news carriers and not news makers but this paper is not a news carrier, this Johnstown Democrat is a news maker, the Johnstown demagogue and the Johnstown Democrat.

Mr. President, I do not know whether the man I am speaking of is here or not. I just wish he was here but in fact, it is just as well that he is not because he is getting the best of my patience and I am sick and tired of having him go back home and speak of my record. He states that I presented a bill which is known as the sixty at sixty bill and that I shall continue to seek public office in 1944 and 1948, until my bill becomes a reality. Well, Mr. President, he told the truth there. I presented that bill that he rants so much about because I believe in it and as long as I have breath I shall fight for its adoption and, as I stated a few weeks ago, if both major political parties do not see fit to adopt a program to take care of our senior citizens, I shall make the sacrifice by preempting a third party, which is my right if I care to do so, and take my message before the public, because I am firmly convinced that something must be done to take care of those people industry fails to hire. If he cares to condemn me because of my policy here, well and good, but I want him to confine himself to the truth.

Now, Mr. President, I think that man should be investigated for his un-American activities and that is one reason I supported the bill offered by the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Geltz, setting up a Little Dies Committee. I hope that bill passes the House and I will have an opportunity to present my cause to that committee and if that committee will act justly and fairly, as I know they will, I think this man will be put where he justly belongs—back of the bars.

The PRESIDENT. Will the gentleman from Philadelphia permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. FARRELL. I will, Mr. President.

Mr. REED. Mr. President, may I ask the gentleman from Philadelphia to state whether there is any special reason for dispensing with advertising by the school districts in cases where they are purchasing supplies and materials and other commodities.

Mr. FARRELL. Mr. President, I would say there were not. This is an emergency bill. This bill has only to do with vocational training, with federal funds.

The PRESIDENT. There has been a request that the gentleman from Philadelphia avail himself of the microphone.

Mr. FARRELL. Mr. President, I would like the gentleman from Washington to repeat his question.

(Question repeated by the reporter.)

Mr. FARRELL. Mr. President, may I suggest the gentleman from Washington use the microphone.

Mr. REED. Mr. President, I am not talking right now.

Mr. FARRELL. Mr. President, as far as I know there is no advertising except in a minor way. This is an emergency bill, Mr. President. It is a federal bill for vocational training and I understand that if they have to advertise for bids it would take too long before bids were allotted under the present ruling of the Board of Education. This would give them the right to allot a contract without waiting the required time. Mr. President, I might say this bill is really an emergency bill and this bill should be passed by this Senate. I would have insisted upon a vote yesterday but out of courtesy to my brother Senator, the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Frey, I agreed that the bill should go over in its order yesterday, as far as I was personally concerned.

Mr. REED. Mr. President, I desire further to interrogate the gentleman from Philadelphia.

The PRESIDENT. Will the gentleman from Philadelphia permit himself to be further interrogated?

Mr. FARRELL. I will, Mr. President.

Mr. REED. Mr. President, under the amendment as provided in this bill, how long will it take in order to let a contract, or in other words how much notice would have to be given?

Mr. FARRELL. I do not know that, Mr. President. I can not answer that question without looking at the amendment. I did read the amendment. The amendment was drawn by the educational board at Harrisburg and it has been quite some time ago. I think the gentleman from Montgomery, Senator Edmonds, introduced the amendment. Is that not correct, Mr. Edmonds?

Mr. EDMONDS. Mr. President, I would be very glad to answer the question, if I may. This amendment is limited purely to federal funds for vocational training and the object back of it was that prices for tools are skyrocketing at the present time on account of the demand of the federal government and in order to obtain tools that are necessary to train the young men in the arts of defense it seems wise to give the school boards the authority to obtain quicker action, to receive at least two bids and award the contract to the lowest bidder with no necessity for advertising, and I think that is essential if they are going to be able to get the kind of equipment they want to use at the present time in connection with training young men in the defense industries.

This is limited to federal funds and it is limited to vocational training and it does not make any breach in our present school practice that will later on probably return to trouble us. If it included ordinary contracts I do not think I would like it.

Mr. REED. Mr. President, I thank both of the gentleman from the other side for their remarks.

Mr. FREY. Mr. President, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Farrell.

The PRESIDENT. Will the gentleman from Philadelphia permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. FARRELL. I will, Mr. President.

Mr. FREY. Mr. President, have any additional amendments been inserted in the bill since yesterday?

Mr. FARRELL. No, Mr. President, there have not been.

Mr. FREY. Mr. President, is it the intention of the gentleman from Philadelphia to have the bill further amended in the House to provide that contracts shall be awarded by the vote of the school boards?

Mr. FARRELL. I agree, Mr. President, that should the House want to amend it I can not stop it, but I see nothing wrong with the bill as it now stands without further amendments. As I said before, Mr. President, this bill only applies to emergencies for the government—and we cannot go on forever continuing this bill when the Board of Education has now rented large mills and are at a great disadvantage equipping those mills with machinery to give this vocational training to boys.

Mr. FREY. Mr. President, may I further interrogate the gentleman from Philadelphia?

The PRESIDENT. Will the gentleman from Philadelphia permit himself to be further interrogated?

Mr. FARRELL. Yes, Mr. President.

Mr. FREY. Mr. President, the bill introduced by the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Farrell, now provides that contracts may be awarded after the school board has secured sealed quotations from two or more firms but it does not say anything about requiring a vote by the majority of the school board to award the contracts. I think that should be included in the bill and it was my understanding yesterday that would be incorporated, or that it would be amended in the House.

Mr. FARRELL. Mr. President, I think that follows—you cannot award a contract without the approval of the Education board.

Mr. FREY. Where does it so state in the bill, Mr. President.

Mr. FARRELL. It does not so state, Mr. President, but I think the school code so states that.

Mr. FREY. However, Mr. President, this is a separate act.

Mr. FARRELL. It is a separate act, Mr. President, and it would be governed by the school code except to hurry along bids on this work. I think it is very clear when it says here two or more sealed bids without advertising shall bind all contracts which have been paid or which shall be paid entirely out of federal funds appropriated or to be appropriated to vocational education for national defense. I think that is very clear myself, Mr. President.

Mr. FREY. As I understand the bill, Mr. President, no equipment may be purchased by a school board after the school board has solicited sealed quotations from two or more firms, manufacturers of materials or equipment, but it does not say anything about requiring the vote of the school board.

Under its present conditions, Mr. President, I shall be compelled to vote "no" on this bill.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

BILL OVER IN ORDER

Mr. WOODWARD. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that Senate Bill No. 420, on third reading, entitled:

A Joint Resolution proposing an amendment to article nine section eight of the Constitution of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania go over in its order.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

BILL ON THIRD READING AND FINAL PASSAGE

Agreeably to order,

The Senate proceeded to the third reading and consideration of Senate Bill No. 421, as follows:

A Joint Resolution proposing an amendment to section one article eight of the Constitution of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania

The General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania hereby resolves as follows

Section 1 The following amendment to the Constitution of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania be and the same is hereby proposed in accordance with the eighteenth article thereof

Section one of article eight is hereby amended to read as follows

Section 1 Every citizen twenty-one years of age possessing the following qualifications shall be entitled to vote at all elections subject however to such laws requiring and regulating the registration of electors as the General Assembly may enact

1 He or she shall have been a citizen of the United States at least one month

2 He or she shall have resided in the State one year (or having previously been a qualified elector or native born citizen of the State he or she shall have removed therefrom and returned then six months) immediately preceding the election

3 He or she shall have resided in the election district where he or she shall offer to vote at least two months immediately preceding the election

4 If twenty-two years of age and upwards he or she shall have paid within two years a county municipal or school tax which shall have been assessed at least two months and paid at least one month before the election

And said bill having been read at length the third time,

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the bill?

Mr. WOODWARD. Mr. President, if you read the last paragraph of this resolution it reads "If twenty-two years of age and upward he or she shall have paid within two years a county, municipal or school tax which shall have been assessed at least two months and paid at least one month before the election."

This joint resolution passed the session of 1939, in both Houses. The Philadelphia Record—I am a great admirer of the Philadelphia Record—the Philadelphia Record always describes me as the multi-millionaire Senator from Germantown and I am perfectly delighted with that description.

At this time, however, Mr. President, I admit it is a little embarrassing to stand up and propose a joint resolution that will require the poor man to pay a tax before he can vote. I acknowledge the handicap and am very sorry but I cannot help it.

Now, Mr. President, you could talk a long while pro and con, of course, on this joint resolution but I will talk only a very few minutes.

As I understand it we have in the counties school taxes, per capita taxes, personal property taxes and real estate taxes and you may pay a one, two, three or five dollars school tax and thereby qualify as a voter. Now, Mr. President, that does not seem to be a large fee to pay for the privilege of suffrage. Some people call this a poll tax. I do not care what you call it but I contend that the doctrine is sound. Well, if we would be perfectly honest with ourselves we would vote for this because after all it is the people who own something that have a stake in this government, and there are over fifty per cent of our people now that own insurance and have saving funds and so on, and I would rather trust the government to those people, certainly, than to the man who owns nothing and has no stake.

Therefore, I hope, Mr. President, my colleagues will vote in favor of this bill and that the more enlightened Democrats will also vote for it. What will happen to it in the House of Representatives heaven only knows.

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, I propose to vote "no" on this bill because some of the iniquities that were in election practices many years ago were caused by this same poll tax. Some people call it a poll tax but I understand there are others that add "cat" to poll.

Years ago, Mr. President, many coal operators in some of the coal mining sections would hand a man a poll tax receipt and a sample ballot at the same time. I do not think this democracy is based upon the ability to pay for the privilege of enjoying suffrage. We are entitled to vote as citizens. It is true a great many persons still do not have anything in this country but a great many of those citizens who themselves do not have anything are the fathers and mothers of children who some day may have as much money as the Senator from Germantown—I mean as much as he is reported to have.

A great many of our great Americans, as I understand it, men like Lincoln and Franklin, ordinary fellows like that, who have gone down in history, their parents were extremely poor and if they had had to pay a poll tax they would have never voted.

I think the system in the South—everyone is acquainted with the poll tax system in the South, the peonage labor, the sharecroppers, in other words, who get a poll tax receipt if they vote right and go in and vote the way the polititical bosses want them to vote.

I think we struck a great blow for democratic government and for clean elections when we repealed the poll tax and I would hate to see the poll tax again become law.

Mr. WOODWARD. Mr. President, it seems to me undemocratic not to give the people a chance to vote yes or no on this proposition. It seems to me the gentleman from Westmoreland is becoming autocratic when he wants to stop it right here and not give the people a chance to express themselves on it. If you have faith in the people, let them vote on it

Mr. DENT. That certainly gives me an opportunity to strike home a blow I have been wanting to strike for a long time. Mr. President, I asked the gentleman from Germantown if he would vote for my horse racing bill, if we would put in a referendum, which would have allowed the people the same opportunity for acceptance, or rejection of the industry of horse racing, and so now I will make a bargain with the gentleman from Germantown right here on the Senate floor and if the gentleman from Germantown will go along with a horse racing referendum bill I will go along with his bill.

Mr. WOODWARD. Mr. President, I only would say that is a horse of another color.

Mr. CAVALCANTE. Mr. President, the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Woodward, has expounded the virtues of this bill and why we should all vote for it, and he would impugn to the person who does not see those virtues and who might want to vote against it as being undemocratic to so vote.

In this bill I see more iniquity than virtue and I see in the adoption of a joint resolution of this kind less democracy than the gentleman from Philadelphia attributes to it.

May I leave with the gentleman from Philadelphia just one thought, and it is this: when this mighty government of ours points a finger at one of its citizens and says, "Come, I need you in my army to defend America," it does not ask of that person whether he has paid his taxes or not, whether that person has a tax receipt or not. This mighty government of ours looks at the physical fitness of the man to carry a gun to defend this country. It does not require the showing of a tax receipt and so I say that it is greater democracy for us to give the citizens the right to vote, whether they have a tax receipt or not, if that individual may be called at any time by our government to defend it without asking whether he has a tax receipt or not.

Mr. COX. Mr. President, and members of the Senate, I feel that we, the statesmen of the great Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, sometimes have lots of fun. Some of our deliberations remind me very much of some of the scenes in that very interesting movie, "The Lady from Cheyenne." If you have not seen that picture you have really missed something.

Mr. President, if we turn back the pages of history, there are many lessons which we learned. As a matter of fact, one of the reasons for studing history is so that we can learn from mistakes of the past not to make the same mistakes in the future.

Beginning with several states which became the United States of America there was a firm philosophy fixed in the minds of the founders of those states that there should be proper qualifications necessary to enable a man to be enfranchised. Through the history of the United States that philosophy I thought had died completely but I see again through the instrument of the Senator from Philadelphia, Dr. Woodward, it has been once again revived.

The question of poll tax, of course, is an extremely important one because it represents that philosophy. The thing it seems to me we want today in the United States, Mr. President, and in Pennsylvania, is a more sincere interest, a more active interest on the part of all the voters and all citizens of the Commonwealth and of the country. Many of our social and political evils are due to the fact that the great mass, the great majority of the voters, do not take too seriously, or seriously enough, their right to the franchise. Mr. President, anything which would have the effect of removing from the lists individuals who have that right at the present time is the thing we are very much fearful of and so I urge you to not again return to the dark ages of the political and social past of our great Commonwealth and I urge you to vote "no" on this bill.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

The yeas and nays were taken agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution, and were as follows, viz:

YEAS—25

Bartlett,	Geltz,	Scarlett,	Tyler,
Becker,	Heyburn,	Snowden,	Wade,
Chapman,	Homsher,	Stevenson,	Watkins,

Dent,	Kephart,

Less than a constitutional majority of all the Senators having voted "aye" the question was determined in the negative.

Mr. WOODWARD. Mr. President, I ask that the roll be verified.

The PRESIDENT. The roll will be so verified. The affirmative vote will be verified first.

The Clerk read those recorded in the affirmative as follows:

Bartlett,	Geltz,	Scarlett,	Tyler,
Becker,	Heyburn,	Snowden,	Wade,
Chapman,	Homsher,	Stevenson,	Watkins,
Crider,	James,	Tallman,	Wilson, H. I.,
Crowe,	Letzler,	Taylor,	Woodward,
Ealy,	Miller,	Thomas,	Ziesenheim,
Edmonds,

The PRESIDENT. Are there any corrections in the affirmative vote? The Chair hears none. The affirmative roll stands as verified.

The Clerk will verify the negative vote.

The Clerk read those recorded in the negative as follows:

Barr,	DiSilvestro,	Lanius,	Mundy,
Cavalcante,	Frey,	McCreesh,	Reed,
Coleman,	Haluska,	McGinnis,	Stiefel,
Cox,	Jaspan,	McQuiddy,	Walker,
Dent,	Kephart,

The PRESIDENT. Are there any corrections in the negative vote? The Chair hears none. The negative roll stands as verified.

Mr. WOODWARD. Mr. President, I thought I had one vote from the democratic side. I thought the Senator from Philadelphia, Mr. Jaspan, had voted "aye".

The PRESIDENT. How did the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Jaspan, vote?

Mr. JASPAN. Mr. President, I voted "no". Very definitely "no". If I lived in Germantown I would have to vote "aye" but I live in one of the poorer districts in Philadelphia.

Mr. WOODWARD. Mr. President, may I inquire how the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Farrell, voted?

The PRESIDENT. The Chair is of the opinion the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Farrell, did not vote. The gentleman is not recorded as having voted. He was not in the Senate when the roll was called.

Mr. WOODWARD. He is not recorded, Mr. President.

The PRESIDENT. That is correct.

The vote on final passage of Senate Bill No. 421, is the yeas 25, nays 18. Having failed to receive a constitutional majority, the bill falls.

BILL OVER IN ORDER

Mr. WOODWARD. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that Senate Bill No. 422, on third reading, entitled:

A Joint Resolution proposing an amendment to section four, article nine of the Constitution of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania.

go over in its order.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

BILLS ON THIRD READING AND FINAL PASSAGE

And said bill having been read at length the third time,

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the bill?

Mr. REED. Mr. President, I desire to call the Senate's attention to this bill. As I read it, it is an amendment to the administrative code of 1929, by adding section 1201 (b) which reads as follows:

"The Secretary of Internal Affairs shall appoint and fix the compensation of such directors superintendents bureau or division chiefs assistant directors assistant superintendents assistant chiefs experts auditors inspectors statisticians scientists engineers surveyors draftsmen accountants secretaries marshals clerks stenographers bookkeepers messengers investigators and other assistants and employes as may be required for the proper conduct of the work of his department Such appointments shall be made without the approval of the Governor and shall not be subject to prior action by the Executive Board."

It seems to me, Mr. President, at this time, when it has been stated many times that the state cupboard is about bare, that we can dispense with changing the law as provided in this bill. I do not see that it will bring about this result, but it opens the door for the opportunity of permitting any head of that department to call in and employ without any restriction or restraint, any of those employes into any of those classes which this sub-section (b) enumerators. I believe at this time it is not necessary to make that change. The state at this time can not afford to take any chances with playing politics with any department by hiring a lot of unnecessary people. I think that department has worked admirably in the past and I say it can do so in the future without changing the law with respect to the hiring and firing of its personnel.

So, for that reason, Mr. President, I propose to vote "no" on this bill.

Mr. WALKER. Mr. President, I propose to vote in favor of this bill. I agree with what the gentleman from Washington says about watching that we do not increase the cost of government, but this bill as now before the Senate does not increase the cost of government.

The State Treasurer and the Auditor General are duly elected officers, they are elected by the people of Pennsylvania, and so is the Secretary of the Department of Internal Affairs. Very unfortunately, under the administrative code as adopted in 1929, the Department of Internal Affairs was reduced in authority and the secretary was reduced in administrative control to a place where he was practically a glorified office boy, he became merely an elective member of the Governor's cabinet, he has no control over his department, he has to get the Governor's permission to have a messenger boy appointed; he has no control over the salaries paid, he has no control over the work they do because he cannot hire or fire them.

Now, The State Treasurer has the right to run his own department, the Auditor General has the right to run his own department, and I think a duly elected office holder, like the Secretary of the Department of Internal Affairs should be placed in the same status as the State Treasurer and the Auditor General.

Now, Mr. President, the Secretary of the Department of Internal Affairs can not run away with all the money in the state, because he is bound absolutely by the appropriation made by the Legislature, but how he apportions that money to his employes is his problem, just as it is the problem of the State Treasurer or the Auditor General.

This bill, I think, is a constructive piece of legislation, because it puts life and responsibility into an office holder who is elected by the people, and the Secretary of the Department of Internal Affairs is responsible to the people who put him in there, and he should be given the same rights, opportunities and responsibilities as the State Treasurer and the Auditor General.

As I said, I think this is a good piece of legislation, and I propose to vote for it.

Mr. REED. Mr. President, in answer to the gentleman from Allegheny, I wish to state that in my experience here I have never heard any criticism raised at any time during any administration as to the efficiency of the office of internal affairs. That is a strong argument in favor of defeating this bill.

We have had progressive Republicans controlling that office under the very able administration of ex-Governor Pinchot, we have had Democrats controlling that office, under the administration of ex-Governor Earle. Now we have that office under the control of the present administration, and during all those times I have never heard of one constructive criticism raised in this whole Commonwealth against the efficiency of the conduct of that office.

Our government is a democratic government and it has remained democratic because of the checks and balances put on various offices from the top to the bottom. No office holder elected under our system should at any time complain of having reasonable checks and balances put on the conduct of his department, and I say now there is no necessity for this bill, since it is to open up the field of adding more employes in that department, and it should be voted down.

Mr. MUNDY. Mr. President, I must say I intend to vote for this bill, because I think that any official elected by the people is responsible to the people directly and in my opinion, if he is held responsible for the conduct of the office he should have the power to name those who shall serve in his office. I might correct the impression, and I stand here ready to be corrected by the Republican side, but I never knew the Secretary of the Department of Internal Affairs was definitely connected with the Pinchot faction of the Republican party. I am rather inclined to think he represents a new thought, the liberal section of the younger element of the Republican party.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

The yeas and nays were taken agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution, and were as follows, viz:

Mr. CAVALCANTE. Mr. President, I rise to a point of information.

The PRESIDENT. The gentleman from Fayette will state his point of information.

Mr. CAVALCANTE. Mr. President, when did Senate Bill No. 30 pass second reading?

The PRESIDENT. Senate Bill No. 30 passed second reading just a few moments ago and now the vote by which it passed second reading has been reconsidered. Is that satisfactory to the gentleman from Fayette?

Mr. CAVALCANTE. Yes, Mr. President.

Agreeably to order.

The rule requiring bills to be considered in Committee of the Whole being in this case dispensed with,

BILL ON SECOND READING

And said bill having been read at length the second time

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the bill?

BILL RECOMMITTED

Mr. WALKER. Mr. President, I move that Senate Bill No. 169, the bill just read, be recommitted to the Committee on Elections for the purpose of further study and amendments, as we have had requests for a hearing on this bill.

Mr. GELTZ. Mr. President, I second the motion.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the motion?

MOTION TO RECOMMIT

Mr. BARR. Mr. President, when this bill originally started out it was to get rid of a form of government we have in Allegheny County, but I find now it has become a political bill and I think if it had been intended that it was to be a political bill I do not think Mr. Walker and I would co-sponsor it, he being a Republican and I being a Democrat.

I have talked with a number of my colleagues on both sides of the House regarding this bill and have explained just what it does. I might state, Mr. President, that permanent registration originally started in Allegheny County, that is, the City of Pittsburgh in Allegheny County was made the proving ground and later on permanent registration became a reality in every county in the State of Pennsylvania, but in passing the permanent registration act for different counties, boroughs, and townships the bill setting up the commission in the City of Pittsburgh was not repealed.

At the present time we have two registration commissions in the County of Allegheny, one for the City of Pittsburgh, which has a very peculiar set-up, it is appointed by the Governor, they work for the city and the work is paid for by the county. I do not think there is any other commission in the State of Pennsylvania which is just set-up in that way.

Now, Mr. President, as it is, if you live in the City of Pittsburgh and you move to a borough or township within the county, you must re-register. In other words, the salient feature of permanent registration is that the City of Pittsburgh is divided into various Senatorial districts, represented by Senator Cox, Senator Walker and others and in the district represented by Senator Walker part of it is in the City of Pittsburgh and part of it is in the county of Allegheny. If you should live in the fourteenth ward, which is in Senator Walker's district, and move across the street into Wilkinsburg, you must again re-register. The same thing is also true in Senator Cox's district and other wards within the city.

We have in Allegheny a county registration commission which acts under the Board of County Commissioners and I think we have the best board of County Commissioners in the county that we have ever had. There is also involved in these two registration commissions the matter of expense. Some say if it comes under the County Commissioners of Allegheny County, that turns it over to the Democrats. The County Commissioners are composed of two Democrats and one Republian and they have run a very fine permanent registration commission, and that is done nonpolitically. I might also state there are sixty-five employes in the county registration commission and of the sixty-five employees twenty-eight of them are Republicans and when it comes to registration and election our county commissioners feel the Republicans should have the same proportion of representation, one third—more than one third.

Now, Mr. President, this bill has been pushed around on the Calendar here for several weeks. I do not know who wants this public hearing but I have been told the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Walker desires to insert amendments and I might state I would be glad to give him what support I can give him. I have heard the name of one woman and I do not think we should have a public hearing on that information and I would suggest to the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Walker, if he has any amendments, let us bring them out on the floor and vote on the bill, do something about this bill, either pass it or kill it on the Senate floor, and not send it back to committee where it is going to die a political death.

Mr. WALKER. Mr. President, I am sorry for taking up the time of the Senate in discussing something which perhaps should have been discussed before the Senate convened today. May I suggest to my co-sponsor that no one is more anxious to have this bill passed than I am.

I agree with what the gentleman says about the Allegheny County Election Bureau. I think we are very fortunate in Allegheny County because we have at the head of our election bureau one of the most efficient public servants you could have in that capacity and we are very fortunate and happy to have him.

Mr. President, I am anxious to see this consolidation but I am also anxious to have this the best bill we can possibly have.

I might also state that the one lady mentioned by my colleague from Allegheny, Mr. Barr, did not speak as an individual but as the head of an organization which is state wide. They are interested in public affairs and they are one of the groups which have asked that some amendments be placed in the bill. Very frankly, Mr. President, I am not convinced I would want the amendments in the bill. Some of them might be all right and again they might not. I do not know whether my co-sponsor, the gentleman from Allegheny, Senator Barr, would be willing to accept the amendments. He very cheerfully suggested he could get me some support—I assume from the Democrats, for the amendments, and he has not even seen them.

Mr. President, I have not seen the amendments. I have had them explained to me but I am not convinced I want to accept them. However, I feel these people who have asked for a hearing, this organization—there is no question of trying to satisfy one woman in Allegheny, it is not a question of satisfying the three commissioners in Allegheny County, it is not a question of satisfying the head of the election bureau, it is not a question of satisfying the head of the Republican party in Allegheny County, and it is not a question of satisfying the head of the Democratic party in Allegheny County, but it is a question of some citizens who are desirous of discussing this bill with us and they have asked me if I would secure for them the opportunity to be heard. That is the purpose of sending the bill back, Mr. President.

As to the fear expressed by my co-sponsor that there is something sinister in the motion, I can understand that and I am not hurt by it because I am so accustomed to having the motives of the Republican party misinterpreted by the Democrats and very repeatedly I am so accustomed to having my motives misinterpreted by my own party, that his accusation does not interest me the least bit.

May I say to him, Mr. President, for what it is worth, there is nothing sinister in it, we are not trying to kill the bill; if we were trying to do that we would vote it down on the floor. That is the policy we follow. We are trying to make certain we have the best things in the bill we can possibly get.

Mr. President, I am perfectly willing to turn these jobs over to the Democrats; I do not worry about that because I do not get any jobs from the Republicans anyway and I do not get any from the Democrats, so personnally I do not lose in my district one iota.

May I suggest to the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Barr, that I am batting one thousand per cent, because the only man in my district on the county payroll who was a Republican was fired by the County Commissioners not more than two weeks ago. However, do not misconstrue me, that is not why I am interested in the bill. I sponsored the bill long before that gentleman was fired. I think these people are entitled to a hearing and that is why I made the motion. If we adopt the practice of denying to the public who are interested in government and matters such as this, the right to a hearing, we will be establishing a very bad precedent.

I think we ought to remove politics from our minds and consider the fact that the people to whom we are responsible would like to be heard on this bill.

Mr. CAVALCANTE. Mr. President, I am amazed at the remarks of the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Walker, that we ought to remove politics from consideration of this bill. I want to recommend to the gentleman from Allegheny, his consideration of what he did on Senate Bill No. 130.

Mr. President, and members of the Senate, I heard the gentleman from Allegheny on several occasions ask for the recommittal of bills for the purpose of a hearing and I must say I have been amazed at the treatment that has been given the bills after they have been returned for a hearing and I am not going to be hereafter so gullible as to accept the statements of the gentleman from Allegheny that bills are going back for a hearing.

Before I can vote or anybody can vote intelligently on the matter that is before us now, I think the gentleman from Allegheny ought to state and I ask the Chair to indulge me in an inquiry of the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Walker, on that point.

The PRESIDENT. Will the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Walker permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. WALKER. Very gladly, Mr. President.

Mr. CAVALCANTE. For the information of this body, Mr. President, will the gentleman from Allegheny give the names of those who want a hearing on this bill?

Mr. WALKER. Mr. President, if I give the names to the gentleman he will not believe me anyway. He just said he would not take my word. May I direct attention to the gentleman from Fayette in connection with Senate Bill No. 130, that he is so outraged about, it was his own motion, according to the Journal by which the bill was returned to committee. I am only one member of the committee and so is he, and he is just as responsible for that bill being now in committee as I am, because he made the motion to send it back to committee.

Mr. President, I do not ask the gentleman from Fayette to take my word for anything. May I say to him, so that it will make him happy and he will sleep well tonight, I am willing to take his word.

Mr. CAVALCANTE. Mr. President, I will take care of Senate Bill No. 130 next week, as I promised the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Walker.

I still desire to know whether he wishes to answer my question and place on the records of this Senate the names of the persons who want a public hearing.

Mr. WALKER. The answer to the question of the gentleman from Fayette, Mr. President, is no, I will not give the gentleman the names.

Mr. CAVALCANTE. Mr President, will the gentleman from Allegheny be interrogated further?

The PRESIDENT. Will the gentleman from Allegheny permit himself to be further interrogated?

Mr. WALKER. Certainly, Mr. President.

Mr. CAVALCANTE. Mr. President, will the gentleman from Allegheny state for the information of the Senate whether the hearing is going to be a public hearing or a star chamber hearing.

Mr. WALKER. Mr. President, I am not the chairman of that committee and I cannot answer that question, but as far as I am concerned, I am willing to take it either way.

Mr. CAVALCANTE. Mr. President, the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Walker, is the gentleman that is asking that this bill be recommitted for the purpose of a hearing. I would like to know how he knows the committee to which this bill will be referred is going to agree to grant the hearing.

Mr. WALKER. Mr. President, I am assuming naturally that the members of the Senate are still co-operative. When I find out they are not I will quit making motions and ignore public demands such as suggested by the gentleman from Fayette. If I send that bill back for a public hearing and the members of the committee refuse to return it to the floor, because in their opinion it is a bad bill, I am perfectly willing to argue that with the committee at that time, and may I again suggest to the gentleman from Fayette that I am willing to discuss Senate Bill No. 130 with him today, tomorrow, Monday or at any other time.

Mr. CAVALCANTE. Now is the time, Mr. President, that we are entitled to know whether this bill is going back for a hearing, for amendments, or for the purpose of interment.

Mr. BARR. Mr. President, my colleague from Allegheny, Mr. Walker, in his remarks brought up the question of jobs and I do not think that is quite fair in a bill such as this. I read yesterday in the Pittsburgh Post Gazette, a release out of Altoona, Pennsylvania, where the county commissioners there said the Democratic majority in the House of Representatives were going to insist on the state taking over the mental institutions of this state, in order to grab these political plums; so I do not know whether the Democrats have grabbed any of Governor James' plums, but I do know in Allegheny County where Democrats have control of the city administration, we have the large city hospital at Mayview, and in the county, we have the large institution at Woodville. We have over one thousand employes, all Democrats, but in order to cut the taxes on real estate in Allegheny County, we are happy to turn these jobs over to the Republicans and the James Administration.

Now, Mr. Walker, I ask that the bill be left on the floor and that we bring the amendments out on the floor and vote for or against the bill.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the motion?

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. CAVALCANTE and were as follows, viz:

YEAS—27

Becker,	Farrell,	Letzler,	Taylor,
Chapman,	Geltz,	Mallery,	Thomas,
Crider,	Haluska,	Miller,	Tyler,
Crowe,	Heyburn,	Scarlett,	Walker,
Deitrick,	Homsher,	Snowden,	Watkins,

NAYS—12

Barr,	Dent,	McCreesh,	Mundy,
Cavalcante,	Frey,	McGinnis,	Reed,

So the question was determined in the affirmative.

COMMUNICATION FROM THE GOVERNOR

The Secretary to the Governor being introduced, presented a communication in writing from His Excellency the Governor, which was read as follows:

APPROVAL OF HOUSE BILL No. 366

Commonwealth of Pennsylvania,
Governor's Office, Harrisburg, April 15, 1941.

To the Honorable, the House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

I have the honor to inform you that I have this day approved and signed House Bill No. 366, Printer's No. 60, entitled, "An Act to add clause seven to subsection (b) and to further amend subsection (c) of section one thousand two of the act approved the first day of May one thousand nine hundred and twenty-nine (P. L. 905), entitled, "An act for the protection of the public safety; regulating the use of highways, and the operation of vehicles, tractors, street cars, trackless trolley omnibuses, bicycles, pedestrians, and the riding of animals upon the highways of this Commonwealth; providing for the titling, including liens, encumbrances, and legal claims; registration of certain vehicles and licensing the operators thereof, upon payment of prescribed fees; prescribing and limiting the powers of local authorities to deal with the subject matter of this act; conferring powers and imposing duties upon the Department of Revenue, the Department of Highways, peace officers, mayors, burgesses, magistrates, aldermen, justices of the peace, the courts and the clerks thereof, owners of vehicles, and garage keepers; providing that records are admissible as evidence; imposing upon owners, counties, cities, boroughs, incorporated towns, townships, within the Commonwealth, liability for damages caused by the negligent operation of their motor vehicles; imposing penalties; imposing certain costs upon counties; providing for the disposition of fines, forfeitures, fees and miscellaneous receipts; making an appropriation and providing for refunds," changing the provisions of said act relating to the speed of such vehicles while being operated on highways under the supervision and control of a Turnpike Commission.

In signing this Bill I have appended the following statement:

"I would hesitate to sign this bill establishing a 70-mile speed limit on the Pennsylvania Turnpike, if the bill did not contain a very important saving clause. I refer to the portion which gives full authority to, and places full responsibility upon, the Turnpike Commission not to permit speeds which prove to be excessive. No engineering reports appear to indicate that a speed limit of 70 miles an hour, plus the so-called "tolerance" customarily extended in enforcing speed regulations, is a safe rate of travel for the ordinary motorist. Both engineering and human factors raise question whether such speed is not too high.

On the other hand, it appears to be agreed that the 50-mile speed limit enforced on other Pennsylvania highways can safely be exceeded on the broad, divided Turnpike free of hills, intersections and sharp curves. However, this bill specifically authorizes the Turnpike Commission to reduce the speed limit at places and on occasions where the allowable maximum is too high.

I am, therefore, taking this means of pointing out to the Commission its very grave responsibility in this matter. Pennsylvania's "Dream Highway" must not be allowed to become a nightmare of fatal accidents.

I am directing the Turnpike Commission and the Motor Police to continue these surveys of accidents upon the highway for the purpose of determining the extent to which speed is a factor in those accidents and shall require the Turnpike Commission, by regulation, to impose such restrictions upon speed as these surveys indicate to be necessary."

ARTHUR H. JAMES.

Will the House agree to the motion?

Mr. SCANLON. Mr. Speaker, it was agreed with the sponsor to call the bill up. It was to remain on the floor under an agreement with the President of the State Funeral Directors Association, and I am going to ask the House to vote down this motion to recommitt.

BILL RECOMMITTED

Mr. ACHTERMAN. Mr. Speaker, I move that this bill be recommitted to the Committee on Ways and Means for the purpose of further study and possible amendment.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the motion?

Mr. WOODSIDE. Mr. Speaker, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Monroe, Mr. Achterman.

Mr. SPEAKER Will the gentleman from Monroe permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. ACHTERMAN. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. WOODSIDE. Mr. Speaker, I would like to know from the gentleman whether it was the agreement of the committee from which this bill came that it would be read only two times and then re-reported to the committee.

Mr. ACHTERMAN. Mr. Speaker, I have been so advised by the Chairman of the committee that is correct.

Mr. WOODSIDE. Mr. Speaker, that being the case I will make no objection to the motion to recomit, and ask the Members to go along with it because I think when a committee reports out a bill under those circumstances the House should always abide by the decision of the committee in that respect and recommit. However, I would like to call the attention of the Members of the House and also the attention of the committee to which this bill is being recommitted this bill provides for the floating of tax anticipation notes, and if the bill is delayed any substantial amount of time it will be impossible for the Budget office and the Attorney General's office to prepare the tax anticipation notes, advertise them and have them floated as early in June which we should like to do.

I wish also to call the attention of the Members of the House to the fact that any delay in floating the tax anticipation notes will mean a delay in repayment to the special fund, which in turn will cause a delay in the payment of funds to municipalities and other agencies from which this money has been borrowed. Therefore I suggest to the Committee and to the Members of the House that every effort be made not to keep this bill unduly long in the committee.

Mr. ACHTERMAN. Mr. Speaker, our party recognizes the need for this particular type of legislation, and we understand very thoroughly and very completely how badly the Republican administration needs this legislation to take care of a portion of their deficit which is now existing. If the bill had been prepared properly, of course, it would have been passed by the House. The amendments we intend placing in the measure finally in the committee will take care of that, Mr. Speaker.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the motion?

It was agreed to.

Section 4 Nothing in this act shall in any way interfere with the right of any college university or other educational institution to expel a student for misconduct or breach of regulation as a proper disciplinary measure or to refuse a diploma or advancement to any student who has failed to attain the grade required of all students for passing

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. KRISE. Mr. Speaker, in arising to oppose this bill I shall be very, very brief. In fact the bill itself is very brief. Up until the time it was amended last evening on third reading the bill was considerably shorter than it is at the present moment.

The bill proported in the beginning, of course, to do something with which we are all in agreement, and that is, that any school, college, or educational institution shall give exactly the same course which they advertise. I think we are all in agreement on that particular phase of the bill. But I think the schools themselves have provided perhaps the means whereby that shall be provided without the necessity of the Legislature doing so. Practically all schools and colleges now have their own associations and in those associations they have very strict rules for schools that would attempt to do any type of advertising and then not live up to that advertising in their curricula content. Therefore, I think the first part of the bill is absolutely not necessary.

When we go into the bill however, the school people would necessarily object. For instance, the bill provides a penalty of five hundred dollars for any school that neglects a student. The bill does not attempt to define the word, "neglect." In such courses where we have lectures and we have all the students sitting before us, there could not be any doubt as to whether we were neglecting the student or not.

Let us take the laboratory course, and we probably could check the work of some student who is taking a laboratory assignment, but because of lack of time on that particular day or probably the non-necessity of checking the work of every individual student, we do not check and then we would be guilty of neglect under the terms of this bill. It is probably not the intention of the author of this bill that schools should be held to accountability for that, but it is the possibility under this bill which makes it dangerous.

The second part of it is to refuse to permit a student to continue the course in which he has matriculated after once they have been accepted by that educational institution. I think we ought to understand something along that line.

When a student presents himself to the head of the college or the registrar or the president or whatever official may be responsible for the enrolling of that student, they naturally try to find out just as much about the student as they possibly can. They go into the student's background, they try to know something about his previous schooling, high school or college, whatever it might have been. Then they try to observe his personality and all of the things that might go to make up a student. But try as hard as we will it is physically impossible for any registrar to determine with absolute certainty the possibility of the potentialities of any student the first time he comes in contact with him. Every school has a variety of courses. Very often we find the student will attempt to enroll for a particular course. Very often the students come into the schools with the intention of following a prescribed course. It very often happens that as the student progresses in his work we find that he lacks adaptability for that particular type of work. For instance, the student might attempt to enroll in a medical school, and after his first two years they might find that he is not particularly adapted to that work. We in the business college field often find a student that might make a good bookkeeper, an accountant, but he cannot learn shorthand or typing. The reverse might be true. Now you want to say to a school, "because you have accepted this student for a particular course, you cannot change that course to something else." When we find that a student is not adaptable to a particular course and continue that student in that course, we are simply lowering the standards of that school. You say, "Well, the student would be glad to change." I submit to you that no student with the possibility of a five hundred dollar fine attached to the school is going to agree to change his course. It is simply transferring the control of the school from the head of that institution to the students themselves, and are making the head of that institution subserviant to the pupil rather than the pupil being obedient to that particular school. If you want to reduce the standards of our educational institutions and make them the object of fraud then pass this bill, but if we believe in the integrity of our schools and the work that they are doing, then we should vote "no" on this particular measure.

Mr. HARKINS. Mr. Speaker, I am sorry the gentleman from Clearfield did not read on through the bill. If he had he would have seen that section 4 on page 3 of the bill definitely clarifies the misconception under which he is laboring. If he had read that section of the bill he would have seen that it clearly sets forth that it is not the intention of this bill to interfere with the right of the governing bodies of universities refusing to advance a student who does not complete his work, or to interfere with the rights of the university or college officials to expel the student who is guilty of any conduct which otherwise would merit his expulsion. On the contrary this bill is intended to see that our universities and colleges, which we usually have trusted in the past, do not build up within their ranks a system of dictatorship which has arisen and which makes use of the earnest efforts of consciencious students in obtaining further and higher education, but only to bring a flood of glory to certain professors and instructors in these institutions. I know of cases where the practice has been, and is still in effect today, that people who have paid money to a registrar of a school, who had studied and completed certain individual courses, because they have been absent from the university for a certain period of time, have been deprived of the credits which they have already earned. This bill is intended to stop that particular type of fraud being practiced upon students in the Commonwealth. This has been particularly true in the graduate educational departments in many of our institutions, and I regret to say it has been particularly true in some of the institutions which we have trusted by appropriating to them large sums of money for their maintenance. I challenge the right of any university to be so arbitrary as to interfere with the granting of proper credits to a student who has completed his particular work. There is nothing in this bill as now amended which would interfere with the right of the university not to advance a student who does not complete the work. There is nothing here that will interfere with the inner workings of the university at all. The only thing this bill will accomplish is that it will see to it that the university officials are as honest in their dealings with the students, particularly those who are part time students, as they ask the students to be with them. It is a good bill and I ask the support of the House in its passage.

Mr. KRISE. Mr. Speaker, in reply I might say that I did read the entire bill, together with the amendments which were put in the bill last night by unanimous consent on third reading. The bill does provide under that amendment that the college may dismiss or refuse to promote any individual student who has not complied with the requirements of the course set up by that institution. I submit that there is where the difficulty lies. Students are not always graded in college, either on their written or oral work, according to adaptability, and all of the other requisites. I have in my hand here a reference which just came to me this morning with regard to a student. Here is what the employer wants to know in addition to grade, physical characteristics, emotional stability, social adjustment, professional relationship, habits of conduct, professional attitude, it continues with a long list, on which it is impossible for any college to grade as the student is going through his course. The point I am raising in relation to this bill is that any student can take exceptions to the grades that are given to him by any institution and he can make a racket out of that five hundred dollar proposition.

Mr. McMILLEN. Mr. Speaker, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Harkins.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Allegheny permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. HARKINS. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. McMILLEN. Mr. Speaker, has the gentleman from Allegheny personally had any chance to be put in a position were this worked a hardship on him?

Mr. HARKINS. Mr. Speaker, I would not say that, but I do know of many people who have been put in such a position where it has worked a hardship on them. I know of several people who have had their credits cut in half by the University of Pittsburgh because they have not been in school for a period of five years. I have had complaints about State College located at State College, and I believe it is entirely unfair when the university enters into a contract relationship with the students that they should later say to them, "Because you have not been in school for a couple of years we are going to take half of your credits away, you can keep on coming here to perpetuate a particular department which we have."

Mr. McMILLEN. Mr. Speaker, as time goes by and requirements change in regard to courses, does not the gentleman think for an individual to be given a problem in a part time school, that he too must meet the different requirements of the courses as they are introduced and therefore perhaps there is necessity here for adjustment.

Mr. HARKINS. Mr. Speaker, in answer to the gentleman's question I would say while undoubtedly we live in a world that is progressing, the basic requirements of good education remain essentially the same, and there has not been such a change in the curricula in any of our major institutions that would justify robbing students of half of the credits they have obtained.

Mr. SOLLENBERGER. Mr. Speaker, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Harkins.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Allegheny permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. HARKINS. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. SOLLENBERGER. Mr. Speaker, may I inquire of the gentleman from Allegheny whether or not this bill is retroactive.

Mr. HARKINS. Mr. Speaker, under the present provisions the bill is retroactive as far as the civil remedies prescribed therein are concerned, but not as far as the criminal remedies are concerned. They could not be retroactive as far as concerns the criminal remedies without being an ex-post facto law, and therefore that is not provided in the bill.

Mr. SOLLENBERGER. Mr. Speaker, does this bill include both college and graduate levels?

Mr. HARKINS. Yes, it does, Mr. Speaker.

In order to clarify the situation, it only means that the credits which have already been earned will be granted to an individual who has earned them. It does not allow the student to fail to complete the course and then ask for credits, nor does it allow the student to ask for a credit if he has not paid for the credit in the contract paid for.

Mr. SOLLENBERGER. Mr. Speaker, does the gentleman from Allegheny mean if their credits were earned say in 1910 or 1915, that those credits should be given today by that college or university to the person who is doing the particular work on the basis of all of the credits earned that many years back.

Mr. HARKINS. Mr. Speaker, the bill says that credits shall be granted the way they were at the time the individual began his studies. Whether that be 1920, 1930, or 1940, or 1919 or whatever year the gentleman said, according to terms which the universities or colleges contracted with the student to grant him the credits.

And said bill having been read at length the third time, considered and agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution the yeas and nays were taken.

Messrs. HARKINS, LEWIS and MARKS asked for a verification of the roll.

It was agreed to.

Ordered, That the bill as amended lie over for printing.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 470, as follows:

A Joint Resolution proposing an amendment to article three of the Constitution of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania by adding thereto section thirty-five

The General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania hereby enacts as follows

Section 1 That the following amendment to the Constitution of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania be and the same is hereby proposed in accordance with the eighteenth article thereof

That article three of the Constitution of Pennsylvania is hereby amended by adding thereto the following section

Section 35 The General Assembly shall not pass any law authorizing the transfer of any monies out of any of its special funds if by such transfer the monies are to be used for any purpose other than that for which such monies were previously designated unless repayment thereof within the same biennium is provided for by appropriate revenue producing enactments

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. TROUT. Mr. Speaker, I am going to support this bill—and I am asking my colleagues on this side of the House to vote for it. But, in voting for it, I should like to clear up with this bill.

As many of you know only too well, I have always been in favor of legislation to protect the Motor License Fund and other special funds. I am absolutely convinced that motorists who pay their money into the Motor License Fund have the right to demand that every dollar of their money be spent for highway purposes. I believe also that the Motor Fund, and the highway work it finances constitute one of the greatest and most practical work relief mediums we have in this State.

All of you who have served in this House in previous sessions know that I have repeatedly sponsored bills and constitutional amendments to protect the Motor Fund. Most of you are aware that I have personally introduced an antidiversion or good roads amendment again in this session.

I should like to point out likewise that, when the largest organization of motorists in Pennsylvania asked me to introduce an amendment intended to place constitutional safeguards around the Motor Fund, I did everything I could to have the whole matter approached in a purely non-political way. I suggested that the new amendment was so important to the motorists that politics should not be permitted to interfere with its speedy consideration. I discussed the amendment with leaders and members on the majority side of this House. I suggested the possibility of joint sponsorship by members of both parties. I went further and made it clear that I was perfectly willing to withdraw any claim I might have and permit this amendment to be introduced by a single member of the majority party.

None of these suggestions, however, was accepted. So, at the request of the Pennsylvania Motor Federation and the motorists it represents, I introduced H. B. 733.

Yesterday, the majority members of this House sent back to committee this bill which proposes in my estimation a much more practical constitutional amendment. As introduced, the bill applied to Motor Revenues whether they were expended in townships, counties or cities but could easily have been amended to cover all other special funds. Certainly neither I nor any of Pennsylvania's 3,000 000 motorists would have objected to such a change.

I believe that many of the members on the other side of the House are sincerely interested in protecting motor revenues and that they think this result can be accomplished by the adoption of House Bill 470.

In the first place, there is nothing in this proposed constitutional amendment that would prevent the diversion of motorist money by the special gasoline sales tax now being collected for General Fund purposes. That money is being diverted from highway purposes at the rate of $15,000,000 a year. Because it goes directly into the General Fund, it is not protected by H. B. 470.

In the second place, the amendment contained in H. B. 470 imposes no restrictions whatsoever upon Administration transfers because the Act of 1933 is entirely in accord with the amendment now proposed. The transfers can be made only within a single biennium.

In other words, under the amendment before us, such transfers would be legal so long as the General Fund budget is balanced.

Finally, there is the very important matter of workability of the proposed amendment. All previously proposed Amendments to prevent diversion have been sidetracked in the past because legislators argued that they permitted no reasonable flexibility of financing. These objections have not been based on politics or political considerations; previous amendments died in committee or were defeated regardless of whether Republicans or Democrats were in the majority.

The motorists and motor clubs who drafted the amendment in H. B. 733 were not anxious to have Motor License Fund money borrowed or transferred. But, as a matter of practical expediency, they were willing to permit harmless, short-term transfers if the repayment was positively guaranteed and the borrowing was done under conditions that would not interfere with highway improvement programs.

If we are sincere in our desire to protect the money in the special funds, I believe we should provide a constitutional amendment that can be approved by two sessions of the General Assembly and gain a favorable vote of the electorate. I don't think the pending amendment is the best one we could evolve. But, as I said before, I shall support it and shall ask the support of my colleagues so long as it is the only legislation the majority leaders will permit us to vote upon.

Mr. ACHTERMAN. Mr. Speaker, the gentleman did not confine his remarks to the matter before the House, as a matter of fact most of his remarks were addressed to the bill which we recommitted yesterday that was introduced by himself. I therefore am going to briefly state that the remarks I made yesterday have the same application and force and effect today and will continue in the future to have the same force and effect.

Unfortunately the gentleman was only interested in solving one problem that is facing the people of this Commonwealth, and our party has felt that we should not spend our time protecting the interests of the Pews when we have a broad problem in Pennsylvania to meet, that is, preventing the transfer of funds indiscriminately. We feel that the highway fund here in Harrisburg is of importance and we have protected that fund by this measure, but we feel likewise that the funds that are sent to the county commissioners and used for the same purpose, which is roads, are essential and necessary to be protected. Likewise the moneys that are sent to the supervisors in townships as well as cities and boroughs from the Liquor License Fund need protection. We have taken care of that. Incidentally we feel that the funds sent to the firemen for their pension fund need protection and we have taken care of that.

Now then may I make a few remarks in relation to the act of 1933 to which the gentleman referred. May I state, Mr. Speaker, that he has neglected to mention the fact that in House Bill 470 we do provide this, that where funds are taken repayment thereof within the same biennium is provided for by appropriate revenue producing enactments. That means, Mr. Speaker, that laws will be placed upon the statute books replacing the moneys that are transferred. That is not being done at the present time.

May I say to the Members of this House that the present administration used the act of 1933 in order to furnish funds for relief after the Governor of this Commonwealth called us here in special session in 1940 and asked us to give him the right to transfer funds from the motor license fund for relief. After we left here, Mr. Speaker, he neglected to use the acts that we had passed but instead he used the act of 1933. I have been wondering ever since why the Governor did that. I am wondering whether the question of the time of repayment was the motive back of the Republican Party in asking for the act of 1940.

May I point out to the Members of this House that under the act of 1933 funds must be paid back by the end of the biennium, while under the act of 1940, which the Governor asked us to pass when this House was dominated by his party, the funds need not be paid back until the last day of June of 1941. Does the Governor of Pennsylvania intend to avail himself after the last of May to pay back through the act of 1940 funds that were borrowed under the act of 1933? It is possible, Mr. Speaker. In other words, he can go to the same fund now and say, "Mr. Fund, lend me enough money to pay back the monies that I owe you." Then again at the end of June, availing himself of the act of 1933 he can borrow from the general fund or from the motor fund, moneys to pay back what he borrowed under the act of 1940. Then, Mr. Speaker, his position will be this, that he will have transferred the obligation to the new administration at the end of the two year period. May I say that under House Bill 470 we will stop that vicious form of financing in Pennsylvania.

Mr. WOODSIDE. Mr. Speaker, I do not think there will be a more important piece of legislation brought before this session than that which we now have before us. For that reason I am going to take a little extra time in discussing it.

It will not have any material effect upon the people of Pennsylvania during the next year or the next two years or the next three years, but some time thereafter when we are in a more dangerous position we may find this amendment coming up to haunt us. I do not think the gentleman on the other side understands the budgetary problem concerned in the transferring of these funds. I do not think that the gentleman who drafted or introduced this bill fully appreciates the problem, for if he did he certainly would not have put it in the form of this joint resolution which is a proposed amendment to the Constitution. Of course, we all know that this joint resolution must be passed at this session of the Legislature and again be passed at another session and thereafter submitted to the people and approved before it will become a Constitutional amendment and effective. However, I think it is important at this time that we pass a joint resolution proposing a Constitutional amendment which will be sensible and which will meet the problem we have without creating a new and more dangerous problem.

In order that we may see just what the situation is, let us look at the reason for the transfer. Let us discuss, as the gentleman has discussed, the act of 1933. The purpose of the Act of 1933 is to make a cash transfer of funds within the biennium, in other words, you take the cash out of one of the special funds that has a large amount of cash, and transfer it to the general fund, which happens to be temporarily depleted. Then when the general fund, with all the new taxes coming in, receives an increased cash balance, the money is taken out of the general fund and repaid into the special fund. It is entirely a matter of bookkeeping. It is entirely a matter of transferring cash balances from one fund to another at the particular time we need the cash balance. The Act of 1940 and the other transfer acts, as they were passed by the various sessions of the Legislature, had entirely different purposes. The purpose of those acts was to provide money against which we can appropriate.

What does that mean? I tried hard to explain that during the 1940 session, but apparently I was not successful in getting it across.

Mr. Speaker, under our Constitution, as I think everybody knows, we cannot borrow more than one million dollars. That means at all times the expenditures cannot exceed the estimated revenues by more than one million dollars, and if at any time those expenditures do exceed the estimated revenues by more than one million dollars, under the decision handed down as a result of the first Talbot Act, certain appropriations to schools and hospitals were abated.

In order to make appropriations in excess of the estimated revenues there must be some way in which you have money against which to appropriate. In other words, where you have income. That income can be obtained by a transfer from a special fund into the general fund, and you will then have in the general fund any time during the biennium, up to and including the last day of the biennium, revenue against which you can appropriate. So in 1940, following the procedure that had been adopted by the Democratic Administration, we transferred certain moneys against which we made appropriations for relief. We did not actually transfer the cash. That was simply an act of the Legislature signed by the Governor, approving the right of the Governor to take over the cash at such time as he deemed it advisable to do so, and not repay it during the biennium. If there is at any time a transfer of funds which has been repaid during the biennium, no appropriation can be made against it. There is no purpose; there is no reason for it. Therefore I can see no possible reason for making a transfer of funds with a provision that the funds be repaid during the biennium, unless possibly it be for the purpose of saving a little interest on tax anticipation notes.

Mr. Speaker, that brings in the problem that fits into this picture, namely, the question of tax anticipation notes. If at any time during the biennium from the first day to the last, there is a desire to secure cash in the general fund, it can be done by selling to the public tax anticipation notes which can be sold at the present time at a very low rate, in fact at less than one-fourth of one per cent. By selling those notes you can get the cash into the general fund, but before you can float those tax anticipation notes, there must be legislation on the statute books which will bring into the general fund the money to pay back those tax anticipation notes during the same biennium. The fact that it must be paid during the same biennium is very important. What is the situation that develops? Well, on June 1st there is a deficit, there will be a deficit at the beginning of the next biennium, there was a deficit at the beginning of the last biennium, there was a deficit at the beginning of the biennium before that and there was a deficit at the beginning of the biennium before that. That deficit, since tax anticipation notes have come into use, is immediately paid off by the floating of tax anticipation notes.

That is done generally during the month of June. Then the money which has been borrowed from the special fund is paid back into the special fund. Deferred payments are made and the cash balance of the general fund brought up in anticipation of revenue which will come in during the next biennium. Then as you go along into that biennium, if you happen to get cash, you can do one of two different things. You can either transfer from a special fund, money which is not being used, under the act of 1933, or you can float tax anticipation notes and repay them out of such revenue which may come in during that biennium.

If you run into a deficit you must do this: you must either pass a tax which will bring in revenues during that biennium or you may transfer money from any of the special funds, and appropriate against it. What do you mean by transferring money from a special fund? It merely means passing an act saying that a certain amount of money must be transferred during that biennium from a special fund to the general fund and remain there to the end of the biennium. Now, that money cannot be paid back during that biennium or you cannot transfer the fund. Therefore the purpose of this joint resolution, as it appears here, must be to actually prevent the transfer of any funds as was done by the bill during the session of 1940, and was done previously at various times by the Republican Administration and the Democratic Administration and the Pinchot Administration—whatever that was. This amendment would prevent, or at least is aimed to prevent, although I doubt whether it could, the passage of that type of legislation that was passed in 1940.

Then what is the situation? Well, I think in the next two years, probably the next four years, possibly a little bit longer than that, the State is going to get along pretty well, the revenues are going to be up some, the relief load is going to go down, and the problem of financing the government is not going to be as difficult as it has been in the last ten years, but one of these days that is going to change. The relief load will go up. At the same time the relief load goes up, the taxes will come down. Then what will be the situation in which the Commonwealth is going to find itself as it approaches the end of the biennium if the intent of this resolution is carried out? It is going to find that it will have somewhere between forty and sixty million dollars in special funds which will not be in use on May 31, the end of that biennium. That is always true. The money is there, it is not being used, it will not be used. That is the cash balance in those special funds on May 31, at the end of the biennium, which will probably be in the neighborhood of sixty million dollars but not less than forty million dollars.

You are then going to call a special session of the Legislature, maybe in January, maybe the year before, knowing full well that at the end of the biennium there will be fifty or sixty million dollars in the special funds which could be used to carry the Commonwealth through any emergency which may develop. It may not be relief, it may be some new type of emergency. You will have to have the money to carry the Commonwealth through and you are going to find, if the intent of this resolution is carried out, that you will not be able to pass any transfer bills because you cannot use that money. If you were to proceed as you would at the present time, this is what you would do. You would pass your transfer bills in January or the Fall of the year before, and then float tax anticipation notes. You would get your cash in your general fund, and then on the 31st day of May, you would take all of the money out of the special funds which they are not using, since they did not need it, put it into the general fund and pay off your tax anticipation notes.

Then you would turn around in June and float tax anticipation notes on the income of that biennium. You would immediately pay back from the general fund into the special fund the money which is taken away from it. But if you cannot do that, then in an emergency, in a time when you can least afford to do it, you must pass a tax which will bring the necessary funds within that biennium. That seems to be a very bad situation and one of the things that should be done with this joint resolution is, it should be amended to provide that the money be paid back not later than one month after the end of the biennium. Let us see what the effect of this resolution would be. Under it you could do this, Mr. Speaker. You could take money out of the special fund on June 1st of the biennium and keep it out for one day less than two years. Mark you, members, you could take money out of your special fund under this amendment and keep it out one day less than two years.

That would really handicap the Highway Department. That would really handicap the firemen in the various counties and the other people who are interested in these special funds. You could do that. Here is the other situation. You would have to take the money out of the special fund only for one day or two days in order to carry out a program which may prevent the enactment of a new tax, an emergency tax, at a time when the Commonwealth can least afford it, and say, "No, you cannot do that, you cannot take this money out for two days, when you most need it but you can take it out for two years, when it is going to cripple every one of the special funds to the fullest extent." That is one of the fallacies in this amendment and one of the things that ought to be changed in connection with it.

But that isn't all. The gentleman on the other side said this amendment would take care of the firemen and all the rest of the people who are interested in the special funds. Let us see whether it does. Remember this, special funds are created by acts of the legislature. I do not think the gentleman will contend that if the legislature can hereafter create a new special fund that they cannot hereafter abolish a special fund under this amendment. And if they can create a special fund and if they can abolish a special fund, what can the legislature do? They can abolish the motor license fund. They will not have any. It is gone by an act of the legislature.

The amendment will not prevent it, although the intent of this amendment might be to prevent such a condition, nevertheless it seems clear to me and the best authorities in the State say that under it a special fund can be abolished. So that all you need to do is this: We won't have any Motor License Fund for a year, we will abolish it. As a result of the abolishment of the fund all of the money will come into the general fund, and as all the money will come into the general fund we will then appropriate whatever we want for highway purposes, while we keep the balance in the general fund. So your joint resolution can be circumvented without any difficulty whatsoever. It seems to me this the joint resolution is wrong from all these standpoints.

Why are we going to vote for it? We are going to vote for it for one reason, and only one reason, I think, and that is, because we all favor some sort of a Constitutional amendment which will prevent the permanent transfer of special funds into the general fund, in other words, to prevent the absolute diversion of a special fund to other uses than those for wich it was intended. The gentlemen on the other side agree with that, we agree with that. In the past the state has followed that procedure. The gentlemen on that side have voted consistently to repay the funds and we have done likewise. The Commonwealth of Pennsylvania as represented by a Republican Administration and as represented by a Democratic Administration has kept faith with these special funds in always repaying them, and that is what we want to continue to do. That is what we are all interested in accomplishing. We are not interested, and I am sure the gentlemen on that side are not interested, in securing the passage of an amendment which in five or ten years from now is going to work a tremendous hardship on the people of the Commonwealth, but we are interested in getting through some sort of an amendment to the Constitution which will prevent any Legislature in the future or any administration in the future from permanently diverting these special funds.

Therefore, Mr. Speaker, we are going to vote in favor of this resolution with the hope and the belief that it will be amended in the Senate to meet the objections which I have raised on the floor of the House. If for a minute I thought that possibly the objections would not be met, or if I thought that the joint resolution would not be amended in the Senate, Mr. Speaker, we would not vote for this resolution in its present form, but we believe that some resolution to carry out what I think is your intent and what I know is our intent in this matter, should be passed and sent over to the Senate, amended and passed by them. We are going to vote for this resolution, fully realizing that as it stands now, it is a very bad resolution but realizing that it can be amended to meet the objections to carry out the intent which I think exists among all members of this House.

Mr. ACHTERMAN. Mr. Speaker, the gentleman of course is speaking about the method of financing that the present administration is using. He neglected to say that the deficit is constantly increasing and is now in the neighborhood of ninety million dollars and rapidly approaching a point where that deficit will exceed the special funds.

House Bill 470 is intended to stop that kind of financing in Pennsylvania. It is a notice to administrations that they must live within their budgets, or if they do not then they must find necessary tax measures which will raise the funds in order for them to live within their budgets. In other words, they must honestly and fairly meet the problems that confront their administration. If the gentleman could accomplish what he has in mind so that payment could be made one month after the end of the biennium he would then very frankly, Mr. Speaker still continue the same form of financing in Pennsylvania that we are now experiencing. The doors would again be left open to borrow and pay back in the next administration in the form of tax anticipation notes. We would continue, Mr. Speaker, until finally the amount that was necessary to be paid back at the end of the biennium would equal the amount of the entire anticipated revenues from special funds for the next biennium, and then we would be in trouble. Then you would have a bankrupt State. This legislation is intended to stop this form of financing.

May I assure the gentlemen on the other side of the House, once this bill is finally adopted by the people of Pennsylvania, in the referendum that will follow, that type of financing will cease in Pennsylvania. We will get back to a sound form of financing. I can understand the complaints of the gentlemen on the othes side of the House that we do not desire to adopt House bill 733, since they know the source from which the bill came, a source that I understand is subsidized by the Associated Petroleum Industry of Pennsylvania, an industry, Mr. Speaker, that desires to have their products subject to one type of taxation alone. That was their sole object, and not for the benefit of the people of Pennsylvania in solving their problem, but to create for themselves a special position so that their industry could continue existing without paying its fair share of tax burdens in this Commonwealth. That is the type of legislation that our party has always opposed. We do not believe, Mr. Speaker, in supporting these favorite groups. House Bill 733 if put into force and effect, if it is finally passed, would do that very thing. It is not going to occur, Mr. Speaker, during this present biennium, I can assure the gentlemen.

Mr. TURNER. Mr. Speaker, knowing that both the majority leader and myself are anxious to attend a meeting of the Council of Defense. I hesitate to continue this debate, but it seems to me it has taken on such proportions that someone had better state a view other than that which has been expressed upon the floor.

In the first place, I am amused at the statement of the majority leader that his party has never stood for any particular or special interest. If I remember rightly, and I think my memory runs back very well into 1935 and 1937, the Democratic party was extremely busy introducing all kinds of bills that played to all kinds of special groups, minority groups, pressure groups, special privilege groups, or any particular kind of group that you can think of in the state of Pennsylvania, that could be gathered together, in order that some aid might be given to the Democratic party. That was very special legislation. I have some good recollection that during this session a number of bills were presented in an effort to catch some flies on the molasses that was being spread upon the legislative calendar in order that they may gain some particular benefit. When you get down to that proposition, we could stand here a long time this afternoon saying unpleasant things, which would not be difficult to do but I do not want to muddy the waters by stirring up any animosity because we all seem to be peaceful and quiet and we all know the difficulty the Speaker is having with the folks back of the rail.

When it comes to tax anticipation notes, upon which my friend on the other side so eloquently dwells, I remember during the Earle administration, when the tax anticipation notes were first devised, when there was a dispute as to who was the inventor of it, between the then Attorney General, Charlie Margiotti, and the then Secretary of Revenue, now a judge of the Federal Court in Philadelphia, Judge Kalodner. At any rate, the dispute among the Democrats was as to who devised tax anticipation notes, which were invented for the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania for the purpose of helping it out of its financial fiscal problem.

I dislike to differ with my leader on this side. I do not very often do that. He has a good head. He is generally on the right track but I cannot agree to go along with this measure. I think it is as cock-eyed a piece of legislation as I have ever seen in the nation. I am afraid of what the gentleman from Dauphin has stated on the floor of the House. I am not in accord with the Republican leader, who very frankly says the bill is bad and that he hopes to amend it in the Senate. I think this is a very dangerous precedent, and the gentleman from Monroe has demonstrated it very clearly when he said that they intended to prevent any transfer of funds from a special fund into the General Fund. With that sort of a proposition I am not in accord or in agreement, although I have been told that politically it is a bad thing to advocate my position in this legislature, but whether it is a bad thing politically or not, I think the interests of all the people of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, the necessity to operate the government of Pennsylvania, the necessity of the demand to keep our schools and institutions running in Pennsylvania, has a higher right and a higher place than the particular interests of any particular group in Pennsylvania, and whether that is bad politics or not, I will stand upon it, because I think it is good Americanism, sound patriotism, sound Pennsylvanism to stand on that particular ground. As the gentleman from Dauphin pointed out, under the first Talbot Act, if you have a crisis where you do not have the money to carry on the things that you must carry on in regards to your schools and hospitals, the Supreme Court has said that certain functions of government must go on, they have a prior right, and if you have such a crisis you cannot transfer from the special fund and you would then close your schools and institutions and create a condition in Pennsylvania that I will never be responsible for as long as I am here. If the honest intent, and I would not quarrel with the gentleman as to whether or not that is his honest intent, if the honest intent is to do as the gentleman has stated, that would be all right. Therefore, I say it is wrong and this bill is not an honest bill, it is not on the level. This bill purports to permit you to transfer from a special fund, it says that you must within the same biennium provide for appropriations from revenues, revenues within that biennium, not revenues to be appropriated within the next biennium, but revenues within that biennium, to pay it off. That is not always possible. You could not do it in January or February, as has been brought up time and time again. In a regular session you could not provide a tax to be levied and collected within that biennium. If you are going to do away with tax anticipation notes, your problem would be increased that much more. I say to you this resolution should not pass, whether or not it is the intent to amend it in the Senate. If the Senate would amend it the Democratic leadership would never agree to the amendments. I think it is a very bad and dangerous proposition. I do not think we should pass this resolution with the hope that it may be amended properly in the Senate, when there is such a wide difference of opinion and when there is such tremendous pressure being exerted. I think we ought to stand up here like men and not be dominated entirely by political reasons. The Democratic leadership ought to send this back to committee, and if you do not want to go along on that, put in a resolution that you can transfer at any time now or hereafter from any special fund. You ought to do that, if you honestly believe it and the Democratic leadership says it should be done.

Mr. ACHTERMAN. Mr. Speaker, may I briefly state that the basic difference between the two parties is this, we are not opposed to transferring of funds, but in our administration we always had the courage to pass revenue measures to replace our borrowed money. The gentlemen on the other side have no desire to face such a problem. We are saying this, Mr. Speaker, that they are either going to face their problems, they are going to be courageous we hope, or if not, we are going to force them to be courageous and meet the problems as they arise. It means, Mr. Speaker, that in each biennium they must meet their problems. They must live within their income.

Mr. WOODSIDE. Mr. Speaker, we have tried to keep the debate on this side non-political, but if the gentleman insists upon being political, let me say first, certainly we do enjoy his admission that this problem is going to be our problem after this constitutional amendment is passed. We thank him for admitting that fact.

May I say one other thing, a lot of other states have amendments preventing a transfer of special funds. Why cannot Pennsylvania have such an amendment? I will tell you why. There is no other state in the nation that has these two important factors working upon the budget. One is the limitation of one million dollars borrowing capacity, and the other is that all of the relief load is carried out of the state fund. When you have those two problems which are peculiar to Pennsylvania, working on the budget problems, you have created a situation which makes it extremely important to the people of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania and the government of the Commonwealth, to permit under certain circumstances the borrowing of funds, particularly on occassions where it will not cripple any of the special funds. It was interesting to me to have the Democratic Floor Leader discuss the important budget requirements, from the standpoint of the Democratic party, which, they say, has always met their obligations. We have had a great example of that in Washington and we have had an example of it in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, because after all, they are always talking about the ninety million dollar deficit, and you have to squeeze that a little bit to get the figures close to that. You must remember that the Democratic administration did not provide revenues to carry through relief and the other appropriations to the end of the biennium, as they should have done. Thus they created a deficit in the Commonwealth of fifty or sixty million dollars for the Republicans to pay off. So, after all, the question of deficit and financing is not peculiar by any means to the Republican party.

The majority required by the Constitution having voted in the affirmative, the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, That the Clerk present the same to the Senate for concurrence.

REASON FOR VOTE

Mr. AUKER filed the following reason for his vote:

Believe that the act is vicious and too bad a Governmental principle to be passed. It would tend too strongly to tie the hands of our state government in time of stress and vital need, when it would be impossible to raise moneys within a biennium to pay for those unexpected stresses, needs and requirements to keep necessary institutions of the State operating.

Majority party of the House would not pass the Trout bill, which was the bill sponsored by the Pennsylvania Auto Clubs.

BILL ON THIRD READING

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 199, entitled as follows:

An Act to amend the act approved the sixteenth day of May one thousand nine hundred forty (Act No. 4) entitled "An act transferring money from the Fire Insurance Tax Fund to the General Fund and providing for the subsequent return from the General Fund of the transferred money" by further defining moneys transferred to the General Fund

The General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania hereby enacts as follows

Section 1 The act approved the sixteenth day of May one thousand nine hundred forty (Act No 4) entitled "An act transferring money from the Fire Insurance Tax Fund to the General Fund and providing for the subsequent return from the General Fund of the transferred money" is hereby amended to read as follows

Section 1 The moneys in the Fire Insurance Tax Fund upon the effective date of this act are hereby transferred to the General Fund and any moneys coming into the Fire Insurance Tax Fund between the effective date of this act and [May] January thirty-first one thousand nine hundred forty-one shall be transferred to the General Fund upon their payment into the Fire Insurance Tax Fund But the total amount to be transferred under this section shall not exceed two million three hundred thousand dollars ($2,300,000)

The purpose of the transfers authorized by this section is to provide funds for the payment of the appropriations for or relating to public assistance and the other appropriations made by this session of the General Assembly To the extent to which these transfers make it necessary the use of the transferred fund for its ordinary purposes shall be postponed but not otherwise modified

Section 2 The amounts transferred under this act from the Fire Insurance Tax Fund to the General Fund shall be repaid to the Fire Insurance Tax Fund out of the General Fund not later than June thirtieth one thousand nine hundred forty-one

And said bill having been read at length the third time, considered and agreed to.

BILL ON THIRD READING

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 1022, entitled as follows:

An Act to amend section thirteen and to further amend section eighteen of the act approved the eleventh day of May one thousand nine hundred and twenty-one (P. L. 522) entitled as amended "An act relating to dogs and the protection of live stock poultry and game birds raised in captivity from damage by dogs providing for the licensing of dogs by the Secretary of Agriculture providing for the enumeration of dogs by assessors regulating the keeping of dogs and authorizing their destruction in certain cases providing for the protection of licensed dogs and for dogs temporarily imported for trial show and breeding purposes prescribing certain privileges for hunting dogs and dogs owned or used by the Board of Game Commissioners providing for the assessment of damages done to live stock poultry and game birds by dogs and for live stock killed by or dying from rabies and for the illegal killing of licensed dogs and the payment of such damages by the Commonwealth imposing powers and duties on certain State county city borough town and township officers and employes directing the payment of all moneys collected into the State Treasury and providing penalties" permitting certain dogs to be brought into the Commonwealth for hunting purposes by holders of nonresident hunting licenses without securing a Pennsylvania dog license

Section 1 Section thirteen of the act approved the eleventh day of May one thousand nine hundred and twenty-one (P. L. 522) entitled as amended "An act relating to dogs and the protection of live stock poultry and game birds raised in captivity from damage by dogs providing for the licensing of dogs by the Secretary of Agriculture providing for the enumeration of dogs by assessors regulating the keeping of dogs and authorizing their destruction in certain cases providing for the protection of licensed dogs and for dogs temporarily imported for trial show and breeding purposes prescribing certain privileges for hunting dogs and dogs owned or used by the Board of Game Commissioners providing for the assessment of damages done to live stock poultry and game birds by dogs and for live stock killed by or dying from rabies and for the illegal killing of licensed dogs and the payment of such damages by the Commonwealth imposing powers and duties on certain State county city borough town and township officers and employes directing the payment of all monies collected into the State Treasury and providing penalties" is hereby amended to read as follows

This section does not apply to dogs used [during the hunting season for hunting game or] temporarily for breeding trial or show nor for the transportation of dogs for [hunting] breeding trial or show purposes the home county license holding good for such purposes throughout the Commonwealth

Section 2 Section eighteen of said act as amended by the act approved the sixth day of May one thousand nine hundred and twenty-seven (P. L. 833) is hereby further amended to read as follows

Section 18 On and after the fifteenth day of January one thousand nine hundred and twenty-two it shall be unlawful for any person to own or keep any dog six months old or over unless such dog is licensed by the treasurer of the county in which the dog is kept and unless such dog at all times wears the collar and tag provided for by this act unless such dogs are temporarily brought into the State for breeding hunting trial or show purposes as hereinbefore provided

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. DIX. Mr. Speaker, this bill has a very familiar face to me and I recognize it as my child. The gentleman who sponsored it has taken my original bill almost word for word and has presented it in his own name. This is just another example of bill snatching, and legislative pilfering that has been going on in the House for some time. He has, however, taken the bill and amended it to such an extent that it is hardly recognizable, and it has destroyed the good effect which I had in my original bill. The purpose of this bill was to allow hunters from any of the surrounding states to come into Pennsylvania with their hunting dogs without being compelled to secure a dog license in Pennsylvania for just a few days. It would have brought into this state a great many thousands of dollars from tourists who otherwise would not have come into Pennsylvania. Inasmuch as the Department of Commerce is spending money to entice tourists to come into Pennsylvania it occurred to me that here was a large field whereby we could encourage them to come into our state for a few days for the purpose of hunting. They would board here, they would purchase their rifles, they would purchase ammunition, they would bring in their cars and purchase gasoline, and I believe it would be a tremendous impetus to our tourist trade to allow these sportsmen to bring in their dogs without the necessity of securing a Pennsylvania license. However, it has been made retroactive but in spite of that fact I would like to have the Members of the House support this bill as I think it is a very good gesture of friendship on the part of Pennsylvania to other states. For this reason, if for no other, in spite of the fact that the bill has been lifted and put in another person's name, I am heartily in favor of this bill.

The SPEAKER. As a little salve to the injured feelings of the gentleman from Wayne, the Chair would advise the gentleman that the highest compliment that can ever be paid to anyone is to have someone imitate him.

Mr. BRETH. Mr. Speaker, I would like to inform the Members of the House perhaps a little further on the intention of the bill. As it stands now Pennsylvanians must buy a hunting license for their dogs in West Virginia and Maryland when they take them there to hunt. This bill is not only to show the charity of the great state of Pennsylvania, in wanting to permit others from other states to hunt here without requiring a license for their dogs, but to encourage other states to follow suit. Where other states compel Pennsylvania hunters or any other hunters to buy a license for their dogs, when this bill is eventually passed it will be a great precedent for them to follow. I think both Mr. Dix and the sponsor of this bill are to be congratulated upon their uniform ideas, as amended.

Mr. HEWITT. Mr. Speaker, I would like to interrogate the gentleman from Clearfield, Mr. Breth.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Clearfield permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. BRETH. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. HEWITT. Coming in from West Virginia and other states to hunt game, would those hunters be allowed to bring hounds in for hunting deer?

Mr. BRETH. Not to hunt deer, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. HEWITT. Mr. Speaker, in some of those states they hunt deer with hounds.

Mr. BRETH. That is very true, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. TARR. Mr. Speaker, I resent the insinuation that any bill that has been in the Game Committee has not been given due consideration. For the benefit of the House and for the benefit of the gentleman from Wayne, Mr. Dix, I would say his bill was given consideration in the committee. Although I am not going to talk out of committee, it was given due consideration there, and the bill of Mr. Heatherington, which involved all of the principles which we thought would be necessary to insert in such a bill, was brought out to the floor.

The only reason I arise is due to the fact that no bill can be stolen or no bill can be taken out of our committee without the knowledge and consent of the Chairman of the committee. I consider it a direct reflection upon the Chairman of the Game Committee, who happens to be in this case myself. Thank you.

Mr. DIX. Mr. Speaker, I have no quarrel with the Chairman of the Game Committee but he certainly did not give my bill due consideration. This bill was placed in Committee a month before the other bill came out, and originally it was almost word for word the same as mine. If this is not legislative pilfering I do not know what it is.

Mr. McFALL. Mr. Speaker, being a member of the Game Committee I wish to enlighten this House about one fact, and that is that on this committee there are too many Democrats.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman will find plenty of agreement on that on the other side of the House.

Mr. MAXWELL. Mr. Speaker, as secretary of the Game Committee, I wish to support and substantiate the statement made by Mr. Tarr, to the effect that the gentleman from Wayne was given due consideration and his bill was given due consideration without question.

The SPEAKER. The Chair believes every Member will understand that—it was pickled.

Mr. BRETHERICK, from the Committee on Judiciary General, reported as amended, House Bill No. 1093, entitled:

An Act authorizing suits brought to recover damages in case of accidents in this Commonwealth in any court of record to be certified to the Workmen's Compensation Board in the event that the suit has been filed by mistake in any court of record and defining the legal effect of such certifications.

Mr. SHAW, from the Committee on Cities—Second Class, reported as amended, House Bill No. 375 (Senate Bill No. 253) entitled:

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS HOUSE

Mr. REUBEN E. COHEN asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the House.

Mr. Speaker, I want to talk about pickling. When I became Chairman of a committee at the beginning of this session, the first time in my legislative career I went down to the basement in order to try to find out where all the brine was and they told me it was all used up in the last session of the House.

THE SPEAKER (Elmer Kilroy) IN THE CHAIR

The SPEAKER. The Chair thanks the gentleman from Delaware, Mr. Turner, for presiding.

QUESTION OF PERSONAL PRIVILEGE

Mr. COOPER. Mr Speaker, I rise to a question of personal privilege.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman from Allegheny will state his question of personal privilege.

Mr. COOPER. Mr. Speaker last Wednesday, under a question of personal privilege, I asked that a correction be made in the Legislative Journal on page 28, showing the returns of the general election of 1940 as they pertain to the Twelfth Legislative District of Allegheny County.

I now have in my possession a photostatic copy of the original returns made by the County board of Elections of Allegheny County, showing the returns from the Twelfth Legislative District. Attached to that is a certificate by the Deputy Secretary of the Commonwealth, certifying that this photostatic copy is a true copy of the returns, and I therefore ask that these papers be inserted in the record of the Legislative Journal

The SPEAKER. The papers referred to will be printed in the Legislative Journal.

April 10, 1941.

To Whom It May Concern:

I hereby certify that the attached is a true and correct photostatic copy of the 1940 General Election returns from the County of Allegheny for Representative in the General Assembly, for the Twelfth Representative District in the said county.

In testimony whereof, I have hereunto set my hand and the seal of the Secretary's office, the day and year above written.

Legislative Journal.

Session 1941. 135th of the General Assembly.

Vol. 25. HARRISBURG, PA., THURSDAY, APRIL 17, 1941. No. 38.

HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

THURSDAY, April 17, 1941

The House met at 10 a.m.

The SPEAKER (Elmer Kilroy) in the Chair.

PRAYER

The Chaplain, Rev. DONALD McFALL offered the following prayer:

Most gracious God, Thou who art the source of all light and life, we beseech Thee to let the light of Thy countenance fall upon our pathway and shine into our hearts today. Be with the members of this House of Representatives as they journey home. As they meet with Thee in the hours of worship may there be a heart searching for deeds done. Then God, bring each man back to this place with a renewed spirit, and if Thou dost show Thy loving kindness, forbid that we should rob ourselves by our lack of childlike trust and faith.

Be with those who are ill in body. Hasten the day when men shall be willing to give their lives for Thee as they are willing to give them to their state and nation; for the latter allegiance is temporal, while allegiance to Thee means life everlasting. Hear our petition, in the name of Christ, we pray. Amen.

BILL PASSED OVER

There being no objection House Bill No. 671, Printer's No. 321, was passed over at the request of the SPEAKER.

RESOLUTION

Messrs. MIHM and MATTHEW J. WELSH offered the following resolution and asked and obtained unanimous consent for its immediate consideration.

The resolution was twice read, considered and adopted:

In the House of Representatives, April 17, 1941.

Whereas, Harrisburg Post No. 27, The American Legion, on April 15th, entertained the members of the House of Representatives at a dinner at the Legion Home on South Front Street, with the War Veteran members of the House and the members of its Committee on Military Affairs as guests of honor; and

Whereas, The feast and the entertainment were of the best and was dished forth as only veterans can, with the exact amount of snap and jovialty necessary to make it an affair long to be remembered; and

Whereas, The Members of this House who attended, each had a splendid time and were glad to be there, and those of our members who were unavoidably absent regret the good time they missed; therefore, be it

Resolved, That the House of Representatives, in appreciation of the hospitality and congeniality of the officers and members of the Harrisburg Post, hereby thanks them and the Post for a most enjoyable occasion and compliments them on their Legion Home and their true spirit of comradery; and be it further

Resolved, That a copy of this resolution be certified by the Chief Clerk and forward to Harrisburg Post No. 27, The American Legion.

SENATE

MONDAY, April 21, 1941.

The Senate met at 4:30 o'clock, p. m.

The PRESIDENT (Lieutenant-Governor Samuel S. Lewis) in the Chair.

INTRODUCTION OF FORMER PRESIDENT OF THE SENATE

The PRESIDENT. A little over two years ago, the Chair was presented to the Senate—not the same personnel, as it has changed slightly—by a very good friend of mine, a gentleman I have known a good many years. While we do not agree politically, these differences political have never interfered with our personal friendship.

He presented me and now I want to present him to you, the former Lieutenant-Governor and President of the Senate, Mr. Thomas Kennedy.

Mr. KENNEDY. Mr. President and members of the Senate, I notice the Senate has not changed much since I left—usually from twenty-five minutes to twenty-four hours late in getting started.

I am not going to make any rulings today. It is a pleasure to be here and to meet the members of the Senate and my old friend the Lieutenant Governor, and to say that it is doubly a pleasure to be here as a visitor. I for a number of years presided, as you know, over this august body. I am glad to note and to hear reports that my distinguished successor is carrying on in the high traditions of this body.

Once again may I say it is a pleasure to meet with you and to thank you for all the courtesies that you have shown me in the past, and to assure you that I follow the work here with a great deal of interest. Good luck to all of you in your work that lies ahead. Thank you very much.

PRAYER

The Chaplain, Rev. BURLEIGH A. PETERS, offered the following prayer:

Let Thy blessing be upon us, O God, in this day of work for our Commonwealth in formulating legislation. Guide our minds and hearts aright that that which will result therefrom may be right and just and proper for "out of the heart are the issues of life." And we most clearly deal with the lives of our people and their mode of living by what we do here.

May we always look up unto Thee for our daily inspiration, rely upon Thee for our necessary strength and power in accomplishment and glean from the pages of Holy Writ the meaning of Thy divine purpose for all peoples.

So many things of international purport are happening now that Thy prophecy, Our Father, has become a living page rather than an obscure book, if we would read right the signs of the times.

Grant us Thy peace through an obedience to Thee and Thy word through a resurrected national consciousness of Thy ransoming love for us. For Thy Name's sake Amen.

JOURNAL APPROVED

The PRESIDENT. A quorum of the Senate being present the Clerk will read the Journal of the preceding session.

The Clerk proceeded to read the Journal of the preceding session, when, on motion of Mr. BARR and Mr. WALKER, the further reading was dispensed with and the Journal was approved.

PETITIONS AND REMONSTRANCES

The PRESIDENT. The Chair lays before the Senate a communication dated March 15, 1941, from the Secretary of the Society of the Twenty-eighth Division, addressed to the Chair, urging passage of House of Representatives Bill No. 639, which will be noted in the Journal.

The Chair also lays before the House a resolution adopted by the Northeast Philadelphia Federation of Adult Bible Classes, dated Monday, March 24, 1941, urging passage of Senate Bill No. 154, which will be noted in the Journal.

The Chair also lays before the Senate a communication addressed to the Chair under date of April 19, 1941, by the Philadelphia Maritime Exchange, which if there is no objection will be spread in full upon the Journal.

THE PHILADELPHIA MARITIME EXCHANGE

April 19, 1941

Honorable S. S. Lewis, Lieutenant Governor,
Commonwealth of Pennsylvania,
Harrisburg, Penna.

Dear Sir:

The Philadelphia Maritime Exchange, in the interest of the Port of Philadelphia, importers and exporters, requests your support of House Bill No. 1187, having for its purpose the ceding of State owned land at Marcus Hook, Pennsylvania to the United States Government.

This land is now occupied by the United States Public Health Service, and since 1913 under the direction of this governmental bureau has been used for the quarantine inspection of vessels in the foreign trade destined to our port. It was formerly the site of the State Quarantine Station abolished during the administration of Governor Sproul, and immediately turned over to the Federal Government on a dollar ($1.00) annual rental paid the State of Pennsylvania.

The present buildings on the property are obsolete and the Federal Government has funds for erecting modern buildings for their purpose, but will not undertake these improvements with the uncertainty existing under present lease arrangement, and if this legislation fails will locate Quarantine Station somewhere below Wilmington in the State of Delaware or New Jersey.

The importance of this legislation to overseas shipping via the Delaware River cannot too strongly be emphasized, particularly, in the light of the present emergency.

Philadelphia's port and the State of Pennsylvania and all its industries are playing an important role in this picture. Just how this Legislation fits into this picture may briefly be explained as follows:

Vessel steaming time from Marcus Hook to the Port of Philadelphia proper is about two hours. Government quarantine inspection of vessels is between sunrise and sunset. In other words, a vessel arriving at Marcus Hook, say, after dark, is obliged to anchor and await inspection the following morning: after which the vessel proceeds up-stream. docking in about two and one-half hours. This would mean an 8:30 a. m. working start for stevedores and other river front workers.

In event of failure of this legislation we present the other side of the picture and the serious handicap such result would place on the port area, the multiplicity of industries here as well as throughout Pennsylvania now so active in the production of so many essentials required for our own defense program as well as for aid to democracies abroad and moving in large quantities via Philadelphia.

It is the intention of the Federal Government, we are so advised, should this legislation fail of passage, to locate the Quarantine Station forty miles down the Delaware. Such a move would prove a serious blow to our present program chiefly for this reason.

As we have explained, the present station is only two to two and one-half hours steaming time from our port. In event it is established forty miles down stream it would mean the loss of more than a half day working time. Few vessels, if any, if obliged to anchor overnight for quarantine inspection this far down stream could do better than five hours steaming time to dock. Thus it would result in a noon hour start, the loss of a full half and perhaps a whole day in getting the vessel again on its way out to sea and destination.

In view of all this you will appreciate how vital is this measure and why our shipping interests urge your support.

Sincerely yours,

(Signed) CHARLES A. DEVLIN,

Chairman, Harbor, Pilotage and Stations Committee.

HOUSE MESSAGE

AMERICANISM DAY, MAY 1, 1941

The Clerk of the House of Representatives being introduced, presented an extract from the Journal of the House of Representatives which was twice read as follows and referred to the Committee on Rules.

In the House of Representatives, March 24, 1941.

It has long been a custom in the United States and in other countries throughout the world to observe the first day of May as May Day, and to mark such observances by various kinds of celebrations, which sometimes have taken the form of demonstrations against our established democratic form of government.

Almost a decade ago the American Legion organization in Fayette County inaugurated a new and more appropriate observance of the first day of May, by staging a parade and celebration in the name of Americanism.

The first day of May has since been annually observed and celebrated as Americanism Day by patriotic societies, veterans' organizations and other groups, both in Fayette County and throughout the Commonwealth, and it has been the custom of the Governor of the Commonwealth to issue his proclamation signifying the observance of Americanism Day.

The present world crisis constitutes a serious threat to those American principles of life and government, which were established with such great sacrifice and which have since been maintained and protected so valiantly, thus making it particularly significant and appropriate the observance of May first as Americanism Day in the year of 1941, now therefore be it

Resolved, By the Members of the House of Representatives of the General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania that a committee of five members be appointed by the Speaker to arrange appropriate ceremonies at the hour of 12 o'clock noon on [August] April 30, 1941, in anticipation of the observance of May first as Americanism Day, and be it further

Resolved, That the Governor, the Members of the Senate of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, the officers of the American Legion Post No. 51 and the Veterans' of Foreign War Post No. 47 of Uniontown, Fayette County, and the staff officers of the various other veterans' and patriotic organizations throughout the Commonwealth be invited to attend such ceremonies, and be it further

Resolved, That the Governor of the Commonwealth is hereby urged to issue his proclamation signifying May 1, 1941, as Americanism Day, and calling upon all patriotic, veteran, fraternal and civic organizations to hold celebrations of this day in such a manner as will bring to the people of the Commonwealth the full realization of the benefits, privileges and blessings that come to them through the continuance of our American form of government, and be it further

Resolved, That the House of Representatives of the General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania further urges all persons in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania to join in a real American celebration of May 1, 1941, as Americanism Day.

RECESS

The PRESIDENT. It is a poor presiding officer who can not usurp a little power to himself. Without asking consent of the Senate the Chair hereby declares a recess, during which will be read an invitation from the Pennsylvania Legislative Correspondents' Association.

AFTER RECESS

The PRESIDENT. The time of recess having elapsed the Senate will be in order.

BILL ON THIRD READING

Agreeably to order,

The Senate proceeded to the third reading and consideration of Senate Bill No. 30, entitled:

An Act providing for the establishment, construction, maintenance and use of a mountain ridge road or parkway on State forest, game and fish lands in the Pocono Mountains, through or bordering the counties of Monroe, Northampton, Carbon, Luzerne, Lackawanna, Wayne and Pike, to be known as the "Rim Parkway"; conferring powers and imposing duties on the Department of Highways; providing for the acquisition and taking of additional land; and the use of Federal Funds; authorizing the collection of tolls and rentals: and appropriating moneys out of the Motor License Fund.

And said bill having been read at length the third time,

And the amendments made thereto having been printed as required by the Constitution.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the bill?

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, after reading this bill I find it will be impossible to construct this proposed highway. Although I am in favor of new highways, of course, I find this bill calls for making the highway wide enough on its right-of-way to take the largest military airplane now in existence or contemplated.

As a matter of fact, Mr. President, the army is now testing a new Douglas fighter plane, a super-transport, that has a wing spread of over 240 feet. If we are going to hold literally to the wording of this bill we can not possibly build a highway right-of-way 240 feet wide. We do not know what type airplanes may be built in the future and, Mr. President, after all, the primary purpose of a road is for land transportation and not for air transportation.

There are other things in the bill, of course, but that particular item I think is very important and it is necessary that the Senators realize what they are voting for. I intend to vote "no" on this bill.

Mr. CROWE. Mr. President, I would like to make a statement on the subject matter of this bill.

The PRESIDENT. The gentleman from Monroe may proceed.

Mr. CROWE. The Rim Parkway, a skyline drive along the crest of the Blue Ridge mountains and around the Rim of the Pocono Plateau, bordering or through or accessible to the counties of Northampton, Monroe, Carbon, Luzerne, Lackawanna, Wayne and Pike as proposed in Senate Bill No. 30, calls for a survey of a skyway approximately 60 miles long; starting at the famous Delaware Water Gap and ending near Bushkill. The survey is to be made by the Pennsylvania Department of Highways, and the Parkway is to be built with the assistance of Federal Funds. In drawing the bill, the legislation connected with the Skyline Drive in Virginia, the Pennsylvania Turnpike or Super Highway and the Mount Washington Highway was followed.

The Rim Parkway will run through lands already owned by the Commonwealth and held by the Department of Forests and Waters, the Game and Fish Commissions and the remainder of the route will be through unused mountain lands. Many property owners along the proposed route have indicated in writing that they would donate the right of way. Thus the illfeeling and many damage suits that followed the building of the Pennsylvania Turnpike will be avoided. Already there are state owned forest lands aggregating 45,000 acres in this region, and the route will pass within a few miles of a nationally owned tract of 35,000 acres. When completed, the total acreaage of the Parkway and its system of connected public lands will embrace more than 82,000 acres available for public recreation, hunting, fishing, hiking, riding and camping.

A number of years ago in the last Pinchot administration a survey for a highway similar in many respects to this was made by the Department of Forests and Waters in connection with a CWA project. The data thus obtained as well as the survey itself are still in the files of that Department, and should do a great deal toward reducing the cost of the preliminary work necessary before the Parkway can be constructed.

A man-built scenic attraction such as the Rim Parkway is the now famous Skyline Drive of Virginia. This annually draws around 400,000 cars and over a million visitors to the State of Virginia. Formerly you thought of Virginia because of its historic shrines, its famous caverns and its battlefields, but now as an attraction to the visitors is the Skyline Drive, that takes first place. This in spite of the fact that the Drive is within a radius of 200 miles of a total population of 6,000,000. Business organizations have estimated that the year the Skyline Drive opened, it resulted in bringing $8,000,000 of additional business to the State of Virginia. Up to September last year 1,487,330 cars visited the Drive carrying 5,062,607 passengers, all of whom spent money and helped business in this neighborhood.

Let us now consider what the Rim Parkway offers in comparison with the Skyline Drive. First, the Rim Parkway will be nearby to a population of 30,000,000 people. It will be less than 100 miles from New York City, Philadelphia, Newark, Trenton, Jersey City, Scranton, Wilkes-Barre, Binghampton, Allentown, Easton, Reading and other cities. Unlike the Virginia Highway which winds around the sides of the mountains, the Rim Parkway will follow a natural route along the crest or rim of the Poconos. The elevation will be from 1,510 feet to 2,600 feet, and the visitor will be looking down on the world from both sides. The Skyline Drive is a narrow road mainly cut out from the side of the mauntains and dangerous to the nervous visitor. The Rim Parkway will be a fairly level road with a Parkway on each side, so wide in many instances that military planes can be landed without trouble. Concessions will be under state supervision and located only at designated points. There will be ramps for exits and entrances, so that visitors can get on or off the Parkway at certain intervals. These features are not possible on the Skyline Drive.

From an economic standpoint, as the Rim Parkway is a toll road, it should pay for itself from income in less than ten years. Conservative experts have estimated that more than 2,000,000 motor vehicles will visit a parkway such as this yearly. The income derived from gasoline taxes alone will be a tremendous means of revenue for the state. In addition, the visitors brought to the state by this attraction will mean millions to merchants, hotels, restaurants and garages and it will mean a new financial lease of life for northeastern Pennsylvania, particularly the anthracite coal regions so long depressed from a business standpoint. Relief and unemployment in the coal regions still runs in figures of tens of thousands. The building of this highway will put to work more than 5,000 men, as a great deal of unskilled labor will be required for underbrushing, road grading and other work. Much of the construction work would be within an hour's drive of the coal regions in Carbon, Luzerne and Lackawanna Counties. The National Resources Board in Washington is already planning projects that will be available for immediate completion when the present defense program is ended. If the war should suddenly terminate and a peace be established that would obviate the necessity of our defense program, we would have to cope with an enormous unemployment problem. If we have the Rim Parkway started, it would be a place for taking care of unskilled labor from the coal regions. Even now there is talk of extending the Skyline Drive of Virginia along the Blue Ridge to the Canadian line. Mr. Harold Ickes has publicly stated that he was in sympathy with such a plan. Why not be one step ahead in Pennsylvania and build our part of the link in advance?

Much is said for and against defense measures. In fact, the word "defense" is often taken in vain in even legislative circles. However, the route of the Rim Parkway will be a natural barrier between the Atlantic Ocean and industrial northeast and even central Pennsylvania. It will be protection to the great anthracite coal region. With its broad parkways, planes can be landed and mobile as well as mechanized units maneuvered into strategic positions for defense. The European war has emphasized the fact that oil tanks and refineries are first bombed, with the result that industry has to turn to coal more than ever. Next the coal mines are attacked, and as in the case of the Welsh mines, made practically useless because of being unprotected or rather means being unavailable for the placement of antiaircraft guns.

The Rim Parkway will be landscaped with natural mountain growth such as laurel, rhododendron, azalea, dogwood, spruce, pine, hemlock and numerous other native plants. It will be for pleasure vehicles only, will be free of billboards and advertising. Service stations and wayside stands are limited and controlled as to architecture and landscaping. It is planned to keep from the Parkway any condition that would mar the beauty of the natural scenery along its entire route. The natural wildness of the forests is to be maintained. Many suggestions included in the bill were made by Mr. Allen Jennings, Superintendent of Parks and Parkways of New York City.

Look at the publicity angle. In my hand I have a copy of the New York Times of the past Sunday. There is an article on the front page entitled "Shenandoah Sets Spring Stage," and also one called "To Old Philadelphia" but you will notice that a picture of the Skyline Drive gets "top billing" as the actors would say. In this connection let me say that New Yorkers are already taking a great interest in the Rim Parkway. I have a letter in my files from one of the editors of the same New York Times telling me that he is bringing a staff of photographers to the Poconos for the sole purpose of taking pictures along the proposed route of the Rim Parkway. Pennsylvania papers had better get going or they will be scooped.

In the month of October, 1938, Governor Arthur H. James said in the Court-House, at Stroudsburg, and I quote, "I have just returned from a brief vacation on the Skyline Drive in Virginia, Pennsylvania should have a drive like that up here". I unquote. Again in the Governor's address at the joint session of the Legislature on January 7th, 1941, he urged the extension of the skyline drive along the crest of the Pennsylvania mountains to the Delaware Water Gap. And Senate Bill 30 is the answer to this.

Now, my colleagues of the Senate, let us vote for something that will put Pennsylvania on the map, that is economically sound and will pay for itself in a few years, that will increase the value of its real estate holdings. The Harvard School of Business through its research has found that land values in the region of parkways throughout the United States increase 300 or 400 per cent in value. A Parkway that will be the greatest scenic and most successful business attraction in the United States. We cannot build a Grand Canyon in Pennsylvania, but we have the Delaware Water Gap rated as an "Eighth Wonder" of the world for a start, so let's build a man-made scenic route that will rival or exceed any other in the United States—namely the Rim Parkway.

Mr. WOODWARD. Mr. President, may I ask the gentleman from Monroe a question?

The PRESIDENT. Will the gentleman from Monroe permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. CROWE. I will, Mr. President.

Mr. WOODWARD. Mr. President, perhaps the gentleman from Monroe may have noticed advertisements of the State of Vermont advertising "unspoiled Vermont". I am willing to vote for this bill, Mr. President, if it is endorsed by the Game and Fish Commission. My interrogation, Mr. President, is: have they spoken on it? If the Game and Fish Commission is in favor of the bill I am for it.

Mr. CROWE. They have no objection to it, Mr. President.

Mr. WOODWARD. Have they been consulted, Mr. President?

Mr. CROWE. They have, Mr. President.

Mr. WOODWARD. And they have no objection?

Mr. CROWE. No, Mr. President.

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, I did not want to go into the details contained in this bill. However, since there has been an elaborate speech made urging passage of the bill I would like to call attention to a few of the features that may be of interest to the Senators.

In the first place, Mr. President, it calls for the condemnation and acquisition by the state of rights-of-way for the road itself and in addition thereto for the acquisition of five hundred feet on each side of the road, which might make a possible fifteen hundred feet of right-of-way through the mountains or through private lands that may be owned by individuals along the right-of-way.

If any person has had any occasion to go into court on land damage cases in connection with road construction he will realize what a stupendous proposition this is going to be. There will be millions of dollars spent on rights-of-way alone, without counting the cost of construction.

Another thing, Mr. President, is that the bill calls for getting what money they can from the federal government for parkways and so forth.

Being a member of the Democratic Party, Mr. President, I am not much for condemning the Federal Government as to the use to which the government has put the money already expended by it, but it has been the history of the Republican Party to call for a balanced budget and condemnation of the Democrats for wildly spending money, and if the Democratic Party were to go out and spend a few million dollars for this road, all they would get would be condemnation and criticism.

A third feature of the proposed bill is there will be no parked cars visible from the main driveway. You are going to make hidden parking places off the road entirely. Some people when they park like to be hidden but I am too old for that.

Another feature, Mr. President, is that they are going to set up a proposition where anybody who wants to open a gasoline station or a restaurant any place along the road must pay a fee of not less than one hundred dollars, and the Lord only knows how high they will charge for the rentals.

I think this bill definitely is a bad piece of legislation. If a road is needed up through there it should be a free road, so that all persons who want to take advantage of seeing the beauties in eastern Pennsylvania may be able to go up and see them. It should not be a toll road. One toll road in Pennsylvania is one too many. I can remember when my father used to fight against toll roads and toll bridges and here we are setting up again the old system of toll roads. The motorists pay enough money and the roads ought to be built out of their money.

BILLS OVER IN ORDER

Mr. CROWE. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that Senate Bill No. 30, on third reading, go over in its order.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

Mr. REED. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that Senate Bill No. 292, (House Bill No. 382) on third reading, entitled:

An Act authorizing counties, cities, boroughs, incorporated towns and townships to appropriate money for the establishment or continuance of Federal Surplus Commodities Stamp plans therein, and to borrow money and issue bonds for said purpose.

go over in its order, as the gentleman from Fayette is interested in this bill and he is not here today.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

BILLS ON THIRD READING AND FINAL PASSAGE

Agreeably to order,

The Senate proceeded to the third reading and consideration of Senate Bill No. 338, as follows:

An Act to further amend sections four and five of the act approved the sixth day of April one thousand nine hundred thirty-five (P. And said bill having been read at length the third time, and agreed to,

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. EDMONDS. Mr. President, before action on this bill I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Lackawanna.

The PRESIDENT. Will the gentleman from Lackawanna permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. COLEMAN. I will, Mr. President.

Mr. EDMONDS. Mr. President, will the gentleman from Lackawanna tell us what is the object of this bill.

Mr. COLEMAN. Mr. President, the object of this bill is to change the issuance of single tax statements in the City of Scranton—and only Scranton—from April 1st to January 15th, to permit the taxing authorities to have money the first three months of the year rather than wait until the taxes come in the latter part of April, forcing them to borrow, in the case of the school district, $700,000, and in the case of the City of Scranton $800,000 and to pay to a loan company or a bonding company one and three quarters per cent interest.

This bill, Mr. President, gives added inducement to the taxables with an added discount of two and one half per cent if they pay their taxes three months ahead of the present taxing date.

Mr. EDMONDS. The effect of the bill is this, Mr. President, if I may interrogate the gentleman from Lackawanna further, that it will give the City of Scranton a unique fiscal set-up as compared with the rest of the state; is that not true?

Mr. COLEMAN. Mr. President, this does not change the fiscal picture in the City of Scranton.

Mr. EDMONDS. What it does is to change the law so that taxes shall become delinquent after March 31st and that does not apply anywhere else in the State. does it?

Mr. COLEMAN. Mr. President, the issuance of a single tax statement which was sponsored by me in the 1935 session, does not apply to any other political sub-division of the Commonwealth, as I understand it.

Mr. EDMONDS. Mr. President, what is the object of making the fiscal set-up of the City of Scranton unique among the municipalities of the Commonwealth? Why should there be these changes that will change the uniformity of the State?

Mr. COLEMAN. Mr. President, this adds to the uniformity of the City of Scranton and prevents the taxing authorities from borrowing money. In other words, instead of giving one and three quarters per cent to a bonding company for borrowing money they give that back to the tax payers through an increased discount.

Mr. EDMONDS. Isn't this very much the same kind of thing as was done in 1935 when the Commonwealth collected three sets of capitol stock taxes in two year's time?

Mr. COLEMAN. That question has been raised, Mr. President, and I am delighted to answer that because I think there is a great deal of misunderstanding about this bill and I would like to answer the gentleman from Montgomery at some length, if he will permit.

Mr. EDMONDS. Surely, Mr. President.

Mr. COLEMAN. Mr. President, I introduced this bill in the 1935 session of the General Assembly and somebody had the erroneous impression that in its introduction there was behind it the purpose of electing a Democratic School Board. Now, Mr. President, the election is history and the school board is under Republican control.

This bill, Mr. President, comes from a Republican mayor, a Republican school board and a Republican city council. I have had no opposition from anybody in the City of Scranton to this particular bill.

Mr. EDMONDS. May I ask the gentleman from Lackawanna further, because he has replied with such great frankness to my interrogatories, does he not think it is wrong that any one particular community should get out of line with the fiscal program of the rest of the state, and be allowed to fix dates, under this bill, even though that city or community may all be in favor of it?

Mr. COLEMAN. Mr. President, I think the best answer to that is that the erudite and distinguished gentleman from Montgomery, who is in the vanguard of the home rule movement in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, is a trifle inconsistent in his consideration of this bill, because it is purely a matter of Home Rule affecting only the City of Scranton and I am surprised.

Mr. EDMONDS. Mr. President, in the home rule bill which is in committee, of which the gentleman from Lackawanna is a member, there is a distinct provision that withdraws from a community the right to make any laws on the subject of assessment or collection of taxes. In other words, it is so important for the state, that the good credit of all of its units should be maintained, that the state laws on this subject be kept uniform, that has been withdrawn from the home rule consideration to which the gentleman from Lackawanna refers. That to my mind is a more statesmanlike manner of dealing with the subject.

Mr. COLEMAN. Will the gentleman from Montgomery agree with me this is a home rule proposition and that the essence of this bill is a principle of home rule.

Mr. EDMONDS. Mr. President, that seems to me as absurd as to say under the principle of home rule you may say to one community you shall not have any high school. In other words, there are certain standards which the state must fix and enforce and it does that by general legislation and does not allow localities, even under the principle of home rule, to vary from those standards which are fundamental in state life.

It seems to me, Mr. President, this matter of fixing a fiscal year or a fiscal date when taxes become delinquent is one of those standards we would like to have maintained.

Mr. COLEMAN. Mr. President, I could answer the gentleman from Montgomery by wandering far afield and taking in many problems on the proposition of home rule, but here is a bill the people of the City of Scranton are vitally interested in, not only the taxing authorities but the taxables in my particular community.

This bill affects only the City of Scranton. I have been in Harrisburg for the last six years voting in favor of bills that affect political sub-divisions and I think every political sub-division of the Commonwealth has problems peculiarly their own.

The day after this bill was committed we passed a bill sponsored by the gentleman from Cumberland having to do with the sale of some parcels of property in Cumberland County. I do not think anybody on the Democratic side of this body—and I have some serious doubts whether there were many, more than three or four on the Republican side—knew whether or not that was a proper thing to do, but we have an abiding faith in the honesty of the membership on the opposite side, and I hope there is reciprocity on that particular proposition, and on the assumption the gentleman from Cumberland was doing something which was proper we voted in favor of his bill. Mr. President, that was a problem peculiarly his own. I know it is improper to discuss matters that are discussed in committee but when this bill was reported out the two bills considered immediately prior to the reporting out of this bill were both Philadelphia bills, having to do with the City of Philadelphia, and in that committee we accepted the judgment of the Philadelphia members.

Mr. President, I am the only representative, the only Senator in this body from the City of Scranton. I think I have a right to expect from the membership of the Senate on both sides some bit of courtesy. I would like to say, Mr. President, while I am on my feet, I would like to see a return to the traditional Senatorial courtesy, I would like to see a return to some mutual confidence and respect in this august body, and I am asking the membership on both sides of the Senate to vote "aye" on a bill affecting only my district, affecting only the City of Scranton, if for no other reason than to show their appreciation of the many bills I have voted for affecting third class cities, affecting Philadelphia and Pittsburgh, the judgment on which we accepted of those men who were representing those particular communities, and that is why I am making my plea to the membership on both sides of this body to vote "aye" on this particular bill.

Mr. MALLERY. Mr. President, I intend to vote for this bill for the reason stated by the sponsor of the bill, that it is an endeavor to bring money into the City of Scranton and do away or obviate the necessity of borrowing money. That proposition has been considered for quite some time. I might state to my colleague from Montgomery that proposition has been considered seriously by the Local Government Commission since the inception of the Commission.

However, Mr. President, that involves a change of the fiscal year and that is a matter that creates a great deal of difficulty. I do not see anything wrong with advancing the time when taxes can be paid. We all know all over the state most municipalities have to borrow money and have to go to the banks to tide the municipalities over until the tax money comes in.

There is another bill on the Calendar, I believe, Mr. President, that would expedite the payment of the four mills personal property tax, which is payable to the county.

I think it is a good bill and one which the entire Senate should support. Just because it does not apply to all other municipalities in the state is no reason why the bill should be defeated.

And the question recurring,

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

(After the calling of the roll the following occurred):

Mr. EDMONDS. Mr. President, I believe there were four votes in the negative. I remember that very distinctly. I ask that the role be verified.

BILL ON THIRD READING

Agreeably to order,

The Senate proceeded to the third reading and consideration of Senate Bill No. 420, entitled:

A Joint Resolution proposing an amendment to article nine section eight of the Constitution of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania.

Will the Senate agree to the bill on third reading, as amended?

It was agreed to.

Ordered, That the bill as amended be printed for the use of the Senate.

Mr. SHAPIRO. Mr. President, in order that the record may be clear I should like to interrogate the gentleman from Philadelphia, Dr. Woodward.

The PRESIDENT. Will the gentleman from Philadelphia, Dr. Woodward, permit himself to be interrogated.

Mr. WOODWARD. I will, Mr. President.

Mr. SHAPIRO. As originally on our desks, Mr. President, this bill provided for exclusion of personal property in the computation in the amount of lawful bonded indebtedness of the City of Philadelphia?

Mr. WOODWARD. Borrowing, Mr. President.

Mr. SHAPIRO. And in order to compensate for the loss of borrowing capacity which must necessarily result from taking out one of the bases, the ten year average was included in the amendments; that is correct, isn't it?

Mr. WOODWARD. That is correct, Mr. President.

Mr. SHAPIRO. Then it follows, Mr. President, the purpose of the present amendment is to take out the ten year average and the law will therefore remain the same as it is now in computing the allowable bonded indebtedness.

Mr. WOODWARD. Of the past year, Mr. President.

Mr. SHAPIRO. I thought we might as well have the record straight on that.

Agreeably to order,

The Senate proceeded to the third reading and consideration of Senate Bill No. 452, as follows:

An Act making an appropriation to the Trustees of the Pennsylvania State College for use in research work dealing with flax and other farm produce

The General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania hereby enacts as follows

Section 1 The sum of two hundred thousand dollars ($200.000) or so much thereof as may be necessary is hereby specifically appropriated to the Trustees of the Pennsylvania State College for and during the two fiscal years beginning June first one thousand nine hundred forty-one for the use by the Trustees of the Pennsylvania State College in conducting studies and researches to discover and develop new by-products of flax and other farm produce for use in industry and to develop new scientific chemical and other uses than food and feeding and new markets for flax and other farm produce and for the purpose of employing engineers chemists technicians experts and other necessary employes and for the purchase of machinery equipment apparatus and supplies necessary in connection with such studies and researches

And the amendments made thereto having been printed as required by the Constitution,

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the bill?

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, a few weeks ago we had a bill similar in nature to this bill, appropriating I think $75,000 to Pennsylvania State College for the purpose of developing new uses for oil, and at another time we had a bill for the anthracite industry.

I called attention to the members of the Senate at that time, Mr. President, that we were opening up a field that might some day be one of the largest tax items in the state. There is nothing to stop any particular industry from coming in and asking for an appropriation in order to make an extensive study of the products they may produce in order that we, the taxpayers of this state, pay for research work that rightfully belongs to the industry.

Now, Mr. President, on the Calendar today we have a bill which calls for an additional appropriation of $200,000 to Pennsylvania State College to develop more uses for flax. If it were not such a serious problem I might say someone was trying to make hay while the sun shines.

Mr. STIEFEL. Mr. President, I feel research is of great importance. We are being taught lessons during the present clash in Europe that research pays in the long run and what may seem insignificant today may later develop into a very fine field of a accomplishment.

For that reason, Mr. President, I am going to vote "aye" on this bill.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the bill?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Agreeably to order,

The Senate proceeded to the third reading and consideration of Senate Bill No. 515, as follows:

An Act to amend article nine of the act approved the third day of June one thousand nine hundred thirty-seven (P. L. 1333) entitled "An act concerning elections including general municipal special and primary elections the nomination of candidates primary and election expenses and election contests creating and defining membership of county boards of elections imposing duties upon the Secretary of the Commonwealth courts county boards of elections county commissioners imposing penalties for violation of the act and codifying revising and consolidating the laws relating thereto and repealing certain acts and parts of acts relating to elections" by requiring an additional affidavit by candidates for nomination for any office

Section 1 Article nine of the act approved the third day of June one thousand nine hundred thirty-seven (P. L. 1333) entitled "An act concerning elections including general municipal special and primary elections the nomination of candidates primary and election expenses and election contests creating and defining membership of county boards of elections imposing duties upon the Secretary of the Commonwealth courts county boards of elections county commissioners imposing penalties for violation of the act and codifying revising, and consolidating the laws relating thereto and repealing certain acts and parts of acts relating to elections" is hereby amended by adding at the end thereof a new section to be known as section nine hundred eighty-five and to read as follows

Section 985 All nomination petitions or nomination certificates filed by or for candidates for nomination under the provisions of sections six hundred twenty-nine six hundred thirty nine hundred ten nine hundred fifty-one nine hundred seventy-nine and nine hundred eighty of this act shall be accompanied by the affidavit of the candidate for nomination named therein stating that if he is nominated and elected to the office for which he is a candidate he will support obey and defend the Constitution of the United States and of this Commonwealth and when not accompanied by such affidavit no such petition or certificate shall be received and filed by the Secretary of the Commonwealth or the County Board of Elections as the case may be

And said bill having been read at length the third time,

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the bill?

Mr. HALUSKA. Several weeks ago, Mr. President, I spoke of silly bills. This is another of those silly measures. I see no good in having such a bill in this chamber, especially a bill that tells you now that any candidate before seeking nomination must file an affidavit stating he will defend the Constitution, if elected. I know right well when we are elected to the Senate we must sign an affidavit before we take office, we must take an oath, which embodies the same thought, but I am wondering, Mr. President, how many of the minor office holders would have knowledge of such an act. There would be thousands upon thousands of minor officeholders not having any knowledge of such an act and their applications for nominations would be entirely rejected according to the terms of this bill.

Mr. President, I see no place for such a silly measure as appears on this Calendar today.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

The yeas and nays were taken agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution, and were as follows, viz:

The Senate proceeded to the third reading and consideration of Senate Bill No. 518, as follows:

An Act to further amend the first paragraph of subsection (a) of section one thousand two hundred five of the act approved the eighteenth day of May one thousand nine hundred and eleven (P. L. 309) entitled "An act to establish a public school system in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania together with the provisions by which it shall be administered and prescribing penalties for the violation thereof providing revenue to establish and maintain the same and the method of collecting such revenue and repealing all laws general special or local or any parts thereof that are or may be inconsistent therewith" prescribing additional causes for termination of a contract of a professional employe

The General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania hereby enacts as follows

Section 1 The first paragraph of subsection (a) of section one thousand two hundred five of the act approved the eighteenth day of May one thousand nine hundred and eleven (P. L. 309) entitled "An act to establish a public school system in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania together with the provisions by which it shall be administered and prescribing penalties for the violation thereof providing revenue to establish and maintain the same and the method of collecting such revenue and repealing all laws general special or local or any parts thereof that are or may be inconsistent therewith" as last amended by section two of the act approved the twentieth day of June one thousand nine hundred and thirty-nine (P. L. 482) is hereby further amended to read as follows

(a) The only valid causes for termination of a contract entered into with a professional employe in accordance with the provisions of this section shall be immorality incompetency intemperance cruelty persistent negligence mental derangement persistent and wilful violation of the school laws of this Commonwealth on the part of the professional employe un-American or subversive teaching or activity or membership in or support of any party engaged in un-American or subversive activity or membership in or support of any political party prohibited by law from a place on the official ballot at any election

Section 2 The provisions of this act shall become effective immediately upon final enactment

And said bill having been read at length the third time,

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the bill?

Mr. DiSILVESTRO. Mr. President, I should like to interrogate the proponent of this piece of legislation.

The PRESIDENT. Will the gentleman from Luzerne permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. MILLER. I will, Mr. President.

Mr. DiSILVESTRO. Mr. President, I would like to know from the proponent of this bill what it actually does.

Mr. MILLER. Mr. President, this bill simply adds to the already existing law on teacher's tenure the cause for removal for teaching un-Americanism or subversive teachings or activities or membership or support of any party engaged in un-American or subversive activities.

Mr. DiSILVESTRO. Mr. President, may I further interrogate the gentleman from Luzerne.

The PRESIDENT. Will the gentleman from Luzerne permit himself to be further interrogated?

Mr. MILLER. Yes, Mr. President.

Mr. DiSILVESTRO. Mr. President, doesn't every school board in the state have that right of stopping subversive activities, without adding this bill which we have here before us.

Mr. MILLER. I would say, Mr. President, under the existing law that is not the case.

Mr. DiSILVESTRO. Thank you. I might say, Mr. President, I am voting for this bill but I feel if we are going to keep teachers under a stringent legislation, we should also keep other professional people and people in public office under like supervision.

I remember two or three years ago, Mr. President, a famous committee on subversive activities in Washington received evidence against a public official in the City of Philadelphia, real evidence of propaganda in this state, and they just cast that evidence aside and I say to my colleagues of this Senate they did that without giving it any heed.

Mr. President, I think if we are going to keep after teachers and watch them, if we are going to watch a history teacher if she gives her opinion about a certain battle, we can also do the same thing with public officials, doctors, lawyers or anybody else. This is class legislation, what we have here.

Two or three years ago our friend, Dies, said the man who presented the evidence was a Communist. It was very simple to stick the label of communism on that gentleman. I feel public officials should be watched more than anyone else today. They parade around from east to west and from north to south in this state with the glamour of their public position and fool many people who are their followers.

I am voting for this bill, my dear colleague and members of this Senate but let us keep our eyes open and go after these men and let us go after these men and women who think they can use political influence to impede investigations, when those investigations are warranted and they are proven by the facts presented.

This is one time, Mr. President, that we in America, the greatest country in the world, should see that everybody is punished when he issues propaganda such as I have said, has been perpetrating in this State. People who are innocent and do not understand follow these men who parade around as judges and just because they have the glamour of their judgeship they go around and fool our good people in this state, I really have the greatest faith in our citizens.

Mr. President, I am voting for this bill but, my friend Bob Miller, you keep your eyes open and present legislation that will stop these men from continuing the business they have been conducting, and it is a business for them.

Mr. DENT. As I looked this bill over, Mr. President, a question came to my mind on a certain phase of it, and I talked to the sponsor on the matter of dismissing a teacher that might be a member of a political party that is prohibited by law. Now, Mr. President, there is no particular party in Pennsylvania prohibited by law yet, other than a party that may have been preempted, and at the following election, they receive less than two per cent of the votes. The gentleman who sponsored this bill has assured me it is not the intention to dismiss teachers who may belong to some independent party or may belong to some illegal party. As I understand the law there are no illegal parties in the State of Pennsylvania, so therefore the bill cannot be very clear on that particular point, but the gentleman from Luzerne assures me this bill is not aimed at independents and persons who may protest against the activities of both the Democratic and the Republican parties and start a party of their own.

May I interrogate the gentleman from Luzerne?

The PRESIDENT. Will the gentleman from Luzerne permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. MILLER. Gladly, Mr. President.

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, this bill is not aimed at that, as I understand it. Is that so?

Mr. MILLER. That is correct, Mr. President.

Mr. DENT. That is a point I wanted to make clear, Mr. President, I think the bill itself is not clear now in its language.

Mr. McGINNIS. Mr. President, I have no doubt of the good intentions of the sponsor of this bill but I think it is throwing something into our legislation, control of schools, that is unnecessary. This is one of these bills that is prompted by patriotism and I am afraid sometimes in some of these bills, our patriotism runs away with us.

What is subversive teaching, Mr. President? What is the definition of subversive? I know that if I was on a school board and wanted to get a teacher and she told about some battle that we had lost—and I think we ought to tell the bad things about government as well as the good things—we ought to make them tell our children the facts of history even if it hurts sometimes, so I am fearful that this bill, if enacted into law, will not bring about good results. I feel it will be used to get after some teachers they do not like, because the teachers give the facts, teach the facts; sometimes the facts hurt us but they ought to be brought out, even in school.

I am sure, Mr. President, that many a teacher, if this bill goes through, will be charged with teaching un-American doctrines or having subversive tendencies simply because she taught the facts.

Mr. SHAPIRO. Mr. President, I agree entirely with what has been said by the gentleman from Allegheny. If I had been here last week I would have attempted by amendment to cover what I think is intended to be a very excellent bill.

I am going to vote for this bill, Mr. President, because I am hoping I can convince some people in the House who will have charge of the bill that it ought to be amended, because I do not know that there is sufficient definition of what might be meant by un-Americanism and I think the question of what is subversive ought to be clarified. I would like to see such a bill be passed. Because of the absence of such a provision in our laws, we were subjected to the behavior of one particular woman for over four years whom we all knew to be a subversive teacher, but we could not do anything about it.

However, Mr. President, it strikes me the use of the phraseology in this bill is not sufficiently clear, particularly when you talk about a party being prohibited by law from a place on the ballot. At every election there are certain parties who attempt to apply for and are refused a place on the ballot, for many reasons; some are refused a place on the ballot because they have not received the number of votes necessary to keep them on the ballot and yet members of those parties under this bill might be dismissed and it is not the intention to cover them.

However, Mr. President, I am going to vote for this bill, but I would like the record to show I do not agree with the wording nor do I think the wording carries out the intent of the sponsor.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the bill?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

A Supplement to the act approved the twelfth day of June, one thousand nine hundred and thirty-nine (P. L. 335), entitled "An act creating a temporary commission to examine, report upon, and recommend measures to improve the economic, cultural, health and living conditions of the urban colored population of the State, and making an appropriation of the expenses of such commission," by extending the term of such commission until the next regular session of the General Assembly; and making an appropriation.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to have the bill transmitted for a third reading?

Mr. SHAPIRO. Mr. President, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Kephart.

The PRESIDENT. Will the gentleman from Philadelphia permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. KEPHART. Yes, Mr. President.

Mr. SHAPIRO. Mr. President, will the gentleman from Philadelphia tell us what this committee has done up until now? It was appointed in 1939, I think.

Mr. KEPHART. It was, Mr. President.

Mr. SHAPIRO. Mr. President, what has this committee done up until this time that we should give them another appropriation.

Mr. KEPHART. Mr. President, they have held at least five meetings and have made investigations into conditions of the urban colored population, along certain lines. If the gentleman from Philadelphia desires further information I can get my material from my desk.

Mr. SHAPIRO. Did they receive an appropriation, Mr. President.

Mr. KEPHART. They received an appropriation of $10,000.

Mr. SHAPIRO. And this bill proposes to give them an additional appropriation of $10,000?

Mr. KEPHART. $15,000, Mr. President.

Mr. SHAPIRO. Does the gentleman from Philadelphia think $2,000 a meeting is too much for a committee of this kind? They have had five meetings and they had an appropriation of $10,000 and now they want $15,000 more. Is $3,000 a meeting sufficient?

Mr. KEPHART. They asked for $35,000. They had a budget, Mr. President.

Mr. SHAPIRO. Mr. President, I hope there is some thought on the part of the sponsor that this bill should go back to committee for further study. I am just as anxious that my party get the colored vote as the Republican party, but I do not think they are paying enough for it. This is, in my opinion, a lot of nonsense, to give $10,000 for five meetings and have no report yet made to this Legislature, and now they are asking for $15,000 more.

Mr. President, I suggest that this bill go back to committee and if we lose votes on account of that I am satisfied to lose them.

Mr. KEPHART. Mr. President, has the bill yet been read the second time?

The PRESIDENT. It has not.

Mr. KEPHART. After the bill has been read the second time I desire to make a motion to have it recommitted.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the bill on second reading?

It was agreed to.

Mr. KEPHART. Mr. President, in spite of the remarks of the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Shapiro, I intend to move that Senate Bill No. 262 be recommitted to the Committee on Appropriations. I believe if the gentleman from Philadelphia would investigate the matter he would find this commission has attempted to do a good job but it needs an additional period to complete that job. Two years is not a very long period in which to investigate conditions of the urban colored population.

BILL RECOMMITTED

Mr. KEPHART. Mr. President, I move that Senate Bill No. 262, the bill just read, be recommitted to the Committee on Appropriations.

Mr. WALKER. Mr. President, I second the motion.

AMENDMENTS WITHDRAWN

Mr. KEPHART. Mr. President, I withdraw the amendments and will have them prepared properly.

Mr. JASPAN. Mr. President, I do not like the reference made to the Legislative Reference Bureau. The fact is today we have two Republican holdovers on the Legislative Reference Bureau who have been there close to twenty years and if anybody should know their business they should.

MOTION THAT BILL GO OVER IN ORDER

Mr. HALUSKA. Mr. President, I should like to suggest that Senate Bill No. 507 go over in its order, so that I may prepare amendments.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the motion?

Mr. WADE. Mr. President, I should like to avoid amendments to this bill and therefore I would like to have it acted upon.

Mr. HALUSKA. I realize, Mr. President, it is the intention of the sponsor to avoid amendments to this bill, but I would like the courtesy of having the bill go over in its order until tomorrow so that I may prepare and offer amendments.

Do I understand, Mr. President, there are objections to the bill going over in its order.

The PRESIDENT. The Chair is in an unfortunate position. The amendments have already been read.

Mr. GELTZ. Mr. President, there were no amendments offered, as I understand it.

The PRESIDENT. That is correct. The present status of this bill is that it is on second reading, the sections have been read and agreed to and the title was read and agreed to.

Then the gentleman from Cambria requested that the bill go over in its order, before second reading.

Mr. HALUSKA. Mr. President, I realize I was a little late and in order to prevent the Chair from being embarrassed—

The PRESIDENT. The Chair is never embarrassed.

Mr. HALUSKA. Mr. President, has the bill been read the second time?

The PRESIDENT. It has.

Mr. HALUSKA. Then it can not go over in its order?

The PRESIDENT. No.

Mr. HALUSKA. The vote by which it passed second reading however, can be reconsidered?

The PRESIDENT. That is correct.

Mr. HALUSKA. Mr. President, I will wait until tomorrow and then ask that the vote by which this bill passed second reading be reconsidered. I will prepare amendments in the morning.

MOTION WITHDRAWN

Mr. HALUSKA. Therefore, Mr. President, I withdraw the motion that Senate Bill No. 507 go over in its order.

Mr. WADE. Mr. President, may I just take a moment and offer my apologies to the gentleman from Cambria.

The PRESIDENT. The gentleman from Cumberland will proceed.

Mr. WADE. Mr. President, I hope the members of the Senate understand this is one of the most important matters this Legislature will have to face this Session, this matter of redistricting the Congressional districts of Pennsylvania, and if we open this matter up at this time it might lead to endless debate.

Mr. President, I realize the bill may not be entirely perfect now but I think there will be opportunity for the gentleman to be heard later and therefore I apologize to him.

Mr. HALUSKA. Mr. President, I do realize the importance of the bill and I accept the apology of the gentleman from Cumberland. It was for that reason, the importance of the bill, that I wished to offer amendments.

This is a most important bill, affecting my district, and I realize fully the bill will be debated at great length. However, Mr. President, I thought this a good time to offer amendments, and not when the bill was on third reading.

However, Mr. President, I do accept the apology of the gentleman from Cumberland.

BILLS OVER IN ORDER

Mr. HEYBURN. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that Senate Bill No. 519, on second reading, entitled:

Mr. JAMES. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent to introduce a bill at this time.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

Mr. JAMES read in place and presented to the Chair Senate Bill No. 656, entitled:

A Supplement to the act, approved the first day of June, one thousand nine hundred and thirty-three (P. L. 1172), entitled "An act establishing certain streets in boroughs and incorporated towns as State highways, and providing for their construction and maintenance at the expense of the Commonwealth," establishing an additional route in the borough of Seliersville, Bucks County.

Which was committed to the Committee on Highways.

QUESTION OF PERSONAL PRIVILEGE

Mr. CHAPMAN. Mr. President, I rise to a question of personal privilege.

The PRESIDENT. The gentleman from Warren will state his question of personal privilege.

WHAT IS WRONG WITH THE UNITED STATES

Mr. CHAPMAN. Mr. President, dark developments of the past week threaten to engulf all Greece under the Nazi cloud; the defeat of the brave Jugoslavians and the peril to British might in Africa are incidents that should rouse every American. Our government has decided to give all out aid to Britain and the popular thought in our land is that our leaders are correct in that stand. The comforters of the dictators, Lindbergh, Nye and others seemingly alone oppose the move.

The factories where munitions of war are being made; where planes are being fashioned and where tanks are formed are recovering from the throes of strikes and the needed articles are beginning to come forth. But within a short time the steel from which these things are fashioned will cease to be made due to the shortage of coal. The strike in the northern mines is practically settled but the situation in the south is still a problem and until it is coped, northern mines are to be idle. Can it be that our government is so supine that it cannot bring pressure to bear sufficiently strong to have the mines resume? Is John Lewis revenging himself on President Roosevelt for the passages at arms in the last campaign? And is the President fearful of tumbling down his carefully built political fortress founded on the shoulders of labor leaders? It certainly looks as if the battle browed leader of the mine workers has the President in a hole.

And in this situation that highly original phrase "Plague be on both your houses" should apply. No man, President or leader of a labor union should be big enough to halt the march of Americans seeking to arm themselves from the threat of aggressors. This is a time for action not platitudes.

Months ago the American people were aroused. When the death dealing planes of Hitler swept over London bearing burdens of high explosives we were shocked. The man in the street felt that something should be done about it. But I venture today to say that the man in the street has viewed the political bickerings, the careful methods used by the Washington administration not to give offense to the vote getters and feels "there is no hurry to arm, those fellows at Washington are not scared, they only say they are."

I feel certain that much of the lethargy, smugness and cocksure attitude of we Americans living in a fools paradise comes from the practices at the nations capital. If there be time for playing politics and juggling the letting of contracts for defense, why should the little man be worried. He takes his Q from the administrative figures.

Who knows how near England is to defeat. What would be the attitude of the Englishman if a terrible defeat is sustained in Greece and the Churchill Government should fall? Suppose England should make peace with the Nazis? Who then would be holding the bag? Do you think Hitler would say "Don't worry Uncle Sam, you only did what Mussolini and I did in Spain. Now the war is over and we'll all live happily ever after."

Somehow I do not think Hitler is built that way. I feel that he would move across the Atlantic and swoop down on South America and then up on North America. Who would stop him? We have not made as good time in arming during the past year, as we made before we went into the World War in 1917. And that record was nothing over which one could point with pride.

If the American people are going to be fully armed when the crisis comes, then there must be a unanimous movement of high and low, organized and unorganized men and women of this Nation. This attempt to build up the power of labor leaders must cease. If business men are creating bottlenecks for the grabbing of extra profits then they must be curbed. If politicians are using the defense program to erect political machines they should be removed from the posts they occupy.

These are days when the whole nation should be one. It is no time for the petty grabbing of an extra dollar. Where are the patriots of old who loved their country and her flag? They gave and gave and then gave again that the freedom to which we have fallen heir might exist. Slowly they won one consession after another until today our press is free, our right to worship as we please is ours; we can talk and criticize those in office without a concentration camp yawning for us. Would we relinquish any of these things that greedy men and unscrupulous men might gain a modicum of power and affluence?

Our people have not awakened. They did become roused for a time but have fallen back into a drousy sleep. Agitators are at work and the number is increasing that thinks the war is "over there beyond the broad Atlantic and if Hitler can't cross a 22 mile channel, how could he get over here." So away to the ball game, let the joy be unconfined.

But there must be action. Our people must awake. From one end of our land to another there must be unity. We cannot afford to bicker and quarrel. Stop twiddling our fingers and muttering that "its all going to be alright." Only united effort will cause the gush of munitions and sinews of war that we need and which we have promised.

"Too late for Jugoslavia," "Too late for Greece," and let us pray that we are not "Too late for America" with our self confidence and blindness to conditions as they are in our land today.

ADJOURNMENT

Mr. GELTZ. Mr. President, I move that the Senate do now adjourn until Tuesday, April 22, 1941, at 12:00 o'clock noon.

Mr. EALY. Mr. President, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

The Senate adjourned at 6:42 o'clock, p. m. until Tuesday, April 22, 1941, at 12:00 o'clock, noon.

HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

MONDAY, April 21, 1941

The House met at 9 p. m.

The SPEAKER (Elmer Kilroy) in the Chair.

PRAYER

The Chaplain, Rev. Donald McFall offered the following prayer:

Almighty God, be near us, for great is the need of Thy frail children of the dust. The world is so much with us. Its bright lights lure us, its glories dazzle us, its trials dishearten us, and its cares destroy our peace. Help us, O God, to feel Thee near, help us to know that earth need not be empty of good, but can be filled with joy unspeakable.

May all our experiences bring us to a larger knowledge of Thee, our Father. When sorrows and disappointments come, when trials beset us, when nations rage and imagine vain things, then may we look us and find ourselves growing in our knowledge of Thee. Help us to think of Thee not as one who satisfies our whims but as one who calls us through trial to a holy fellowship. In the name of Christ we pray. Amen.

RESOLUTION INTRODUCED AND REFERRED

By Mr. CORDIER. (Concurrent) RESOLUTION No. 80.

In the House of Representatives, April 17, 1941.

Whereas, The General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania has now been in session for the period of twelve weeks and has passed only a negligible portion of the legislation presently necessary for the welfare of the Commonwealth and its citizens; and

Whereas, A great many bills have already been introduced at this session and these bills cover a very considerable portion of the subjects for which legislation is now advisable or essential; and

Whereas, The present serious threats from totalitarian states against democracies throughout the world have emphasized the urgent necessity for eliminating inefficiency, indecision and needless delay from the democratic processes; and

Whereas, Since the United States of America has assumed the role of the "Arsenal of Democracy" and since Pennsylvania has been properly termed both the "Arsenal of America" and the "Keystone State," it particularly behooves the General Assembly of this Commonwealth to present an example of the speed and effectiveness with which a democratic government can act; and

Whereas, The unnecessary prolongation of the present session of the General Assembly will cause the taxpayers of the Commonwealth considerable extra expense and postpone the operation of needed legislation which might otherwise be in effect; and

Whereas, In other states of this Union, particularly in the neighboring State of New York, it has proved feasible, in spite of the differing party affiliations of the several branches of the State Government, to formulate and adopt a well considered and beneficial legislative program without undue delay; and

Whereas, Such delay and inaction as has existed at the present session of the General Assembly is due in large part to the lack of a sufficiently integrated and definite legislative program; and

Whereas, The formulation and presentation to the General Assembly of a well considered legislative program may well serve to focus the attention of the legislators upon such legislation as is necessary and important and to encourage and facilitate prompt action thereon; now therefore be it

Resolved (if the Senate concur), That a committee of ten members be appointed to formulate and present to this General Assembly at the earliest possible time, a reasonable legislative program for immediate consideration, such committee to consist of five members of the House of Representatives to be appointed by the Speaker thereof, and five members of the Senate to be appointed by the President pro tempore. In appointing members of this committee as aforesaid the Speaker of the House of Representatives shall designate three members of the majority party and two members of the minority party in the House at the suggestion of the respective majority and minority floor leaders, and the President pro tempore of the Senate shall designate three members of the majority party and two members of the minority party in the Senate, likewise at the suggestion of the respective floor leaders.

PROCLAMATION

The SPEAKER laid before the House the following proclamation which was read by the Clerk:

In a Blackout, Spring, 1941.

To all legislators and miscellany, Greetings, and be it known as follows:

Whereas, We now are in the clutches of a national emergency, as testified by every damn bill introduced in the General Assembly, and

Whereas, The Nation, in the hands of the Democrats, is going to hell, and

Whereas, The Commonwealth, in the hands of the Republicans, is going to hell, and

Whereas, It becomes imperative that each and all of us exert our full capacity to get organized, and

Whereas, Hitler is a Schlemiel.

Therefore, Be it and it is hereby decreed, that all legislators between the ages of 21 and 121, all subversive influences, all red-baiters, all defenders of home and country and all other patriots are directed to register with the Pennsylvania Legislative Correspondents' Association and to pay a defense tax of $5, and

Be it further decreed, and it is so decreed, that all those registering and paying the tax levied shall be inducted into service at 6:30 p. m., Wednesday, May 7, 1941, at the Penn-Harris Hotel, for special duty at the biennial gridiron dinner and blitzbinge of the Pennsylvania Legislative Correspondents' Association.

Given over my hand and mark,

JOSEPH H. MILLER, President,

Pennsylvania Legislative Correspondents' Association.

PARLIAMENTARY INQUIRY

Mr. TURNER. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a question of parliamentary inquiry.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman from Delaware will state his question of parliamentary inquiry.

Mr. TURNER. Mr. Speaker, what did the Chair do with this proclamation after it was read?

The SPEAKER. What does the gentleman from Delaware think should be done?

Mr. TURNER. Mr. Speaker, I have been trained under the Parliamentarian who tells me that certain language is not allowed in the Journal. Therefore, Mr. Speaker, I cannot tell you exactly what should be done.

The SPEAKER. The Chair is waiting for an objection from the floor.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS HOUSE

Mr. TURNER. Mr. Speaker, I ask unanimous consent to make some comment on this proclamation.

The SPEAKER. Will the House give unanimous consent for the gentleman from Delaware to address the House? The Chair hears no objection. The gentleman will proceed providing he does not use disorderly words.

Mr. TURNER. Mr. Speaker, I don't know any disorderly words.

I have studied this Proclamation since early this afternoon. It would seem to me to be in true form with the Legislative Correspondents who write stuff that no one can understand, which no one believes and for which there is no foundation either in fact or in truth.

However, I have tried to find out some things pertaining to this Proclamation. I surmise it is the usual nonhumorous occasion which the Newspaper Correspondents of the Legislature celebrate every two years. At that time, for the benefit of the new Members of the House, they organize a lot of libelous and and scandelous events or scenes, which used to be acted or attempted to be acted and portrayed by the Newspaper correspondents until it was impossible to get enough people on the stage to hold them up. Thereafter they went out and got Harrisburg players to fill in and take their parts.

We all enjoy a lot of humor. We have at times some wit on the floor of this House when Elmer Holland gets up and Moran answers him. The Speaker has a very native wit, but what happens at these dinners is not worth five dollars because we can find more wit and humor in the Sunday Record. I hold that there is nothing as silly as that paper. As a matter of fact, anyone knows that it has poor representatives because they never put my name in it in a complimentary way.

One of these "Whereas" clauses starts out very properly. It says "In a blackout."

The SPEAKER. May the Chair interrogate the gentleman from Delaware Mr. Turner, concerning the meaning of the word "blackout."

Mr. TURNER. If the Chair will come down on the floor, he may interrogate me.

The SPEAKER. The Chair would suggest that the gentleman from Delaware, Mr. Turner interrogate the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Baker, and ask him if that means "blackout" or "black up."

The SPEAKER. I presume the Chair is referring to sheep.

Mr. BAKER. Mr. Speaker, I believe you got what you asked for.

Mr. TURNER. In defense of the Chair I did not hear him say anything about sheep.

Mr. Speaker, it says in a "blackout" and I maintain that is a proper heading for this Proclamation because that is where the Legislative Correspondents have been for the past sixteen years that I have been in the Legislature—"in a blackout." In fact, I understand that the practice of "blackout" as carried on in the present war came from the same Legislative Correspondants in Pennsylvania.

There is another "Whereas" clause from which something has been omitted. It says, "Whereas, the Nation in the hands of the Democrats, is going to hell." That should be "as related by the Philadelphia Inquirer."

Then the next "Whereas" clause has something missing. It says, "Whereas, the Commonwealth in the hands of the Republicans, is going to hell." That should be followed by "as related by the Philadelphia Record," if the Philadelphia Record ever relates anything.

Now, it says, "Whereas, it becomes imperative that each and all of us exert our full capacity to get organized." We have been trying since the sixth day of January to get organized, and I presume if the Legislative Correspondents can show us anything down in the Penn-Harris Hotel, that is providing the members are able to see what is shown them, we will know how to get organized.

One of the things that intrigues me is the clause which says, "Whereas, Hitler is a Schlemiel." I took the trouble to look that word up, and I will say that is the kind of accurate reporting to which the Newspaper Correspondents are accustomed. Of course, I understand you Irish are in close contact with one of our friends who speaks that language and they ought to know what it means. We have had a sad experience with the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Cohen, being unable to talk in any language except Italian, so I thought that I had better look up this word. Webster's Dictionary says nothing about "Schlemiel". I then asked Louie Wilgarde and Louie told me it sort of meant a fellow—I could describe it better by picking out a number of the Members of this House—but he says it is the kind of fellow who does not know where he is going, and does not know where he is when he gets there. That describes the Democrats exactly. Louie also states he is a careless sort of a fellow, careless in his dress and careless in his habits. He said he lacks ambition. I know that does not fit Hitler. Mr. Skale ought to know something about this as he has just gotten out of the hospital, having had an operation to have his appendix removed, and I suppose that is a "Schlemiel" too. This description of Hitler does not depict him at all. He wears polished boots as he has got a lot of "bootlickers" over there who will keep his boots polished for him. As I have noticed Hitler he is always dressed in a uniform and he has no ambition (?).

We have been against an increase of taxes during this session of the Legislature. You will recall with what great acclaim the Democrats received the Legislative program as introduced by Mr. Winner, the gentleman from Montgomery. They have been so enthusiastic about it that they put it in committee and have kept it there ever since. I have heard a report that it will come out sometime this week. Mr. Achterman has promised to bring it out of his Committee at that time. That has been in keeping with the other statements in this proclamation. If Mr Achterman feels it is going to come out of Committee this week we will be lucky to see it before next December when the snow flies. I see this five dollar tax is for "eats". I thought it was for defense. Therefore, I do not see why this Proclamation should not be recommitted to some Committee. Perhaps the Committee on Professional Licensure would be better, as they have the Undertaker's bill and some others and this possibly belongs in that same category.

There is a slander, however on the Members of this House. It says "all Legislators between the ages of twenty-one and one hundred twenty-one." There isn't any Member of the Legislature who is twenty-one years of age, although some of us act like that sometimes down town. There are a few more here who are ready for the undertaker but they are not yet a hundred and twenty-one years old. I think that ought to be taken out of this Proclamation. In other words, this is a lot of foolishness injected into a serious Legislative session, where we have a lot of important measures, and the Proclamation ought to be ignored by everybody here because no matter what we say and no matter how well you and I perform, you and I know what we are going to get at this Legislative dinner.

Mr. MELCHIORRE. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. HERMAN. Mr. Speaker, why does the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Melchiorre, desire to recommit this bill?

Mr. MELCHIORRE. Mr. Speaker, for the purpose of further study and possible amendment.

Mr. HERMAN. What does that mean, Mr. Speaker?

Mr. MELCHIORRE. Mr. Speaker, I think I have made myself plain, for the purpose of further study and possible amendment.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS HOUSE

Mr. HERMAN Mr. Speaker, I do not see the necessity for the recommission of this bill. The bill is very simple. It requires no study. The bill in a nut-shell requires a crew of two on each street railway car in the city of Philadelphia. It is primarily a safety measure and is important to the citizens of Philadelphia. We have subways in Philadelphia, and these trolleys which are operated by one man are crosstown trolleys which feed the subways. One man has to operate the trolley car which carries from sixty to one hundred passengers; he collects the fares, makes the change, hands out transfers, watches the signal lights, and he operates the car and does all these things at the same time. This has caused thousands of serious accidents annually.

official made a remark which appeared in a Philadelphia newspaper, that this was a perennial bill and that it will never pass. I would like to know the reason why he made such a remark. I happen to live in a section of Philadelphia which is six miles from the center of the city. There are over one hundred thousand passengers that travel daily from that section into the center of the city and from the center of the city into that section.

The subways cost the city of Philadelphia, as they are owned by the city of Philadelphia, over one hundred million dollars. They are rented to the traction company on a rental basis, which is based upon the fares. Due to the delay which is attributed to the one-man trolley, the people become disgusted in using the subway and are therefore using the surface cars which are owned by the traction company. This results in a tremendous loss of revenue to the city of Philadelphia. The city of Philadelphia receives less than one percent on its investment of one hundred million dollars.

I therefore submit that this bill is very simple, it is vital to the citizens of the city of Philadelphia and it should be passed in its present form. Therefore, I ask the members of the House to vote against the recommission of this bill.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the motion?

It was agreed to.

This act shall become effective immediately upon its final enactment

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. MARSHALL M. COHEN. Mr. Speaker, I rise to vigorously oppose the Passage of House Bill No. 482.

This bill, if enacted into law, would constitute the death knell to further expansion and progress of most of the cities and boroughs of this state. This bill devises a straight jacket which slowly but surely strangles into a mangled corpse every city and every borough adjacent to second class townships.

Mr. Speaker, in this present era, mindful as we are of tragic events transpiring on the European mainland and in the North African sector, we still desire to be free and untrammelled in our hope to expand. Yes, to expand, but with the voluntary consent of the suburban territory to be annexed. We wish to expand, not by foisting our wishes on the area in question, but peacefully and with the expressed consent and desire of the area to be annexed. That is the important and gist of the present law. That is contrary to the expressed motive of the proposal under scrutiny. Under this new measure, freedom of expression of the area surburban to the city or borough is denied and abridged by the antagonism of remote areas far removed from the city or borough. The welfare and future of a certain section of the township is predicted on the capricious whim of a remote portion of the township. That sir, in my humble opinion, contravenes our long-recognized and time-honored sense of democracy and freedom of expression.

Under the present law, approved in 1931, cities of the third class can expand if, and only if three prequisites are complied with:

1. Three-fifth majority of the voters of the proposed annexed territory.

2. Written consent of the majority in interest and number of the property owners in the proposed annexed territory.

3. Majority of members of City Council must approve.

As to boroughs, pursuant to the provisions of the Weingartner Act of 1929, they can annex adjacent suburban territory provided that the majority in the affected area desire to be ceded to the metropolitan municipality. This entails the majority of the proposed territory to be annexed and not the majority of the whole township. This provision is anathema to the proponents of the present measure.

The opponents of expansion of cities and boroughs have always been active in their endeavor to emasculate the Weingartner Annexation Bill. This proposed measure House Bill No. 482, is not a new concoction but rather an old receipt bearing a new label and sporting a seductive aroma. Thus in 1931 a bill known as the Brandt bill was introduced. This proposal was propounded with the sole purpose of bestowing on the voters of the entire township the right to dictate the course of action of any small section of that township. Nineteen Pennsylvania cities coalesced and formed a solid bloc in opposition to this measure. It was defeated. This Brandt bill is identical in purpose to the present House Bill 482. I therefore issue the clarion call for every city and borough in Pennsylvania to join hands. merge forces and defeat this bill. I ask Republican and Democrat alike to cast aside personal grievances and party cleavages and defeat this bill.

Mr. COOPER. Mr. Speaker, I would like to interrogate the gentleman from Lancaster, Mr. Cohen.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Lancaster permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. MARSHALL M. COHEN. I will, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. COOPER. Mr. Speaker, I would like to ask how the gentleman from Lancaster, Mr. Cohen voted on House Bill 226.

Mr. MARSHALL M. COHEN. Mr. Speaker, I would like to know what House Bill 226 is.

Mr. COOPER. Mr. Speaker, House Bill 226 was passed April 7th, pertaining to annexation of townships of the first class.

Mr. MARSHALL M. COHEN. Mr. Speaker, the question is not germane to the issue. We are discussing a question of townships of the second class.

Mr. COOPER. Mr. Speaker, careful examination of the bill before us now, House Bill No. 482 will show it to be very similar if not verbatim with House Bill 226. I would therefore ask for an answer to my question as to how the gentleman voted on House Bill 226.

The SPEAKER. Does the gentleman know how he voted on House Bill 226?

Mr. COOPER. I would like the gentleman to answer, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. MARSHALL M. COHEN. Mr. Speaker, a reference to the Journal will reveal how I voted.

Mr. COOPER. Mr. Speaker, apparently the gentleman does not care to answer my question. I would therefore like to enlighten him by stating that the Legislative Journal shows that he voted in the affirmative.

Mr. Speaker, may I further interrogate the gentleman?

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Lancaster permit himself to be further interrogated?

Mr. MARSHALL M. COHEN. I will, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. COOPER. Mr. Speaker, I would like to ask the gentleman from Lancaster, Mr. Cohen, what is the difference between House Bill 482 and House Bill 226?

Mr. MARSHALL M. COHEN. Mr. Speaker, House Bill 482 to which I directed my remarks is a bill concerning the annexation of second class townships to cities and boroughs. It does not concern in any detail whatsoever townships of the first class.

Mr. COOPER. I thank the gentleman, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. GOODWIN. Mr. Speaker, I rise in defense of House Bill 482. I regret that I am possibly not capable of presenting this bill to you as I feel it is deserving of being presented. However, I have learned a great deal tonight listening to the opposition to this bill. I am inclined to think possibly that the people who live in second class townships are not just exactly the same kind of people who live in cities, boroughs and first class townships. They are a class of people, in my opinion from what I have heard, that should be set aside as not deserving of rule for themselves or by themselves. My friends, I am only asking in behalf of this bill your support. I heard my predecessor call upon the boroughs and the third class cities to rise in their might to defeat this bill. I ask you in fairness, and I believe you want to be fair to the minority, and I have reference to this bill for second class townships, to give them an opportunity to decide for themselves. There isn't anything in this bill to prevent the growth of boroughs of the first class or cities. That can be carried on in the American way, and the only American way I know is by majority vote. We are satisfied to live under it, and I wonder what would happen if the third class cities and boroughs were subject to their power being taken away without a vote being had on the matter. I don't think there is anything unreasonable in asking your consideration. I have a letter here today, and I believe all the members of the House received it. I would just like to have you recall this part of the letter.

> House Bill No. 482, Printer's No. 297, on page 5 of today's calendar for third reading, provides for annexation of townships or parts of townships of the second class to cities and boroughs, is a bill which will stop all future growth of cities or boroughs by annexation and is intended to protect a township of the second class from having part of its territory taken from it. This act was substantially in effect for a period of a few years and during that time no annexations were made to cities or boroughs. If this Act had been in effect throughout all the years of Pennsylvania's existence, no city or borough would today be any larger than its original boundaries as established at the time of its incorporation. In voting "yes" on this bill every member of the legislature is voting to keep the limits of the cities and boroughs within his county as they are now. The act is not necessary for the protection of townships because the school code provides that the annexation of a part of a township shall not affect the school district if the State Board of Education decides that the school district should continue as before. It is respectfully urged, that in the interest of the continued orderly growth of the municipalities of the state, that this Act should be defeated.

My friends, I do not think I am asking for the survival of one group in our State at the expense of another group. If this bill is passed it would then be logical for the Legislature to give townships of the second class all the powers and authorities vested in the cities and boroughs and enact legislation fixing the boundaries of all municipal sub-divisions as they are forever.

My friends, why should not the government of second class townships,—that are held responsible for the conduct of their affairs and their business and their developments,— why should not they have something to say about their destiny? I want to say that the state organization of township supervisors are definitely for this bill, and I hope you friends of fair dealing and square dealing for all of us will give consideration to this matter and help us who believe in giving opportunity for dealing in our own way our destiny.

Mr. MARSHALL M. COHEN. Mr. Speaker, I would like to interrogate the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Cooper.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Allegheny permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. COOPER. I will, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. MARSHALL M. COHEN. Mr. Speaker, does the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Cooper recall how he voted on House Bill 226?

Mr. COOPER. Mr. Speaker, I most assuredly do. I voted in the affirmative.

Mr. MARSHALL M. COHEN. Mr. Speaker, is the gentleman who just addressed the Chair, Mr. Cooper, from Allegheny County? I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Cooper. There may be a mistake of identity.

The SPEAKER. Whom does the gentleman wish to interrogate?

Mr. MARSHALL M. COHEN. I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Cooper.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Allegheny permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. COOPER. I will, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. MARSHALL M. COHEN. Mr. Speaker, the question which I would like to address to Mr. Cooper is how he voted on House Bill 226.

Mr. COOPER. Mr. Speaker, I am very glad to answer that question, but as a matter of courtesy, I think the gentleman from Lancaster, Mr. Cohen should have answered my question first in my previous interrogation I asked him how he voted on House Bill 226.

Mr. MARSHALL M. COHEN. I will withdraw my question, Mr. Speaker, and will ask this question: does Mr. Cooper recall how he voted on House Bill 226?

Mr. COOPER. Most assuredly I do, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. MARSHALL M. COHEN. Mr. Speaker, to the best of the gentleman's recollection, does the gentleman remember how he voted on House Bill 226.

Mr. COOPER. Mr. Speaker, I think we are taking up very valuable time of the House with this foolish interrogation. The record shows how I voted, which is the reason I asked the question that way when I asked the gentleman from Lancaster, Mr. Cohen, how he voted on House Bill 226.

Mr. MARSHALL M. COHEN. Mr. Speaker, on page 1177 of the House Journal, in the negative roll is a Mr. Cooper. Is that the same Mr. Cooper who voted against the bill?

Mr. COOPER. That is correct, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. MARSHALL M. COHEN. Is this the same gentleman that is asking me how I voted on this bill, Mr. Speaker?

Mr. COOPER. That is correct, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. MARSHALL M. COHEN. On House Bill 482, Mr. Speaker, is the gentleman directing to me a question how I am voting on that bill?

Mr. COOPER. Oh no, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. MARSHALL M. COHEN. Then do I understand, Mr. Speaker, that Mr. Cooper voted in the negative on House Bill 226 and is now questioning me when I am voting in the negative on a similar bill?

Mr. COOPER. Mr. Speaker, I merely asked the gentleman how he voted on House Bill 226.

Mr. MARSHALL M. COHEN. That is all, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. COOPER. Mr. Speaker, on the same page of the Legislative Journal whereon it is recorded that Mr. Cooper voted in the negative, it is shown that Mr Cohen of Lancaster voted in the affirmative.

Mr. WEISS. Mr. Speaker, I also rise in opposition to this particular bill. It seems like an argument being presented here tonight between the members of third class cities and the supervisors and members of the second class townships, but I think the advocates of both are overlooking something and that is, which will benefit the state as a whole the most. I say without a question of doubt, the proponents of this bill do have some mighty fine arguments, but on the other hand I also ask are they not going too far in asking what they want? As Mr. Cohen has pointed out, if this bill happens to pass you might as well say that the third class cities and boroughs cannot expand any larger than they are at the present time, and if that is a fact, then the whole state is bound to suffer.

Some of you Members live in third class cities or boroughs in which there happen to be certain small districts very close that derive benefit from that city or borough and yet it is necessary to get the consent of a district eight or ten miles away from that particular district; you would have to get their consent, and it is a well known fact that nobody is going to give anything away, and even though it might be a small district and it might not mean much to the township, yet due to the fact that the city wants it, the township might refuse to give it up. On the other hand the people who live in that particular part of the township may want to be annexed but the people six or seven miles away say "No, you cannot do it. You stay with us."

In addition to what Mr. Goodwin said and I also say that some parts are very necessary to the existence of third class cities and boroughs, because if you stop them from growing you are going to stop the whole state from being progressive. Therefore, I say the bill as it is now is entirely too stringent. I am not talking for the benefit of the third class cities and boroughs, but for the state as a whole. If we had used this policy back in 1776 for each of the thirteen states, and each of those states had refused to cede some of their rights, we would not have had a nation today, and if some of the States today had refused to cede some of their powers we would not have had a nation, so I say the provisions of this bill are going too far the other way. Therefore, I oppose this bill.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution the yeas and nays were taken and were as follows, viz:

SPECIAL ORDER ON HOUSE BILLS 1151, 1152 AND SENATE BILL 201

Mr. ACHTERMAN. Mr. Speaker, I move that House Bill 1151, Printer's No. 289, and Senate Bill 201, (House Bill 575), Printer's No. 22, on page 18 and House Bill 1152, Printer's No. 294 on page 19 of today's calendar be made a special order of business to be considered immediately.

The motion was agreed to.

SPECIAL ORDER

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 1151, as follows:

An Act transferring money from the Motor License Fund to the General Fund and providing for the subsequent return from the General Fund of the transferred money

The General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania hereby enacts as follows

Section 1 The State Treasurer is hereby authorized and directed from time to time between the effective date of this act and May thirty-first one thousand nine hundred forty-one to transfer from the Motor License Fund to the General Fund such sums not exceeding in the aggregate the sum of four million one hundred fifty thousand dollars ($4,150,000) as the Governor shall direct Transfers shall be made under this act upon warrants of the Auditor General upon requisitions of the Governor

The purpose of this transfer is to provide funds for the payment of the additional deficiency appropriation for public assistance made by this session of the General Assembly for the fiscal biennium ending May thirty-first one thousand nine hundred forty-one To the extent to which this transfer makes it necessary the use of the transferred fund for its ordinary purposes shall be postponed but not otherwise modified

Section 2 The amounts transferred under this act from the Motor License Fund to the General Fund shall be repaid to the Motor License Fund out of the General Fund not later than June thirtieth one thousand nine hundred forty-one

Section 3 This act shall become effective immediately upon its final enactment

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. ACHTERMAN. Mr. Speaker, at this time I desire to discuss not only the measure we are about to vote upon, but also the two bills that will follow in order.

The three measures in effect are for the purpose correcting another error of calculation on the part of the Republican administration. They in effect provide for six million three hundred thousand dollars for relief in the month of May of this year. It was only a few months ago we were assured that fourteen and one-half million dollars would take care of relief for the months of March, April and May. They only lost in their figures by one month and by six million three hundred thousand dollars.

This, Mr. Speaker, is the same administration that told us that one hundred and twenty million dollars for the coming biennium will be sufficient to take care of all our relief needs in Pennsylvania. A school boy can very quickly ascertain how far short they are going to fall in taking care of relief in the coming biennium with one hundred and twenty million dollars.

However, Mr. Speaker, I am not speaking against these particular bills. On the contrary, this side of the House has always been in favor of taking care of relief. We believe we should face the problem fearlessly and that we should not in any manner try to deceive or mislead individuals into believing that the relief problem is not that it is not into believing that the relief problem is not still with us, that it is not one we must count on and is not one with which we struggle. However, Mr. Speaker, I believe these three particular bills more than any other bills, or more than I or anyone else can employ language, refute the statement made, I believe about April 3rd, by Republican State Chairman Torrance, in which he at some length released to the newspapers a statement about the glorious success of the Republican administration and spoke about the manner in which they have cut the deficit. You will recall that statement, of course. He referred to it at first as being some twenty-three or twenty-five million dollars and then got it up to fifty million dollars and then to fifty-eight million dollars—I think the Governor got it up to fifty-eight million dollars, and finally State Chairman Torrance got it up to seventy-one million dollars. They are working up to that ninety-million dollars that I have mentioned on other occasions in this House. He goes on and says, finally they have cut that deficit down to. I believe, twenty-one million dollars. Of course, that is wishful thinking. It has not been cut at the present time. I might say to the Members of the House, that here is just another six million three hundred thousand dollars that is to be added to that seventy one million, five hundred thousand dollars that State Chairman Torrance mentioned. There will be more millions, Mr. Speaker, to add but nothing to reduce.

May I say, Mr. Speaker, to the Republican administration that all that has been occurring in the past two years is a constant increase of the deficit, also a constant increase of the revenues and a constant decrease in the relief load. This administration does not explain to us how with the increase of revenues and decreased relief loads the deficit is also increasing. It is time, Mr. Speaker, that we should inquire of this Republican administration how and why such a situation exists. I believe, Mr. Speaker, it is of paramount importance to this state, to the people and the taxpayers of the State that the James Administration or the Republican Administration definitely and completely explain to the people of Pennsylvania why the constantly increasing deficit.

Mr. WOODSIDE. Mr. Speaker, this appropriation and the transfers in the Senate Bill which relate to delayed payments will increase the amount of appropriation for relief to finish out this biennium in the sum of six million three-hundred thousand dollars. The gentleman is mistaken when he says they were assured that the fourteen million five hundred thousand dollars would be sufficient appropriation during this session of the Legislature to carry relief to the end of the biennium. At no time did he receive any such assurance from me, and I believe from no one else in this House or in this Administration. At no time do I think that there has been a statement made that we believed it would carry to the end of the biennium. The furthest I ever went was that I hoped it might, but at no time did we assure them that it would, nor did we even state that we believed it would. It was recognized that perhaps an additional appropriation would have to be made, although the amount did not appear evident at the time.

The gentleman has raised some questions about this so-called deficit. There is, of course, a holdover of funds which will have to be paid out of the next biennium for the general fund. It is not a state deficit. You might be able to call it a general fund deficit although strictly speaking, according to accounting terms, it is doubtful whether this appropriation could be termed a deficit.

However, let us look at the record relative to relief. The total amount of money now appropriated for relief during the biennium is $214,710,000. That is the largest amount that was ever appropriated for relief, and accounts for some of the money which was transferred from the special funds to the general fund to be paid back into the special funds during the next biennium.

Let us see what the deficit the end of the Earle administration was. On May 31, 1939, that is at the end of the biennium, the deficit was $49,700,000. That was the amount of money which had to be transferred in other words from the special funds over to the general fund, to pay the expenses of the last biennium. In addition to that there were normal expenditures to be made between January 17, 1939 and May 31st 1939 in the sum of eight million dollars, which sum was saved by the James administration. So that the actual operating deficit of the Earle administration on January 31, 1939, when the James Administration took office, was $57,700,000. In addition there has been saddled upon this administration new obligations which were saved by postponement and others which were not, in the sum of thirty-seven million five hundred thousand dollars, which was saddled on this administration by the Earle administration and not provided for by any funds in sight or made by the Earle Administration. That, I think, accounts for the situation as it exists to-day, and I think you will find that at the end of the James administration this deficit, this tremendous deficit, which was inherited from the Earle administration, will be wiped out.

Mr. ACHTERMAN. Mr. Speaker, all I need do in answer to the particular statement of the gentleman from Dauphin is to refer him to the budget message, particularly to page 2. Let him start at the deficiency appropriations and the postponed funds to be paid back, and let him arrive at his total. He will find that the James administration has the largest deficit any administration of this state has ever had. That is due to one fact alone, mismanagement of their administration.

Mr. WOODSIDE. Mr. Speaker, I think I pointed out to the House the reason why the amount necessary to be borrowed from the special fund has increased during this biennium.

I would like, in answer to the remarks of the gentleman from Monroe, put into the record a few comparisons between the James administration and the Earle administration. Let us see what the record shows concerning the reduction in costs in the administrative departments.

For salaries and wages: Earle administration, $77,200,000; James administration, $60,700,000, a reduction of $16,500,000, or 21 per cent.

For traveling expenses: Earle administration, $3,860,000; James $3,100,000, a saving of $760,000, or 20 per cent.

For telephone and telegraph: Earle administration $646,000; James administration $508,000, a saving of $138,000, or 21 per cent.

For printing and stationery: Earle administration $1,550,000; James administration $1,090,000, a reduction of $460,000, or 29 per cent.

For materials and supplies: Earle administration, $16,900,000; James administration, $11,400,000, a decrease of $5,500,000, or 32 per cent.

For motor vehicle supplies and repairs: Earle administration, $1,612,000; James administration, $1,353,000, a saving of $259,000, or 16 per cent.

For freight, express and cartage: Earle administration, $244,000; James administration, $192,000, a saving of $52,000, or 21 per cent.

For postage: Earle administration $1,380,000; James administration, $960,000, a saving of $420,000, or 30 per cent.

For newspaper advertising and notices: Earle administration, $407,000; James administration, $243,000, a reduction of $164,000, or 40 per cent.

For rental equipment: Earle administration, $7,100,000; James administration, $2,900,000, a saving of $4,200,000, or 59 per cent.

Mr. Speaker, I could go on with a lot of other items but I will not take up the time of the House at this time to do it. May I call to the attention of the gentleman on the other side the fact that the James administration kept its promise to the poor, to those on relief and to those in need, and did not cut their appropriations but they did cut the unnecessary expenditures and extravagants of the state Government.

Mr. ACHTERMAN. Mr. Speaker, after all the remarks of the gentleman from Dauphin have conveyed but one salient feature and that is with all these so called savings and everything else he has indicated, it still remains a fact that the State is further in the hole, it owes more money, its condition is worse and it must constantly increase the amount of money it needs. We are faced with the largest budget in the history of the state. Has the gentleman explained anything to the satisfaction of anyone, even himself?

May I say just this as an example of all this financial juggling. A few months ago the Secretary involved in connection with the distribution of relief was asked how much was needed for the months of March, April and May, and how much he would ask for. He told the Governor twenty-two million dollars or somewhere in that neighborhood. The Governor asked for fourteen million dollars which is one way of saving eight million dollars and later on spending it. That is a good example of so-called savings. When you finally get down to the close of the year, at the end of the biennium, Mr. Speaker, you are further in the hole, and I am still waiting, anxiously waiting, for an explanation as to why the deficit is increasing.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Less than the majority required by the Constitution having voted in the affirmative, the question was determined in the negative and the bill falls.

REASONS FOR VOTE

Mr. DOLAN filed the following reasons for his vote.

I voted yes on House Bill 854, permitting hotel and restaurant licensees to sell by the bottle at certain times for consumption off the premises, because under the present laws such practises are in force and the means of obtaining the "goods" being generally known to the public and House Bill 854 will simply make the practice legal.

It will also enable persons living in rural communities, miles away from the nearest State Store to make purchases locally and in my opinion will greatly encourage the consumption of liquor at home instead of in the taproom by those who like this form of beverage.

BILL ON FINAL PASSAGE

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the consideration on final passage of House Bill No. 510, entitled as follows:

An Act to amend section five of the act approved the second day of July one thousand nine hundred thirty-five (P. L. 599) entitled "An act relating to motion picture exhibitions and sound motion picture exhibitions together with orchestral or other instrumental musical or mechanical musical accompaniment prelude playing or selection in connection with or incidental thereto on Sunday prohibiting motion picture exhibitions and sound motion picture exhibitions and orchestral or other instrumental musical or mechanical musical accompaniment prelude playing or selection incidental thereto on Sunday during certain hours and also during other hours unless the electors of a municipality approve thereof regulating the employment of persons in conducting such exhibitions on Sunday providing for referendums to ascertain the will of the electors and providing penalties and repealing inconsistent laws" by changing the method and time whereby future referendums be initiated and held

Section 1 Section five of the act approved the second day of July one thousand nine hundred thirty-five (P. L. 599) entitled "An act relating to motion picture exhibitions and sound motion picture exhibitions together with orchestral or other instrumental musical or mechanical musical accompaniment prelude playing or selection in connection with or incidental thereto on Sunday prohibiting motion picture exhibitions and sound motion picture exhibitions and orchestral or other instrumental musical or mechanical musical accompaniment prelude playing or selection incidental thereto on Sunday during certain hours and also during other hours unless the electors of a municipality approve thereof regulating the employment of persons in conducting such exhibitions on Sunday providing for referendums to ascertain the will of the electors and providing penalties and repealing inconsistent laws" is hereby amended to read as follows

Section 5 Further Referendums In any municipality the will of the electors with respect to the conducting staging and exhibiting of motion pictures and sound motion pictures on Sunday may after the year one thousand nine hundred and thirty-five (1935) but not oftener than once in five years be ascertained and the question as provided in section 3 of this act shall be submitted to the electors of any municipality at any primary election preceding any municipal election upon demand in writing of petitioners equal to at least [five per centum (5%)] thirty-five per centum (35%) of the highest vote cast for any candidates in the municipality at the last preceding general or municipal election Such petition shall be filed with the corporate authorities at least sixty (60) days before the day of any [general or municipal] primary election at which the question is to be submitted and if the petition is signed by the requisite number of petitioners it shall thereupon be certified to the county commissioners who shall cause such question to be submitted in the same manner as is provided in this act for the election in the year one thousand nine hundred and thirty-five (1935)

If a majority of the voters in any municipality in which motion picture exhibitions are permitted from and after two o'clock postmeridian on Sunday to which an admission charge is made or is incidental are not in favor of the continuance of such exhibitions then upon the certification of such election return to the acting chief executive officer of such municipality as is provided in section four of this act it shall thereafter by unlawful to conduct stage manage operate or engage in such exhibitions after two o'clock postmeridian on Sunday but if a majority of the electors in any such municipality which has not heretofore permitted such motion picture exhibitions after two o'clock postmeridian on Sunday or which has not theretofore voted on such question are in favor of such exhibitions then upon the certification of such fact to the acting chief executive officer of such municipality as is provided in section 4 of this act such exhibitions shall thereafter be lawful

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. WOODSIDE. Mr. Speaker, there are a lot of things wrong with this bill, but I think all of them are evident on its face with the exception of one, and I wish to call the attention of the Members of the House to one effect of this bill which may not appear evident from reading it.

This bill, if enacted into law, will become effective on September 1st, 1941. The bill provides for the holding of a referendum at a primary election. The primary election in 1941 will come in September. The bill further provides that the corporate authorities must have a petition 60 days before the day of any primary election. The fact of the matter is that this bill will make it impossible for a referendum to be held during the year 1941, and as there are no municipal elections in 1942, it will be impossible to hold any at that time, so that the next date a referendum can be held under this bill will be in the primary election of 1943. I think that point should be called to the attention of the Members of the House.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution the yeas and nays were taken and were as follows, viz:

The Senate met at 12:00 o'clock, noon.

The PRESIDENT (Lieutenant-Governor Samuel S. Lewis) in the Chair.

PRAYER

In the absence of the Chaplain the prayer was offered by the Senator from Berks, Dr. FRANK W. RUTH.

Our Father and our God, we come into Thy presence this beautiful morning and our hearts are filled with joy and gladness that Thou hast given us life and opportunity for service. We pray that Thy spirit will guide us today, that we may understand our responsibility, that we may appreciate the heritage that has come to us from our fathers and that we may perpetuate it for our children so that Thy Name may have all the honor and the glory in the world without end. Amen.

QUESTION OF PERSONAL PRIVILEGE

Mr. COX. Mr. President, and members of the Senate, I arise on a question of impersonal privilege.

The PRESIDENT. The gentleman from Allegheny may proceed.

Mr. COX. Yesterday I found on my desk a very fine Havanna cigar and I understand the other Senators did likewise which I understand was placed there to commemorate the birth of a new junior Senator from Schuylkill County, I want to acquaint the members of this Senate with the fact the Democratic side of this Senate is in great trepidation because we are very much afraid in the future the Watkins Clan from Schuylkill County is going to perpetuate the Watkins dynasty.

Congratulations, Senator Watkins.

The PRESIDENT. Does the Senator from Schuylkill have anything to say? Perhaps actions speak louder than words.

Mr. WATKINS. Mr. President and members of the Senate, I want to thank you for your kind congratulations and I will say to the gentleman on the other side that as soon as he is old enough I will teach the child the pledge of allegiance to the flag which begins this way: "I pledge my allegiance to the flag of the United States of America and the Republicans for which it stands."

JOURNAL APPROVED

The PRESIDENT. A quorum of the Senate being present the Clerk will read the Journal of the preceding session.

The Clerk proceeded to read the Journal of the preceding session, when, on motion of Mr. WATKINS and Mr. BARR, the further reading was dispensed with, and the Journal was approved.

Mr. WOODWARD. Mr. President, I move that the Senate do now reconsider the vote by which Senate Bill No. 420, passed third reading.

The PRESIDENT. How did the Senator vote?

Mr. WOODWARD. Mr. President, I voted "aye."

Mr. EALY. Mr. President, I second the motion.

The PRESIDENT. How did the Senator vote?

Mr. EALY. Mr. President, I voted "aye."

The motion was agreed to.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the bill on third reading?

Mr. WOODWARD. Mr. President, yesterday the Senate very kindly granted me unanimous consent to offer strike-out amendments to Senate Bill No. 420 but, owing to a misunderstanding with the Legislative Reference Bureau, they struck out too much. I now ask unanimous consent to offer strike-out amendments to strike out the brackets. It is a typographical error, that is all it is.

The Clerk read the amendments as follows:

Amend Sec. 1 (Sec. 8), page 2, line 8, by inserting after the word "the" the following: average annual

Amend Sec. 1 (Sec. 8), page 2, line 14, by inserting after the word "such" the following: assessed value or upon such average annual

Amend Sec. 1 (Sec. 8), page 2, line 15, by inserting after the word "realty" the following: for the ten immediately preceding years as the case may be

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

The amendment was agreed to.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the bill on third reading, as amended?

It was agreed to.

Ordered, That the bill as amended be printed for the use of the Senate.

Section 10 This act shall become effective immediately upon final enactment

And said bill having been read at length the third time,

And the amendments made thereto having been printed as required by the Constitution,

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the bill on third reading?

Mr. HENRY I. WILSON. Mr. President, I feel I would be derelict in my duty if I did not say just a few words on this bill. First, Mr. President, I recognize the fact there are very many people who are really earnestly advocating the passage of a proper abatement bill. There is no question about that, or there are very many meritorious cases. Some of those cases have actually been called to my attention, and there are people sitting here on the floor of this Senate who are just as earnestly and honestly in favor of this bill, knowing what good it will do. I want them to know I appreciate their efforts.

On the other hand, Mr. President, the other side has a right and a duty to be heard at this time. There has been no effort whatsoever upon my part to contact any member of this Senate or any other person with a view of either actually amending or in any way molesting this bill. To proceed to pass a bill of this character on third reading and final passage after the many things that have taken place since March 3rd in connection with it is rather a serious duty.

Mr. President, I want to say to the members of this Senate that once we pass this bill you say to every person who has struggled and met all the obligations that are imposed upon him, through local taxation and other taxation, that there are a certain few who may be excused from the obligations that have been fairly placed upon them.

It seems to me we have in the past really agreed that bills of this character are unusual and that bills of this character are only passed when the need is great. Putting it on that proposition alone is it not fair to state to this Senate today and to the people at large those conditions now can no longer exist, particularly those people who have just a certain number of folks they are interested in.

Did you ever stop to think about the management of the affairs of all the municipalities of this great Commonwealth? Did you ever stop to think about the bookkeeping, about the complications that come from year to year and from session to session by reason of the repeated passage of an abatement bill?

Just the bookkeeping alone and the legal questions involved are of a very serious nature and, Mr. President, it seems to me if there is to be a cessation in the regular passage of abatement bills it should be right now, when employment of all kinds is increasing. You can pick up any paper and you will find that is true.

There would be some justification, Mr. President, in abating penalties prior to 1940, if the 1940 tax with interest and the 1941 taxes at par were both paid by November 1, 1941, together with installment payments on taxes prior to 1940. Some such provision would place those who paid under the act of 1939 in the same position as those who became delinquent and are expected to pay in 1941. That is, Mr. President, poor persons who borrowed money to pay their 1939 taxes and who may still be paying interest on the money borrowed, would be no worse off than those who failed to pay their taxes and now desire some plan for doing so. It would be putting the two classes on a parity, with the municipality acting as their banker in the meantime.

Further, Mr. President, and most important of all, it would be notice to chronic delinquents that hereafter they cannot expect abatement of taxes without completely paying the delinquencies with interest from 1939; although they might be granted freedom from penalties prior to 1939. My thought is that no privilege should be worked in favor of a chronic delinquent, and a privilege would be worked in his favor if he is periodically allowed rebates that were not accorded to those who paid under prior acts.

Now, Mr. President, stop and think. Each biennium we pass this abatement bill and the work you do in the prior biennium is largely affected by the new abatement bill and you have them intermingling together.

Further abatements are unfair to the poor people who paid under prior abatements. They were induced to sweat blood and borrow money to take advantage of the acts from 1935 to 1939 on the belief that the legislature was helping them, whereas others depended upon subsequent legislatures doing the same thing, so they can now say to those who didn't pay, they were foolish for not waiting. They, themselves, will probably wait for further abatement by the legislature.

Proponents declare they do not care about the attitude of the political sub-divisions and they do care about the poor property owner. Do they not realize they are making the poor property owner who paid under previous abatement bills now pay for the delinquencies which the legislature is encouraging under subsequent abatement bills? Mr. President, I want to say about the poor property owners that there is not a single one of them who has approached me with reference to this bill, but there are people who have approached me, people who have said to me they know of people who are in this condition and they are speaking for them, I do know there are people who make it a practice to go among their neighbors and say, "You can get your abatements why pay your taxes when they are due?"

It is just a question which way we are going to travel, Mr. President. If we want to make an abatement bill a permanent institution in Pennsylvania we should pass this bill.

All during the course of consideration of this bill in committee and out of committee no mention has been made in the title relative to it being an optional bill. I am not prepared to debate the constitutionality of that, but I do say in all fairness notice ought to be given by the title that there is such an option in it.

I want also to call to the attention of the members of the Senate that many times the number of people who are forced, if they do not want to come under this act, to give this notice within a certain period, which is thirty days, that they do not wish to come under it, these people are put to that inconvenience and many of them will have this act forced upon them, without having it called to their attention and without wanting to do it. It is also questionable as to whether the optional feature is constitutional; it is a question of whether the taxes could be made for one person under certain condition and changed for others under certain other conditions.

I know it is unpopular to stand up and call attention to these errors, but certainly the act of 1939 was not properly drawn and I claim this bill is not properly drawn, and I want to submit a legal proposition here, and I ask anybody that is in favor of this bill to answer it.

What is the meaning and the proper interpretation of the last two sentences in section one? Now, you all have read the bill and I will not take the time to read it.

For example, and this is actually true, a property was sold by the county treasurer for delinquent taxes in August 1938. There being no individual bidders, the County Commissioners bid the land in. Under the law the period of redemption expires in August 1943. Say that this bill is enacted and the owner of the property sold to the county came in to take the benefits provided by this bill by paying twenty per cent of all the delinquent taxes at face on October 30, 1941; he fails to make the second twenty per cent payment which is due on or before October 30, 1942, and that on October 19, 1943, he comes in to make a payment under the abatement act of 1941.

Did the period of redemption expire in August 1943, and did the county obtain title to the property?

Did the owner of the property forfeit all benefits under the act by reason of his failure to pay the twenty per cent payment due on or before November 1, 1942?

Did the payment made in October, 1941, extend the redemption period, and if so for how long?

In other words is it possible, under the provisions of the last two sentences of section one, for a property owner who is entitled to a right of redemption under tax sale to retain the benefits of the act, even though he failed to make a twenty per cent payment when due?

Is the period for the right of redemption under a tax sale extended beyond the period provided by law as long as an owner of a property is making payments under the provisions of the abatement act?

Mr. President, is it fair for two or three counties, or a number of people who may have business, to get together and avoid payment of taxes, to upset conditions by this continual abatement of taxes? Is it fair for us to carry these people, many of whom are deserving, many of whom perhaps could make arrangements some other way, when in addition to those people we have to carry so many who are really known as chronic borrowers.

I am not going to take up the time of this Senate. I feel the time has come and if we are ever to do away with the abatement of penalties and interest on taxes, as provided by this bill, the time is right now. We are apt to refer to this bill as a tax abatement bill, but it is not really a tax abatement bill at all. This bill abates tax penalties and interest. Then why should we abate tax penalties and interest and still require the man to go out and pay the taxes. You thereby create a favored class, it seems to me, and I shall so vote that that is a mistake.

I do not wish to take up any further time but I do want to be known as having put on record my objection in a very brief statement as to why I am voting against this bill.

Mr. HALUSKA. Mr. President, I am not going to take up much of the time of the Senate on this bill, which has been before this body now for the last two or three months. I only wish to state if ever there was a good bill on the Calendar that deserved the consideration of the members of this body, it is Senate Bill No. 125.

This is the first time in the last fifteen years the ordinary man has had an opportunity to redeem his home. Other tax abatement bills were passed back in 1935, 1937, and 1939, that is true, but how many of the men who had lost their properties because they had no work, had an opportunity to take advantage of any tax abatement bill? This is the first time in a great many years the ordinary man has had an opportunity, because today he is working and he has some money, he has some means of redeeming his property.

The gentleman from Jefferson stated no one had contacted him regarding this bill, only the opposition. I might say I have had any number of persons in my County of Cambria come to me and ask me to vote for a tax abatement measure.

The bill is very sane. If we have some taxing bodies that agree not to take advantage of it, they have a perfect right to meet and reject the act, but those who wish to take advantage of it under this act may do so.

I trust my colleagues will vote for this bill and pass it today and send it to the House and I am quite sure the House will pass it and I feel also the Governor will sign it.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally

The yeas and nays were taken agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution, and were as follows, viz:

BILL OVER IN ORDER

Mr. MALLERY. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that Senate Bill No. 212, on third reading, entitled:

An Act with reference to trust receipts and pledges of personal property unaccompanied by possession in the pledgee and to make uniform the law with reference thereto go over in its order.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

BILL RECOMMITTED

Mr. GELTZ. Mr. President, I move that Senate Bill No. 292, (House Bill No. 382), on third reading, entitled:

An Act authorizing counties, cities, boroughs, incorporated towns and townships to appropriate money for the establishment or continuance of Federal Surplus Commodities Stamp plans therein, and to borrow money and issue bonds for said purpose be recommitted to the Committee on County Government for the purpose of amendment.

Mr. EALY. Mr. President, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

Mr. SHAPIRO. Mr. President, I should like to interrogate the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Geltz.

The PRESIDENT. Will the gentleman from Allegheny permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. GELTZ. I will, Mr. President.

Mr. SHAPIRO. Mr. President, will the gentleman from Allegheny state the purpose of the amendment to this bill? In what way does he propose to amend it?

Mr. GELTZ. Mr. President, there seems to have been some mistake made in this bill. It was the idea of the sponsors that these funds would be kept in the hands of the counties and the sub-divisions. As the bill reads now the funds are to be put into a trusteeship or a committee of trustees to be appointed by the Department of Public Assistance.

The amendment which we propose to make will agree with a House bill which has passed and is now in the Senate, setting up a special fund in the office of the State Treasurer, and the amendment which we wish to make to this bill is that instead of trusteeship handling the fund, it will be handled by the State Treasurer's office.

Mr. SHAPIRO. Mr. President, will that conform to the requirements of the federal government, which pays the money?

Mr. GELTZ. So I understand, Mr. President.

BILLS ON THIRD READING AND FINAL PASSAGE

The Senate proceeded to the third reading and consideration of Senate Bill No. 295, as follows:

The General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania hereby enacts as follows

go over in its order.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

Mr. SHAPIRO. Mr. President, Senate Bill No. 385 (H. B. 561), along with several others contemplated by the Banking Department should really be put in a single amendment to the code, and I am taking the responsibility of informing the sponsor of this bill it is the opinion of the Banking Committee today, that this, together with other bills of this type, should be held up to give the Banking Department an opportunity to look into them and see if they can not be embodied into one bill.

BILL POSTPONED

Mr. SHAPIRO. Mr. President, I move that further consideration of Senate Bill No. 385, (House Bill No. 561) on third reading, entitled:

An Act to amend section six hundred and eight of the act, approved the fifteenth day of May, one thousand nine hundred and thirty-three (P. Mr. COLEMAN. Mr. President, I second the motion.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the motion?

It was agreed to.

BILL ON THIRD READING

Agreeably to order,

The Senate proceeded to the third reading and consideration of Senate Bill No. 418, entitled:

An Act requiring the Governor of the Commonwealth to issue annual proclamations setting apart September thirteenth of each year as Commodore John Barry Day.

And said bill having been read at length the third time,

And the amendments made thereto having been printed as required by the Constitution,

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the bill?

Mr. EALY. Mr. President, I desire to interrogate the sponsor of the bill as to whether he is willing to change it back to the form in which it appeared yesterday.

The PRESIDENT. Will the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. McCreesh, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. McCREESH. Mr. President, before we discuss this bill, I would like those Senators who believe in those wisecracks and so forth to please be as gentle as possible. We have a lot of Senators here who believe in making slurring remarks about a bill.

Mr. EALY. Mr. President, will the Senator from Philadelphia please take the microphone.

Mr. McCREESH. I do not think it is necessary, Mr. President, for me to take the "mike". They have been trying to hold me down since I was a little baby.

The PRESIDENT. Request has been made by the Senators from the other side that you use the microphone.

Mr. McCREESH. I am ready, Mr. President.

The PRESIDENT. The gentleman from Somerset may proceed.

Mr. EALY. Mr. President, the committee felt we should not require the Governor of the Commonwealth each year to issue a proclamation setting aside a special day to commemorate John Barry. I understand Commodore John Barry is called the Father of the American Navy, the little navy the American people had after the Revolutionary War, which perhaps entitles this man to some special recognition, but I do not know that it entitles him to more recognition than Admiral Dewey or Admiral Farragut or other great admirals of the American Navy. If we are going to set aside a special day for every one of our great admirals, soldiers and sailors, the Governor will not be able to do anything else but issue proclamations.

If the Senator from Philadelphia is willing to have this special day set aside for this year only, it will not embarrass the Governor too much, and we are willing to go along with that, but if he insists on the bill in its present form, I feel the Governor will have to veto it. If that is the purpose of the gentleman from Philadelphia, I feel we should vote "no" on it.

Mr. McCREESH. Mr. President, in answer to the Senator from Somerset, I might say about two weeks ago I had a bill go back to committee and I have not heard any more about it. Now, I think we have a good Senator as chairman of that committee and yet people have been burned up and carried out from their homes from fires and then if you read the history of the fire you find there were no fireplugs.

If the good Senator thinks he can improve the bill, I do not see how he could do it. We will not be here next year in January, I hope, and how then you would expect to have a bill for next year I do not know.

However, I always like to be sociable and agreeable and I would like to train the good Senators in the future who heretofore have been passing so many sarcastic remarks about bills that really mean something. We have today so many bills on the Calendar, as the gentleman from Washington has stated, that should be wiped off the Calendar, and yet along comes a good bill here and it does not require any appropriation and it does not require anything of that nature and I would like the Senator to tell me why they want to refuse to vote for the bill.

Mr. EALY. I think it would be better, Mr. President, to celebrate the day on which the man was born rather than the day on which he died.

Mr. McCREESH. Just a minute now, Mr. Senator, we are not trying to celebrate the day the man died. I do not know whether we are sure about the date of his death but we are trying to have a day appointed to conform with the day appointed by other Governors for John Barry. It is not the date of his death but it is keeping it uniform with the other states.

Mr. EALY. I only want to ask the gentleman from Philadelphia whether he is willing to have the bill amended back into the form in which it was yesterday.

Mr. McCREESH. Mr. President, I do not see how you could improve the bill if you sent it back. If the gentleman will tell me how it can be improved to suit my ideas, why, all right.

Mr. EALY. I do not seem to get a very good answer. I think I will have to vote "no" on this bill, because it will embarrass the Governor to have to issue proclamations to commemorate all the great sailors, admirals and soldiers, and that is what it will mean if we do this thing.

Mr. McCREESH. Mr. President, I might say the good Governor of the State of Pennsylvania attended the last session and the parade for John Barry in Philadelphia, and I might say we could almost be sure that the Governor did say he would sign this bill. However, I would not like to put him on the spot, Mr. President.

Before we get through, Mr. President, I desire to interrogate the chairman of the Committee on State Government.

The PRESIDENT. Will the gentleman from Lehigh permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. TALLMAN. I will, Mr. President.

Mr. McCREESH. Mr. President, I would like to ask the chairman of the State Government Committee if he has any communications or advice about this bill from judges and different men in Philadelphia. Senator Tallman, will you tell us, please? Please tell me that, Mr. Senator.

Mr. TALLMAN. Mr. President, as chairman of the Committee on State Government I did receive a communication from Judge Clair Fenerty of the Court of Common Pleas of Philadelphia County, reciting some of the history concerning Mr. Barry.

Mr. McCREESH. Is that the reason, Mr. President, that the bill should be killed?

BILL OVER IN ORDER

Mr. McCREESH. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that Senate Bill No. 418, go over in its order.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

And said bill having been read at length the third time,

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the bill?

Mr. HALUSKA. Yesterday afternoon, Mr. President, I rose to my feet regarding Senate Bill No. 507 and I understood I was somewhat late because the bill already had passed second reading.

Now, Mr. President, I would like to give my colleagues here a brief idea of the district that comprises the Twenty-seventh Congressional District of Pennsylvania. I realize Senate Bill No. 507 is headed for quite a storm and I appreciate the effort put forth by the men who are trying to reapportion the state.

Cambria County, Mr. President, where I live the Congressional District comprises the Counties of Cambria, Indiana, Armstrong and Jefferson, with a total population of 428,490 persons, the second largest district in Pennsylvania. I certainly feel the district should be restored, but probably not to where it was some years back. Twenty years ago Cambria County was a congressional district all by itself. Ten years later they added to it Indiana, Jefferson and Armstrong Counties.

Now, Mr. President, I do not care what counties are added but I do feel this district should be cut down, first, because of the extreme mileage involved in that district, and, secondly, because of the population.

I am informed we should have in the neighborhood of 300,000 population for each Senatorial district. I would be very willing to amend this bill to include Cambria and Indiana Counties, with a total population of 294,086; I would be willing, Mr. President, to amend the bill to include Cambria and Clearfield Counties, with a total population of 306,296; I would be willing to amend the bill to include Cambria, Indiana and Jefferson Counties, with a total population of 348,325. I would be even willing to amend the bill to read Cambria and Blair Counties with a total population of 354,442.

Certainly, Mr. President, I feel I should be heard in this chamber on this bill. As my good friend from Cumberland said yesterday, it is an important measure, it is important to all of us, and especially my district because of the huge population, which has now a population of 428,490.

I understand the committee or the majority party has no intention of making amendments to this bill in the Senate and for that reason I shall not move that the bill be reconsidered on second reading, but I am trusting that when a conference committee is chosen that I might have the opportunity to present my story.

I think, Mr. President, I should be heard because of my district and I trust my collegaues will give me an opportunity to at least offer my objections to the conference committee regarding this bill.

Mr. WADE. As I said yesterday, Mr. President, this is a very important bill and possibly one which is likely to occupy a good bit of the attention of the Senate, and of the House as well.

However, Mr. President, I think possibly this bill enjoys the distinction of being one bill which has been brought to third reading and final passage without any amendments, which might put it in a class by itself, and might qualify it, as the Senator from Philadelphia might say, as a good bill.

It is impossible, of course, to arrange these districts so they are equal in population. The district the Senator from Cambria mentions is a large district and I agree with him possibly they are deserving of some consideration. At the same time a committee in the House known as the Committee on Congressional Apportionment is headed by a member of the House, from his same district, from the same county, and I think the Senator from Cambria will receive every consideration and that the district will receive every consideration when the bill goes over there, and I think that is the proper place.

I did not want to be discourteous to the Senator from Cambria yesterday. I agree with him that is a large district, so far as population is concerned, although there are some much larger congressional districts, through which candidates from both political parties must travel when campaigning for office, so that must play some part.

When a conference committee meets, I believe there will be amendments to this bill in the House, I am sure there will be. There will be amendments possibly that are not agreeable to the Senate, and when the conference committee meets, if it does, I can assure the gentleman from Cambria his wishes will be given consideration. Thank you.

Mr. BARR. Mr. President, I would like to interrogate the sponsor of the bill.

The PRESIDENT. Will the gentleman from Cumberland permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. WADE. I will, Mr. President.

Mr. BARR. Mr. President, does the gentleman from Cumberland know that the population of Allegheny County increased according to the last census?

Mr. WADE. Yes, Mr. President; I understand it increased by the small number of 33,160.

Mr. BARR. Mr. President, will the gentleman from Cumberland tell me why he is taking twenty per cent of our representation in Congress away from us.

Mr. WADE. Mr. President, in arranging congressional re-apportionment, the fact that one county or one district increases does not necessarily mean they will be entitled to the same or more representation in Congress. The districts are changed, the ratio is changed, I am sure, as the population increases or decreases. Now, the entire state increased, but the population of other states increased faster than Pennsylvania, and therefore we are not entitled to as many as we had previously. Previously we had thirty-four, now we are entitled to thirty-three. Does that answer the question of the gentleman from Allegheny?

Mr. BARR. No, Mr. President, it does not answer my question at all. I say we gained in population, and still you are taking twenty per cent of our representation in Congress away from us.

Mr. WADE. Let me make this short answer, Mr. President, that the entire population of the State of Pennsylvania increased, but by the same token we lost one Congressman because the population of other states increased faster.

Mr. BARR. Mr. President, can the gentleman from Cumberland tell me, throughout the country, what is the average population in a congressional district.

Mr. WADE. Yes, Mr. President, the new national ratio is, with 435 members of Congress, a population of 302,687, and the new Pennsylvania ratio with thirty-three members instead of thirty-four, is 300,005.

Mr. BARR. Mr. President, does the gentleman from Cumberland know why we have this jerrymander in Allegheny County, where we have half a million population in one congressional district.

Mr. WADE. I again apologize to this honorable body, Mr. President. I am not able to understand all the language—the word "jerrymander"—that is not within the limits of my vocabulary.

Mr. BARR. Mr. President, I might suggest the gentleman from Cumberland get that dictionary again.

Mr. MUNDY. Ordinarily, Mr. President, coming from Luzerne County and receiving a great benefit in this bill, I would be inclined to vote for it, but having looked the bill over very carefully and having studied the alterations and changes in the congressional districts throughout the State of Pennsylvania, I realize this bill contains a very distinct sleeper. Luzerne at the present time is represented by a Democratic Congressman and by the provisions of this bill it is very clearly indicated the County of Luzerne would be divided into two Senatorial districts, practically guaranteeing the election of a Republican and a Democratic Congressman. If I were selfish and concerned entirely about my own area up there, I would be inclined to accept this but the fact that this bill is such a pinch bill and the fact that it does take away from both Philadelphia and Allegheny, in view of the interest of the entire state I waive my particular interest in the County of Luzerne and say this is put and take with a greater take than there is a put.

Mr. STIEFEL. Mr. President and members of the Senate, I would just like to briefly expalin the history of the word "jerrymander". There is quite a history behind it. Senator Jerry I believe once cut out—not Jerry Jaspan—once cut out in Massachusetts a congressional district which assured victory, a district compared to a salamander, and so somebody said since it appears like a salamander we will put in the word "jerry" and that is the way that word "jerrymander" came into existence, and now I think we should change the word to "wademander", to immortalize the sponsor of this bill.

Now, Mr. President, coming to the apportionment in Philadelphia, I can see the purpose which swayed the author of this bill. For instance, I live in the third congressional district, which under this bill will become the second congressional district and I pity the man, the Democrat, who is going to wage a battle in this district, because he is doomed to perdition.

Mr. SHAPIRO. Under this bill, Mr. President, Philadelphia loses one congressman. Under this re-apportionment bill I would like to know what was the basis of the figures and how did the gentleman arrive at reducing us from seven to six.

May I interrogate the gentleman from Cumberland?

The PRESIDENT. Will the gentleman from Cumberland permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. WADE. I will, Mr. President.

Mr. SHAPIRO. Will the gentleman state the basis on which he arrived at the figures that we were only entitled to six instead of seven congressmen.

Mr. WADE. Yes, Mr. President. The County of Philadelphia now has a population of 1,935,086, a loss of 15,875. It is obvious when those folks who live in the city wish to move out to the country, they go outside of the City of Philadelphia, which is not always true in other counties; in fact, it is not true in other counties, so that we anticipated to a certain extent, to really answer the question, that will be further aggravated in the next ten years—I do not know whether that is within the province of the committee's duties or not, but we have done that and we feel now because of that they have lost more population, a higher ratio of population than any other county in the State of Pennsylvania.

Mr. SHAPIRO. Mr. President, will the gentleman from Cumberland state whether he thinks, if this is a migration to other cities or out of the city, how the gentleman happened just coincidentally to cut a Democratic congressman instead of a Republican congressman?

Mr. WADE. I think that was purely a coincident, Mr. President.

Mr. SHAPIRO. It was a coincidence?

Mr. WADE. Yes, Mr. President.

Mr. SHAPIRO. I was very anxious to know whether that was coincidental, accidental or deliberate, and since it was only a coincidence and a thing like that happens by such a coincidence this seems to be a bad bill.

Any bill that will remove one Congressman from the city of Philadelphia, just because there is a depreciation of fifteen thousand in a population of one million nine hundred thousand, and that removal happens to be a Democrat instead of a Republican who was recently elected and in a district where it has gone Democratic for the last eight years, it strikes me that is too much of a coincidence to take a chance on a bill like this.

That is only one of the reasons I will vote against this bill, Mr. President.

Mr. WALKER. Mr. President, I propose to vote against this bill and I appreciate the remarks of the gentleman from Luzerne, Dr. Mundy, that we must view this thing as affecting the entire state as a whole and not be selfish regarding our own districts.

The gentleman from Philadelphia is perturbed because they lose a congressman when they lost fifteen thousand in population but in Allegheny County we gained twice that many and we still lose a Congressman.

Mr. SHAPIRO. Was that a Republican or a Democrat, Mr. President.

Mr. WALKER. No, Mr. President, they are all Democrats in Allegheny County, every congressman.

However, Mr. President, the point I wish to make is that not only do we lose twenty per cent of our Congressional representation, as suggested by my colleague from Allegheny, Senator Barr, but in the allocation or the division of Allegheny County under this present bill the four districts into which they divide Allegheny County are very inequitably divided. I understand the quota is 300,005, and one of our districts has a population of a little over five hundred thousand.

Even if Allegheny County would bow to the will of the majority of the members of this Senate and permit twenty per cent of our congressional representation to be taken away from us, in spite of the fact we were one of the few counties which gained materially in population, I still feel when they divide Allegheny County into four districts, that should be done on an equitable basis so that Allegheny County would receive an equitable representation. It is unfair to a congressman who represents twice as many people in his district in Congress as one of his colleagues who receives the same amount of secretarial hire and who receives the same amount of pay.

I think the reapportionment in Allegheny County is very unfair and should be amended. I appreciate, Mr. President, the difficulty the chairman of this committee is under in trying to reapportion the entire state and satisfy both political parties and satisfy all of the public officials of both political parties, but I feel that Allegheny County should be redistricted and I would like at this time to interrogate the gentleman from Cumberland.

The PRESIDENT. Will the gentleman from Cumberland permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. WADE. Yes, Mr. President.

Mr. WALKER. Mr. President, I desire to ask the gentleman from Cumberland if the redistricting which appears in the bill now before us with reference to Allegheny County was furnished to him by anyone from Allegheny County or if that is entirely an idea of his own.

Mr. WADE. Mr. President, my good friend from Philadelphia has really found the answer. It is a coincidence. Really, I think, Mr. President, it is a question without the province of the interrogation and I do not believe the question is a proper one to be asked by one member of the Senate to another.

Mr. WALKER. Mr. President, I desire to further interrogate the gentleman from Cumberland.

The PRESIDENT. Will the gentleman from Cumberland permit himself to be further interrogated?

Mr. WADE. Yes, Mr. President.

Mr. WALKER. Mr. President, I desire to ask the gentleman from Cumberland if he is familiar with the various population figures which go to make up the four congressional districts of Allegheny County?

Mr. WADE. The best proof in the world of that, Mr. President, is that I used to live in Pittsburgh.

Mr. WALKER. Mr. President, I desire to press my question and ask the gentleman from Cumberland if he is familiar with the population figures—

Mr. WADE. Yes, Mr. President.

Mr. WALKER—that go to make up these districts.

Mr. WADE. Mr. President, if the Senate wishes to take the time I will read the new census figures for each and every voting precinct in the County of Allegheny.

Mr. WALKER. Those figures I have before me. I am asking the gentleman from Cumberland if he can tell me, for example, in Senate Bill No. 507, page four, beginning with line fifteen, the first precinct in Allegheny County mentioned in the thirtieth district.

Mr. WADE. Will the gentleman from Allegheny repeat the question?

Mr. WALKER. Mr. President, I direct the attention of the gentleman from Cumberland to page four of Senate Bill No. 507, line fifteen, which says: "The thirtieth district shall consist of the twenty-ninth, thirtieth, thirty-first and thirty-second wards of the City of Pittsburgh, the cities of Clarion and Duquesne and all of the boroughs and townships lying south of the Ohio and Monongahela Rivers in the County of Allegheny."

I would like to ask the gentleman from Cumberland if he can give us the population figures for that district.

Mr. WADE. Unfortunately, Mr. President, I cannot locate the figures at the moment, I have them, but if my memory is correct the figure is approximately 350,000. I am not sure of that figure but I will be glad to furnish the figures, of course, later.

Mr. WALKER. Mr. President, may I further interrogate the gentleman from Cumberland.

The PRESIDENT. Will the gentleman from Cumberland permit himself to be further interrogated?

Mr. WADE. I will, Mr. President.

Mr. WALKER. Mr. President, I want to ask the gentleman from Cumberland whether it is not true that one of the districts of the four allocated to Allegheny County is over five hundred thousand population?

Mr. WADE. I cannot answer that question, Mr. President; I am sorry.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?
